CONFIRMS CHARGE THAT REPUBLICANS PLANNED BIG FUND

Blair Substantiates Charges Presented by Cox in Pittsburgh Address.

SUBSTITUTE DOCUMENT SHOWS PLANS OUTLINED FOR OVER 54 SECTIONS

Quotas in Ohio Fixed at Double the Amount Expended to be Raised.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 9. — Testimony bearing upon Governor Cox's charge that a quota list of 51 cities had been sent out by the Republican national committee was elicited at today's session of the Senate committee investigating campaign funds.

While Harry M. Blair, assistant to Fred W. Upham, national Republican treasurer, was on the stand, a document was introduced which the witness identified as a substitute for "Form 101," the campaign plan which Blair drew up, but which was rejected by the national executive committee. This substitute document stated that an intensive campaign was to be undertaken in fifty-four (54) cities and it also indicated that the national treasurer was to appoint city chairmen of the ways and means committees.

John A. Kelly and G. T. DeForrest Kinney, state ways and means heads for Ohio and Illinois, respectively, later said they appointed the local chairman themselves and that the national treasurer had nothing to do with these selections or with fixing quotas for the various counties.

Mr. Kinney also added that he was concerned only with the campaign outside Chicago and Cook county.

In addition, Henry Owen, a paid assistant to Mr. Blair and organizer for Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Indiana, testified that he had never heard of any plan to organize cities as distinctive from the county organizations. He said, furthermore, that he never saw Form 101 and knew nothing of its being located in a safe at Republican headquarters after it had been rejected.

Mr. Owen told Senator Spencer that the whole Republican method of raising funds was a "stock plan."

"I can buy it for you in printed form for twenty-five cents," he added.

Mr. Tyson notified Sheriff Dudley at once and he went to investigate. Up until the time of going to press no information had been secured that would lead to the capture of the robber.

Miss Dora Palkin, a native of Connecticut, now practicing law in Washington, has gained the distinction of being the youngest woman admitted to the United States Supreme court. WOMEN WILL NOT HAVE TO DIVULGE AGE TO REGISTER

Women Voters May Register Themselves as "Over Twenty-One" if They Like

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—It is not necessary for women, registering to vote in North Carolina under the 19th Amendment to divulge their ages.

The Attorney General of the State yesterday so ruled in an opinion furnished Chairman Thomas D. Warren, of the Democratic Executive Committee, holding that it is sufficient that the voter, male or female, designate his or her age as over twenty-one.

"Section 5,940 of the Consolidated Statutes of 1919 provides the requirements of a proposed voter presenting himself or herself to registration," reads the Attorney General's opinion. Among others is this: "He (or she) shall state as accurately as possible his name, age, place of birth, place of residence, etc. The question has been presented to this office as to whether the requirement that the age should be stated is mandatory with special reference to female voters recently qualified under the 19th Amendment. The requirement that the age should be stated is for two purposes; first, to show that the voter has reached or passed beyond the voting age of 21; second, as a check upon the voter on the question of the payment of poll tax. This provision has never been construed as mandatory in regard to the statement of the age of the proposed voter so that it appears that he is over 21. The oath provided in this section requires the voter to state only that he is 21 years of age. In its application to women voters, then, all that is necessary for them to state to register (they not being liable to poll tax) is that they are over 21 years of age. Of course they, as well as the male voters, must testify as to residence, etc., so as to show that they are entitled to vote at the particular precinct or in the particular county in which they offer to register."

ALASKA AWAKES TO POSSIBILITIES FOR AERIAL EXPANSION

Military Experts Declare that Recent Trip to Home Had Great Influence.

COUNTRY PLANNING TO BRING ABOUT REGULAR COMMUNICATION IN AIR

Durability of Modern Airplanes Proved in Several Test Flights.

New York, Sept. 10.—Military and civilian aeronautical experts declare that the completion recently of the trip of four American army aviators from New York to Nome, Alaska, was as epochal in its military and commercial importance as Bleriot's first flight across the English channel since it opens Alaska to aeronautics.

Reports state that the Alaskans are determined to bring about regular communication through the air and now look to the government to foster the project.

As the result of the flight, it is said, an aerial route has been photographed and charted diagonally across the United States, Canada and Alaska, with tentative supply and air service sites.

The Air Board states that the following has been accomplished by the flight:

An effective aerial route to the north west corner of the American continent and Asia has been established. Inaccessible areas in Alaska which had never been mapped have been charted (Continued on page eight.)

DECLARES PEOPLE OF EUROPE ARE IN GLOOMY POSITION

Roland Hegedus, Bank Director, Says Country It Is a Dark, Deep Pitt.

UNITED STATES CAN NOT RECONSTRUCT BY UNREASONABLE LOANS

Believes Paper Money Situation Will Force a Revision of Peace Treaties.

Budapest, Sept. 10.—"The peoples of Europe are in a dark, deep pit and they must work themselves out of it," says Roland Hegedus, bank director and lecturer at the Budapest University.

"The United States is richer than she knows, but she cannot reconstruct Europe by loans. All the nations of Europe are beset with a succession of political and economic problems that are well nigh insolvable.

"Russia is the key to the situation and until some sort of consistent government is established there, we can hope for little here. "What the United States can do, perhaps, is to work to secure free trade among these Central European countries. None of us can do any business with tariff frontiers."

"I believe the paper money situation will force a revision of the peace treaties. All these little nations are living from hand to mouth, printing up money to keep going. Poland is hardly a year old and already she has a national debt of 130,000,000,000 marks, with a 40,000,000,000 deficit. The same (Continued on page eight.)

KING OF ITALIANS DISCUSSES BANKING FACTS OF COUNTRY

King Victor Immanuel Talks to Americans Regarding New Institution.

Rome, Sept. 10.—King Victor Emmanuel during an audience granted recently to John H. Fahey, former president of the Chamber of commerce of the United States, and to Alfred Dennis, commercial attaché to the American Embassy, spoke at some length about a new bank which has recently been founded in Italy.

It is called the Banca Nazionale del Reduce, (The National Bank of War Survivors) and its special object is to give credit to all ex-combatants, helping them to start afresh in business; assisting also their widows and orphans, or the parents and sisters of those who died during the conflict, to all of whom is also give a discount of one percent on all operations.

The King, himself, took a personal interest in the development of the new bank and invested 50,000 lire in its shares, which he presented to another war institution, that of the orphans of fallen soldiers.

The King is anxious that the new bank should become a link between Italian and Italian war survivors who live abroad, of whom there are over 50,000 in America alone and an even greater number in Argentina and Brazil.

WORLD ARTISTS TO PLAY AT WHITE'S THEATRE SEPT. 24

Celebrated Singers to Appear in City for Single Night Engagement.

Mr. Sam White announces the engagement of the world's famous artists company, who will appear at White's theatre on Friday, September 24th.

Mr. White declared today:

"I feel assured that this announcement will be welcomed by all with unfeigned enthusiasm, for it will be a privilege to hear this superb organization, which includes such celebrated artists as: Helena Morrill, coloratura soprano, late prima donna with the Opera Company; Carlo Ferretti, Italian baritone of the La Scala Grand Opera Company, of Milan, last season with the Creators Grand Opera Company; Celeste Seymour, renowned American violinist, and Antonio Voccol, noted Italian pianist.

"Wherever this organization has appeared, they have been enthusiastically received by capacity houses, and I feel positive that Greenville will not be the exception.

The prices prevailing will be 50, 75, $1, $1.50 and $2, plus of course, the ten per cent war tax.

"Owing to the limited seating capacity of the auditorium for an occasion of this kind, the demand for tickets will no doubt exceed the supply. Because of this contingency a quick response for seat reservations is recommended. Mail applications, with check or money order, may now be sent to White's Piano Co., Greenville, N. C. All such applications will be filled in the order of their receipt before the regular advance sale opens."

BRIGHT LEAF PRICE SHOWS ADDITIONAL STRENGTH LATELY

Good Tobacco Shows Decided Increase Over Prices Here Opening Day.

ONLY SLIGHT DEMAND EVIDENT FOR COMMON GRADES OF TOBACCO

Tobaccoists Appear Decidedly More Sanguine for Future Developments.

Tobacco sales on the Greenville market were considerably lighter than in the opening sales yesterday, and consequently the floors were cleared much earlier than expected. Prices bore a striking similarity to those prevailing through the entire sales yesterday, averages ranging from 24 to 27 cents per pound, and exceeding this limit at times, particularly on good grades. There was an unusual amount of common grades on hand at every warehouse which reduced the price of the same accordingly, and it is confidently believed that if qualities had been better prices would have soared upwards to a more pleasing extent than since the opening of the market. Gradual improvement in prices is looked forward to hopefully by tobaccoists in this immediate territory, and it is believed that conditions will undergo a favorable change within the next several days.

Prices showed considerably greater strength when the Greenville tobacco market re-opened yesterday in accordance with resolutions of Pitt county planters in mass meeting Wednesday and as a result hundreds farmers, discouraged because of apparently serious opinion prevailing all over the state the earlier part of the week, now look forward to the future more hopefully, believing that conditions will improve gradually, particularly in this district, where the finest quality of bright leaf in the country is produced.

It is estimated that there was around 700,000 pounds of tobacco on the warehouse floors when sales were resumed this morning, and while it was not as attractive and inviting in appearance as on the opening day, this fact failed to detract from the demand that presented a striking contrast to that before the farmers declared that low prices were not acceptable under any consideration. The tobacco was not in as good condition because careless pedestrians, visiting the tobacco district since the opening had trampled many piles under their feet, regardless of efforts of the warehousemen to keep the floors cleared completely during the suspensions of sales.

Prices for the entire market averaged around 27 cents and it is believed that they would have been considerably better had the tobacco been in better condition.

As it was however, the throngs of planters crowding the warehouse floors early morning were decidedly displeased, that they would have been under ordinary circumstances. It is generally believed that prices will continue to show a steady strengthening, but the situation will be more pleasing in very near future.

TELEGRAPH HAS RAPID GROWTH

Government Report Shows 1,888,793 Miles of Wire Used by 21 Companies.

BIG INCREASE IN MESSAGES

Last Five-Year Period Shows 45.7 Per Cent More Telegrams—Par Value of the Capital Stock Is $108,360,237.

Washington.—According to a report just issued by Director Sam L. Rogers of the bureau of the census, department of commerce, the 21 commercial land telegraph systems in the United States in 1917 operated 241,012 miles of pole line, comprising 1,888,793 miles of wire; sent 151,725,238 messages, and employed 47,227 persons, to whom were paid salaries and wages amounting to $36,392,140.

This report, which is issued under the title, "Telegraphs and Municipal Electric Fire Alarm and Police Patrol Signaling Systems," was prepared under the supervision of Eugene F. Hartley, chief statistician for manufacturers, and is the fourth of a series of quinquennial reports on the telegraph systems of the country.

The pole-line mileage in 1917 was less by 2.6 per cent than in 1912, but was greater by six-tenths of 1 per cent than in 1907. The wire mileage, however, showed an increase of 4.1 per cent as compared with 1912 and of 19.7 per cent over 1907.

Big Increase in Messages.
The increase in the number of messages was much greater—45.7 per cent during the last five-year period and 53.1 per cent during the ten years from 1907 to 1917. The number of employees increased by 59.2 per cent between 1912 and 1917, and by 84.9 per cent during the period 1907-17 and the corresponding percentages of increase in their salaries and wages were 59.2 and 124.2.

The number of telegraph offices in 1917 was 28,865, a decrease of 6.2 per cent as compared with 1912 and of seven-tenths of 1 per cent as compared with 1907. The total income from telegraph traffic was $91,312,500, an increase of 74.5 per cent over 1912 and of 140.8 per cent as compared with 1907; the income from all other sources was $1,641,803; the total expenses, including charges for depreciation and sinking funds, were $80,828,970, an increase of 52.9 per cent over 1912 and of 111.4 per cent over 1907, and the net income was $12,125,400, an increase of 253.4 per cent as compared with 1912 and of 118.7 per cent over 1907.

The par value of the outstanding capital stock of the companies was $108,360,237, a decrease of 1.7 per cent as compared with 1912, but an increase of 4 per cent over 1907.

Printing-Telegraph Comes In.
The foregoing figures relate only to commercial telegraph companies, and thus exclude the wire and pole line wholly owned and operated by railroads, and also exclude the equipment and telegraph business of the various press associations which lease and operate wires for dispensing news.

During the five-year period 1912-1917 the printing telegraph came into extended use by telegraph companies, press associations and railroads. The printing telegraph consists essentially of a sending instrument equipped with a keyboard similar to that of a typewriter, electrically connected with a receiving instrument in such a manner that the latter automatically reproduces what is typewritten on the sending instrument. Without the printing telegraph it would have been difficult or impossible to handle the increased telegraph business during the great war.

WILLARD STORAGE BATTERY

This trade-mark is branded in red on one side of the Still Better Willard—the only storage battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Remember!

- That in the ordinary storage battery the insulation is the weakest link.
  - That in the ordinary battery both plates and insulation wear out.
  - That with the ordinary battery the big expense and risk come when you have to tear down the battery and put in new insulation—perhaps with the result that you ruin the plates.
  - That in the ordinary battery, the insulation between plates carbonizes, causing leakage of current; and perforates, causing short circuits and permitting "treeing."
  - That the ordinary battery has to be shipped and stored wet or partly wet—aging and deterioration are almost sure to take place.
- That in the Still Better Willard the Threaded Rubber Insulation is the longest lived part of the battery.
- That in the Still Better Willard the wear is cut in halves—for Threaded Rubber Insulation does not wear out; it is not affected by the solution.
- That with the Still Better Willard the Threaded Rubber Insulation prevents this expense and risk.
- That with Threaded Rubber Insulation these faults, which greatly reduce the efficiency of the battery, cannot occur.
- That the Still Better Willard with Threaded Rubber Insulation is shipped "bone dry," not a drop of moisture in it. It begins service in your car as fresh as when built.

Of the 191 passenger cars and trucks using Willard Batteries as standard equipment, 138 have adopted the Still Better Willard with Threaded Rubber Insulation.

REPUBLICANS DISTURBED AT

HARDINGS STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 7.—Prominent Republicans of every shade of opinion in Washington are not a little disturbed over Senator Harding's complete shifting of ground on the league of nations. They say that the candidate is for whatever the last man who has an interview with him stands for. If Wickersham, Taft or Hughes visits the front porch, the senator is for a league and finds much of value in the Wilson league which both Mr. Wickersham and ex-President Taft would have ratified. If Poindexter or McCormick, or some other member of the Johnson-Borah group of fireconspirators goes to Marion the candidate is for killing the league outright.

Republicans are frankly admitting that this attitude of all things to all men on the part of the presidential candidate is doing incalculable harm to Republican prospects in November.

For instance, this morning Senator Harding comes out practically repudiating what he had said in favor of the league to Mr. Wickersham. He says: "We do not write statements for our visitors, nor censor their words. I have spoken in the speech of acceptance and again on August 28 on the manner of the league and the purpose uttered in these addresses will not be altered."

That was this morning and that hasty retreat to his position of no league in his speech of acceptance was due to the effect the report of the Wickersham interview had on the Johnson-Borah action on Monday. Telegrams of protest are said to have rained on the candidate and some of them contained threats, according to the private reports reaching Washington.

GERMANY.

As the season passes the official figures continually point more visibly to the approaching exhaustion of the domestic sugar supply. The most recent figures available, those to June 1, show a stock on that date of 246,801 tons. This is all the domestic sugar that will be available for the use of Germany between June 1 and October and is insufficient by 54,000 tons to supply each month the amount of sugar consumed in May. Even this amount was on a very restricted basis, the average monthly consumption in the preceding year having been 106,000 tons and in pre-war years about 140,000 tons. There are reports that the government took steps to import foreign sugars to fill the gap and does not plan to reduce the ration further.

The weather continues generally favorable for the growing beets, according to the report of F. O. Licht for August 13, 1920. Conditions in the important Magdeburg section are especially promising, and beets in Brunswick and South Germany are also doing well. On the whole, the question of coal and labor is causing more uneasiness than crop prospects.

The weekly tests show that the roots are improving rapidly and on August 5th, a sugar content of 13.70 per cent.

was reported. This compares to 12.36 per cent at the same time last year. On the same date the weight of the beets without leaves averaged 191 grams gains 116 grams.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 10, 1920.

Let us hope the clothes made out of paper will not cost the wearers in proportion to what publishers are having to pay for newsprint.

People do not so much mind the paying if they get what they pay for. The local telephone exchange might make a note of this fact in connection with the advanced rate on business telephones of which notice has been given. There is abundant room for improvement in the service.

With the resumption of sales on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday, prices showed an advance of 10 to 15 cents over the prevailing prices of the opening day, with averages ranging from 27 to 30 cents, notwithstanding the fact that much common tobacco was included in the sales which necessarily held averages lower than they otherwise would have been. This improvement in prices served to bring about a much more satisfactory feeling among the farmers, and the excitement and dissatisfaction arising from the low prices on opening day is largely allayed. No doubt there will be expression of this sentiment in the mass meeting to be held in the court house tomorrow. The sales today showed even a better improvement, and the market will now proceed without interruption. While prices are not yet all that is desired, the trend is for the better and improvement will continue. The farmers can materially help in this by selling slowly and conservatively, and especially in holding their common grades off the market for the present. Judgment should be used in not crowding the market, and correspondingly better prices will be the result.

REAL AMERICANIZATION.

The Immigration Bureau reports that the flow of foreigners this way is now becoming as great as at any time in the history of the country, and the indication is that a new movement is on foot that will bring us a large new European population. More rigid immigration laws have been adopted by congress which makes the quality of the newcomers higher than that of the older days. But if we are to make of these people the good Americans that we must make if they are to be useful to themselves or to the country we must as a people meet them half way and show them that we have an interest in them.

If the European born residents of this country are not as good citizens as they might be they are not wholly to blame. It is absurd to insist that the men and women who have come here here from abroad are an inferior type of people. They are as a rule not. In a general way they are industrious, intelligent, ready to accept the conditions they here and abide by the laws. Unfortunately for them and for us we have drawn a line against them, and that is the poorest way in the world to meet newcomers and Americanize them. It sets them aside by themselves, out of touch and harmony with the very thing we want them to acquire, American ways and American sympathy and sentiment. To get a new man into harmony with the ways of a community he comes into he must be given a chance to mix with the community and become a part of it. He must be made familiar with American ways as fast as possible and his children trained into the belief that they are Americans, and that their interest lies in becoming the best possible Americans they can be. The force that goes farthest in such a direction is human friendliness and encouragement.

The stranger who comes to America from Europe and finds that he is isolated wherever he goes has no opportunity nor no interest in trying to be of the community, or of the highest character that he might be. His antagonism is aroused, and he fights his battle of self-defense and makes his struggle for such success as he can, resentful of the position in which he is limited, and it is no wonder that so many foreigners are slow to come into the American fold fully and eagerly. We are going to have a lot of new material to work over into good Americans, and the way to do it is to lend a hand and make them right and fairly.—News and Observer.

WAR DEPARTMENT EDUCATES.

Now the war department has fallen into line with some of the great manufacturing industries in realizing the tremendous importance of the moving picture for educational purposes. Scores of manufacturers are already using the screen for the purpose of recruiting employees, training them in their new trade, and teaching them lessons in stopping lost motion.

The army, which has recently gone into vocational training in a large way, has decided to equip some of its courses with sets of films by which soldiers taking occupational training can the more readily absorb what is before them. There are 107 courses in the army now, ranging from agronomy to zoology, and 105,000 soldiers are receiving instruction either along vocational lines or in general education.

It is announced by Major General P. C. Harris, the Adjutant-General of the army, that the Bray Pictures Corporation of New York City has received the contract from the war department to make these new films for the Automotive department in the vocational schools. An order has been placed for making 35 complete sets, each set containing 10 reels, to be used for instruction. The films are valued at $800 a set.

When completed by the Bray Pictures Corporation and approved and accepted by a representative of the war plans division, General Staff, and a representative from the Motor Transport Corps, the pictures will be taken over by the Education and Recreation Division, Storage Service, of the Quartermaster General's office. The reels then will be sent all over the country to all the military departments of the army, as well as to Panama, Hawaii, Germany, and the Philippines, where they will be put to work in the various army schools which teach automobiles.

The pictures are made precisely like animated cartoons, with pen and ink, showing cross sections of gas engines, carburetors, and other automobile machinery in actual operation. There is nothing military about them—the reels are purely illustrative of mechanical operations and functions. What is most valuable in the films is that the motion picture can be made to show that which is invisible. Some of the commonest processes of modern industry have never been seen except in the mind's eye, and this is particularly true of gas engines. Explosions take place in obscured confinement, and besides they are too quick to be caught by the human eye, even were the cylinder made of glass.

It may be interesting to note incidentally that this kind of film was first developed during the war for the instruction of machine gunners, to show them what to do when a gun jammed. It was highly successful.

Accordingly the same kind of films were made for depth bombs, steam-shovels, flame projectors, hand grenades, and cannon in the act of firing. Explosions were slowed down so they could be viewed as a progression, seen through the open side of a gun. By this means raw recruits were turned into expert operators by the thousands, freed from all limitations as to language vision and perception. The government now expects equally gratifying results by using similar pictures in the army's vocational schools.

GRAND OPERA WILL RETURN THIS MONTH

New York, Sept. 10.—Grand opera will return to the stage of the Manhattan Opera House here September 20 after a ten year absence, with the offering of Bizet's "Carmen" by the San Carlo company. This will give New York three grand opera organizations during the coming season, the others being the Metropolitan and the Chicago grand opera companies.

The original purpose of the Manhattan was to provide a home for grand opera, but ten years ago its owner, Oscar Hammerstein, made a deal eliminating himself and his theaters from the opera field for a decade. His widow acquires possession of the property September 1, marking a return of the house to its former use.

Miss Alice, Gentle, who will sing the title role Carmen, in the opening was to have made her New York debut in that part ten years ago but the deal closing the Manhattan to grand opera intervened, so that her appearance in New York in that role was deferred a decade.

ENID BENNETT'S NEW PICTURE, "HAIRPINS," LESSON TO HUSBANDS

Old-Fashioned Wife in This Fine Photoplay Proves Real Treasure.

Husbands who blame their wives for remaining old-fashioned and disinterested in the hilarity of life are taught a lesson by "Hairpins," the latest Thomas H. Ince Paramount Aircraft picture starring Enid Bennett, which will be shown at White's Theatre tonight.

Rex Rossmore had a wife who cared more about getting a reduction on the purchase of a dozen smoked hams than she did about the Faust opera and insofar as permanent waving of her hair was concerned, she never thought of it. But Rex didn't like her domesticity and that's why his stenographer appealed to him so strongly.

But when Rex's wife discovered the true state of affairs, she got busy and it wasn't long before she was considered the most up-to-date woman in New York. In fact, she was so much up-to-date that Rex was made to realize how wonderful she really was. That's why he begged her to return to her former ways of living and found real happiness in domesticity.

Miss Bennett never had a more fitting role than that which she portrays in "Hairpins." Matt Moore is seen in the role of her husband. The picture was directed by Fred Niblo under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince. The supporting company is excellent.

General negotiation. The success of this remedy, however, depends largely on the ability of borrowers to provide certain simple requirements of the account market. One of the chief requirements, the bank declares, is a uniform standard of quality of warehouse receipts, which will enable banks throughout the country safely undertake the execution of acceptances on cotton in storage.

Requisite Conditions.

There has been a diversity and laxity in business practices, as well as an absence of uniformity in the obligations and responsibilities assumed by warehousemen, under varying state warehousing laws, which has caused banking institutions not directly acquainted with the individual warehousing concerns to hesitate to extend credit on the strength of their receipts," the bank declares. "On receiving a request for a loan against cotton the banker's first concern is not that there actually is cotton behind the warehouse receipt. One of the most serious difficulties which banks, particularly those which are not in close real touch with the situation, have found in the way of loaning more freely against cotton receipts is that they have never been able to ascertain exactly what title to the cotton they had in general. It is true that the holder of a receipt is subject to prior liens, and the uncertainty as to their nature and extent increases the banker's hesitancy in accepting receipts as collateral, even though in practice the actual losses from defective title by reason of such liens have been comparatively small. The cotton, furthermore, should be in the hands of a reliable warehouseman, who should be independent of the borrower, so that the latter cannot, while the receipt is outstanding in the hands of a third party, obtain control over the cotton covered by it.

Uniform Warehouse Laws Needed. "A reasonable method of improving his situation would seem to be the application of fairly uniform laws concerning cotton warehousing wherever cotton is stored. Two laws have already been formulated which, were made provisions uniformly and jointly applicable to cotton warehouses, could go far toward establishing warehouse receipts on the high level of lading. These are the

THE SUFFRAGE ISSUE.

The restoration of the Nineteenth Amendment in the hands of the Anti-Saloon League a new weapon for law-enforcement. Any man who thinks that the women of this country are not against blind tigers and blockaders needs to think over again. Anti-Saloon League officials have known for years that the women were their strong est allies. The liquor organizations have known the same thing, and it is a matter of record that for fifteen years, as organizations, they have been fighting the enfranchisement of women.

In this nation today there is a fight to the finish to decide whether the Christian citizens and the loyal Americans shall rule this country or whether the friends of lawlessness and anarchy shall dictate its policy, and this conflict is manifested in the violations of the prohibition laws at this time. Prohibition has certainly made good in North Carolina for twelve years and in the nation for twelve months, but today we face a condition that is alarming. There are few, if any, counties in the state where liquor is not made and sold in spite of the law. The very fact that it cannot be legally secured for beverage purposes and that those who want it to drink will pay fabulous prices makes the lawless class take more chances in making and disposing of it; and therefore the need of greater vigilance on the part of officers and citizens.

I believe it is a fact that there are more people engaged in the illicit manufacture of liquor today in North Carolina than ever before but that they do it on a much smaller scale and that, therefore, there is not as much liquor manufactured contrary to law as heretofore. I believe, too, that since the enactment of the Volstead Act and the appointment of federal prohibition agents, many sheriffs and other state officers in this state are resting on their oars, hoping that the hard job of executing the law will be done by the federal government. I do not hesitate to say that there are sheriffs and other police officers in this state who have been making child's play of law-enforcement and who will never do any better until there is a demand from the citizens of their locality.

The general assembly of 1919, in enacting a law fixing the duties of sheriffs, deputies, and other police officers touching enforcement, said:

"Section 1. It shall be the duty of the sheriff of each county in the state and of the police of each incorporated city or town in the state, to search for and seize any distillery or apparatus used for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors in violation of the laws of North Carolina, and to deliver the same, with any materials used for making such liquors, found on the premises, to the board of county commissioners, who shall confiscate the same.

"Sec. 2. That it shall be the duty of said officers to seize and then and there destroy any and all liquors which may be found at such distillery, and to arrest and hold for trial all persons found on said premises engaged

How Would You Like to Save Half the Work Time and Cost of Mowing?

HERE is the only successful wide-cut mower. It saves 50% of your mowing cost by cutting twice as much in the same time. Compensating lever and spring carries the cutter bar on the drive wheels instead of dragging it on the ground. This increases traction, does away with side draft and weight on horses' necks—greatly lengthens life of machine.

E-B Standard Mower

This mower is as easy on your horses as plowing corn, and will cut two acres of hay in every mile the horses travel. Come in and see it. Bring your boy along.

National Bank of Commerce in New York Says Discount Market Requires Standard Receipt Which Will Protect Loans.

The use of bank acceptances for financing cotton growers is advocated by the National Bank of Commerce in New York as a remedy for the hand-to-mouth crop-lien system now in general use. In its magazine, Commerce Monthly, the bank points out that cotton marketing requirements heretofore have not shared in the country's credit resources because the obligations of the generality of borrowers in this field have not been suitable for negotiation in the open market. The burden of financing has been concentrated on a limited number of Southern banks. Such a system has been responsible in a large degree for compelling the dumping of cotton on the market almost as rapidly as it could be picked and ginned.

The bank points out that a means of securing a broader distribution of the burden has been provided by the Federal reserve system, which enables member banks both to rediscount loans and to execute acceptances, which are particularly suitable for general negotiation. The success of this remedy, however, depends largely on the ability of borrowers to provide certain simple requirements of the discount market. One of the chief requirements, the bank declares, is a uniform standard of quality of warehouse receipts, which will enable banks throughout the country safely to undertake the execution of acceptances on cotton in storage.

Requisite Conditions.

"There has been a diversity and often a laxity in business practices, as well as an absence of uniformity in the obligations and responsibilities assumed by warehousemen, under varying state warehousing laws, which has caused banking institutions not directly acquainted with the individual warehousing concerns to hesitate to extend credit on the strength of their receipts," the bank declares. "On receiving a request for a loan against cotton the banker's first concern is that there actually is cotton behind the warehouse receipt. One of the most serious difficulties which banks, particularly those which are not in close local touch with the situation, have found in the way of loaning more freely against cotton receipts is that they have never been able to ascertain exactly what title to the cotton they had. In general it is true that the holder of a receipt is subject to prior liens, and uncertainty as to their nature and extent increases the banker's hesitancy in accepting receipts as collateral, even though in practice the actual losses from defective title by reason of such liens have been comparatively small. The cotton, furthermore, should be in the hands of a reliable warehouseman, who should be independent of the borrower, so that the latter cannot, while the receipt is outstanding in the hands of a third party, obtain control over the cotton covered by it.

Uniform Warehouse Laws Needed.

"A reasonable method of improving this situation would seem to be the application of fairly uniform laws concerning cotton warehousing wherever cotton is stored. Two laws have already been formulated which, were their provisions uniformly and jointly applicable to cotton warehouses, would go far toward establishing warehouse receipts on the high level of the bill of lading. These are the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Law and the Federal Warehouse Act adopted in 1916. The latter provides for Federal supervision and examination of licensed warehouses which take advantage of its provisions. The Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, on the other hand, is concerned with putting the receipt itself into proper form, making standard the terms which it incorporates and the obligations assumed by the warehouseman, and making standard also the conditions attending its transfer or negotiation.

"As regards the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, there would seem to be no valid reason why its provisions should not be incorporated in their entirety in the statutes of every state. The Federal Warehouse Act is not compulsory, and warehouses have been, and probably will continue to be, slow to avail themselves of its provisions because of the public supervision for which it provides. A remedy might be found either in the establishment of a similar system of public supervision by the respective states, or in a provision in state laws that all public warehouses be required to obtain federal licenses, the latter method being decidedly preferable because of the greater uniformity it would insure."

Market Re-Port

The tobacco on our sale Thursday was what was left over from opening sale Tuesday, most of which was put on floor Monday. This tobacco was badly trampled upon and bruised, and of course showed up to great disadvantage. Sales today were light, or averaging much better. We sold a few piles of tobacco around 70c. The real common grades continue to sell low, whereas, some of the better grades show an increase of 25 per cent over the opening. We urge holding off the marketing of the real common grades, and marketing very slowly the better grades.

Monday 4th sale, Sept. 13th; Tuesday 3rd sale, Sept. 14th; Wednesday 2nd sale, Sept. 15th; Thursday 1st sale, Sept. 16th; Friday 3rd sale, Sept. 17.

ALASKA AWAKENS TO POSSIBILITIES FOR AERIAL EXPANSION

Usefulness of the airplane as a means of transport, both for mail, passengers and freight has been demonstrated. Necessity of landing fields, and service supply stations throughout the United States and its territories has been shown.

Durability of modern airplanes and motors has been proved and it has been proved that flying is safe, even over territory where transport by railroad, automobile, and wagon is considered extremely dangerous.

The report of Captain St. Clair Street, who was in command of the expedition, states that the flyers considered the route across the Eastern States, as having few landing fields and not ideal in any instances. The Middle West and Canada, he said, as far as Edmonton, was ideal.

"The expedition sighted innumerable glaciers," said Captain Street, "and rain, low fog and clouds were prevalent. Yukon and Alaska are rough and partly forested, and afford no natural landing places except on river bars, but the route from Wrangell to Nome is ideal for water planes."

DECLARES PEOPLE OF EUROPE ARE IN GLOOMY POSITION

is more or less true of Czecho-Slovakia, of Hungary and of all of us. The armies are eating up half our incomes, yet each nation is afraid to disarm because of possible attacks from neighbors.

"With this paper money carnival, Central Europe can not trade with countries having better moneys, such as Spain, Holland and Switzerland. This situation also applies to Italy and France.

"Meanwhile our civilization is going by the board. Because of the exchange, our universities and reading people can not afford to subscribe for science or law publications of England or the United States.

"For the same reason our educated but impoverished classes can not go abroad to find work, provided they could secure passports.

"These conditions are not altogether the result of a big war but of a bad peace which has fallen harder on Hungary than any other country. God made her the center of a geographical unit and the peace frontiers ruin not only new Hungary but the parts taken away."

LIVE THOMAS, ACTRESS, IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Paris, Sept. 9.—Olive Thomas, motion picture actress, is lying in a critical condition at the American hospital at Neuilly, where she was taken several days ago suffering from mercurial poisoning. An official statement issued by Dr. Joseph Choate, an American physician, who is in charge of the case, says:

"The situation is serious, but recovery is hopeful."
It is learned, however, from a reliable source that the condition of Miss Thomas is extremely critical and that her recovery is doubtful.

Dr. Choate said today that the actress had swallowed a solution of alcohol preparation containing twelve grammes of bichloride of mercury, sufficient to kill twenty-five men, but he added that she had taken it through error.

Gentry & Gorman

Gorman's sale started at two o'clock yesterday and we sold until five o'clock, but did not finish, hence we cannot figure the average. Attached we give a few prices with averages of the loads which will give you some idea of what Gorman's is doing. Common tobacco is very low. We believe they will go higher and advise holding. Our farmers were all highly pleased and many told us they were glad they had waited for us as we "daddied" all of our tobacco and they were confident they had received several dollars more per hundred by waiting.
