

DECLARES LOWER PRICES WILL SOON BE EVIDENT AGAIN

Federal Reserve Board's Business Reviews Predicts Wholesale Price Cutting.

EXACTING DEMANDS OF BUYING PUBLIC WILL MEAN MUCH IN FUTURE

Increased Production and Labor Efficiency to be of Vast Consideration.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Price cutting has taken hold of the wholesale trade to an extent that soon must be felt substantially in lower prices to the consumer, according to the Federal Reserve Board's monthly business review made public tonight.

Revival of the wave of price reduction and its spread to many retail lines was attributed to "a more exacting demand by the buying public as to price and quality." Retail purchasers are showing continued determination to await a move by dealers to meet those demands while foregoing luxuries and semi-luxuries, reports to the board declared.

Although the board believed the buying public was largely dominating the market now, it said that labor and production were having a marked effect on prices. There was evidence, it said, of increased efficiency on the part of labor and as a result production was on the increase and factory operation beginning to approach normal.

Summed up, the board's finding were that "business conditions now are definitely on the road toward stability of a great and confirmed a nature as the disturbed position of the world at large permits."

"Continuance of the process of readjustment in business and industry has been an outstanding feature of the last month," the review said. "This has been accompanied by price reductions and by the resumption of work in branches of industry where hesitation as to future outlook has led to suspension."

"After an apparent slowing down in the price reduction movement during mid-summer, it has again reappeared and the month of September saw substantial cuts in well-known makes of automobiles, various classes of textiles shoes and leather and other wholesale prices. Reductions have occurred in a variety of staples, including wheat. Changes in prices have tended to make business men and bankers cautious about future commitments."

Drops in prices have featured almost all of the textile lines, agents of the various reserve banks reported, and they added that, due to reductions already announced by wholesalers and jobbers, the retailers are buying carefully and not in large quantities. The retailers attitude was depicted as necessarily conservative for the reason a market with a downward trend leaves him the alternative of taking a loss or keeping his helms stocked with high priced goods.

POLISH ARMIES STILL GAINING SUCCESS OVER RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIKI

Warsaw, Oct. 1.—Defeat of the Russian Bolsheviki on the Polish northern front seems complete and soviet troops are reported fleeing eastward in disorder in an effort to avoid being surrounded by Poles who were in close pursuit. Advances from the front said one whole Russian division had surrendered, murdering all commissaries who tried to compel them to offer resistance.

SETS FORTH FACTS REGULATING VOTING IN NEXT ELECTION

Not Necessary for Women to Give Age in Presenting Themselves to Registrar

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 1.—The following information relative to registering and voting, given out by legislative reference librarian, H. M. London, will be of especial interest to prospective women voters throughout the state:

"All persons not previously registered and who expect to vote at the election on November 2nd are required to present themselves in person before the registrar of the precinct for registration between September 30 and October 23 inclusive. Voters cannot be registered in any other way or manner. They cannot be registered by mail or over the telephone. The registrar of the precinct will be at the polling place on each of the four Saturdays during the registration period with his books for the purpose of registering voters. At other times, he may be found at his residence."

"The woman voter is subject to the same conditions and qualifications as apply to the male voter, except that she is not required to pay a poll tax or exhibits a poll tax receipt in order to register and vote in the coming election. Before registering each woman voter must take the following oath: That she will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of North Carolina, not inconsistent therewith; that she has been a resident of the state of North Carolina for two years, of the county for six months and of the precinct in which she proposes to vote four months; that she is 21 years of age and has not registered for this election in any other precinct."

"The Attorney General has ruled that the woman voter need not give her exact age, but she must state that she is 21 years of age or over. An act of the extra session of the General Assembly of 1920 defines the residence of a married woman living with her husband to be where her husband resides, and that of a woman living separate and apart from her husband to be where she actually resides."

"Where a person has moved from one precinct to another precinct in the same county within four months from the election, such person should register and vote at the old precinct."

"At the coming election six boxes will be provided in which the following ballots will be deposited: (1) State officers, including States Senator, (2) member of congress; (3) presidential electors; (4) members of the general assembly and county officers; (5) township constable and justices of the peace, and (6) constitutional amendments."

TELLS OF SERIOUS CONDITIONS FACING EUROPEAN NATIONS

Premier Nitti Explain Problems Perplexing Entire Country at Present.

BELIEVES AMERICANS SHOULD BE FAMILIAR WITH TRUE SITUATION

European Situation Should be Fully Understood on Eve of Elections.

Naples, Oct. 1.—Former Premier Francesco Nitti, who is sojourning here, in the course of a statement today went over some of the problems which are perplexing Europe and America.

"On the eve of the Presidential struggle in the United States," he said, "it is well that the European situation be thoroughly considered in America. Europe cannot quickly regain its feet without the help of the United States, but the United States might help only those countries whose policy is peace. The American democracy has a great task before it. I am a sincere friend of America, but I cannot truthfully say I believe that the actions of her leaders have been useful to the world."

"No man had more humanitarian ideas than President Wilson. But he was not sufficiently acquainted with Europe, and thus the treaties concluded have no great moral worth. They contain the germs of deep hatreds and perhaps new wars. The United States could even now, if they wished, exert a beneficial influence. This is not only their moral duty but it is also in their interest to do so."

"I do not know if there is peace anywhere in the world but there certainly is none in Europe. Around you, you see nothing but armies. While the war was still going on people said this would be the last war, but Germany's (Continued on page eight.)"

SEES NO PROSPECT OF RUSSIAN FORCES OPPOSING GERMANY

Independent Socialist Declares Only Dreamers Entertain Such an Idea.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—Only romancers and dreamers believe that the Russian Red army will eventually strike at Germany and seek to establish a soviet here with the aid of which it will make war on France, declares Wilhelm Dittman, independent socialist member of the Reichstag.

Dittman, who was one of the German delegates to the Moscow communist congress, in an article in the Freiheit turns upon bolshevism, which he declares, is an impossible system which can exist only in Russia because of the "crass ignorance of the Russian peasants."

"German workmen," he goes on, who are not two-legged beasts but upstanding human beings would never submit to the dictatorship of a few." He says they have nothing in common with men who "are neither socialists nor communists and generally have only a vague understanding of politics, government and society."

"They are mostly unable to read and write," Dittman continues, "and their horizon hardly extends beyond their own thresholds, as might have been the case of the German peasants of the middle ages. And these men constitute 75 percent of the entire population of the country."

"Blind passion and high ardor have idealized soviet Russia as a land where all the wrongs of the proletariat have an end. Hitherto, the exclusion of soviet Russia from western Europe has helped to crystallize and firmly establish these illusory conceptions," Dittman concludes.

WILBERT ROBINSON SEES BROOKLYN IN TWO WORLD SERIES

Leads Nationals to Second Pennant Clash in Period of Only Five Years.

HAS BEEN PLAYING NATIONAL GAME FOR THIRTY-SIX SEASONS

Distinguished Baseball Leader Began Management of Brooklyn in 1914.

New York, Oct. 1.—Manager Wilbert Robinson, who for the second time in five years has led the Brooklyn National League Club's players successfully as pennant winners to be contestants for the World Series Championships struggle, was born at Hudson, Mass., 56 years ago. For 36 years Robinson has been identified with the national game. Away back in 1884 he was catcher for the Haverill, Massachusetts team for which at the time John Kinley Tener was one of the club's pitching staff. During 1884 and the following season Tener and Robinson proved to be a very effective battery. Many years later pitcher Tener was elected governor of Pennsylvania and afterwards became the chief executive of the National Baseball League.

In 1885 Robinson joined the Philadelphia Athletics of the American Association and in his first major league game as catcher, scored the only run made by his team, which was beaten 4 to 1 by the New York Metropolitans. Robinson's fame as a catcher and batter as well as a fast baserunner is closely allied with Baltimore where he spent many years of his baseball career. Back in the 90's with McGraw, Jennings, Keeler, Kelley and others, Robinson established an enviable reputation as a great player when Ned Egan's famous Orioles won the championship three years in succession. FOUR WINTERVILLE STORES ROBBED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS

Small Amount of Cash and Much Merchandise Taken in Robbery Last Night.

Reports reaching this city today stated that four stores in Winterville were entered by robbers last night, with a small amount of merchandise, groceries and about $200 in cash being rifled from money drawers in all four places. The burglary was probably one of the most extensively planned occurring in this section of the state in several years, but no doubt proved decidedly disappointing to the thieves who evidently anticipated a considerably larger haul of cash.

The stores entered were: M. Tucker & Company, J. R. Cox Drug Store, A. O. Beddard and R. W. Dall's market. Entrance to all four buildings was made from the rear, through both windows and doors. At the Tucker store it is estimated that about $150 in cash was secured from the money drawer, and a pretty good supply of clothing, shoes, hats, etc. At the Cox drug store about $30 in cash was taken with a few articles carried in stock. No money was secured at the Beddard store, but a good supply of groceries were taken. At the Dall market the thieves were again disappointed as far as money is concerned, but they secured a pretty good haul of fresh meat.

Bloodhounds were being used in connection with the robbery this morning, but so far nothing of any definite nature as to identity of the robbers had been received. It is believed, however, that two or three persons were connected with the affair, and that they will be apprehended before the search is concluded.

TEACHERS SCHOOL OPENS TODAY WITH GOOD ENROLLMENT

E. C. T. S. Opened for Year's Work With Largest Registration in History.

The Training School opened formally this morning with the registration nearly three hundred, and a few who had not registered or who have engaged room but have been detained. Every room that will be available through the year has been assigned and a large number refused admission. The sixty who are awaiting the rooms in the new wing to East Dormitory have been crowded in by putting three girls in a room instead of two.

The new wing will be ready for occupancy in two weeks. The offices on the first floor of the administration building have been changed but they were in readiness for the opening. The entrance hall has been enlarged and made exceedingly attractive. The new classrooms in the basement are not yet completed.

Parlors and sitting rooms have been made from the rooms across the front of the west dormitory. There is the largest registration the school has ever had at the opening of the fall term, and the largest senior class. So far eighty-one have registered for this class.

The entire school assembled this morning for the first regular assembly exercises of the new school year. President Wright told the students that if he followed the custom of many other schools, he would have big speeches by local celebrities who would solve the educational problems of the day, but he believed in doing things first and in giving them practical, helpful suggestions that would help them to get adjusted to the work, and the interesting speeches could come next week. He then explained carefully certain sections of the catalogue. Class-room work began promptly at 8:35, all the classes meeting for full time today.

LAX ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION SCORED BY SENATOR HARDING

Marion, Oct. 1.—Lax enforcement of prohibition was condemned by Harding in addressing a gathering of women from his front porch. He expressed the opinion that law enforcement is one of the most important requisites of social progress, but warned against assumption of too much authority by the federal government in welfare efforts or in other activities as there was grave danger when centralized expression begins to take from local communities all burdens of social conscience.

Clinics Being Established for the Osteopathic
Treatment of the Poor.

A city-wide crusade for better health has just been started by the Osteopathic Association. Public clinics are being established in all the states for the free treatment of the poor. Free attention is given on the prevention of disease and on the prevention of disease being given in various community centers. "Better Babies" conferences are being held by the women osteopaths for the benefit of mothers and infants.

Osteopathic hospitals have been built in several cities recently and a number of others are projected for the immediate future.

The osteopathic colleges report a large increase in the number of matriculants, enlargement of faculties, and a still higher standard of entrance and curriculum requirements.

Great industrial plants, mills, factories, and large commercial houses are installing osteopathic departments for the purpose of keeping their workers fit, decreasing absences due to sickness and increasing the output by raising the physical efficiency. Several railroad companies have also added osteopathic specialists to their staff of physicians who restore injured employees to active service.

Accident insurance companies have discovered that injured men whom they care for under the Workmen's Compensation Act and employers' liability contracts are in many cases returned to wage earning very much sooner under osteopathic treatment than heretofore. This has resulted in a number of the greatest insurance companies installing osteopathic specialists in their offices in various cities to care for these cases.

Laws regulating the practice of osteopathy have now been passed in every state in the Union. This means that osteopathy is now standardized and regulated by law in a manner analogous to that by which the practice of medicine is controlled. Unqualified, incompetent and illegal practitioners of osteopathy are therefore now barred from practice by law and the public is just as well protected from injury by unqualified osteopaths as it is saved from harm by unregistered medical doctors. No osteopath can practice in any state in the Union now without being legally registered by the state.

Educational standards in osteopathic colleges have been raised to the level of medical standards and are enforced most rigidly. There are only seven osteopathic colleges in the world, and they are all members of the Associated Colleges of Osteopathy. This organization compels absolute uniformity of entrance requirements and a minimum curriculum of study hours and subjects equal to that of medical schools. The length of the course of study in osteopathic colleges is four years and no person can enter without a high school education. These colleges are located in Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Kansas City, Des Moines, Kirksville, Mo., and Los Angeles.

Large general surgical and obstetrical hospitals are maintained in conjunction with osteopathic colleges, the largest being in Kirksville, Chicago, Des Moines, and Philadelphia. It is only a matter of time when hospitals will be added to the equipment of the other colleges.

Osteopathic colleges are chartered educational institutions, authorized by the states to confer degrees. They are not conducted for the purpose of profit, but entirely from the educational standpoint.

Osteopathy, then, is a school of practice, the basic principle of which is the mechanical adjustment of the body. This is so simple that it is difficult to see why there should be any misunderstanding regarding it. Osteopaths are mechanical physicians, or mechanics of the human body. As the spine is the central support of the structure of the body and as it contains the spinal cord which is the main cable of nerves extending from the brain through the whole length of the trunk, the adjustment of the spine is necessarily the most important part of the work of the osteopath. Surgery being unnecessary, is of course embraced within the scope of osteopathy although body adjustment by the hands of the osteopath saves the patient from a very large percentage of avoidable operations.

Nothing which is scientifically true regarding the human body as taught by the other schools of practice is denied in the teachings of osteopathy. Osteopathy is not a system of negation, of attack or criticism of other schools of practice. It is not destructive. It is constructive. There are plenty of facts and costs based primarily upon denial or denunciation of others. Osteopathy is not of these. There is no instrument of precision used in diagnosis in the old schools, which is not utilized by the osteopaths. Osteopathy is necessarily based upon anatomy, physiology, chemistry and the other fundamental sciences underlying all teaching of the art of healing. These sciences all existed within the medical fold before osteopathy was born.

While it is true that nothing which has been proven to be scientifically correct is denied in the tenets of osteopathy it is also true that the mechanical adjustment of the body is such a natural procedure and brings about such remarkable results, that the osteopath has no need for the administration of drugs internally for the treatment of disease.

Potter's Materia Medica says that there is no statement more scientifically proven than the one that the human body contains within itself every substance necessary for the treatment of disease. With such an admission by an authority on drugs, the osteopath has no need to look elsewhere for his remedies. The next proposition is how to make these substances available. Science teaches that the body is the most perfect machine known. Hence osteopathy concludes that a perfect machine with all the substances necessary present, needs only perfect adjustment in order to maintain perfect functioning, which is health.

"We could not possibly have taken this action unless we felt thoroughly justified in anticipating reduced costs of materials, against which conditions our companies have made provision.

"It has been commented that the automobile business has been profiteering. The profit in proportion to the increase in prices has been much less in this industry than prior to the war.

"After two months of personal investigation of conditions abroad, I am firmly of the opinion that this country cannot hope to develop a healthy business and be able to compete with foreign markets unless we re-establish merchandise selling prices more nearly on a par with the conditions existing prior to the war."

NEW CHARACTER COMES TO SCREEN IN LATEST ANITA STEWART SPECIAL PRODUCTION

Woman Dance Hall Owner Is Novel Type In "Fighting Shepherdess" at White's Theatre.

The chance-in-a-lifetime that comes wholly unsuspected to those who least anticipate it is both truthfully and interestingly portrayed in the latest appearance of Anita Stewart before the camera in "The Fighting Shepherdess," which will have its opening performance White's Theatre Monday.

From the standpoint of excellence in the craftsmanship that is essential in the production of the motion picture of today, "The Fighting Shepherdess" possesses the merit of a carefully worked-out attraction. But from the human interest point of view which so much determines the amount of enjoyment an audience can derive from a picture, it is one of the most laudable pictures offered to local theatregoers this season.

Far away from all elements of refinement, Anita Stewart, as the daughter of a roadhouse proprietress, is brought face to face with the meaning of poverty. Surroundings are deplorably depressing and environment brings to her relations with miscast and misfit human beings endeavoring to make their livelihoods through the medium of sheep-raising.

At a critical time in the girl's life—when those fine qualities that have been instilled in her character are almost themselves in a stage of revolt—a test for her soul arrives. She disdains the road that leads to degradation and from out of the ranks of uncouth and non-meddlesome sheep-raisers there comes a man whose physical and moral support enables her to lead the life for which she yearns.

Contrary to the most convenient path, the author of "The Fighting Shepherdess" does not decree that his heroine shall marry the first man who exerts a good influence in her life. Moreover he cleverly constructs his plot in such a manner that this man-termed "Mormon Joe," causes her to be thought of by the citizens of the little village as a murderess.

story through the medium of a youth visiting the town. As the result of a bet he agrees to invite Kate to a local dance which promises to be a gala affair. And little does this youth realize what that dance is going to lead to and just what importance it will have with regard to the welfare of an entire sheep-raising country as told in the most interesting story of "The Fighting Shepherdess."

LISBON GOVERNOR OFFERS TO SHOOT PRISONER AT BAR

Threatens to Shoot Murderer of Judge Horta in Inter- rogation Proceedings

Lisbon, Sept. 30.—The governor of Lisbon, Lieutenant Portella, threatened to shoot Manuel Vieira, the youthful syndicalist, who shot and wounded Judge Horta, a member of the Tribunal of Social Defence, when Vieira was taken before the Governor for interrogation after the crime.

The story of the shooting of the Judge has already been cabled to The Associated Press. As Judge Horta was passing through one of the principal streets of Lisbon, August 21, four shots were fired at him, one of the bullets passing through his neck, just missing the carotid artery. He was not mortally wounded.

The wounded man was conveyed to the hospital, he would be assassinated and protected, with great difficulty against the populace, who wanted to lynch him and followed him and his escort to the police headquarters. There, Vieira was brought before the Governor who asked him what he had to say for himself.

"I avenged my comrades, who were condemned by the Tribunal to which that man belonged. I have the right to do so," said Vieira.

Governor Portella suddenly rose and pointing a pistol at the syndicalist's head, exclaimed:

"Very well; now I am going to kill you."

The syndicalist, cowering, cried: "Don't kill me."

"Why?" asked the governor. "According to your words, I have a right to do so."

"No," exclaimed Vieira, "because I have committed no crime against justice."

"Do you really believe, on your conscience, that you did nothing wrong?" "Yes," was the answer.

"Very well," said Governor Portella, "in that case I ought to give you back your liberty." Calling a policeman, he gave the order: "Set this man free. He is to leave by the door he came in by."

Outside the infuriated crowd was shouting "Death to the assassin" and Vieira, knowing the fate that awaited him, ...

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1920.

Out of the luxuries and there will be more for the necessities.

Norfolk Southern schedules and time tables are like last year's bird nests—nothing in them.

Just as well be laying your plans for something heavier to wear. Colder weather is on the way.

This was the day for the bill collector, but the gatherer of post office lock box rent was about the only one who could make them come across.

The best way to help along business conditions and keep confidence from lagging is for every man to pay as much as he can on what he owes and give the other fellow a chance to do likewise.

The way manufacturers are laying off employees is a reminder that he who has a reasonable paying job now had better hold on to it if he can.

FOREST FIRE PREVENTION.

In connection with the approach of the fall fire season the survey announces that it has succeeded in securing the services of an experienced forester who will devote practically his whole time to the prevention of forest fires in North Carolina.

Mr. Wm. D. Clark, the new Assistant Forester, comes from New England where fire prevention has been developed to a science, and is a graduate of the Yale School of Forestry, probably the leading institute of its kind in America.

The Federal Government has for the past few years been contributing from two to three thousand dollars a year towards forest protection in North Carolina and the State has been spending a somewhat greater amount.

The work of extending and making more effective this forest fire prevention will be largely left to Mr. Clark who will do the work of a State Forest Fire Warden.

Under the leadership of the United States Forest Service there is a countrywide movement to increase forest fire protective work all along the line.

PRESENT BANKING SITUATION.

But little change has taken place in the banking situation in the last four months, or, indeed, this year. On June 4, the total earning assets of the 12 Federal Reserve banks was $3,276,626,000; on July 2, the total was $3,271,570,000; on August 6, $3,387,592,000; on September 3, $3,364,930,000; on September 24, $3,369,588,000.

Some people say the increase of loans last year caused the rise of prices and some say it was made necessary by the rise of prices, but it would be a more accurate statement to say that the increase of loans financed and made possible the rise of prices.

The influences making for high prices last year were stronger than now. It was the first year after the war and the markets were under pressure from a flood of business held back during the war.

GENERAL BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

General business is moving along in a reasonably satisfactory manner. Everybody is not pleased, but the fundamental conditions are good. A month ago we could report that a good crop of the small grains had been harvested, but the greatest grain crop, that of corn, had not matured and owing to its late start was in danger of frost.

WILBERT ROBINSON SEES BROOKLYN IN TWO WORLD SERIES

In the development of pitchers Robinson was singularly successful and for several seasons he assisted his old friend McGraw in this department. He made several trips to the spring training camps of the Giants after he had ceased to be an active player. As a pitcher's coach with the New York Nationals he brought out Rube Marquard, who contributed his share to the winning of three successive pennants in 1911, '12 and '13.

Robinson began his management of the Brooklyn team in 1914 and two years later made them champions of their league. He persuaded President Ebbets to secure the services of Marquard and Mamaux when these pitchers were on their way to the minor leagues and they are still with him now that he has landed his club for the second time as a big factor in the world series.

"We always declared we were not waging war against the German people, but against German militarism and still, now that the German empire has fallen and now that militarist Germany is wrecked, we have not changed our attitude. Germany today is in an intolerable position, still undergoes all sorts of odious investigations and is submitting to all sorts of humiliations. Germany has no ships, has not sufficient raw materials and has no colonies, while the exchange rate is so unfavorable she cannot buy abroad. Germany, while suffering hunger, is condemned to pay an indeterminate indemnity for a nineterninate number of years.

"It is true the victory confers certain rights, but it imposes also certain duties. Nobody more than myself, who am a firm believer in democracy and peace, hated German imperialism. Is the American democracy really pleased with the turn events have taken?"

DEPUTIES CAPTURE STILL, TWO NEGROES AND MUCH LIQUOR

Deputy Sheriffs Jackson and Williams and Chief of Police Jones this morning made a raid in the Haddock's Cross Roads section of the county which resulted in the capture of 23 gallons of whiskey, one still and the apprehension of "Sunny Cox and Mack Worthington, colored, who are charged with operating the still. The whiskey was located at the homes of both men, carefully secreted in bushes quite a distance from the main living house. The still is of the usual type employed in the manufacture of illicit beverage in the territory, and showed signs of constant operation for sometime. Worthington was not arrested at the time of the capture as was Cox, but his arrest is expected any moment.

"THE STOLEN KISS"

Starring Constance Binney, a Revelation in Film Art. For absorbing drama and delicious humor, touched with flashes of pathos, nothing equals Constance Binney's newest Realart production "The Stolen Kiss," which is scheduled to appear at White's Theatre on Friday. The picture is an adaptation from Lucie Van Slyke's heart-warming tale, "Little Miss By-the-Day."

"The Stolen Kiss" is a "different" picture. It portrays with quaint charm the story of a little Brooklyn girl with a French accent, who is kept in sheer ignorance of the simplest things in life by her misguided though affectionate grandfather. The story hinges upon the efforts of Felicia Day, who is called "Little Miss By-the-Day," because she hires out to sew "by the day" to earn sufficient money to recover the ownership of her beautiful home, which has been legally entangled by an unscrupulous lawyer. In place of the frowsy lodgers who have taken possession of the house, Felicia installs a group of potential geniuses—young men and girls discovered by Felicia in the last stages of despair. Under the benign influence of her matchless courage they regain their confidence and succeed in working out their destinies.

Constance Binney is seen in a dual role in this production. She portrays both Felicia Day and her mother, Octavia. Kenneth Webb, who directed this second of Miss Binney's Realart vehicles, is noted for his amazing camera work, and some remarkable double exposure pictures are promised. Associated with Miss Binney is a cast of players well up to the Realart standard for excellence. Rodney La Roque, who has appeared opposite Robert Schable, Bradley Barker, many of America's greatest stars, is seen in a similar capacity in "The Stolen Kiss." Others who are prominent are Frank Losee, George Backus, 8:30 P. M.
