

GOMPERS SCORES BRITISH MOVEMENT AGAINST LABORERS

Repudiates Efforts to Line Up American Labor With Bolshevists.

SEES GREAT HARM ALONG EVER LINE OF PUBLIC SERVICE

Would Frustrate Any Plans Which Have Been Formed for Such an Object

Washington, Oct. 2.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has repudiated the efforts of English labor to swing the sentiment of the laboring men of the world in behalf of Soviet government.

"Organized labor in this country regards the American government as being essentially democratic," says Mr. Gompers, and this is the keynote of his refusal to accept the proffer of the workers of Great Britain that union members of this country aid in the movement to prevent the shipment of arms and ammunition to Poland for use in its war against the Bolsheviks.

"The Amsterdam executive," says the editorial in the Federationist, "has issued throughout the world and sent to the American Federation of Labor for circulation in this country a declaration calling for international revolutionary measures by labor in aid of the Soviets in their war against Poland."

"The chairman of the British labor party, claiming to speak for the British trade union labor movement, has set a cablegram along similar lines and apparently calling for similar action."

"The contents of these messages are thoroughly revolutionary and obviously animated with the desire to use extreme measures for strengthening the hold of Soviet power in Russia and enabling it to exert its influence and to dominate neighboring countries."

WHY THE OUTSIDE PUBLIC KNOWS NOTHING ABOUT GREENVILLE

Last season the writer made arrangements by which Greenville's tobacco market received a nice write up each week in the Sunday issue of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Just before the market opened this season, I received a letter from the manager requesting that I give them the information weekly of what Greenville sold and the average with such other items of tobacco news. The first week I was able to learn what the market sold with the average, but since then this information has been denied me.

Will say I have been getting this information from the buyers, but some of the warehouses made a complaint, saying it was unfair to them as I was making use of the information in the local papers showing what per cent Gorman's sold of the total sales.

Last season I wrote the Times-Dispatch a letter Friday of each week and on Saturday's wire would the total sales with average made. I prepared all telegrams personally, Wilson, Winston, Rocky Mount with all the other larger markets make public the average and total sales weekly and all the big dailies are glad to give it as a news item but, you see nothing about Greenville, except that the end of the month when the states sales are published

CONCERTED ACTION IS TAKEN AGAINST ANFU LEADERSHIP

America, Great Britain and France Discuss Disposition of Chinese.

Peking, Oct. 1.—Representatives of America, France and Great Britain took concerted action at an informal meeting of the diplomatic corps a few days ago, called to consider what steps should be taken in view of the practical certainty that the defeated Anfu leaders seek refuge in the legations. The diplomats did not announce what course they would pursue with respect to giving asylum, in case it were demanded, in the legation proper but sent notices to their national residing in the Legation Quarter calling attention to a clause in the protocol of 1900 prohibiting the residence of Chinese other than employee, in the quarter.

Inasmuch as the notices were sent to secretaries and clerks of legations the action was generally regarded as tantamount notice that such refugees would not be received in the legations. Although most of the legations were represented at the meeting, the other ministers reserved the right to take individual action. Dr. C. D. Tenney, councillor, represented the American legation in the absence of Minister Crane.

Practically the only institution affected by the decision of the three ministers was the British owned Hotel Wagons Lists which had become the haven of Chinese who feared that they might suffer at the hands of looters or otherwise. The male contingent of these refugees were given 48 hours in which to vacate. The rule did not apply to women and children many of whom stayed on.

when I was denied this information I had the attached petition written and handed to the president of the Tobacco Board of Trade. He informs me that all except the ones whose names are attached to it refused to sign unless I would agree not to use the information in the local papers. This I refused to concede to, so Greenville gets no free advertising and the outside world knows nothing of what we are doing.

In order that the Greenville tobacco markets' average with the number of pounds sold each week, may get before the trade and public, through the Richmond, Raleigh and other daily papers in their Sunday's issue.

We the warehousemen of Greenville agree for the Imperial Tobacco Co. or either of the other companies buying, to supply this information each week to the representative of said papers.

In giving this information it is agreed that the sales and averages will be given as a whole and not of each warehouse.

ASTOR BUILDING IN LONDON TO BE SOLD TO CITY OFFICIALS

Unique Home of Late Lord William Astor to Change Hands at Early Date

ONE OF COMMANDING STRUCTURES OF OLD CAPITOL OF ENGLAND

Building Was Erected at a Cost of Million Dollars Quarter Century Ago.

London, Oct. 2.—The most unique office building in London, for more than quarter of a century the business headquarters and home of the late Lord William Waldorff Astor, is to be sold. Built at a cost of more than $1,000,000 this office-palace occupied one of the most commanding positions on the famous embankment.

Architects have called it the most original structure of its kind in the world, in that it combines many of the inspirations of the old world with all the modern devices of present-day business. It is constructed of gray stone, in Tudor style and never has any building offered such discouragement to burglars. A strong, though artistic iron railing surrounds the house, all the many windows have iron bars and entrance can only be obtained through a massive gateway of bronze.

Above it all is a little gilt galleon, in full sail, an exact model of the caravel in which Columbus crossed the seas, a happy reminder, as someone has pointed out "of the American-made wealth which made the splendid building possible."

AVERAGE CROWDS EXPECTED TO SEE THE WORLD SERIES

General Increase in National Sport Not Expected to Cause Record Crowd

LARGEST ATTENDANCE YET RECORDED PASSED FORTY THOUSAND MARK

Ebbets Field in Brooklyn Only Capable of Accommodating 23,000.

New York, Oct. 2.—Notwithstanding the general increase in baseball throughout the country it is unlikely that in the coming series to decide the world's championship that new records will be made in attendance for a single game of for the series. The reason for this is that the capacity of the parks where the games are to be played is insufficient to erase from the record books the top notch figures that have been established in previous years.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a single game in a world's series was 42,620, which was the announced official attendance official attendance for the final contest of the 1916 series between the Boston Red Sox of the American League and Brooklyn of the National League, played at Boston. The best record for total attendance at a series was made in 1912, when the Boston team of the American League and the New York team of the National League played to 251,901 persons in eight games.

DIVISION OF FUNDS OF WORLD SERIES CREATES INTEREST

Thousands of People Interested in Manner Division of Money is Made.

New York, Oct. 2.—Division of the thousands of dollars paid by baseball fans to witness the world's series games is annually the topic of curious interest as is the division of any large sum of money. The regulations under which the money of the world's series is at present divided has become so involved that the average fan has lost interest in trying to solve, while the games are being played, just how much the winning and losing teams will receive. And it is no easy task to arrive at this conclusion because the money is divided in several different ways.

The principal interest of the baseball fans centers in the amount the players who take part in the big games will receive.

The first provision in the cutting of the big baseball "melon" is that ten percent of the gross receipts of all games goes to the National Commission. Next comes the player's pool, which consists of 60 percent of the balance (after the commission's ten percent has been taken out) of the receipts of the first five games. The other 40 percent of this balance goes into the pool to be divided equally between the owners of the clubs.

If more than five games be necessary to decide the championship, the receipts of those games are divided, 10 percent to the National commission and the other 90 percent to the club owners' pool.

There are certain regulations for the division of the players' pool and the club owners' pool which are not generally understood and which can be illustrated better by figures than by words.

For example that $100,000 represented the receipts of a game. First of all 10 percent or $10,000 would have to be set aside for the National Commission. That would leave a balance of $90,000. Sixty percent of this, or $54,000 would go into the players' pool and the 40 percent of this balance or $36,000 would go to the club owners' pool. This division would be the same for the first five games.

REGARDS AMERICA AND GREAT BRITAIN AS ACTIVE ENEMIES

Japan Believes Two Countries Are Trying to Restrain far Eastern Politics

CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT REGARDED ANXIOUSLY BY BRILLIANT WRITERS

Writer in Military Organ Sums Up Situation From Various Angles.

Tokio, Oct. 2.—A belief prevailing in Japan that the United States and England may join hands in restraining Japan in her Far Eastern policy has been the basis of much comment in the press.

Japan's brilliant writer, Iichiro Tokutomi, late editor of the military organ, the Kokumin, wrote a special article on American-English relations in which he called the United States the "enfant terrible" of the world. Mr. Tokutomi regards the prospect of co-operation between England and America with some anxiety. The world will be obliged to agree with what they agree, he observes, but he consoles himself with the thought that such co-operation is unlikely owing to American suspicions of England and lack of world knowledge.

After summing up his conclusions as to the position of England as arbiter of the world, Mr. Tokutomi says:

"But there comes England's competitor, whom England at least in her heart of hearts fears as a formidable power. America may be called an exposition of the world's different races. But the mainstay of the American people is the Anglo-Saxons. England and America are brother nations with the Atlantic between them. The destiny of the world is now entrusted to these brother nations.

"If they should co-operate in the work of solving the problems of the world, however, unreasonable the results of such solution may be, the world will be obliged to agree," thinks Mr. Tokutomi. But he asks: "Is America willing to act the role of younger brother and follow England's lead? Americans want to be the first in everything. Will they be content to take the second place in the solution of world problems?" He doubts it, saying: "To think that America will follow the lead of England as a younger brother dutifully obeying orders in the solution of the world problems and will be the unique supporter of England is the observation of a blind man."

Mr. Tokutomi describes the Americans in this way: "In a word the American is a rustic person who does not know anything about the world. He enjoys globe trotting and Europe is his pleasure ground where he dumps his money. But on all occasions he carries his own country in his travelling bag. Consequently aside from satisfying his own desires for pleasure he does not enlighten himself very much by his observations of the world."

ANGLO-FRENCH LOAN.

Five years have passed since the Anglo-French loan of $500,000,000 was issued. Now that both of the borrowing governments have announced that they have completed their arrangements for payment in full on the 15th 15th of this month, it is pertinent to recall some of the dismal prospects that were made at the time of issue. A great many people were very sure that both countries were even then hopelessly bankrupt, and that the investors would never see their money again. The war lasted for three years longer, with expenditures constantly increasing, and the two years, nearly, that have passed since the war ended, have been nearly as expensive as the early years of the war, and yet the lenders are to have their money on the due date, according to promise. Moreover, industrial and financial conditions in both countries have been steadily improving. It is true that much unrest and confusion exists, and that this retards recovery, but in view of what has been accomplished there is reason for confidence rather than pessimism. The peoples of Europe can ruin themselves by destroying the industrial organization if they are determined to do so, but on the other hand there is no reason to doubt that they can work out of their troubles if they set themselves to the task. France is meeting its portion of the joint loan in part by the flotation of a new loan of $100,000,000 in this market and in part by shipping gold; the other arrangements are not publicly known, but presumably from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 is provided by the sale of American securities acquired from French holders or by the purchase of New York exchange in the London market. We do not hesitate to express our regret that it has been necessary for France to either ship gold or buy exchange at the present very high rates, which require the payment of about three times the sum in francs that in normal times would be necessary to extinguish a similar debt in dollars. Before the war a franc counted approximately as 133 cents in making payments in dollars; now it is equal as less than 7 cents. The United States does not get the difference, but France loses it by being obliged to acquire exchange on the United States at this time. Moreover, the efforts of the French government to acquire New York exchange have tended to depress the value of the franc in relation to the dollar, and thus make American goods cost more to French buyers.

And so it may be said of the gold that is shipped that the United States does not need it while France does. This gold should not be allowed to become the basis of new credits, for our task now is to reduce the volume of outstanding credit. Similar comments may be made upon the payment of England's half of the loan. It is unfortunate that England was obliged to pay her share of the loan at this time. The acquisition of New York exchange for this purpose has been in whole or in part responsible for the fall in the value of the pound sterling from around $4.00 to around $3.50, which makes it just so much harder to sell American products wherever the pound sterling is the standard of value. The gold that has been received from England has gone into our reserves, but the present volume of bank credits is no greater than before it was received. Some of it has been exported, and to that extent it may have been serviceable in preventing a reduction of our reserves at this time, but on the other hand, so intricate are the workings of the international exchanges that the very movement of gold from England to the United States, by disturbing the international equilibrium, may cause a movement of gold

THE CREDIT SITUATION.

A feeling of greater ease and confidence has characterized the money market during the past month. Time money on collateral security has been in more liberal supply, and as low as 8 per cent, although the bulk of the business was at 8 1/4 and 8 1/2. The rate on commercial paper has been steady at 8 per cent with but little doing by the New York City banks. Their loans are closely confined to customers. The call money rate has ruled below the time rate, and as a rule about 7 per cent. The fact that the first month of the fall season has been passed and the money for moving the small grain crops has been provided without seriously increasing the strain has contributed to the easier feeling. So far as the grain crops are concerned the worst is probably over, for although only a small portion of the crop has been moved, the conditions are such that the remainder is likely to move slowly and the credit in use will be turned over and over, with perhaps no more in use at any one time than is employed now. As the farmers sell, the banks in the farming districts come into funds with which they liquidate loans at the centers, and thus place the latter in shape to continue advances upon grain.

A CHECK TO DOWNWARD MOVEMENT.

There is good reason to think that in the industries that have been most disturbed the price reductions have gone about as far as they will in the near future. Other industries must expect to contribute their share in the general readjustment, and the more readily they do so the better all around. These price reductions have not yet been reflected in retail prices everywhere, but that, too, is a development on the way and which the enterprising public-spirited merchant will hasten. There is always difficulty in managing a downward movement. Once confidence in prices is unsettled suspicion is alert. Buyers are wary at any price. It is a mistake, however, to think that prices—at least the average of prices—may slump back to anything like pre-war figures. They have almost done so in some lines, but these prices will probably recover a part of the lost ground. There are too many factors in the situation to permit of complete readjustment at once. It will be a time process. The business community does not like the idea of doing business on a declining market, but that is the prospect for some years to come, and business must plan for it.

THE BEST PLACE IN THE WORLD.

When I feel bad and things are wrong with me,
Then Grandma's lap is the best place to be,
There's a place on her arm jes' fits my head,
And her lap's cushiony, jes' like a bed,
Sometimes she covers my foots with her dress,
Her lap's the best place in the world, I guess.
When my nightclothes are on and my prayers said,
And my ma says, "Now son run up to bed,"
An' I'm a-standin' 'round' a-bein' slow,
Jes' 'cause I'm all time a-dreadin' it so,
My Grandma gives her knee a little tap,
An' I slip over and get in her lap.
Then Ma looks real hard at me, an' Grandma,
An' then she turns aroun' an' looks at Pa;
But Pa be jes' smiles and says,
"Let him be, it used to be the same way with me."
Then my head finds that place on Grandma's arm.
An' she tucks me in good—all snug and warm,
An' she sings to me then, so soft an' low,
The songs she sung, way long time ago.
Then she tells 'bout when she was a girl,
I know her lap's the best place in the world.

CAN WE STAND THE TEST?

By President A. W. McAllister of Southern Life and Trust Co.
There are signs so clear that he who runs may read, unmistakable signs, that we are launched upon a period of business readjustment and uncertainty. We may as well brace ourselves for the jar. I did not say crash—I said jar. I am not forecasting calamity, but I see difficulty ahead of us, and I want to suggest a shock absorber for this inevitable jar. Optimism is the great shock absorber in this vale of jolts and jars, not the kind that refuses to see trouble and that shuts its eyes to facts and the inevitable, but the kind that looks the situation, whatever it may be, squarely in the face and meets it with confidence and courage and faith. The man that can panoply himself in this sort of optimism can meet any situation. This sort of optimism means victory, no matter what the odds may be. The days ahead are testing days, days that are going to show what stuff a man is made of, whether he is a stickler or a quitter. It is the man who quits in these days-to-be of stress, that is lost. When business is dull in one line men will be tempted to shift to another. They will do well to remember that there has got to be readjustment all along the line and that conditions which make this necessary in any one business at this time are pretty apt to make it necessary in every other. The man who shifts about from one thing to another now is the man that is going to find himself jumping from the frying pan into the fire, and that his last state is worse than his first. The man that is going to win is going to be the man who sticks.
The days that are ahead are also going to be a testing time for bringing out all that is in a man. It is a time that calls for all the resourcefulness that a man has got in him, and for all the energy and tenacity of purpose that he can command. He wins who sticks and digs and who is unafraid, who sees things just as they are can be a cheerful optimist no matter what comes.

ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT.

Mrs. Thos. J. Moore entertained the young Matron's Bridge Club at her lovely new home on west Fourth street Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and afforded the members and guests a very happy surprise when she announced the engagement of Miss Alice Howison, of Ashland, Va., to Mr. Charles Brown, of Greenville, Tenn.
Eight tables were arranged in the reception, drawing rooms and sun parlor, which were beautifully decorated in pink and white dahlias. After several progressions punch was passed and each cup handle bore a hand tinted card of a bride, with the announcement "Howison-Brown." Clever toasts were found on the reverse side, and the hostess started the round of merriment by being the first to toast the bride-elect. "Come along, Come along, let's drink it down.
To our beloved Alice,
The future Mrs. Brown."
Mrs. E. B. Ficklen then responded with:
"God bless you honey, I tell you true—
Dem wedding bells are calling you,
When you goes up de aisle and takes de vow,
Here's everlasting happiness to him and thou."
Mrs. J. B. James, sister of the groom followed,
"Here's to the sister that's soon to be mine, I've been hoping so for a long, long time,
I know you'll make Charlie the happiest man in the world,
But I must not forget my brother who's such a fortunate lover."
After each guest had given her toast Miss Howison responded,
"And another cup is passed around, I deem it a treat to toast the sister of Charlie Brown,
She is so sweet."
Just here an exquisite corsage bouquet of roses and valley lilies was presented from the groom.
A delicious salad course was served with hot rolls and spiced tea.
Mrs. Moore presented Miss Howison with a lovely piece of lingerie, and three Maderia towels were given the lucky members and guests winning the club prizes. As the guests were leaving, white rose petal cups filled with rice were given around, and the bride-elect found herself amid a veritable shower, not only of rice but laughter and hearty good wishes as well.
Miss Howison is of one of Virginia's oldest families and has a striking personality. It is with sincere regrets that Greenville, N. C., must give her up to Greenville, Tenn., for in Tennessee's gain North Carolina loses one of its highest ideals of southern womanhood.
Mr. Brown is a prominent business man, and is well known here having often visited his sister, Mrs. J. B. James. The news of the approaching marriage of Miss Howison to Mr. Brown will be received with great interest throughout Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
Dr. W. P. Shambart, Pastor.
To build a church of Christ without denominational name, creed or other barrier to Christian unity, whose terms of fellowship shall be as broad as the conditions of salvation and identical with them.
The Eighth Street Church of Christ invites all thoughtful people and public spirited citizens to study with us, in the spirit of Christian love, the following statement of the purpose we have in maintaining and building up the work of this church.
"To exalt Christ above party and his word above all human creeds. To illustrate the practicability of Christian union on New Testament faith and practice. Every Sunday 9:45 and 11 A. M., 7:30 P. M."

THRILLS, MYSTERY, LOVE AND ANITA STEWART IN NOVEL ROLE IN "FIGHTING SHEPHERDESS"

Screen Version of Famous Story by Carolina Lockhart Provides Exciting Action.
An almost lifelike story of how a simple, inconspicuous girl, through a strange series of incidents arose from the depths of a western roadhouse and obscure and uncertain parentage to a position of wealth and power in her community is the story of "The Fighting Shepherdess," from the famous book by Caroline Lockhart, and the latest Anita Stewart production which will be seen at White's theatre, Monday. The natural inclinations of the girl are against the surroundings in which she was placed and it so transpired that by chance a recluse shepherd with a sense of chivalry arrived at the tavern to champion her cause against the advances of an objectionable character. It was through the opportunity offered by this man that Kate, played by Anita Stewart, was able to leave the tavern and take up a life as a hermit girl.
An appealing romance enters the story shortly after Kate leaves the tavern. Hughie Disston played by Wallace MacDonald, visiting the cattle country becomes enamored of the simple shepherdess and an engagement is effected. Little does the youth realize that when he revisits the sheep country after his years in college he will find a difference in his little shepherd girl and a difference that causes him much pain but makes for a very interesting picture.

FALL OF ANFU CLIQUE SEEMS ABOUT COMPLETE AND EVEN IRREVOCABLE

Peking, Oct. 1.—The fall of the "Anfu clique", commonly identified as the pro-Japanese party of China because of the facility with which the Japanese have concluded loans with China in exchange for valuable concessions and privileges during the period of its predominance, is seemingly complete and irrevocable. So complete is the collapse that its chief representatives are at the moment hiding with prices on their heads.

For five days every avenue leading from the Legation quarters has been watched day and night and every passer out, Chinese or foreign, has been subject to inspection on the suspicion amounting to belief that those wanted are harbored in some one or several of the legations and that they will eventually try to escape from the city. Likewise all city gates are closely guarded to prevent passage of any on the proscribed list.

It is customary in Peking to post in railway stations and places generally where people congregate posters with the picture of persons known to be pickpockets, sneak thieves or burglars. Never before, however, in the memory of the oldest resident, have men who have occupied high places of authority in affairs of the nation been so placarded.

This time, however, the streets were were "billed" with cuts and descriptions of a half dozen of the chief political offenders, subjects of a presidential decree calling for their arrest on a broad charge of having been guilty of bringing about the military commotion in July and earlier. Rewards, ranging from $10,000 to $30,000 were publicly offered for their delivery into custody.

NUMBER OF CASES IN MAYOR CLARK'S COURT DURING THE MORNING

The following cases were disposed of in mayor's court today:
John Williams, speeding, $10 and costs. Roscoe Pitt, grand larceny, bound over to next term of superior court, bond $300. John Adams, receiving goods under false pretense, bound over to county court under $100 bond. Raleigh Whitaker, reckless driving, $10 and costs. Doc Perkins, driving auto in an intoxicated condition, $50 and costs. Doc Perkins, driving auto in reckless and careless manner, released upon payment of costs. Slim Williford, leaving engine running in car while standing on street, released upon payment of costs. Willie Rollins, larceny, bound over to county court under $100 bond. Mack Killibrew, assault, released upon payment of costs. Carter Williams and Walter Bynum, assault, released upon payment of costs. E. Lewis and J. Gibson, larceny, bound over to county court under bond of $200 each. Jerry Langley, trespass and disorderly conduct, fined $25 and cost, but appealed to superior court.

When one enters the offices he is confronted by a magnificent carved staircase which occupies the greater portion of the center of the house. Oak beams, mahogany panelling, marble floors abound throughout and many of the fittings have been declared priceless by experts.
The house holds many rare treasures. Among the most important are the folio Shakespeare, the first edition of Spencer, a 16th century book of colored maps, many inlaid tables and cabinets and a ponderous four poster bed with Gobelin hangings.
Although used as both a residence and office, several enthusiasts are urging that it be purchased by the City of London as a permanent home for the London City Museum, so well could it be adapted to public use.

One world's series, that of 1916, and while it is possible for between 22,000 and 23,000 to crowd into the stands and pavilions, the largest official attendance there in the 1916 series was 21,022. The parks of the contending clubs for the American League pennants show no possibilities for new attendance figures for a single game, or the likelihood of a new record for the series when paired with the comparatively small capacity of Ebbets Field. The seating capacity of the park at Cleveland is approximately 20,700, while that of the Chicago White Sox is in the neighborhood of 35,000. The largest number that has attended a world's series game at the grounds of the White Sox was 34,379, the official attendance at the fifth game of the series between the White Sox and Cincinnati last year.
