WILLIAMS CAUSES DIRECT STIR OVER HIGH RATE CHARGE

Comptroller Arouses Bankers in Charge of "Unjustifiable Interest." ASSERTION PROMISES TO BEING STORM FOR REMAINDER SESSION

Rural Bankers Feel They Haven't Had Square Deal in the Past.

Washington, Oct. 18. — Technical questions scheduled at the American Bankers' Association convention here were displaced in interest among delegates today by the controversy centering around charges of "unjustifiable interest rates" made against New York banks by John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency.

Officials of the association tried all day to avert the threatened storm, but it was stated after the day's session of the various convention groups that there was a demand by delegates for a reply to Mr. Williams' assertions. The charges made by the comptroller will be considered by the committee on resolutions and later will be taken to the floor of the convention, it was said.

The public relations committee, in a statement tonight, said: "The general expression among the visiting bankers was in criticism of the act made by the Comptroller of the Currency, the majority of them pointing out that Mr. Williams did not give in his statement the amount of money loaned by the New York bankers on call at the high rate of interest mentioned. The various bankers estimated amount so loaned at from one to two per cent.

"They are inclined to class money as a commodity and point out that there has been less increase in the money rates than in any other commodity. It also was stated that the greater amount of money is being loaned at from 6 to 7 1/2 per cent while the prevailing low rate prior to the increase in other commodities was from 5 to 6 per cent."

Supporters of Mr. Williams among the bankers, however, said they expected to express themselves "freely" when the question reached the convention floor. Rural bankers were represented as feeling that they had not had a "square deal" at the hands of some of the New York banks serving them as correspondents.

Discussion of the Williams' charges crept into the executive meetings of the various group sessions, but mention of the attack was met with announcement that the subject was not one for any particular group to deal with, and that preparations were being made to have the association express its views formally.

The insurance committee decided to investigate reasons for advanced rates on burglary and hold up policies. Companies writing such insurance increased their rates several months ago without giving reasons for the advance, members of the committee stated.

HOW CAN WE REGISTER?

- "We have been to the office of D. M. Clark for several times and never find him there so how are we to register. We want to vote and feel it our duty to vote but as the time is limited for registering and Saturday is the last day what shall we do?"
- These were the remarks made to a reporter for The Reflector today and by the ladies of the town that is, several of them in a bunch, who had been trying all day to register and said they had tried several times before. It looks like as the time is short and Saturday is the last day, the books would be where each and every woman in the town could register if they want to.

OMAS HAS BECOME HEADQUARTERS FOR BOLSHEVIKI ARMY

Siberian City Transformed Into Main Point for Russian Troops.

London, Oct. 19. — Omsk, Siberia, formerly the antibolshevik headquarters of the late Admiral Kolchak, has been transformed into a bolshevik headquarters, seat of the soviet government for all Siberia, chiefly by the use of red bunting, red paint and red propaganda posters and pamphlets printed in Moscow and sent to Siberia.

New street signs, featuring bolshevik nomenclature; new heroic street arches and monuments constructed of wood and painted red are other changes, noted by The Associated Press correspondent who recently crossed Russia. Behind the scenes, Omsk is the same city of suffering refugees, scant food and clothing and difficult living conditions in general, according to Russians who talked to The Associated Press correspondent and his companion, the first Americans to enter Omsk after Admiral Kolchak's hurried evacuation. There has been little relief in an economic way for the people, there being as much dissatisfaction under the reds there was under Kolchak.

Gone from Omsk are the vari-colored uniforms of Allied missions from Paris, London and Tokio and forgotten is the Omsk express, the weekly train to Vladivostok. The former are replaced by envoys and missions out from Moscow, unusually for food or any supplies that may be obtained for shipment to the bolshevik capital. American Red Cross nurses and Y. M. C. A. men have been replaced by bolshevik workers who wear the red insignia on their caps.

Military opposition to the soviets having been overcome, attention has been turned to constructive work. Attempts are being made to solve the ever-present food shortage by vegetable gardens in public parks and even in several streets. The entire grounds of the one cathedral were given over to potato growing during the summer.

PREDICTS GREATER BUSINESS THROUGH BETTER RAILROADS

John J. Pullynn Tells Bankers' Association of Improved Conditions.

ADVERSITY OF RAIL CONNECTION DISASTER IN BUSINESS CENTER

President of Savings' Association Looks Hopefully to Future.

Washington, Oct. 19. — Improved business conditions generally during future years because of the bettered railroad situation resulting from the new Transportation act were forecast by John J. Pullynn, President of the Savings Banks' Association of New York, speaking today before the American Bankers' Association.

"Adversity in transportation spells disaster in business," declared Mr. Pullynn, who addressed the bankers' convention on the effect of the Transportation act on the credit of the railroads. He asserted that general bankruptcy and disorganization of nation's railway system would have resulted last spring had not the new law "wisely" provided for the roads during the period of transition from government control to private operation.

The increase of railroad rates recently made by the interstate commerce commission under the authority of the new law, Mr. Pullynn said, added "hundreds of million of dollars to the value of railroad holdings of investing institutions."

The new rates, he said further, will prove advantageous to the medium grade railroad bonds, and should tend

HARDING REPLIES TO RECENT LETTER FROM WHITE HOUSE

Answers Wilson's Question Regarding Invitation from French People.

Marion, O., 18. —Replying to an inquiry from President Wilson, Senator Harding wrote the White House tonight that although France had sent her "spokesmen" to him informally, asking America to lead the way for an association of nations, the incident had not involved the French government in any violation of international principles.

The Senator declared that in his reference to the subject in a speech at Greencastle, Ind., recently he only had sought to convey the thought that there had come to him "those who spoke a sentiment which they represented to be very manifest among the French people." He added that his words "could not be construed to say that the French government has sent anybody to him."

Referring to Mr. Wilson's suggestion of impropriety in a foreign nation approaching a "private citizen" on such a subject, Senator Harding pointed out that he is a member of the foreign relations committee as well as a nominee for the presidency and suggested that "an informal expression to me is rather more than that to a private citizen."

The text of Senator Harding's letter, sent in reply to one from the President asking whether the Senator had been correctly quoted in his Greencastle speech, is as follows:

"Dear Mr. President: "I have before me a press copy of your letter to me of this date, though I am not in receipt of the original copy. I am glad to make a prompt reply.

PLAN TO STABILIZE AMERICAN DOLLAR FULL OF DANGERS

Investigation of Irving's Plan by Commission Presents Grave Problem.

MONETARY SYSTEM OF NATION WOULD QUITE EARLY BE DISTURBED

Plan Would Make Impossible Gold Redemption by Rapidly Rising Prices.

Washington, Oct. 19. — Professor Irving Fisher's plan to stabilize the dollar by diminishing or increasing the gold behind the dollar as prices fall or rise was adversely reported upon today by the currency commission of the American Bankers' Association. After a year's study, the commission found that the plan contained "grave dangers" and it recommended against memorializing congress in favor of changes in the monetary system suggested by the Yale economist.

"It is our conclusion," the commission reported, "that Dr. Fisher's plan, thought interestingly and ably worked out, is wholly impractical and would involve grave dangers to the stability of our financial and monetary system. It would lead to foreign drafts on your gold in any period of crisis since the plan calls for lightening the gold behind the dollar when prices fall and foreigners, foreseeing this, would draw down their balance and sell dollars short before the government could discharge."

The commission believed the plan would make "difficult, if not impossible," the maintenance of gold redemption in periods of rapidly rising prices. (Continued on page eight.)

REPORT OF LEAGUE TO EFFECT PEACE BRINGS ABOUT STIR

Score of Letters Show Confidential Activity of Prominent Parties.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18. — Scores of confidential letters from the files of the League to Enforce Peace, of which William Howard Taft is president, were introduced into the record of the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures here late today. Names of a number of prominent New York bankers were mentioned in the correspondence.

Don H. Hunt, attorney for the committee, who investigated the activities of the league, reported that "in my estimation" officials of the league have violated the Logan act, passed January 30, 1790, which prohibits American citizens carrying on negotiations with foreign governments or their agents regarding disputes or controversies without the permission of the United States. The act carries a penalty upon conviction, of fines of not more than $5,000 and imprisonment of from six months to three years.

The senate committee met here today to complete its investigation of the pre-convention campaign in Missouri and adjourned to meet again sometime after the election. Before adjourning telegrams were despatched to the chairmen of the Republican and Democratic National, Senatorial and Congressional committees directing them to file complete statements of their receipts, expenditures and pledges at Chicago on Thursday, October 28. The reports will be made public at that time.

The report of Mr. Hunt's investigation of the League to Enforce Peace proved the sensation of the day. Dozens of confidential letters between Mr. Taft, George W. Wickersham, Theodore Marburg and others were given.

BELIEVES GERMAN PLANNED TO WHIP ENGLAND'S FORCES

Mathias Erzberger States that Kaiser Planned to Take England Last.

Berlin, Oct. 19. — The former German Emperor William confidently expected to emerge victoriously from the world war, and then marshal his continental armies against England in what he termed "the second Junic war," says Mathias Erzberger, in his volume of war recollections just published at Stuttgart. The Emperor evidently used the term "Junic war" in the sense of a conflict for world supremacy between two great nations.

Erzberger, who was formerly minister of finances, but now has temporarily retired from public political activities set forth in detail the meeting between the then Emperor William and the Reichstag leaders, after the fall of Chancellor Bethmann Hollweg, and following the adoption of the peace resolution in July 1917.

He says the Emperor became enthusiastic over the phrase "peace or compromise," which he assumed was what the Reichstag majority demanded. "Excellent word 'compromise,'" William stated. "It means," he said, "that we take the money, raw products, cotton, oil, and ores out of the pockets of our enemies and transfer them to our own."

The Parliamentary leaders, Herr Erzberger says, were astonished by this unexpected display of imperial mentality and felt that they were being made the victims of his mockery. The Emperor's further remarks were in the same channel, he declares.

William asserted that the United States and England had entered into an alliance for the purpose of reckoning with Japan after the war. He was also reliably informed that Russia would join Japan in warding off the Anglo-Saxon blow. He admitted that England would not emerge from the war defeated but said the final accounting would come when he led his continental armies against her in the second Punic war.

The amazement of the Parliamentarism grew as the Kaiser, continued Erzberger reports. The monarch asserted that "a complete understanding would be reached with France when the war was over."

Writes to Republican, Asking in His Statement is Correct About France.

NO OFFICIAL COMMENT CREATED BY ACTION OF WHITE HOUSE MEMBER

Points Out Extraordinary Inferences to be Drawn from Such Statement.

Tuesday, October 19. — The French foreign office stated today that it not received any demand from Washington regarding the letter President Wilson wrote Senator Harding. It said no official communication had been made by the French government regarding a substitute for the league of nations.

Washington, Oct. 18. — President Wilson took steps today to ascertain whether the French government had given authority to "a representative of France" to approach Senator Harding "informally" with the request that the Republican Presidential nominee take the lead in the formation of an association of nations.

At the same time the White House made public the text of a letter addressed to Senator Harding by President Wilson inquiring as to the correctness of a statement attributed to the Senator in a dispatch dated St. Louis, October 16, in which the candidate was quoted as having said he had been so approached.

"I need not point out to you," the President wrote, "the grave and extraordinary inferences to be drawn from such a statement, namely, that the government of France, which is a member of the League of Nations, approached a private citizen of a nation which is not a member of the league with a request 'that the United States head the way to a world fraternity.'"

Neither officials at the White House nor at the State department would comment on the nature of the inquiry directed to the French government. It was understood, however, that the note was transmitted by the State Department to the French government through Ambassador Wallace, in Paris. At the French embassy it was stated that no such communication had been received there for transmission.

Secretary Tumulty said that no reply had been received by the White House either from Senator Harding or that French government up to a late hour.

The letter of the President to Senator Harding follows:

"My dear sir:— "In the New York Times of yesterday, Sunday, October 17, 1920, I find a statement dated St. Louis, October 16, which purports to represent certain public utterances of yours. In it occurs the following:

"Replying to criticisms of his proposals for an association of nations, he said in a rear platform speech at Greencastle, Ind., that he already had been approached 'informally' by a representative of France, who asked that the United States lead the way to a world fraternity."

"I write to ask if this is a correct quotation and if you really said what is there attributed to you. I need not point out to you the grave and extraordinary inference, to be drawn from such a statement, namely, that the government of France, which is a member of the League of Nations, approached a private citizen of a nation which is not a member of that league, with a request 'that the United States lead the way to a world fraternity.'"

"The Department of State has always found the government of France most honorable mindful of its international obligations and punctiliously careful to observe all the properties of international intercourse. I hesitate, therefore, to draw the inferences to which I referred unless I am assured by you that you actually made the statement.

"Very truly yours, "WOODROW WILSON."

THE RIGHTS OF CHILDREN

Twenty-one years ago the relation of the father to his child partook of the nature of a property right. The courts could enforce this right, but on the other hand they were often powerless to enforce the duty of the father to his child. Since 1899 every State in the Union has passed juvenile court laws except Connecticut, Maine and Wyoming, and these three States have passed laws dealing with some of the problems usually included in the juvenile court law itself. The extensiveness of this legislation is the best evidence of the previous unsatisfactory viewpoint of the law. How far the States have gone in modernizing their attitude towards the delinquent and the neglected child is shown by the bulletin made public today by the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, entitled "A Summary of Juvenile Court Legislation in the United States."

Juvenile court legislation deals with a complicated group of problems: that of the child accused of breaking the law; the adult offending against the child; the neglected and degraded parent; the incompetent and unfaithful guardian; and the family that is simply poor.

Under the old law the delinquent child was dealt with in the same manner, with certain restrictions of age, as the adult offender. He was tried before a criminal court with all the formality and notoriety of a jury, sworn testimony, and confronting witnesses. If found "guilty" the child suffered the penalty. If "not guilty" he went free. In no case did the law extend any constructive help.

Of recent years, however, the law has recognized the right of the child to a reasonable minimum of care, of decency and of well-being. Consideration has been given to the natural impulses of youth and to the adverse conditions under which the child may have been brought up.

Because of the differences in the structure of their judicial systems, the States have had to meet the problems by various methods of legislative attack. In every State, however, the attempt has been made through legislation to solve the difficult problems involving the unfavorable conditions—domestic, social and economic—under which children are living and developing today.

The present summary embodies an analysis of the legislation in force at the beginning of 1919, with an appendix giving additional legislation and amendments enacted during 1919.

HIGH RECORD YEAR.

More than $7,000,000,000 worth of the foreign commerce of the United States in 1920 is by or on behalf of the manufacturers of the United States as against $2,000,000,000 worth in the year preceding the war. The persistent after-the-war growth of our manufacturing industries, says a statement by The National City Bank of New York, is evidenced by a close study of the record of our foreign commerce in the current year.

During the eight months of the year for which statistics are now available they have imported $2,000,000,000 worth of manufacturing material, while their exports in the same period have aggregated 2 3/4 billion dollars. This indicates that the imports of manufacturing material, including both raw and partly manufactured, will aggregate $3,000,000,000 in the full calendar year 1920, and that their exports of manufactures will aggregate and probably exceed $4,000,000,000, making the total for the calendar year 1920 fully $7,000,000,000 against less than $6,000,000,000 in 1917, the high record year of the war period, and slightly more than $2,000,000,000 in the year immediately preceding the war.

In both imports of manufacturing material and exports of manufactures, the total for 1920, a year of peace, will exceed that of the busiest year of the war, and the aggregate value of the foreign commerce conducted by or on behalf of the manufacturers of the country will exceed that of the high record war year by over 20 per cent. The exports of manufactures in the full calendar year 1920 will probably exceed $4,000,000,000 as against slightly less than $1,000,000,000 in the calendar year 1914, while the importation of manufacturing material, including crude and partly manufactured, will aggregate $3,000,000,000 as against $875,000,000 in 1914. The imports of manufacturing material will be three and one-half times as much as in 1914 and the exports of manufactures more than four times as much as in that year.

This tripling of the value of the imports of manufacturing material and quadrupling of the value of manufactures exported in the six year period, 1914-1920, suggests that the total value of the manufactures turned out by our factories has enormously increased during that period. The latest official record of the value of manufactures produced in the United States is that of 1914, and stood at slightly less than $25,000,000,000, exclusive of the "hand trades and neighborhood industries," which probably added a couple of billion dollars, bringing the grand total of the manufactures produced in the United States in 1914 up to fully $26,000,000,000, while the fact that our manufacturers are now demanding three times as much in value of foreign material and sending abroad four times as much in value of their output suggests that the recent unofficial estimates of $50,000,000,000 as the present annual output of our factories is probably not excessive. This estimate is, however, absolutely unofficial as the official census of the manufactures of the United States in the calendar year 1919 has not yet been tabulated in sufficient detail to enable the census officials to state the total value of the factor output of 1919, and they, quite naturally, decline to estimate the total.

It is easier to get out and earn some money than it is to borrow it, and pays better, too.

Will Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, is claiming 378 electoral votes for Harding. While making his big claim he might as well have included all of them and made it unanimous. He will get his eyes opened the morning after November 2nd when he reads that Cox gets the big share of the votes.

Only four days are left in which to register for the November election. If your name is not on the books before sunset next Saturday you cannot vote on the second of November. All women who have not registered are urged to do so. Go to the registrar of your precinct at once and attend to this.

Candidate Harding has rounded out an even dozen different attitudes toward the league of nations in his campaign. There is time enough yet for him to make the thirteenth which may be the unluckiest of them all. He changes oftener than the moon.

So far very few Pitt county names have appeared in the list of contributors to the Democratic national campaign fund. The cause is urgent, and what is to be done should be done quickly.

PRESS NOTICE.

The secretary of the Navy, Hon. Josephus Daniels, announces that he has directed a special campaign to be undertaken to fill up the remaining vacancies in the ranks of the Enlisted Personnel of the Navy, by offering special inducements.

Notwithstanding the fact that the navy is now recruiting more men than ever before, except in war time, the realization that the Navy man in peacetime is the one who must be qualified to defend the country in the first line of battle in war has resulted in the navy never consenting to lower its high standard of its men.

The secretary announces that there are 9,568 young men studying specialties in navy schools. From these men will be drawn the skilled specialists of the navy. There are left 4,700 vacancies, and these vacancies have been thrown open to young men of the country and civil life. These schools were formerly kept for previous service men. A new policy has also developed so that those who like foreign travel will be given opportunities to see the world.

A WISH

(Author not known.)
What would I ask for thee, wish for thee sweet?
Skies that are peaceful and calm?
Sents that are stormless and winds that are soft
As the low breath of a psalm?
No, as I love thee, I ask not that life be from all bitterness free;
Something of sunshine and something of strife
Dear one, is better for thee.
Yet would I ask for thee out of my love
More of its sunshine than storm.
With just enough of life's shadows and strife
To keep the heart tender and warm,
Faith to look upward in gladness and gloom,
Hope and the direst defeat;
Oh, my!
These would I ask of thee, sweet.
There and yet more would I ask for thee, sweet;
Grace to be faithful and strong;
Meekness to bear all thy crosses and care,
Courage to battle with wrong,
May the good angels who watch o'er the good Guide thy dear feet as they roam
And in the land that is better than this Give thee forever a home!

SPEAKING TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Don't forget that Senator Lee S. Overman and Miss Mary Graham will both speak in the court house tomorrow afternoon. A large crowd should be present to hear them. Ladies are especially invited.

TAKE B. & J. SHARES.

Folks are handing in their names at the secretary's office for shares in the building and loan series that will open on the first Saturday in November. Better put your name in for a few shares as there is no better investment.

CONWAY TEARLE HAS

STARRING ROLE IN

"MAROONED HEARTS"

Popular Actor Coming in the First of a Series of National Pictures.

Conway Tearle, idol of millions of theatre-goers, now has come into his inheritance in stardom, and his first picture, "Marooned Hearts," produced by Lewis J. Selznick for National Pictures, is to be shown at White's Theatre Wednesday.

Mr. Tearle for many seasons has been seen in support of the leading feminine stars of the silver sheet. He has been most widely in demand of any of the male leads, and through the insistent public demand that was made known to the Selznick officials he was secured under contract in the face of spirited bidding from a dozen producing companies.

His first picture, "Marooned Hearts" is a play that provides him an ideal part for his talents—a picture play that calls for a virile fighting man working out his destiny under difficulties and winning a beautiful woman.

The story is of a man, a woman and a human brute who are thrown together on a tropical island by the fortunes of the sea. And the woman is the one of her sex that the man cordially hates. With the coming of the conflict between the two men, there develops one of the most dramatic situations ever recorded on the screen.

Zeena Keefe, 1920 Selznick star, plays opposite Mr. Tearle, and shares with him the honor of making one of the most thrilling romances of the season.

FIRE DESTROYS DRY CLEANING PLANT.

The dry cleaning plant of the Greenville Tailoring Company was destroyed by fire this morning. The damage is estimated to be about $1500. Several coat suits were burned but the greatest damage was done to the machinery.

PRESIDENT WRIGHT

BEGINS SERIES OF

TALKS ON CITIZENSHIP

President Wright this morning gave the first of a series of talks on citizenship to the young women of the Training School. "It makes no difference how one stood on the woman suffrage question before now, it is the duty of every good woman to exercise the privilege of citizenship by registering and voting. There is no option. Today and tomorrow are ours, yesterday is gone forever not to return." In such clear ringing words did he impress upon the young women the stand they should take. As the new law applies to the lowest type as well as to the highest, if the lower type votes and the higher does not there will be a lowering of standards.

Before uttering the above statements he explained carefully the fact that the standard of representatives in both the State and the national government are just a little above the standard of the average voting citizen, therefore it is extremely important to keep the standard of citizenship as high as possible. "Whatever raises the standard of the voters raises the standards of the leaders." "The more the better type of people vote the better the type of representatives."

He explained the old form of choosing the candidates in convention and the present form of choosing by the primary. He pointed out the strong and the weak points in each method, and showed clearly why it is important that the highest type of citizens should exercise the privilege of citizenship. Other talks in the series will be given from time to time.

MISS ROSA BELL NELSON DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Miss Rosa Bell Nelson the fifteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Nelson died at her home on Dickinson avenue, Sunday night after a sickness of several weeks from a complication of diseases.

Rosa Bell possessed a wonderful Christian character for a child of her age and was a member of the Christian church. Those around her death bed say that they never saw a more beautiful Christian death. She realized from the beginning that she was going to die and begged her parents not to weep, as she was not going to weep. She was one of Greenville's most gifted and intelligent children. The sunshine of her home, and one of the most popular little girls, in this city, with both old and young.

The interment took place, yesterday at the family burying ground nine miles from Greenville. The funeral services being conducted by Dr. Shambart. The sympathy of the entire community goes to the grief stricken family.

TUBERCULOSIS HAS GAINED FULL SWAY
IN MANY SECTIONS

Disease Said to be More Prevalent Than in Any Other Section of World.

TYPHOID DEATH RATE EXCEEDINGLY HIGH IN CAPITOL OF GREECE

Prevalence of Disease Due Largely to Inadequate Water Supply and Sewer.

Athens, Oct. 18.—Tuberculosis is more prevalent in Greece than in any other European country for which reliable figures are available, with the possible exception of Serbia. There is no governmental or private program for the control of the disease. The number of physicians in proportion to the population is one to every 1,300.

In the city of Athens the death-rate from tuberculosis of the lungs is 294 per 100,000 of population, which is about twice as high as the rate in the United States. The other forms of the disease also are present, making the total tuberculosis death rate 305 per 100,000 of population. One death in every six is due to tuberculosis.

To deal with the disease the existing agencies are very inadequate. There is little or no hospital provision for the care of the bulk of the population of 2,000,000. There are less than a score of general hospitals in the country.

There is also an alarming prevalence of typhoid fever, which at times rises to the proportion of an epidemic. Even in the larger cities such as Athens the typhoid death-rate is strikingly high. In the last three-year period for which statistics are available the rate was 50 per 100,000 of population, about five times as high as the rate in the United States.

The prevalence of this disease is due largely to the absence of sewers and of adequate and safe water supply. No improvements in the water supply or sewerage systems have been made.

The rudimentary sewage system where any exists, affords little or no protection against surface or underground contamination of water supply, and no safeguard against conveyance of infection. In Athens plans have been drawn by the national government to provide the city with adequate and modern water and sewer systems. But the execution of these plans has been delayed by the war. The water supply in Athens is at present brought in through an aqueduct built by the Emperor Hadrian nearly 2,000 years ago. In the summer months the water is insufficient to carry off the sewage.

Bureau of Mines Adds New Apparatus for Rescuing Entombed Miners.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 18.—The West Virginia Bureau of Mines which is credited by experts with the best equipment in the country for rescuing entombed miners has just added to its outfit for that work three new pieces of apparatus—a geophone, a carbon monoxide detector and a brass encased thermometer.

The geophone is similar to a physician's stethoscope. As the stethoscope is used to detect irregularities in the human body by sound, so the geophone is used to detect earth sounds. In this way entombed miners can be located noting the direction from which the sound vibrations come.

The brass-encased thermometer records maximum and minimum temperatures whereby it can be ascertained when it is safe to enter mines sealed to smother fires. Hitherto, it has been a problem to know when to enter the shafts, but with the thermometer dropped through a hole in the barricade, this can be determined easily.

The carbon monoxide detector is considered the most important piece of apparatus from the point of protecting the lives of rescuers. The gas is detected by a color tube and a color scale on the instrument. Formerly canary birds were used, but their use was not entirely satisfactory, as the birds often succumbed to other gases, while a color detector instrument shows no other gas than carbon monoxide present. One tenth of one percent of the gas is said to be fatal to a human being.

COX MAKING GREAT GAINS FROM G. O. P. AND PROGRESSIVES

Leading Figures in Both Parties to Support Democrat in Coming Election.

REPRESENTATIVES ASK OTHER REPUBLICANS TO STAND BEHIND TICKET

Pledge Vote Also to Senator Candidates Who Stand for the League.

New York, Oct. 17.—A joint statement by "over one hundred representative men and women who have usually supported the Republican and Progressive tickets" announcing their intention to vote for Cox and Roosevelt and Senatorial candidates "who stand honestly and frankly for ratification of the treaty and adherence to the League" was made public here tonight by Hamilton Holt, magazine editor.

This statement set forth that "it is now too late to talk of a new 'Association of Nations' to be created under Republican auspices" and, repudiating the present Republican leadership that "has permitted the Republican party to become a 'little America' party," urged all Republicans and Progressives to "put patriotism above party" and add their names to the list of signers.

This list, according to Mr. Holt, is increasing daily. An analysis given out with the statement said that it included 15 Republican officers of the League to Enforce Peace; clergymen representing all the principal denominations; the presidents of Oberlin, Vassar, Smith, Bryn Mawr and Mount Holyoke colleges; several veterans of the great war and nine former Republican or Progressive party managers and officeholders. In the last classification were listed Charles P. Howland, of New York; Violet M. Leroy, New York; Theodore Marburg, Baltimore; V. H. Nichols, Bennington, Vermont; Herbert Parsons, New York; Elias D. Salesbury, Indianapolis; Edwin E. Slosson, New York; Richard Wheeling, New York and Alice White, Wellesley, Mass.

The statement declared that the Republican party is "drifting toward national isolation and had repudiated political traditions under which the emphasizing the international responsibilities of America, from Lincoln to Taft.

Asserting that they held no brief for the present administration and did not insist on any particular wording of reservations to any articles of the treaty," the signers set forth that they did not desire that "a cause which should have served to unite all parties in the same spirit of common service which was manifested in the great war should be made a basis of preference in the present campaign."

ROOSEVELT SHOWS UP ANOTHER PLOT TO DECEIVE PUBLIC

Studied Effort of G. O. P. to Deceive People on League Covenant.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 18.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, with Mrs. Roosevelt, and their party, left Cincinnati late this afternoon for Grand Rapids, Mich., where Mr. Roosevelt will speak tomorrow night. Before leaving Cincinnati Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement in which he accused the Republican party leaders of "placing party advantages above National good." He declared that publications sent out by managers of Republican headquarters were "deliberate attempts to falsify existing facts for the sole purpose of winning voters by creating prejudice."

"One of the best examples is the pamphlet issued from Republican National headquarters with the intention of deceiving voters who have not the opportunity to study the covenant of the League of Nations," he said. "It seeks by a cartoon and by its wording to convey the information that in the League of Nations the British empire is accorded six voters while American will have one if we should enter the league.

"Of course, any person who has even read the covenant of the League of Nations knows that it is a document which, like our constitution, is drawn up on broad lines, and like our constitution will be dependent for its success upon the spirit with which it is developed and carried on by the member nations of the whole civilized world.

"In particular, relation to the charges made about the six votes of the British empire to our one, the following is clear: The intent of the covenant of the League of Nations is to create a governing body, called the council, that council to be composed of nine members, five great powers, that is, France, Italy, Japan, Great Britain and the United States, and four smaller powers, the smaller powers being at the present time Spain, Brazil, Greece and Belgium. Each of these nine nations has one vote in the council, in other words, the British empire has but one vote and we have but one vote.

COX URGES VOTERS TO VOTE STRAIGHT AMERICA'S TICKET

Syracuse, Oct. 18.—Governor Cox in opening his second eastern campaign by addressing voters here today urged them to disregard partisanship and vote as Americans. He said Americanization was only another word for construction; and to shout America first and then turn our backs on progress and ideals of constitution. He said he found men and mothers insisting that we become members of the league of nations.

On your factory roof

Ru-ber-oid is sound insurance against roofing worry.

It is an ideal roofing for factory and munition plant. It is much less expensive than metal roofing, it is non-corrosive, easy to lay and easy to keep in repair. It is not affected by temperature variations and stoutly resists the wear and tear of wind and sun.

RU-BER-OID ROOFING

properly laid and cared for will last for many years. It can be laid by any handy man in less time and at less cost than metal roofing.

There is one very important point to remember, however. Do Not Confuse Ru-ber-oid with other ready roofings. There are many that look like it—many whose names are similar—many that you will be told are "just as good"—but there is only one Ru-ber-oid and that is backed by the name and reputation of The Standard Paint Company.

We acknowledge that Ru-ber-oid costs more than other ready roofings. We are proud of the fact that its superior qualities have made it worth more to its users than other roofings.

Ru-ber-oid, per square, is the most expensive roofing on the market, but 25 years of service have proved that per year it is the most economical roofing made.

We can tell you more about the sturdy qualities of Ru-ber-oid Roofing. Phone us today for samples and prices.

There is but one Ru-ber-oid. Look for the Man on the Label.

adopted at this time, the commission asserted, it would work definite hardship and perpetuate the suffering of all those receiving fixed incomes who have suffered from the rapidly rising prices.
"Had the plan been in operation at the outbreak of the war in 1914," the report continued, "it would have broken down as Dr. Fisher now admits. It could not therefore have prevented the rise in prices of wartime and consequently most of the claims which Dr.
Fisher had made must now be abandoned.

"The great economic evils of the war have grown out of wasteful consumption and destruction, demoralization and interruptions of transportation and the withdrawal of many millions of men from production, the whole combining to create a scarcity of goods. No change in the monetary system could have prevented this evil. The plan therefore could not have been a remedy for social discontent and distress" to give added assurance to investors that early maturities will be accounted for properly. The $300,000,000 revolving fund, provided by the law for rail equipment loans, also was praised as benefitting the rehabilitation of railway credit.

As a third factor improving railroad credit, Mr. Pulley cited the National Railway Service Corporation, recently organized by the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities as an agency of the Interstate Commerce commission to aid in making loans and obtaining new equipment.

The present acute car shortage, Mr.
Pulley continued, would have been averted had this corporation been in existence in the past months.

The sales are light today and will finish around dinner.

Gormans' is about two thirds full.

Our Monday's sale of 149,012 pounds sold for $36,687.04. Averaging $25.75. In this sale we had as usual, a large amount of very common tobacco. All grades showed a marked improvement in price, we believe prices will continue to get better, provided the crop is sold gradually. It is now realized that the crop is not as large as was predicted and there is a better feeling among the trade, as money is easing up gradually.

3rd Wednesday 2nd Thursday and 1st Friday.
