

CYCLONE MACK IN SPLENDID SERMON AGAIN LAST NIGHT

Evangelist Delivers Probably Most Powerful Sermon of His Campaign. USED AS HIS SUBJECT WEIGHED IN BALANCE AND FOUND WANTING Tells Congregation of Things Essential in Winning Eternal Life.

Thou Art Weighed in the Scales and found wanting." Daniel 5:27. Little is known of the young man to whom these words were sent, either in sacred or profane history. Libby speaks of him once as a vicious and vulgar young man. The sacred historian speaks of him but once, and then in connection with his coronation; so we know little of the man. He died as the fool dieth—unwept, unhonored and unsung. His history is an everlasting blank and his word of praise, a silent note forever. But, in the city which his doom was enacted there is opportunity for information. Historians have vied with each other in their descriptions of Babylon. They have told us of its waterways, its walls of masonry and artificial mountains, its hanging gardens and marble palaces. It was known and noted for its "faith, culture and became proverbial for its luxury, into and licentiousness.

The narrative tells us that the King gave a great feast to a thousand of his lords and ladies. It is said that they drank wine and praised the God of Gold, while the party nude and "filthy lewd" women weaved through the contortions and distortions of the vulgar oriental dances. Jest and repartee fly from mouth to mouth. The hilarity becomes more boisterous, the language more obscene and vulgar. Louder and louder the instruments, faster and faster spin the feet of the dancers, and in the midst of the wine-guzzling, whiskey-drinking, dancing, licentious carnival, suddenly there falls a death-like hush upon the festivities. What is it? An armless hand with gruesome fingers, writing in character of fire! All eyes turn in the same direction; this is the center of observation. Belshazzar is about all in. The Book says that his countenance was changed and his thoughts troubled him, and he trembled and quaked like a leaf in the autumn wind; and in the graphic language of Daniel, he cries, "Bring in the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers," the men we would call mediums in our day. These men came, puffed with deceit, inflated with egotism, and pompous with pride, expecting to be able to "pull the wool over" the eyes of the king as they had been doing all the years that they had been at the godless court. But the soothsayers found that their art had deserted them, and in the presence of that mysterious writing, they stood dumb. When he found that these men could not read the mystery, Belshazzar, like many another man when he reaches the end of his string and needs some good, old-fashioned advice, sent for his mother. She walks in with stately tread and tries to reassure her royal son. She reminds him that in the palace was a young man from the tribe of Judah, who had been taken captive and she advised him to have the young man brought, in the hope that he might be able to clear the mystery. I want you to notice that they had to send out after Daniel; he was not at the wine-guzzling, whiskey-drinking, licentious blow-out that night; he did not arm and glove with that kind of a God-forsaken bunch, Daniel came and Belshazzar met him, saying, "Look here, Old Top, Ma has been singing your praises to me; she says you are on the job; that Grandpa used you and that you could make interpretations and dissolve doubts. Do you see that writing on the wall? Well, this set of four flushers and false-alarms have been wineing and dining at my expense—it is meaningless hieroglyphics to them; it has raised them clear out

GREATER ACTIVITY FEATRES WEEK AT CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Students Enjoy Additional Happenings Outside School Work.

This has been an active week in the High School circles.

On Wednesday we had with us Hon. F. C. Harding, who gave us a timely talk on voting and other political subjects. His address preceded the voting of the High School on Thursday. We feel that there is no doubt but that the pupils will profit by his advice.

Thursday morning Mrs. Steidley and Mrs. Goodes of the McLendon force entertained us. Mrs. Steidley gave us a religious talk and Mrs. Goodes a recitation full of humor.

Thursday afternoon was taken up for voting, resulting in a landslide for the Democrats.

Friday ended the second school month and there are still many fires against us. A number of falling pupils have been staying in until 4 o'clock for a supervised study period. The work has improved much by this study period.

Friday morning at assembly period we were successfully entertained by the Juniors. When the curtain was raised a lady of course, a school girl, came in and introduced about fifteen children dressed in clothes suitable for smaller children. Then they sang in concert, duets, and solos. One of the most striking features of the program was a political speech by a young suffragist. We were very sorry to see the curtain go down.

Sophomore News.

On Friday night the boys went to Snow Hill for a basket ball game. They had a good game ending in a victory for our boys. Our boys showed good team work, especially in passing the ball. Every boy was on the job throughout the entire game. The score was 28 to 12. We are going to work hard in order to get the State championship for this year. Our boys were complimented on the spirit shown in the game as well as the good clean playing each fellow did.

The stranger in Greenville today could readily catch the idea that Greenville is a busy town. Folks were certainly in evidence on the streets and in the stores.

Taken all together this has been a good week on the tobacco market. The farmers did not crowd the sales quite so fast and the result was more satisfactory prices.

LATEST JAPANESE RELIGION CREATES DECIDED INTEREST

New Religion Omoto-kyo Said to Border on Socialistic and Bolshevist Idea.

NEWSPAPERS DECLARE PRINCIPLES FINDING ADHERENTS EVERY DAY

Major General Nagasaki Expresses Regret at Conditions in Ascendancy.

Tokio, Nov. 6.—Japan's new religion Omoto-kyo, which was founded by a peasant woman, and which is popularly supposed to be spreading socialistic and even bolshevist ideas under the cloak of loyalty to the Japanese Imperial House is now finding adherents in the army, according to vernacular newspapers.

The fact that some officers on the reserve list are devoted followers of Omoto-kyo, is said to be particularly disturbing to the military authorities. An investigation was started when a soldier of a regiment at Nagoya tried to organize in co-operation with socialist agitators both inside and outside the regiment, an association to oppose military discipline.

In an interview with the Yomiuri Shimbun, Major-General Nagasaki expressed regret at the signs of unrest among the troops, but said that the number of men who exhibit such signs were few. He added: "However, it appears true that the number is growing among both the men and officers, hideous doctrine of the Omoto-kyo. The war office is apparently conducting an investigation into this and possibly some official instructions will be issued in the near future."

PLANS RECIPROCAL COVENTION TO BE HELD IN URGUARY

American Minister in Montevideo do Begins Humanitarian Service Campaign.

Montevideo, Nov. 6.—Robert E. Jeffery, the American Minister here, is negotiating with the Uruguayan Foreign office for a reciprocal convention for humanitarian services to be given to persons leaving jail in both countries after completing their terms of imprisonment, in accordance with a project formulated by the National Prison Committee of New York.

Under this convention, the Uruguayan authorities would communicate to the United States Immigration Department the egress from Uruguayan prisons of all American citizens and the Prison Committee of New York would procure their repatriation and obtain work for them so they can be reformed.

When an Uruguayan citizen left a United States prison, a similar notice could be addressed to the "Patronato de Delinuentes del Uruguay," so that that institution might take measures for his repatriation and procure him an honest way of making his living.

So far the Republicans have 404 electoral votes to Democrats 127.

SECRET RELIGIOUS BODY DISBANDED IN KOREAN TERRITORY

Several Members of Fraternity Arrested Following Police Activity.

PLANNED TO ASSIST KOREAN GOVERNMENT IN SHAGHAI, CHINA

Leader of Society Also Placed Under Arrest in First Investigation.

Seoul, Korea, Nov. 6.—A secret fraternity composed exclusively of Korean Christians has been disbanded and the majority of its members have been arrested, according to an official police statement.

Bearing the name "The Great Korea National Association," the organization is described as having been formed to aid the Korean provisional government at Shanghai. The police charge that, taking advantage of a general Presbyterian conference at a mission school, officers were elected and that some 300 copies of a manifesto were printed on a mimeograph belonging to the Pyongyang higher common school of another American church and were mailed to leading churches in South Pyonyang province through which they were disseminated among the people. It was arranged, the police allege, to hold a demonstration "to give solace to agitators in custody and to incite the people."

One of the 90 or more officers and members of the society arrested was Pak Seungmyong, to whom, the police say, the society owed its origin.

Martin County Man Succeeds M. K. Blount in Public Welfare Department.

The Board of Education and Board of Commissioners, acting jointly, have employed Mr. K. T. Futrelle as county superintendent of public welfare to take the place of Mr. M. K. Blount, who has resigned after a year of very efficient service. Mr. Futrelle has already taken up his work, and will give his whole time to it.

Gov. Cox Declares He Is As Proud As When Fight Begun

DR. JOSE SUAY

Dr. Jose Esperanza Suay is minister of finance of Salvador and one of that republic's leading citizens.

Defeated Candidate for Presidency Expresses Optimism in Party Future.

WILL NOT RETRACT FROM PRINCIPLES OF CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY

Declares Nation's Resources Should Ordinate for Helpful Things.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Governor Cox Democratic candidate for the Presidency, in his first statement since the election tonight said that in spirit he was "as proud as when the fight started" and that he would not retract a step nor yield a single jot in principle.

Governor Cox's statement follows: "For the first time in ten years, the Republican party is in complete control of the legislative and executive branches of the National government, therefore, policy as to statute and administration is with it. It is a task no longer of the critic but the constructor. It is my hope and firm belief that the Democracy of the nation will not attempt political sabotage. The country has been quite enough of that.

"We are in the midst of an emergency and the nation's every resource should ordinate in behalf of the things that are helpful. So long as government exists the principles of Thomas Jefferson will be the center about which human hopes will gather. Talk of a new party is absurd. One might as well discuss the destruction of human emotions.

"As essential as it has been to the welfare of the country in the past, the creed of democracy is more needed now than ever because recent events have made it distinctly the American party.

"I am as proud as when the fight started. I would not retract a step nor yield a single jot in principle. It was privilege to make the contest for the right in the face of overwhelming odds. There is a distinct difference between defeat and surrender. The flag of democracy still flies as the symbol of things more enduring than the passions and resentment that come with the aftermath of war."

POPE BENEDICT IS FREQUENT VISITOR FOR ART STUDIOS

Pontiff Employs Artists for Special Work and at His Own Expense.

Rome, Oct. 6.—Although the popes of today cannot afford to spend enormous sums on artists, sculptors and decorators as did the pontiffs of the renaissance, Benedict XV is a patron of the arts, and has allowed two artists to have studios and work on the grounds of the Vatican. They are Quadroni, the sculptor, who at the Pope's expense is modelling a more than life-size statue of the Cardinal Rampolla for his monument in the Church of Santa Cecilia and the artist Apollini, who is painting a huge picture of the promulgation of the codex of canon law.

The picture of Benedict XV seated on a throne, receiving from his co-worker, Cardinal Gasparri, the volumes containing the newly codified canon law represents 52 figures, all portraits of the ecclesiastic and lay court of the pontiff. There are to be seen 10 cardinals, the Pope's Majordomo, Monsignor Tacci; his Master of the Chamber, Monsignor de Samper; the Grand Marshals, who have charge of great Vatican ceremonies and wear the picturesque renaissance dress of ruff and doublet; the commanders of the Noble Guard, the Swiss Guard, and many others, so the picture will have considerable historic interest in the future.

Round the enormous frame there are portraits of past popes who have specially interested themselves in the codification of the canon law, Pius X, Boniface VIII, Innocent III, Alexander II, Gregory IX and Benedict XIV.

The block of Carrara marble for Quadroni's statue of Cardinal Rampolla weighs 19 tons, and the statue will be over six feet and nine inches high, with an angel in high relief behind it. The monument will eventually be placed in the Basilica of Santa Cecilia in Trastevere, which was Cardinal Rampolla's titular church, the lower part of which he restored gorgeously in 1901.

PRACTICA WORK FOR HUMANITY.

In an abstract sort of way nearly every one knows that Red Cross performed a very necessary kind of work during the world war, and that since its inception, thirty-nine years ago, the society has been functioning in a highly efficient manner for the betterment of humanity. This surface acquaintance, for it is scarcely more than that to the major portion of its supporters, has shown itself to be enough to build a philanthropic institution greater than has been, with the added certainty that its power for good will expand with the coming of each day.

Your dollar and your neighbor's dollar have conspired to this noble estate, but we venture to express the belief that if every man and every woman really could know the merciful ramifications of his and her dollar, their enthusiasm would expand an hundred fold, and the current Red Cross roll would reach in a day its largest possible membership. This supreme faith in Red Cross is based upon an imperfect but none the less substantial knowledge of what it has done, and what it plans to do with your dollar and with every man's dollar.

Without relaxing its efforts in any co-ordinate branch Red Cross, since demobilization, has centered its peacetime program on two points—health and the prevention of disease. Both are of vital interest and concern to all. Child welfare and home service are companions of these peace-period efforts, and in themselves should make instant appeal to every man and woman in the land. For the year ended July first, last the official Red Cross report shows these outstanding achievements:

Health and nursing: Ninety-two thousand women and girls, under Red Cross instruction, completed courses in home care of the sick.

First aid: Red Cross first aid was taught to more than 1,000,000 people in this country.

Military relief: There are still more than twenty-six thousand men in army, navy and public hospitals receiving Red Cross ministrations.

Since demobilization Red Cross has kept in touch with the families of 800-000 soldier, sailors and marines, this work running from first aid to seeing neighbor's dollar that made it possible.

The extension of these important branches, the broadening of home service and child welfare work through education, the curtailment and prevention of diseases through this same avenue can be continued only with your aid and consent.

Will you give it? We'll say you will!

It rather looks like Col. Bryan has gone Republican, too.

You may do something today that all future years cannot obliterate. Therefore be careful what you do.

Why take all your time in this world trying to get wealth when you cannot carry a penny of it on to the next world?

Making yourself neighborly is one of the best ways to have friends in this world.

Instead of "shooting up" the border towns now, Mexico is coming over in to Texas and buying fine hogs and sheep to take back home to improve their own herds. Maybe there will be some good in Mexico yet.

With all other countries getting into the league of nations, we do not see anything left for President-elect Harding to form some other kind of peace association. Looks very much like America will have to come along in the Versailles treaty or stay out altogether and continue to be the laughing stock of the world.

As Bryan was a quitter in the time of the country's peril when the services of able men were needed, it need cause no surpris that he now suggests that President Wilson throw up his job.
At the same time it shows that on some things Bryan has a smaller mind than the people thought.

Governor Bickett has issued a proclamation making November 11th,
Armistice Day, a legal holiday in North Carolina. But the government does not make it a national holiday. At the same time flags have been ordered displayed a half mast on all public buildings on Sunday, 14th, in memory of the American soldiers who fell in the world war.

Sectional hatred has been mentioned as one of the causes of the Republican victory. Guess the envious North could not bear to see the South coming to her own along all lines of prosperity. You can mark it down that this section of the purest Anglo-Saxon people in the world is able to take care of itself, and that even after a Republican administration it can go right on establishing great industries and hold back this God favored section.

NAVY VICTORY MEDALS.

The local navy recruiting station, has received instructions that all ex-navy men who served during the world war, and were honorably discharged, are entitled to medals and probably clasps.
It is necessary in order to get these,
that all men entitled to them, send their discharges, and war-service certificates with a statement of their service to the navy recruiting office at Raleigh, N. C. It is also necessary to put their present address on a note and attach same. So a record can be kept of them.

Naval Reservist who have not been discharged and who are now on in active duty will have to take this matter up with the commandant of their naval district. For further instructions apply at the local recruiting station in the post office building.

What Newspapers And Ministers Say About "Cyclone" Mack

I am convinced that Rev. Baxter McLendon has had a genuine religious experience. I know he preaches a pure gospel; I am positive that he has helped our community. I say this before the meeting is over. And as a man, I take pleasure in saying, "I am with you, Mack."

REV. A. A. McLEAN,
Presbyterian Pastor.

B. F. McLendon knows how to go after the shams, the cults, and the "isms" of the day, and does not hesitate to denounce them. When the whole Bible is preached as he preaches it, God will honor the message. Mack is a live wire; he is not marking time; he is on the job working hard. With such preaching the religious pendulum will swing back to the old days when men were struck dumb under the power of the Word and Spirit. God is wonderfully using him.

H. A. WHITTEN,
Methodist Pastor, Clover, S. C.

If anyone is skeptical as to the kind of preaching and work McLendon is doing, let him attend these meetings for a few days, and I am sure his doubts will vanish. His preaching is spiritual, orthodox, plain, and convincing. He makes no compromise with sin. At the same time his tender, sympathetic words to the sinner are very effective. He is one of the most earnest workers I have ever known. His ability to draw and hold large crowds is very remarkable.

REV. D. A. PHILLIPS,
(In Christian Advocate.)
P. E. Kingstree District.

It is of this remarkable man that I wish to say a few words: He is a remarkable man with a remarkable story and experience. He denounces sin in the sternest language that can be used. He does not in the least lower the Bible standard. I never saw a man who had such a passion for souls as he has. I want to commend him to my brethren of the Baptist denomination. He is worthy of our love and trust. If ever he comes to your town, give him your support; he will help you and he will help your town.

DR. W. E. THAYER,
Pastor First Baptist Church,
Sumter, S. C.

(In Baptist Courier.)

It has been my privilege to hear in recent years many of the leading evangelists, and while some of them excelled in education and refined speech, I have never heard any man who in so short a time could bring about a spirit of public and personal righteousness to equal that of Evangelist McLendon, called "Cyclone Mack." The call to a life of prevailing prayer, tithing, and consecration are responded to by young and old. Men of red blood and backbone muster into service in his campaign. Mack is a wonderful man.

DR. M. F. FOREBELL,
Pastor of First Baptist Church,
Alderson, W. Va.

I consider it fortunate that I have been given the opportunity of being with Baxter McLendon in one of his meetings. This experience will, I believe, result in a life-long blessing to me in making me a more useful servant of God.

REV. J. S. GARNER,
Pastor Presbyterian Church,
Mullins, S. C.

I believe that B. F. McLendon is the most remarkable preacher on the American continent. A man sent from God to preach the Gospel and he is preaching it.

DR. R. F. BUMBAS,
Pastor First Methodist Church,
Laurinburg, N. C.

Many of our people who have been in Billy Sunday's campaigns claim that "Cyclone Mack" is Billy Sunday's equal as an evangelist. I have heard both and that is my humble opinion. In one particular he is superior to Sunday, and that is he is not nearly so mechanical in his preaching.

DR. S. R. NEEL,
Pastor First Methodist Church,
Alderson, W. Va.
(In the Baltimore Advocate.)

Baxter McLendon seems to be a miracle of Divine grace. He is a unique personage, dramatic in manner, unconventional in style, gifted in prayer, brilliant in imagination, fearless in his denunciation of sin of all kinds and degrees, and faithful in his presentation of Christ as the only panacea for it. He has a definite, clear-cut religious experience, and tells it to others with confidence and power.

DR. E. P. DAVIS,
Pastor, Greenville, S. C.
(In Presbyterian Standard.)

Tonight I am personally thankful to Baxter McLendon. He has opened wide my soul; he has helped to make me more useful to Christ. Tonight, after years of expectation, I wish to say that I have seen the evangelist meeting for which I have longed and of which I have dreamed. I have a personal word to say to you, Mr. McLendon. It may be that some cultured people do not like your rhetoric but I want to say right here that you have not offended my ears very much, though deplorable as the fact may be, you have used a lot of slang. Mr. McLendon gives the center of the idea so that you can hear it smack. He has thrilled me through and through. I thank God for a man who can look a man in the eye and never quail; a man who can preach the gospel of Christ without fear, and with an eye singled to the glory of God. I thank God for a man whom we can love and admire and emulate. During these last six weeks we have all suffered more or less from the stab of Baxter McLendon. There are few of us who cannot show a stab or a bruise. He has not only skinned us and bruised us, but he has atomized us. Mack is a leopard in human skin, an animal of the cat kind. He is a creature of bottled up intensity.

DR. B. D. HAHN,
Pastor Pendleton Street Baptist Church, Greenville, S. C.

When I heard that Mr. McLendon was going to hold a meeting here, I asked a good sister who knew Bro. McLendon when he was conducting a revival in Anderson, if she thought he would suit this place, (Greenville) and she said, "Adjutant, he will suit you." She knew that I took my religion like mother took her tea—mighty strong. A gentleman asked me the other day how I accounted for his power in saving souls, and I replied, "Brother, he is saved and he knows it. Another thing he preaches Bible truth. He preaches a practical religion. I have seen many revivals, but this is the best revival I have ever seen.

Adj. Crook of Greenville, S. C.

(In the Greenville Piedmont.)

There is not one of the many young men who have gone out from Asbury College whose ministry is being more largely blessed than that of McLendon. He bids fair, with the blessings of the Lord, to become one of the most powerful evangelists in the land. We hope some day to see him in a great revival in Louisville. We are sure if some of the brethren bring him here, that he will attract nation-wide attention.

DR. H. C. MORRISON,
Pres. Asbury College.
Field Sec. Anti-Saloon League.

After I investigated Mack, you saw me fall with heart and soul into this campaign. I have no apologies to offer for taking part in this campaign, and I want to say here that I think if there is any apology to be made, it ought to be made by the man who has stood by with hands off (Loud applause). When a man comes to my realm and preaches the gospel of Christ as this man preaches I unite my efforts with him at once to bring about the salvation of souls. If the Methodist church ever becomes tired of Baxter McLendon, I want to say that I know something like one hundred Associate Reformed Presbyterian pulpits that will welcome him with open arms. He has preached as we have never heard God's word preached before.

REV. MR. McAULEY,
Associate Reformed Pastor,
Greenville, S. C.

Bro. McLendon, when one first hears him, has a method of presenting the truth that is so completely his own that it rather startles one, but after seeing his intense earnestness and eagerness for souls, one becomes more and more intensely interested. The people fairly swarm to hear the gospel in its simple power. Last night there must have been 6000 I stand about the tabernacle. I believe any pastor who wants to see his town stirred for God will find Bro. McLendon the man who under God can do the work. Do not sidestep him but stand by him through thick and thin, and before the meeting is over you will have reason sufficient to praise God for his coming.

REV. T. G. HERBERT,
Pastor First Methodist Church,
Florence, S. C.

McLendon is uncouth and unsocial, taking up little time with anyone. He leaves the town without knowing a half dozen people in it, and yet, with these defects, he is a remarkable man, and no doubt, one of the greatest evangelists the Southland has ever produced. What this country needs is more God-called men like this man that will make sin look like sin.

REV. R. M. DuBOSE,
Pastor Methodist Church,
Kershaw, S. C.

I have been doing all I could for about a year to have McLendon come here, particularly on account of our college boys and girls. I am not disappointed.

DR. D. J. BRIM,
Prof. Clinton College.

I unhesitatingly say that Baxter McLendon is a most satisfactory evangelist as I have ever known, and he not only does a work that tells profoundly in the religious life of the community, but leaves the pastor and people decidedly more in love with each other. Yes, if you can do so, get him by all means.

W. E. WIGGINS,
(In Christian Advocate.)

I followed McLendon last summer on some of my tours, and found that wherever he had been there was a very marked difference in the town and community, and the people voted prohibition.

J. K. BREEDIN,

I wish to express to you my personal gratification at the work you have done in my own heart and home, and also among the college boys who are a large part of my burden. I feel thankful to God that you have been privileged to do this work in our midst, and I feel that the whole community will be a different one as a result of your campaign.

A. E. SPENCER,

Vice-Pres. Clinton Pres. College.
It takes men like you and Billy Sunday to reach the hearts of men and women. You have caused many a man to think, and this is the first thing to be done before men will stop their sins.
JAS. B. KENNEDY,
Prof. History & Economics,
Clinton Presbyterian College.

Baxter McLendon studies his Bible and knows it and knows how to use it. He is intense in all of his methods and work, and God has graciously blessed his work.

PETER STOKES,

President Elder, Florence District.
The very character of Baxter McLendon's preaching will always accomplish great things for Christ. He is fearless to the last degree, and uncompromising in the condemnation of all sin.

REV. S. O. CANTEY,
(In Mullins Enterprise.)

Bro. McLendon's recent meeting here worked wonders in all classes and conditions of people. Baxter McLendon's preaching was of the sort that stirred people to action, and hundreds of the people took a stand for Christ. They are now standing by the prayer meeting, the Sunday school, and all the services of the church.

REV. R. S. TRUESDALE,
Sumter, S. C.

(In the Christian Advocate.)

He is on the Billy Sunday order, but from what I have read of Billy Sunday's sermons, I must say that McLendon has more of the real gospel in his discourses than Billy Sunday.

REV. J. L. McLEES,
Pastor Presbyterian Church,
Orangesburg, S. C.

He is sound and orthodox and evangelical. I do not admire all his methods. Many things he does and many things he says are very objectionable, but he reaches the people.

DR. JOHN M. ROSE,

Pastor Presbyterian Church,
Laurinburg, N. C.

There was one remarkable feature in this meeting. Mr. McLendon announced that if persons in the audience would repeat verses of scripture he would tell them where they could find them in the Bible. The congregation for several minutes fired at him verses, and without hesitation he would give them the chapter and the verse, and some times a person would get his verse a little mixed and Mack would repeat it for him, and would always follow with where that particular verse could be found.

—Mullins Enterprise.

A Bishop in the Northern Methodist church heard McLendon recently and remarked, "I was under the impression that McLendon was an uneducated man. I consider him one of the great preachers of the country. His descriptive power is his strongest fort in preaching."

—News and Courier.

The great meeting that Mack held in Anderson is still in evidence every where. He was able to approach many whom the churches were unable to reach, and he did a great work. Mr. McLendon is a splendid preacher and a wonderful man. He is a man of strong personality and is absolutely sincere. He helped Anderson wonderfully.

J. H. GODFREY, Mayor.
Baxter McLendon is the greatest factor for good that I know of in the state.

THOS. G. McLEOD,
Ex-Lieut. Governor.

Mr. Thos. Tatum, of Bishopville, S. C., Lay Leader of the South Carolina conference, stood on the platform last night and said, "Since McLendon held his meeting in our town the men are standing for nobler and better things." He begged the people of Florence to fall in with McLendon, and then looking out over the vast throng he said,

"I look from this great sight that you are doing it." He said things about McLendon's meetings was that he had to go to a town and work for at least two long weeks to break down mean, bitter prejudices. It is about two weeks before the people catch the vision and realize that the evangelist is doing for the town. Then when they do catch his vision, his time is nearly up. "My friends, if you have not gotten in behind this meeting I want to tell you that it means something to your town. You will see men whom you had never expected to see on the Lord's side battling for the Lord. That fact of itself is enough. And let me tell you this: it lasts; it stands after McLendon leaves town. I can take you back to my home town now where McLendon conducted a revival last fall and point out man after man who cared nothing about religion when McLendon went there, who are today as strong Christians as they were the day McLendon left town."

—Florence Daily Times.

McLendon has the preaching gift to the superlative degree.

GEORGE KOESTER,
Editor Greenville Piedmont.

McLendon's preaching is interesting, because he always says something.

W. D. GRIST,
Editor The Yorkville Enquirer.

I have heard the great evangelist of America, and the greatest of these is Baxter F. McLendon.

REV. W. O. GOODE,
(Christian Advocate.)

B. F. McLendon is one of the truly great evangelists of America.

—Birmingham Christian Advocate.

Dr. Fred. Bowers, pastor of the first Baptist church of Morganton said Sunday night that he came across the state to tell the people of New Bern what Mack's meetings had meant to Morganton, and that hundreds of people had come into the churches. He said that he had seen as many as three murderers in one service on their knees at the altar asking God for forgiveness, and that he had baptized three blockaders that had been in the business for over 25 years, and that Burk county jail was empty for the first time in its history.

He said that he was born in Nova Scotia, and that he had been pastor in some of the leading churches of New York state, before coming south four years ago, and that he had heard the leading evangelist of the nation, but in his opinion Baxter F. McLendon was the greatest evangelist in America.

—The New Bernian.

"Cyclone Mack" is the greatest gospel preacher, and the most remarkable man that I have ever known.

REV. E. R. WELCH,

It would be a calamity for the country to lose a man like Baxter F. McLendon that is doing the good in the world that he is.

GOV. THOS. W. BICKETT.

I knew that McLendon was a great preacher, but I had no idea that he was the marvelous man that he is until I heard him in one of his great evangelistic campaigns.

REV. C. M. PICKENS.

"Mack" is the only man that I have ever heard that can trim the sin business just to suit my notion.

REV. H. B. HUMBLE.

THE NEW VOTER.

If the women continue as they are beginning, they will soon know more than their husbands, not only about the wheels of politics about what makes the wheels go round and round and run over the jay-walking man reformer.

Woman has always been clever at using whatever happened to be handy to accomplish the purpose that engaged her attention at the moment. Where a man pulls a six-shooter or calls out the reserves to route the villain, she follows him with a hatpin. Where he calls in a plumber and his helper with a wagon-load of tools, she reaches up into her back hair and performs prodigies of plumbing with a blond hairpin.

Already she is bending the current-events club and the sewing circle to political uses. To her direct mind the why and wherefore and the mechanism of voting are the most important of current events. She opines that she will find the heathen in politics needing her attention, if not her ministrations. She is more absorbed now in the complexities of the machine than the obscurities of Browning.

Having cheered herself hoarse at one national convention without result, she is already planning to go out of the cheering business. At the next convention she intends to sit in the back room where the nominating is done.

If you will listen to the new voter's conversation, you will discover that she not only wants to know but that she wants to do. The hand that wields the defensive hatpin may not shoot at the rear tires of the machine that tries to run her down, but it is capable of throwing tacks in the road. Men have been telling the politicians to "be good and you'll be happy." Women will tell them to "be good or you'll be sorry." And she will use the handiest weapon.

She is a practiced wielder of the hairbrush and the ruler, and she knows the tender spots.—The Saturday Evening Post.

Say, friends, as high as the cost of print paper is, and as low as the subscription price of The Reflector is, you should help out this unequal condition by helping your renewals paid as promptly as possible. It gives a newspaper a hard rub to meet expenses in these times of high cost for production. Do your part by paying promptly and showing that you appreciate the service of your home paper.

PLANS ABOUT COMPLETE LIVE STOCK MEETING

Plans for the annual meeting of the State Live Stock Association at Salisbury, December 8, 9, 10 are about complete. Last year the meeting was held in the eastern part of the state and the officers chose Salisbury this year because it is centrally located for the majority of the hog, cattle, poultry and sheep breeders.

The first day of the meeting will be given over to talks and demonstrations about hogs; the second day to dairy and poultry interests, and the third and last day will be in charge of the beef cattle and sheepmen.

The program, although not yet complete, contains several notable speakers. Starting with Wednesday December 8th, "Swine Day"—the program includes a talk by Dr. Tait Butler of the Progressive Farmer on Feeding Hogs. In the afternoon there will be a public sale of poultry and hogs and demonstrations in slaughtering hogs, inoculation against hog cholera and making sausage. The night program, in addition to moving pictures pertaining to swine interest, features an address by Dr. Clarence Poe of the Progressive Farmer.

Any farmer interested in live stock should attend this meeting. If you want to see what other farmers of the state are doing, this will be a good place to go. You can see their live stock, talk to the men about them and if you want to buy you will more than likely find what you want there.

 If you will read it, I will clothe you in scarlet and put a chain of gold about your neck and make you secretary of state." But Daniel did not get excited over that line of dope. He scorned with noble pride the proffered gift and said, "Nothing doing; give your scarlet robes and gold chains and position to another I will read the writing, but before I do, I am going to preach you a sermon that you will remember when suns faint and stars go out; then he proceeded at once to read the King's death warrant: "O, thou King, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar, their father, a kingdom and a majesty and glory and honor;
 "And for the majesty that he gave him, all people, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him, whom he would lie slew; and whom he would he kept alive; and whom he would he set up; and whom he would he put down.
 "But when his heart was lifted up and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne and they took his glory from him:
 "And he was driven from the sons of men; and his heart was made like the beast, and his dwelling was with the wild asses; they fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven; till he knew that the Most High God ruled in the kingdom of men and that he appointeth over it whomsoever he will.
 "And, thou, his son, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all this;
 "But hast lifted up thyself against the Lord of Heaven;
 "And they have brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy lords, thy wives, and thy concubines, have drunk wine in them: and thou hast praised the gods of silver and gold of brass, iron, wood and stone, which see not, nor hear, nor know, and the God in which hand thy breath is, and whose are all thy ways, thou has not glorified."
 And when he had finished the sermon, Belshazzar took a gold chain and said: "This chain was given me by my grandfather, Nebuchadnezzar," and he threw it about the neck of Daniel, thus rewarding him for reading the doom of the great oriental city in which he reigned. But the merriment becomes greater and greater. The royal banquet goes on. The hilarity increases. The women dance and the devil's feast goes on. But listen; I hear the tramp, tramp of soldiers marching! The armies of the Medes and Persians have arrived and with their arrival, comes the downfall of Belshazzar. One hundred and twenty-five years before that night Isariah had prophesied what would take place. He had prophesied the conquest of Babylon by Cyrus. He had said that the enemy would enter by three gates, and that prophecy was fulfilled to the letter; for on that night of revelry and feasting the armies of Cyrus had turned the waters of the Euphrates and had come in by the river bed and the leaved gates of Babylon. I can hear the shouts of the soldiers, the crashing at the gates; the screams of the men and the wailing of the women and the dull thuds of the battle-axe. In the streets, of the city the blood of human beings runs like the wine had run at the feast. In that night was Belshazzar slain, and his kingdom divided and given to the invaders.

Those Who Have No Time for Salvation Will Find Time to Die.
 Belshazzar had time for lords; he had time for wives and concubines; time for pleasure and licentious dancing carousals, and no time for God; but he found time to die. I want to say to you here tonight, young men and women of Greenville, that you have found time for white houses, fat horses and sleek mules, automobiles, bank accounts and plantations, politics and pleasure; you have found time for friends; but you have found no time for God. Just as sure as God is on His throne, the Judgment Day is set and death is on your track.
 Eternity is hanging out in view and your lamp of life will soon be extinguished; your race will be run, the grave will open to receive you; and you will find time to die.
 I knew a man in North Carolina, one of those avaricious, sordid, rapacious, penurious-kind of miserly characters, always grasping, grabbing and flitching. He had added houses to houses and lands to lands; he had silver and gold, bank stocks and bonds. When he was sixty-five years old death knocked at his door and said, "I have come after you." He was lying on his bed with his face to the wall, breathing heavily. His friends had gathered in his room and his sister was sitting by his dying cot, when they heard him say, "Oh, God! Time for money, time for politics, time for plantations, time for friends! But no time for God! And, now I am dying without God!" His sister turned around and said to the friends who had assembled in the room, "Brother is not rational!" He hurled himself over in the bed and said, "Sister, don't you say I am not rational; my mind is as clear as it has ever been. I have cursed preachers, and damned evangelists and hated the church. I have absented myself from the means of grace, lived in sin, broken God's commands, grieved the Spirit, resisted the truth, trampled on the blood, hardened my heart, and stabbed by conscience! I have found time for money, corn and cotton, and big plantations; but no time for God and the church, and now I am finding time to die without God!" Three days from that time he lay on his dying cot while his friends held him in bed, his blood-shot eyes rolling in their bony sockets and his swollen tongue lolling in his parched mouth, and cried, "Time, time for everything, but no time for God! And now I am dying without God! And while death blew his cold breath in his face and crowded him against the wall, he shrieked and screamed, "Time, time, time for everything but God! And now I am dying without God!" and he died with the awful lamentation on his parched lips, and went to hell, and did not carry a blank check or the price of a yellow cur dog.

 Belshazzar had been weighed in the balances and found wanting. In whose balances? In the balances of God! Not in the balances of public opinion, not in the balances of his own family, not in the balances of his own estimation, not in the balances of human philosophy, not in the balances of courtly flattery; but in the balances of an outraged God! Every man and every woman is to be weighed in the same balances, and the balance is God's word. John 12:47-48, "And if any man hear my word, and believe not, I judge him not; for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him; the words that I have spoken the same shall judge him in the last day."

Gentry & Gorman

Gorman's sold for the week 606,334 pounds. Our Friday's sale of 179,468 pounds had less fine tobacco than usual, this sold as good as it has been selling. The medium tobacco predominated and was easier, in fact this sale worked us harder than any sale we have had. The house bought a large per cent of the sale and yet there was more dissatisfaction than any sale we have had this season. One of the large companies who have been heavy buyers, seemed much weaker also one of the Independents bought much less than usual. We see no reason for a decline, there is not the pounds made that is even now estimated by the government and we believe when this is realized by the trade that prices will go higher.
