

TO ASK CONGRESS FOR PROTECTION OF NATIONAL FORESTS

Bill Will be Introduced at December Session Asking Better Program Against Fires

Washington, Nov. 15. When Congress convenes in December a bill will be introduced for a national forest program including better fire protection for the forests.

The program provides specifically, through cooperation between the government, the states and owners of timberlands, for adequate protection against forest fires, for reforestation of denuded lands, for obtaining essential information in regard to timber and timberlands, for extension of the National Forests and for other steps essential to continue forest production on lands chiefly suitable for this purpose.

Authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture, after consulting appropriate local agencies, to approve and adequate policy for each state, covering fire protection, reforestation, cutting and removing of timber crops.

A survey of forest resources, forest production and forest requirements of the nation.

Provision for study of forest taxation, to assist states in devising tax law which will encourage the conservation and growing of timber.

UNUSUAL TYPE OF LIFE SAVING BOAT ADOPTED BY DUTCH

Sailors Along Stormy Coast to Use Boat that Operates by Sucking Water In and Out

Hook of Holland, Nov. 15.—An unusual type of life boat which operates by sucking water up from the ocean and blowing back again, and so obtaining a speed of nine miles an hour, has been adopted in stormy waters along the Dutch coast here.

The boat has a hole in the bottom, through which the water is drawn by an intake pipe which leads to a powerful centrifugal pump operated by a 140 horse power steam engine.

The boat is controlled by shutting off either wholly or in part, one or the other of these outlet pipes. If one end shut off it goes to starboard, if the other is it goes to port.

BREAKS JAIL AND ESCAPES TO OTHER PARTS OF COUNTRY

Former Greenville Policeman Unlocks Jail Door With Key Made From Shoe Horn

J. H. Creech, who was a few days ago placed in the Pitt County jail for disorderly conduct, broke sometime during Saturday night, and has made good his escape.

He effected his escape in a very unique way by making a key out of a shoe horn. The large end of the horn was left to turn it with and the small end was flattened out and was exact double of the real jail key.

1 Here's to the town of Greenville, if I never see you any more I always will remember the lock on your jail house door.

2 It looked easy to see it opened, the key was simple too. But the thing was provoking.

3 With a little rights and wrongs and trying time and again, The lever tripped that had so long been between me and that train.

Celebrate Return to German Rule

A general holiday was declared in Flensburg, Schleswig, when the German authorities again took over control of the city following the plebiscite in which the people of Flensburg voted to remain with Germany.

Cyclone McLendon Delivers Another Crushing Blow To Sin In Services Here Sunday

Sunday was an ideal day. With bright sunshine and just cold enough to be delightful, made an inviting day for people to get out.

"Cyclone Mack's sermons at these services were heart searchers and carried conviction to many in the large audiences. The night sermon was the most forceful exposal of sin and its baseful effects that has ever been heard from the lips of a preacher from a Greenville pulpit.

At the close of this sermon an invitation was given to all to come forward and take the evangelist's hand who desired to request the prayers of Christians that they may be led to forsake sin and accept Christ.

How many times have wives come to me and said, about their husbands He is almost perfect but he is not a Christian. She has gone in to copartnership with the devil to damn her husband sympathetically.

This young man of my text was a formalist I can see him now as he falls at the feet of the Son of God with tears rolling down his face like bubbles on a stream crying good master what shall I do to inherit eternal life and he was told that if he was to get to heaven by doing any thing he was to get there by keeping the ten commandments.

Jesus struck the idol of his heart The predominating sin. He loved money. He turned away. He went away sorrowful. No wonder he was sorrowful when he turned away from the one who has pleasures at his right hand and joys for evermore.

He had not wronged any one in any way. Neither had he stolen anything; nor overcharged in business dealings which is a certain kind of respectable stealing. He had not killed anyone; nor robbed any of their virtue.

He was in earnest, he came running He was humble, he knelt and that too not on a carpet but down in the street. He prayed aloud. Today people can hardly be made to open their mouths in supplication; but this man prayed aloud.

Jesus looked on Him and loved him, and diagnosed his case and put his fingers on the weak spot of his life and said thou wilt be perfect, sell all thou hast and given to the poor, and come and follow me.

Jesus struck the idol of his heart The predominating sin. He loved money. He turned away. He went away sorrowful. No wonder he was sorrowful when he turned away from the one who has pleasures at his right hand and joys for evermore.

We see the same condition in this twentieth century, thousands upon thousands being corralled and brought into the churches without any more knowledge of regeneration than a creature of the brute world.

We are substituting churchanity for Christianity. Religiousness for righteousness. Church activities for spirituality.

truly. Morality for vital godliness and communion, and church membership and confirmation and baptism for the new birth.

To us it is like beholding a traveler in the night's crossing a broad path of lights streaming from an open door. He stops! looks toward the house turns his head away and goes into the darkness and out of sight. So it was with this young man.

He will reappear at the judgement seat of Christ. What a view and spectacle such things will present at that day.

Here is a man that preferred riches to Christ. People, what do you prefer above Christ? Is it earth, the dance hall business or what? Tell me what it is that is going to shut you out from that world of light.

She has chosen the world and its partly crowd. She has chosen the world and its endless shroud.

She has chosen the world and its misnamed pleasures. She has chosen the world and rejected heaven's own treasures.

She has launched her boat on life's giddy sea. And her all is afloat for eternity.

When the storms descend from an angry sky ah where shall her vessel fly? When the stars are concealed and the rudder is gone. And heaven is lost to the wandering one.

"One thing thou lackest". He chose the rattling of silver and the clanking of gold instead of partaking of the Divine nature which would have regenerated his heart and would have saved him for time and eternity.

"Cyclone Mack" will preach to the colored people in the tent tonight and they are all invited. A colored singer is to be on hand to lead the music. White people can also attend if they desire to do so. The colored people will make music that is worth hearing.

MINERS WILL ASK FOR REVISIONS OF MINING TAX LAWS

Clearing of Atmosphere Between Capital and Labor to be Subject at Mine's Meeting

ALLIED TAX COMMITTEE TO PRESENT REQUEST FOR REVISAL OF LEGISLATURE

Invitations Have Been Sent to 17,000 Mining Operators Throughout Entire Country

Denver, Col., Nov. 15.—Complete revision of all tax laws pertaining to the mining industry, a "clearing of the atmosphere" between capital and labor, and a general review of the gold problem are among the subjects slated for action at the 23rd annual convention of the American Mining Congress beginning here tomorrow and to continue until November 20.

"Excessive taxation which has all but killed the industry," said an official announcement issued at headquarters here, "will be chief among the matter discussed.

The allied tax committee of the congress, which met recently in New York will bring a report to the convention recommending complete revision of all existing mining tax laws, both national and local.

"In addition it is generally recognized among mining men there must be a general clearing of the atmosphere to show where the reasonable line is between capital and labor."

Legislation which would "require incorporation of labor unions to make contracts binding and enforceable" will be proposed and discussed. It was officially stated.

Invitations have been sent to 17,000 mining operators throughout the country. The speaking program includes addresses by Governors Emmet D. Boyle, of Nevada and Henry J. Allen, of Kansas; Governor John J. Cornwell of W. Va., whose actions have been closely followed by mining men in connection with the extended strike of miners in that state, has been invited and officials of the congress expect him to accept.

Eight general divisions of work will be undertaken by the convention according to the program. They are: taxation, the gold problem, including furtherance of a movement to prevent the greater depletion of the national monetary gold reserve; floatation conference, and schools of mines and metallurgy.

Each general division is under supervision of a special committee, and conferences will be held daily during the five days of the convention.

"Reconstruction of the Monetary System of the Nation" will be the topic of an address by Representative Louis T. McFadden, of Pennsylvania father of the gold excise tax bill.

Paris, Nov. 15.—The Belgian government has just presented to the League of Nations a bill for cigars amounting to 80,000 francs. The bill says: These cigars were smoked or carried off by members of various delegations at the Spa Conference.

That conference was held July and, was attended by members of the Supreme Council and representatives of the German government.

The Secretariat of the League of Nations has announced that it is short of money and moreover it refuses to take over the debts of the Supreme Council.

YALE TO CONTEST PRINCETON ELEVEN FOR 1920 HONORS

Two Colleges to Clash On Gridiron At Princeton For First Time In Four Years

STRUGGLE WILL PROBABLY BE MOST DETERMINED IN HISTORY OF BOTH CLUBS

Special Trains Will Be Run From Many Districts to Accommodate Football Fans

Princeton, N. J. Nov. 13.—The Yale football team will reenter the Palmer Memorial Stadium here tomorrow afternoon, for the first time in four years for a game with the Princeton eleven. Since that last contest in the Tigers gridiron amphitheatre back in 1916, the world war and the seasonal shift to New Haven have prevented the bi-annual battle which is the closing class of the Princeton football schedule.

As a result of this annual break in the series between the two famous football rivals the struggle tomorrow has taken on greatly increased interest and excitement on the eye of the game which means the success or failure of the gridiron season from Princeton football standpoint. The village hotels are filled beyond all normal capacity while the University dormitories are quartering many alumni who would hesitate to state how many years have elapsed since they were graduated.

The portion of the forty odd spectators who will witness the game, however, will come to the scene of the battle during the forenoon hours tomorrow. Special trains are scheduled to deposit thousands of football followers and adherents of the two universities between the hour of 10 a. m. and one p. m. and when the rival squads of players run out on the turf shortly before two p. m. it is expected that every available seat and foot of standing room in the huge stadium will be occupied with the throng of spectators which should exceed any previous attendance at the game here. Tickets are not to be had at any price and the speculator would reap a golden harvest if it were possible to secure any number of seats regardless of their location.

It is doubtful if greater interest ever marked the annual meeting of the camps of Yale and Princeton. The Tiger victory over the Elis at New Haven last season and the excellent showing against Harvard last Saturday has primed the Nassau hosts for triumph over the Blue. Two consecutive victories by Princeton over Yale are few and far between for since 1873 the Orange and Black was won but 11 games of the 43 played against their New Haven opponents. Nine games have resulted in tie contests and the remaining 23 have been won by Yale. The complete records of the series follows.

TESTIMONIAL

This is to certify I bought a Fordson Tractor, one Oliver Tractor Plow and one Disc Harrow for Tractor.

I broke up and disced my farm with this tractor and cut all my oats, wheat and grain, ginned my cotton, thrashed my wheat and oats, and I think it is the nicest thing a farmer ever had on his farm. It has saved me at least $350.00 in labor alone. I have never had any trouble with the Tractor and it is now in perfect condition. I would not take twice what I gave for the Tractor if we could not get another one. If you want to save money on your farm, I advise you to go to The John Flanagan Buggy Company and buy a Fordson Tractor at once. I bought this Fordson Tractor in March.

FORDSON TRACTOR F. O. B. Dearborn, price $790

The John Flanagan Buggy Co., NN
 Gentlemen:

Replying to your letter as to how I like my Fordson Tractor, will state that I have never seen a piece of machinery that gave better satisfaction than the Fordson Tractor.

I have used the tractor to disc all my land and I disced and prepared my land in a third of the time that it would have taken me to prepare it with mules. I would not be without the Fordson Tractor for any reasonable amount of money if I could not get another. I would not take three times what I gave for it.

My advice to any farmer that owns a small or large farm is to buy a Fordson Tractor. With the use of a Fordson Tractor you can work half your time and put your land in better condition than you could if you did not have the tractor.

 The John Flanagan Buggy Co.
 Greenville, N. C.

Gentlemen:

I have your inquiry requesting me to advise you how I like the Fordson Tractor, McKay Disc Plow, Oliver No. 7 and Roderick Lean Harrow, which I recently bought from you.

I am pleased to advise you that the Fordson Tractor is everything you represented it to be. It was not my intention to plant any clover or vetch this fall, but after I bought the Tractor from you it took me such a short while to break up my land and harrow it, I decided to plant my land in winter clover crop.

I have broken up a considerable amount of land and planted some already in winter crop and the Fordson Tractor and equipment bought from you far exceeded my expectations. I have broken up land that has never been turned before, land that had a large amount of vegetation which would have been impossible to turn with any kind of plow drawn by mules.

I am well pleased with the Fordson

Tractor and feel I have made a safe investment from a financial standpoint and I also expect to raise my crop with much less expense than I would if I had not bought this outfit.

My advice to every farmer who want to properly prepare his land so it will be easier for him to attend his crop, is to buy a Fordson Tractor, Plow and harrows that are sold for this Tractor.

With very kindest regards, I beg to remain

Yours very truly
 (Signed) J. C. Galloway

This is to certify my father, J. M. Cox, bought a Fordson Tractor and a Roderick Lean Harrow from The John Flanagan Buggy Co. in March 1920. It has done more work on our farm than eight mules would have done. We would not do without the tractor for three times the cost if we could not get another. In fact, if we had to give up the Fordson Tractor, I would leave the farm. I advise all farmers, if they want to save labor, to buy a Fordson Tractor. It has given us no trouble and is now in first class condition.

(Signed) D. L. Cox
 October, 5th 1920

The farmers making the above testimonials are assured it paid them to buy a Fordson Tractor. Let us demonstrate this tractor to you on your farm and show you how you can save money.

A Fordson Tractor plowing 5 and 7 acres a day, 8 to 10 inches deep; discing and dragging 10 to 12 acres a day; operating on 20 gallons of kerosene and one gallon of oil, and will do your hauling and belt work, costing absolutely nothing when idle.

OR a team of mules that will plow one to two acres a day, four inches deep, discing three to four acres a day, drag three to four acres in another day; and take a long time to do your hauling; do no belt work and costing a great lot to feed when idle. Take advantage of 37 years of continual experimenting to perfect a tractor that will do your work as it should be done.

MONDAY NOVEMBER 15th

THE NEGRO IN OHIO

Some days before the election there was circulated both by posters and through the larger papers a group picture with Senator Harding, candidate for president, surrounded by several negroes who were candidates for offices in the state of Ohio. Republicans of the South jumped at the conclusion that this group picture was gotten out and circulated by Democrats in order to injure the Republican party. One such Republican at Kanapolis, N.C., as was told editorially in the Charlotte Observer, actually telegraphed to the Cincinnati Enquirer, charging in his telegram that the picture was being circulated by Democrats, and asking if it was true that there were negro candidates on the Republican ticket in Ohio. The Enquirer answered the telegram stating that there were negro candidates in Ohio, giving their names and the offices for which they were running, and added that these negro candidates were the promoters of the group picture and were responsible for its circulation which they said was to show that Senator Harding was with them.

It developed in the election, however, that although Ohio went Republican by a tremendous majority, not one of these negro candidates were elected, from it would seem the Republicans only used the negro candidates as tools to bring out a large negro vote, and that on election day, when it was too late for the negroes to see the trick before they had voted, the white Republicans would not vote for the negro candidates.

A gentleman in Greenville who has a warm friend living in an Ohio town wrote that friend a personal letter, and in commenting on the outcome of the election said among other things he was glad to note that even Ohio Republicans had one redeeming feature in that they drew a line on voting for negro candidates. In the friend's reply to the letter were enclosed two clippings of dispatches from Columbus to the Cincinnati Enquirer, which throw some interesting light on the situation. The first dispatch the day after the election, reads:

"Columbus, Ohio, November 3.—Notwithstanding the fact that six negroes were nominated upon the Republican ticket in Ohio for membership in the General Assembly, not a member of that race will occupy a seat in that body.

Reports from Cleveland and Cincinnati show the defeat of the negro candidates there, while the two negroes named here virtually were buried under an avalanche of negative votes.

In Springfield a negro physician who was nominated to be Coroner of Clark County on the Republican ticket also was defeated. So far as is known, not a negro was elected to any office in the state upon any ticket.

The other dispatch three days later reads:

Columbus, Ohio, November 6.—Rev. George L. Davis, negro, who was defeated for member of the Ohio General Assembly from Franklin County today announced his purpose of shaking the dust of Ohio from his feet. His statement has attracted notice here in view of the expression he gives.

"The returns seem to show that I was defeated by my own party," said Davis who was a Republican candidate.

"At any rate the Democratic propaganda that negroes are a menace to good citizenship in Ohio has been believed by the majority to which I belong judging from the returns. Since the Republicans of Franklin county believe me to be a menace there is nothing for me to do but to leave the state wherein I am looked upon as an enemy of the public good.
