

OFFICIALS ABROAD FAVOR PRESENT PASSPORT SYSTEM

Are in Possession of Evidence of Propaganda Schemes Now in Moscow

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT ATTEMPTING TO SEND AGITATORS TO THE U. S.

War-time Passport Regulations Considerably Modified for The Foreigners

The Hague, Nov. 23.—American diplomatic officials abroad who are in possession of evidence of propaganda schemes originating in Moscow are opposed to any attempt to abandon the United States passport and visa system now in operation.

War-time passport regulations have been considerably modified, both for Americans and foreigners seeking American visas, in the past few months and every attempt will be made, it was said, to make travel as easy as possible abroad next summer.

So far as the would-be emigrant is concerned, one American official said, things have been just so simplified for him that in ten minutes time providing his own government considers him a worthy subject and has so evidenced this by giving him a passport, he can answer all the questions we want to know about him.

The American traveling abroad will get all the assistance possible to give him. If he frets because of the necessity of securing visa from various other consulates if he wishes to visit several countries and objects to frontier inspections he must remember that perhaps the man who sat next to him in the railway car was a Bolshevik or an anarchist, en route some place with a bomb, who might be stopped at the frontier before he could throw the bomb.

American coming abroad will save themselves much difficulty if, just as they go on the bank before leaving to get a letter of credit, they will secure a foreign consulates in America visas permitting them to enter all the countries they wish to visit.

While most of the Bolshevik agents enroute to America seek to get through on false seaman's certificates or by other surreptitious means, according to American officials here, there are a number of herry ones who appear at American passport bureaus, from time to time, and request legitimate visas.

MRS. STEIDLEY IN SPLENDID SERMON COLORED PEOPLE

Evangelist McLendon Being Away, Mrs. Mary Steidley Occupies Pulpit Last Night

A telegram was received from Mrs. McLendon today stating that Mr. McLendon was enroute for Greenville and would reach here in time for tonight's service.

Evangelist B. F. McLendon was called to Bennettsville, S. C. yesterday because of the critical illness of his mother. For this reason he was not here to preach to the colored people last night, but his place was filled by Mrs. Steidley.

Though there was a down pour of rain about the time for the service to begin, the tent was well more than half full, about one third of those present being white people. The pitting rain on the tent made such a noise that an hour was given to singing before the sermon. And the way those colored people sang was worth listening too. They sang in groups and they sang as a whole, sometimes the white people joining with them.

When the rain ceased, Mrs. Steidley made a beautiful talk to the congregation, and more felt that they had lost nothing by her speaking in place of the Evangelist. The colored people were especially in hearty sympathy with her and showed their appreciation of her message in frequent amen and hallelujahs. It was truly an interesting service and at the close of the talk there were many responses to the invitation to confess Christ.

At the time of leaving yesterday, Mr. McLendon expected to return in time for the service tonight. If he should be detained longer there will be some one else to preach in his place and services will go right on without interruption.

RAILWAY COMPANY CALLS COLONIAL GOVERNMENT AID

The New Foundland Railway Lines Are Now Under Control of Commission of Seven

St. John's N. F. Nov. 23.—The New Foundland railway lines, a narrow gauge system of 960 miles owned by the Reid New Foundland Company has been forced to call upon colonial government for aid in readjustment and its administration and operation have been placed under the control of a joint commission of seven. The government has a majority of the members of this body.

The commission also has taken over along with the railway lines the whole system of coastwise water connections along the New Foundland coast which heretofore have been operated jointly by the government and the Reid-New Foundland Company. Thus the commission is administering virtually all the transportation facilities of New Foundland. For both passengers and freight a sum of $1,000,000 in colonial funds has been allocated to the commission to enable it to begin its task of working out the salvation of the railway system. The commission is expected to recommend to the next session of the legislature a permanent plan for operation either by the government or by private interests or jointly.

These steps were made necessary because the railway lines which before the war suffered an average loss of $100,000 a year in the last five years have been compelled to provide for large increases and expenses, notably for coal and wages. As one of its first problems, the X railway commission is faced with a demand for further wage increases ranging from 20 to 25 per cent.

THOMASVILLE RED CROSS CHAPTER IS FIRST OVER THE TOP

Has Won the Honor of Being First Chapter in United States to Go Over the Top

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 23.—Thomasville, N. C. has won the honor for the southeast of being the first Red Cross Chapter in the entire United States to go over the top in the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call.

Official confirmation of the fact that Thomasville was the first to raise its full quota of members was received at southern division headquarters of the Red Cross today in a telegram to this effect from national headquarters at Washington.

Thomasville's record is the more remarkable in that it was also the first over the top in the nation last year in the Third Red Cross Call. No other city in the country has equalled this feat of being first two years in succession.

Thomasville, state Chairman C. F. Lambeth of the Thomasville chapter, had a "before breakfast campaign" when the Fourth Roll Call began November 11. Territories and quotas were assigned as different teams on the day before, and at dawn of Armistice Day the workers on the street. Citizens of Thomasville had been informed beforehand what to expect, with the result that the workers were given a cordial welcome everywhere and the full quota of members was secured before the milkman arrived. News of Thomasville's success was flashed in a telegram to southern division headquarters and thence to Washington early that morning.

PLACES BLAME ON TRADES UNION FOR HOUSE SHORTAGES

Says That a Shrinkage of Brick Layers, Carpenters, Masons Are Cause of Trouble

London, Nov. 23.—Dr. Christopher Addison, Minister of Health, blames the trades union in part for the shortage of houses in England. In an article in the Times he points out that there has been a great shrinkage of bricklayers, carpenters, masons and other branches of the building trades and says these are now not enough men in these trades to do the work. Yet he adds, there are thousands outside of the trades who are unemployed but if an attempt were made to use them in building houses "we are faced with the trade union bar". The unions contend that their numbers are unduly inflated now, the unemployment among them will be even greater than ever when the present demand for homes has been satisfied.

Admitting this Dr. Addison asks: In the face of national demand for houses, in the face of the widespread unemployment among ex-service men and others, can any trade union maintain its restrictions? Can one class one trade, permanently stand in the path of the community and in its own class interest bar the way to progress, prosperity, and resettlement? The state which will submit to such action is saddling itself with a sectional tyranny.

MASQUERADING IN IRELAND RESULTS GREAT CONFUSION

Impossible to Ascertain Who is Responsible For All of the Reported Outrages

Dublin, Nov. 23.—Sinn Fein Volunteers and the British soldiers and police are each accused of masquerading in the clothes of others. Consequently it has become very difficult to ascertain the true facts and fix the responsibility for many of the reported outrages in Ireland.

Men have presented themselves at houses in British uniforms and their deeds have been attributed to the government agents. But official denial that such men were operating in the districts concerned has been issued and the charge has been made that the men were masquerading in uniforms captured in one of the numerous raids on troops or police.

The same kind of story comes from the Sinn Fein side, men claiming to be volunteers were alleged to be government agents in disguise. This complicated enough, but the difficulty is increased by the fact that criminals appear to be impartially personating both Volunteers and soldiers and using the incidents of the conflict as opportunity for looting.

An instance arose the other day in the Dublin police courts in which a man was charged with committing various burglaries and it was sworn that he had offered some stolen property back to the owner if payment were made his as a Sinn Fein Volunteer instrumental in recovering it.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—Admiral W. H. Bullard, director of naval communication service, in a paper read before the Franklin Institute here, said wireless telegraphy is making navigation simple and safe.

"There will be a time when ships will be without chronometers and will be in constant wireless touch with New York until they reach the British Channel," said Admiral Bullard. "This is not a dream, it is near at hand."

"By means of the radio compass a ship can get her bearings when she calls for it, anywhere along the coast of the United States. This instrument has already saved ships which were headed straight for the shore."

"The depth of water under the ship can now be accurately determined by the hydro-phone, which works on the reflection from the ocean bottom of the sound of the ship's propeller. By this device shallow water can be avoided and even the proximity of icebergs detected. Ships also can communicate with each other by underwater waves, sent out by oscillators."

"By means of a cable laid along the bottom of New York channel and energized with current, a pilot, blindfolded, guided a destroyer safely to port, never getting more than 50 yards from the cable. The waves sent out by the cable were detected in telephone receivers, one on each ear, telling him whether he was to right or left of the guiding cable."

MEMORANDUM IS PRESENTED TO THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

American Delegates Propose a Form of Government for The United States

AMERICA NEEDS SETTLED POLITICAL INSTITUTIONS SECURE FROM AGGRESSION

Sovereignty of the American Race Reposes in the People Themselves

Geneva, Nov. 23.—The American delegates to the Phil-American League have presented a memorandum to the congress of the American league now in session here, proposing to the League of Nations Assembly a form of government and administration for America. The American delegates to the Phil-American gathering are Walter George Smith of Philadelphia, H. C. Jacquith of New York City and Dr. William W. Peet of Fall River, Mass.

The memorandum set forth that the greatest and most urgent need of America today is that of settled political institutions with security from aggression. As to sovereignty, it says: "In our opinion the sovereignty of the American race reposes in the people themselves, inhabiting those political areas in which the American race is dominant."

As to the mandates over Armenia, the memorandum states: "We hold strongly to the view that the people of Armenia are capable of evolving and building up an independent administration which will ultimately possess the attributes and be able to discharge the functions of a well-governed state and we are therefore prepared to support by all means in its power any mandatorily acceptable to the American race, providing always that the arm of the mandates are such as will admit of the establishment in due time of a responsible government for Armenia holding these sovereign rights and possessing that international status which is implied in the recognition given in the recent treaty to the American republic."

"We suggest that the mandate should be conferred for a terminal period of 20 years only subject to periodic extensions of five years at the request of a representative Armenian government and with the approval of the League of Nations."

"During the whole period of the tutelage of the people of the territory of the Republic of Armenia, the conduct of its foreign policy should be vested wholly and reservedly in the mandatory."

"During the whole period of the continuance of the mandate, the conduct and control of the military and police forces of the administration of the territory should be vested wholly in the mandatory."

After several weeks with no meeting on account of the McLendon revival services, the Round Table was delighted to gather at the hospitable home of Mrs. J. E. Winslow Monday afternoon. After the business which was brief, the literary program was attractively carried out. Art in the Home being discussed through pictures.

The first paper "The Picture on the Wall" was read by Mrs. Wiley Brown. Following this Mrs. Jeter made a splendid talk on "The Pictures we love to live with". This was spiced with a good deal of humor which all enjoyed.

The Program committee announced the toast "Warren G. Harding, President-Elect of the United States. This was responded to 'pro and con' for and again by nearly every one present, and the fact was clearly brought out that the Round Table stands loyal to the office of the Chief Executive of the Nation, if not enthusiastic over the incoming occupant.

The club enjoyed Mrs. Crow, Miss McFadyen, Mrs. Zahnter and Mrs. Arthur Winslow, invited guests.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Moye served an elaborate salad course.
