CENTRAL MARKETS IN GREATER CITIES NEEDED FOR FOODS

Federal Trade Commission Urges Federal Licensing System For Dealers of Country

Washington, Dec. 27.—Establishment of central markets for perishable food products in all large cities and the setting up of a Federal licensing system applicable to all dealers in such foods at these markets is proposed by the Federal Trade Commission in its annual report today to Congress.

DAN CUPID MAKES SPLENDID RECORD DURING HOLIDAYS

As Result Register of Deeds Was Kept Busy From Thursday Through Christmas Day

Every body else in this part of the country may have observed the Christmas holidays in a sane way, but with Dan Cupid it was just opposite. He was on the job from Thursday thru Christmas day, and as result there are ten couples in the county today enjoying the bliss of matrimony entanglements. Register of Deeds Gaskins anticipated a rather quiet time, but the fact that he was constantly in demand Christmas day is evidence enough that Cupid enjoyed the day alone and without executive advice from the court house. A majority of the couples were colored. Licenses were issued to the following:

Miss Ellen McLawhorn to J. H. Leggett, both of Beaver Dam Township. Miss June Briley to J. F. Perkins, both of Greenville township. Miss Effie McKeel to John T. Sawyer, both of Carolina township.

CHRISTMAS MAILS DECIDELY HEAVY AT LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Postmaster D. J. Whichard Says Service Was Heavier Than During Past Eight Years

Postmaster, D. J. Whichard says that the largest Christmas mail was handled through the local post office last week of any of the eight Christmases he has had charge of the office. The preceding week the outlook was that the shipments would be lighter than usual, but on Monday the floor gates seemed to open and for five days there was a stream of mail both incoming and outgoing. Notwithstanding this great bulk of mail, with the present excellent force in the office it was ever before handled more advantageously than ever before. There was cooperative work to keep the office "cleaned up" every day, and by one o'clock Christmas every parcel had been delivered if the address could be located. Thousands of Christmas cards were mailed this season but the greater part of them being enclosed in envelopes they were much heavier to sort and distribute.

SERIES OF FIRES OCCUR AT THE HOME OF MR. J. E. DEES

A series of fires, which would baffle a detective occurred at the home of the noon hour Mrs. Dees discovered that a feather bed in the back room of her house was on fire. She became alarmed, thinking that the entire room was on fire, and called in the neighbors. The fire was quickly extinguished and after seeing that every thing was all right the neighbors returned home. A few minutes later while Mrs. Dees was at the home of one of the neighbors she was notified that there was another fire in her room. She hastened home and found the wardrobe, a bed and carpet all in a blaze. The fire company was called this time and the fire was quickly checked. In a short while one of the young men who has a room in the Dees house came in and was told about the fire. After listening and trying to solve the mystery he went to his room where he found his bed in a light blaze.

The fires are a mystery to everyone

CENTRAL MARKETS IN GREATER CITIES NEEDED FOR FOODS

Federal Trade Commission Urges Federal Licensing System For Dealers of Country

Washington, Dec. 27.—Establishment of central markets for perishable food products in all large cities and the setting up a Federal licensing system applicable to all dealers in such foods at these markets is proposed by the Federal Trade Commission in its annual report today to Congress.

The commission's conclusions are based on an investigation covering many months and it declares that Federal action is necessary to obtain effective regulation and to avoid unfair and wasteful practices with the consequent effect on prices. In the present system the commission sees as a hindrance to the proper passage of perishables from the producer to the consumer certain interstate dealings which it believes should be eliminated and it suggests that the handling of these products be surrounded by numerous regulations and restrictions such as the recording of available supplies, the dating of cold storage periods and provisions for auction marketing.

Facilities should be made adequate the commission says, to enable the producer to ship freely into the central markets and "with proper protection of his interests". The marketing system should be so governed that objectionable hoarding would be eliminated and proper co-ordination of transportation facilities should be accomplished to make deliveries certain when required.

The commission says that "the needed reforms can hardly be expected to be accomplished by the initiative of the dealers," and asserts that State and municipal authorities lack adequate power to effectively regulate the handling of the food supplies. Although co-operation of State and local authorities and railroads might accomplish the ends sought, the commission believes this plan does not hold out much hope for a satisfactory solution of the problem.

Turning to wheat products, the commission says it has found that concentration of the milling industry has progressed far enough so that "probably ten of the largest milling concerns could supply the demand of the country for flour. The commission mentions incidentally that its figures from 37 milling corporations showed that their sales had increased from $160,000,000 to $354,000,000 between 1914 and 1918 while their annual profits had grown from $5,500,000 to $20,000,000 in the same period.

WINNERS OF THE PRIZES AT WILLARD & SMITH CO.

At 4 o'clock on Christmas eve, the Willard & Smith Co. gave away several valuable prizes to patrons of their stores on Dickinson Avenue. So large was the crowd that had gathered the stores could not hold them, so the drawing of numbers for the prizes was held on the adjoining vacant lot. As the numbers were drawn and called out there was great interest among the crowd to see who held the corresponding number. The winners of the prizes were Mr. R. T. Burnette, Range; Mrs. W. M. Scales, Phonograph; Miss Bessie Albritton, Oil Stove; Mrs. Albion Dunn, Doll. The drawing and giving of the prizes was carried out exactly as the firm had advertised.

CHRISTMAS DANCES

Christmas eve and afternoon and night the young people had an enjoyable series of dances in Carolina Club hall. The afternoon dance was from 5 to 7 o'clock, then after an intermission for supper there was a full dress dance from 9 to 12. The hall was appropriately decorated.

LAUNCH VAST EFFORT FOR EUROPE'S YOUNG

Eight American Relief Agencies Combine to Save 3,500,000 Children Death Menaces.

Eight great relief organizations, working among and for every race and creed, have united under the name of the European Relief Council to coordinate child relief in Europe this winter. The Council will seek to provide funds for 3,500,000 starving and diseased children in Eastern and Central Europe and to administer this relief economically.

It consists of Herbert Hoover, chairman, and Franklin K. Lane, treasurer; Edgar Rickard, representing the American Relief Administration; Dr. Livingston Farrand, representing the American Red Cross; Felix Warburg, representing the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee; Wilbur K. Thomas, representing the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers); James A. Faherty, representing the Knights of Columbus; Dr. C. V. Hibbard, representing the Young Men's Christian Association; Miss Sarah S. Lyon, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Dr. Arthur Brown, representing the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

It is the purpose of the Council to raise $33,000,000, in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays, to the end that the desperate situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is planned, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $23,000,000 will be used for basic food and $10,000,000 for medical service.

For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars, in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously undernourished. The remaining $10,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child saving fund. It will, with the inspecting forces of the great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of America's merciful gift, in order that there shall be no wastage and no tendency toward pauperization.

"This is the largest co-operative benevolent organization ever attempted in the United States," Mr. Hoover says. "The organizations represented here come to the unanimous, though independently formed conclusion, that nothing but prompt and united action by the whole American people can avert incredible tragedy for the helpless children involved. The organizations forming the Council will organize their representatives in every town and community of the nation for the raising of the necessary funds."

Pleads for Europe's Helpless Children

"They are no more my children than yours," is Herbert Hoover's homely yet eloquent plea for 3,500,000 European children who face incredible tragedy this winter unless America comes to their rescue. The funds by which American aid has been feeding millions have run out, and that the work may not stop and thus precipitate what would amount to "a massacre of the innocents," seven other great American relief organizations have united with Mr. Hoover's organization under the name of the European Relief Council in a joint appeal for funds. The contributing agencies are the American Red Cross, the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

CHILDREN OF MANY RUSSIAN GENERALS TAKEN AT CRIMEA

Sons and Daughters of General Wrangel's Staff Among Refugees Sent to Constantinople

THOUSANDS OF RUSSIANS DYING FROM STARVATION IN DISTRICT OF REFUGEES

Best of Old Russian Families Included Among Those Suffering Untold Hardships

New York, Dec. 24.—Two hundred children of the officers of General Wrangel's staff, sons and daughters of generals, colonels and captains, were among the 100,000 Russian refugees brought to Constantinople harbor by ships of the allied nations when the bolshevik broke down Wrangel's defense and overran the Crimea.

Many of them were orphans, their fathers having perished while fighting the bolshevik. One was the daughter of the minister of finance of the Wrangel regime. All were nearly famished when the vessels on which they had taken refuge arrived here for the ships' larders had been exhausted.

So hard pressed were all the refugees to obtain food that they threw diamonds and weapons or any other valuables into the boats of traders from Constantinople in payment for anything to eat.

A graphic story of their arrival at Constantinople and how an American destroyer took the 200 children of Wrangel's officers off the refugee vessels and landed them at the Trachoma wharf maintained by the Near East Relief is told in reports received by that organization in this city. It reads in part:

"The harbor is a wonderful and sad sight. One hundred thousand Russians are on ships there, many of them dying. The best of the Russian families are among these refugees, the men who fought for Wrangel, crowded and sick and without food except what the relief people can get to them and the bread and water given to them by the French.

"Of course, natives are profiteering, and little boats go to the ships and the Russians drop diamonds, firearms and other valuables to these traders in exchange for food. The people on these vessels represent the remains of an old aristocracy with no country to take them though the French expect to send many to Morocco.

"The children were packed with grown people like sardines on the big ships coming from Crimea and most of them were sick from fatigue, lack of nourishment and lack of sleep. Miss Gunther and Miss Hastings (relief workers) went to the ships on board a United States destroyer and 200 children were tagged with the names of their fathers and mothers, and the father's occupation. Many said: 'Father died in Wrangel's army fighting for Russia.' The destroyer brought the children to the landing of the Trachoma orphanage which is located right on the Bosphorus. Ten mothers were taken with their very young children and babies and the other children ranged from five to 13 years.

COPS TO RESTORE ORDER

Series of Strikes in Mill Industry Refused to Be Arbitrated by India Government

Bombay, Dec. 24.—Three thousand strikers at one mill in the vicinity of Bombay, wrecked the office of the factory a few days ago and stoned a motor car containing police, severely injuring one inspector and two soldiers. Before the police succeeded in dispersing the strikers they took to looting shops. A number of arrests were made and the mill district is being picketed.

Minor disorders took place elsewhere in the city, some stoning of street cars being indulged in at various places. The situation became serious enough for the commissioner of police to call the mounted police, who charged the crowd in semi-circular fashion. The casualties have not been reported, but the crowd broke up and fled. Wholesale arrests were soon after made, 60 men being taken in custody.

For more than two months now the city of Bombay has been witnessing a series of strikes in the mill industry, on the street cars, in gas works and the postal service. The tension has grown every day more serious especially on account of government refusal to arbitrate the various disputes. An All-India Trade Union Congress recently held in the foremost industrial city has given further impetus to the laboring ranks.

The following table tells the story more graphically than words could ever paint it—the story of North Carolina's desperate need of far greater equipment to provide higher education for her youth.

The numbers opposite each college represents the boys and girls for whom there was no room—whose hope for higher educational training were shattered.

EDUCATION IN NORTH CAROLINA

(able Institutions.)
A Subsequent Advertisement Will Tell Of the Need Of

Men and women of North Carolina—Mothers and fathers of the rising generation; young men and women who have been fortunate in the possession of every educational advantage; the youth who are now enjoying the advantages of higher educational training—we must face the facts! Our State cannot meet PRESENT obligations with its equipment for higher education! What of the future! What are we going to do about it? The responsibility is ours!! Let us meet it squarely and fairly!

The story of inadequacy of our institutions to meet the demands laid upon them is only partially told in the table opposite. While that table discloses the startling fact that over 2,300 of our young men and women are being denied the opportunity of college training, it does not disclose that the 9,500 students are working under the severest handicap possible—terrific crowding. The instances are not few where these students are packed three and four to a dormitory room. Can you imagine fruitful work, comfort or health under such conditions? Picture for yourself the catastrophe that would follow an epidemic of disease through one of these institutions now.

And yet—not all the story is told. We have considered the present only. What of the future? Five years ago 800 students graduated from the four year high schools of the state. Last June there were 3,000 graduates from these schools, not counting the considerable number from other high schools. It is conservatively estimated that within the next five years the number will be doubled, or more. Five years hence there will be at least 6,000 of these high school graduates. Will we, in the meantime, provide accommodations for them in the State's institutions of higher education? Or will we sit quietly by and tell them in effect, that they are not worth a higher education to the State?

Can Red-Blooded North Carolinians Remain Inactive in the Face of Such a Crisis and Still Boast Patriotism?

We sent our sons into the shambles of war to be maimed, sacrificed if need be, for the sake of an ideal, in the name of right and liberty. We paid richly in both gold and blood. As patriots, we appeal to you now—does North Carolina owe nothing to these men in opportunity—nothing to the womanhood for whom they sought.

Let us recall that 30 percent of our white draft of the war were illiterate. Perhaps the educational opportunity is gone for them—but what of their children? Do we owe nothing to them for the sake of the past? Unless North Carolina provides it, she can offer them nothing in the opportunities for citizenship that higher education affords.

Our State Institutions Are Asking You For $18,000,000 For a Building Program Ex- tending Over Six Years.

Will we give it? Can we refuse it? In the 250 years of our proud existence as a state we have spent just $14,000,000 in equipping our state institutions of higher education. We have pleaded poverty. But are we poor? Last year we produced over $700,000,000 of agricultural products alone and paid into the federal treasury over $100,000,000 in federal taxes; we spent $30,000,000 for new automobiles—just TWICE the amount asked now for higher educational needs over a period of SIX years—and $20,000,000 for gasoline and upkeep of the automobiles we already had. Poor? The man or woman who would plead poverty as a bar to educational expenditures in North Carolina should be denied the privileges of citizenship. We are the purest blooded American State of the Union. Can we match that blood with pride, with high ideals, with a realizing sense of our obligations? If we can, our institutions will get the $18,000,000 asked and more.

But they will NOT get it unless you men and women of North Carolina DEMAND it. And you can demand it as YOUR OWN, not as gift passed out reluctantly by a benefactor. Too often the hue and cry has been raised that "nothing can be done, the politicians control the state." That is the biggest "bogey" North Carolinians ever faced. The Politicians—there really be such in North Carolina—are powerless before YOUR will. The State is yours; its institutions are yours; and the opportunities that will be presented to your boys and girls—their future—are dependent upon the State's policy toward its institutions of higher education as YOU dictate them. The members of the General Assembly are YOUR representatives; they are not dictators. Make known to them your desires in the matter and see how quickly they respond. That is their will—to do yours. Face the facts: If the next General Assembly fails to provide higher educational equipments for your youth, blame yourselves.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

An audience that overflowed the Bible school room listened to the program given at the evening church service hour last night at the Christian Church. From processional to benediction every number was interesting. The evening exercise were built around the beautiful legend of Cathay. The "White gifts for the King", program with some revisions was the basis for the various parts, and the story of the infant of Bethlehem carried all back to the gift of the Father's love. Legend, and song, and recitation, and pantomime kept the interest of all as the story was unfolded. This was followed by the bringing of the various gifts from the classes that will be sent to the needy and the orphan, and the aged minister's fund.

A short talk was the closing feature in it Dr. Shamhart dwelt upon the thought of the balancing of our account with God before the year closed and in this stressed the giving of self.

The whole program was pronounced one of the very best ever given at the Christmas time in Greenville. The decorations were white and green with a white cross standing in the baptistry; all carrying out the thought of the consecration of life to bless others.
