REPUBLICANS PLAN TO BLOCK ACTIVITY OF THE DEMOCRATS

Senator Decides at Secret Conference to Hold up Appointments of Postmasters to Flounder Along UNTIL AFTER MARCH 4

Young Regiment of Officials Endeavoring to Bring About Passage as Early as Possible.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Dipping their brushes into the probability that the Republican majority in the senate would refuse to confirm most of the 20,000 nominations made by President Wilson, some administration officials painted today a picture of a creaking government machine floundering along for a time after March 4 with a lot of important cogs missing.

Failure of the Republican senators at a secret conference today to reach any decision as to the nominations set the canvas. Republican leaders were not inclined to take the picture seriously, however.

The question of the nominations occupied much of the time of the Republican conference. The official announcement said no decision was reached, but some of those attending the meeting said privately that there had been a "tacit" agreement for the Republican members of the committees to take the nominations coming under their jurisdiction, study conditions in the executive departments and, then determine whether failure to keep the Democratic appointees in office after March 4 would result in any embarrassment of those departments.

A young regiment of officials now in Washington are holding office by virtue of recess appointments. Should the senate fail to act on their nominations before this congress quits on March 3, it is explained that they will automatically be out of jobs under the law. These officials include all seven members of the shipping board, two members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, three chief officials in the patent office and five assistant secretaries of the treasury.

Then, too, there are a lot of postmasters, federal judges, marshals, federal attorneys, registers of land offices and the like over the country who are in the same position. Some of these are classed as emergency cases and the Republican leaders have indicated that where there is found to be an emergency action will be taken.

Confirmation of President Wilson's appointments by the senate would carry some of these officials over into the Republican administration for terms ranging from one year to years in excess of the four for which Mr. Harding has been elected. Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, has announced that he doesn't propose to have the Democratic administration fill up a lot of bureau chiefships in the army and navy for the incoming administration and in this he has the support of his Republican colleagues.

DARKEY BREAKS AWAY FROM COPS AND LEADS MERRY CHASE TO RAVINE

William Moore, who was this morning given thirty days on the county roads in police court on a charge of vagrancy, broke away from police while being taken from the court house to the jail, and led the cops a merry chase for several blocks before finally being captured in the ravine near the high school building. Several shots were fired at the fleeing man as he headed for the ravine, but none were effective. After surrounding the ravine, a policeman entered the place and captured his prisoner who offered no resistance. Williams hails from everywhere in general but nowhere in particular, and was numbered among several colored persons appearing in court today upon similar charges.

Maj. Gen. Count Arthur Tcherep-Spiridovitch, president of the Anglo-Latino-Slav league in Paris, Rome, Lisbon, etc., and of the Society Slavia in Moscow, Petrograd, etc., formerly president of the Slav society of the Freedom Committee in the United States and of the Balkan committee in Paris.

TOBACCO GROWERS IN MEETING HERE DURING MORNING

Urged to Cut Acreage by Inspired Speakers.

Several farmers from various parts of the county attended a mass meeting of tobacco and cotton interests conducted at the court house in this city this morning, heard several splendid addresses dealing with conditions and pledged to stand by efforts to bring about a reduction of acreage of both crops during the current year. A. W. Swain, representing the cotton interests of the State, told why it will be necessary for radical reduction, urging planters to hold their crop until prices become better. R. L. Nicolson, representing the American Exports and Import corporation, explained proposed working plans of his organization and said that activity would begin in this community for interesting the planter in his own behalf.

The tobacco situation was discussed in an interesting way by O. F. McCrary, of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers' association. He told of plans for reducing acreage, urging his hearers to plant surplus ground in food crops until congested conditions of the world were relieved. He urged an intensive campaign of township organizations for next Thursday when every part of the State will endeavor to secure pledges for reduced acreage. Meeting will be held at former places at 2 o'clock for the purpose, and it will be asked that tobacco warehouses close and join in the drive.

Pledges to cut acreage at least fifty per cent. will be requested and planters interested in their future were urged to be at former meeting places and take part in activity for improving demand for their product. Much interest was manifested in each plan and it seemed generally agreed that reduction is the only way to solve the problem.

Friday and Saturday of the same week canvassing committees will personally visit every man not present at the meeting Thursday and seek his pledge. The names of those failing to sign will be taken and mailed direct to township secretary for future reference. Pledges must be signed, every speaker urged as future of the entire bright leaf industry of the world is dependent upon this action.

RAILROAD TO BUILD BIG BRIDGE ACROSS RIVER AT CINCINNATI

Trustees of Cincinnati Southern Ask Permission for $2,500,000 Bond Issue for Work.

ENTIRE RAILWAY SYSTEM OWNED BY TAXPAYERS IN THE CITY OF CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 21.—The trustees of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, the only municipally owned railroad in the United States, have forwarded to the Interstate Commerce Commission a detailed statement of the condition of the road, in support of an application of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway, lessees of the road, for approval of plans to build a new bridge across the Ohio river at Cincinnati.

The trustees propose to issue $2,500,000 worth of bonds to pay for the new bridge. The railway will bear the sinking fund and interest charges on these bonds, as well as the cost of maintaining the bridge.

According to city officials, and bankers the leasing of the railway system from the city gives the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific a distinct advantage over other roads. In the present condition of the market, they say, a privately owned railroad would have to offer a high rate of interest to float its bonds. In this instance, however, the city of Cincinnati lends its credit, and the municipal bonds issued for the purpose are expected to find a ready market at an interest rate of six per cent.

CILICIA DISTRICTS TORN AND IN RUINS BY HEAVY FIGHTING

Constant Fighting Between French and Turkish Nationalists Devastated Entire Country.

AMERICAN MISSIONARY TELLS OF DEPLORABLE SITUATION PREVAILING

New York, Jan. 21.—Constant fighting between the French forces of occupation and Turkish Nationalists has transformed the Cilicia district of Asia Minor into an area of ruin and desolation resembling the devastated sections of northern France, declares Miss Elizabeth Webb, an American missionary and worker for the Near East Relief.

In a letter to the relief organization, Miss Webb tells of a trip from Adana, recently delivered from a siege of four-weeks, to the town of Deurt Yol, about 50 miles distant on the Mediterranean Sea. The trip was made on a French armored train.

"The Adana station itself was suggestive of the general situation with its barricades of sand bags," she wrote. "As we moved down the track we saw bent steel rails lying by the side of the new ones that had just been laid. Bridges that we passed over were newly repaired and village stations along the route were demolished. The ruins were surrounded by barbed wire entanglements and broken telegraph poles, festooned with tangled wire, wit to the events of the past few months. No human beings were in sight but the barbed wire entanglements were hung within cans.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE PRESS AT CHICAGO TO HELP COLLEGE

Willing to Join English Press in Promoting Establishment of School of Journalism.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The foreign language press of Chicago is joining the English press in promising co-operation with Northwestern University in establishment of the Joseph Medill School of Journalism, recently announced. The school is made possible by Col. Robert R. McCormick and Joseph Medill Patterson, editors of the Chicago Tribune, and at the time of the announcement of the project, practically all the Chicago dailies promised their co-operation.

Instruction will begin with the spring semester February 7, with classes in the school of commerce, which is downtown, but the campus classes will not be organized until next September. For the first semester, Chicago newspaper men, lecturing one night a week, will handle the technical courses of the new school of journalism, under the direction of Dean Ralph E. Heilman of the school of commerce.

Appreciation of what the new school can do toward raising standards of the newspaper profession and increasing the understanding of American problems as they relate to the foreign-born, is contained in recent letters received by President Walter Dill Scott of the University.

"As a doctor cannot practice and as an attorney cannot be a member of the bar without his brethren cannot see any reason why a man should become a Journalist without having proper qualification of the profession, which is considered one of the most vital in the twentieth century, wrote P. S. Lambros, Editor of the Greek Star.

"We hope the School of Journalism will breed better knowledge of political history, geography, and ethnography of other countries, chiefly Europe, among American Journalists," said R. J. Perna, editor of the Daily Svornost.

Oscar Durante, Editor L'Italjan, wrote an length on the value he could see in the new school of Journalism in promoting a better understanding among newspaper men of the worth and real work of the foreign language element of the nation.

Similar expressions were made in letters from Oliver A. Linder, managing editor of Svenska Amerikanaren; John R. Palendek, publisher the United Serbian and other Slavonic newspapers; Robert S. Abbott, editor of the Chicago Defender, and Dr. S. M. Melamed and Harry A. Lipsky, editor-in-chief and business manager respectively of the Daily Jewish Courier.

HARDING PREDICTS BIG IMPROVEMENT AT WINSTON-SALEM

Governor of Federal Reserve Delivers Optimistic Address Before Big Audience.

ARTIFICIAL EXPANSION HAS ABOUT-PASSED IN EVERY PART OF NATION

Says It Is Necessary for Those Who Have Extended Credit to Have Patience.

Winston-Salem, Jan. 21.—Gov. W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, in his address at a luncheon in his honor at the Zinzendorf Hotel at noon today by the Chamber of Commerce and a brief talk at a dinner given this evening by Col. F. H. Fries at the Twin-City Club, made a fine impression. Col. Fries, president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company, declared that the message of Governor Harding brought to the business men of this community was both instructive and convincing.

Governor Harding spoke optimistically as to the future, declaring that the developments of the last thirty days must convince those who have possessed doubts heretofore that all danger of a great financial or money panic has been passed and that business generally is safely over the most critical and trying stage of the readjustment period. "Heretofore," he said, "following periods of artificial expansion the reactions that have come have usually been sharp and sudden, accompanied by money panics. Nothing of the sort has occurred in the present readjustment period. While many predictions were made that an old-fashioned panic was inevitable, I never once doubted the ability of the Federal Reserve System to prevent any such condition.

"The decline in prices was necessarily disastrous to those producers who had gone heavily in debt, with the expectation that the level of prices which existed a year ago would be sustained or even advanced, and in many individual cases great losses will be suffered, but so far as the community as a whole is concerned, there is no question of solvency.

"In working out the situation, it is necessary that those who have extended credits should exercise patience, moderation and forbearance. In cases where debtors show themselves to be worthy of confidence and are willing to meet reasonable requirements. "I have observed no disposition on the part of the banks to force collections by foreclosures or other drastic means except as a last resort. There are signs everywhere of a revival of business in the spring," declared Governor Harding.

DEPUTY SHERIFF FOURS OUT 250 GALLONS OF BEER

Deputy Sheriff Jackson yesterday afternoon poured out about 250 gallons of beer in Cox's Mill vicinity in a raid which probably would have resulted in the capture of another still had the officer arrived earlier. As it was the still had been removed to some other section, and nothing but beer left behind in the hasty departure of the distillers.

PILGRIM ISSUE POSTAGE STAMPS

The local post office has received a supply of the new Pilgrim issue of postage stamps. They are in the denominations of 1 cent, representing the Mayflower; 2 cents, the land of the Pilgrims; 5 cents, signing the compact. These stamps are some larger than the ordinary ones and are quite attractive in design.

Saturday, January 22, 1921.

President-elect Harding has at last started on his vacation. The matter has been talked so much recently the public had just about decided it's time for his return.

Two Nebraska grandmothers used an aeroplane to convey the State's eight electoral votes to Washington. The Republicans at least can claim a precedent in this instance, if flying counts.

Herbert Hoover would limit speculation in grains, is the latest report presented to the public along this line. And from all indications he is not the only one desirous of doing the same thing.

Benjamin Franklin and thrift walk hand in hand. But if Benjamin were here today he wouldn't know exactly which way to turn to find the best way to be thrifty. It's a proposition that tortures modern brains.

Attorney General Palmer may have left room for criticism in past activities, but his work has been of such a high standard that a person attacking his career would be confronted with a stiff fight. Mr. Palmer performed his duties as he saw them and when a man does that he can't be criticised.

Forty-four Tar Heels are included in the 1,500 postmastership nominations sent to the senate by President Wilson. The public might have been excited over the fact, but since the senate and house have a habit of doing like they want in a matter of this kind, it is hardly probable that only the most urgent will be considered before President Harding gets in office.

IT CAN'T BE ABOLISHED

The Wake County Chapter of American Red Cross will use its influence toward preventing repeal of the law establishing the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare. That is a mighty commendable spirit and should be heartily supported by other organizations of the kind in every part of the State. Both institutions have rendered effective service since establishment in one hundred counties of the State and have just gotten in position to do much greater work in the interest of delinquent children.

To much cannot be said of past activities of welfare officers, or "probation officers," as they are called, for in virtually every community where they have operated, children have been corrected in such way that not even the carelessness or over-particular parent could become annoyed or vexed. The law does not provide punitive punishment, but on the other hand, corrects the delinquent child in certain ways tending to bring him back on a higher level. Its operation will mean more to civilization as it is expanded, but unless officers are given co-operation by State institutions and the public generally there is absolutely no way of effecting an improvement in its daily application.

Raleigh has set an example that every county or town in the State should support, for those who fully realize what welfare work and public charity means believe they are essential to uninterrupted improvement in society. And they think the right way about it, too. Think of the number of children roaming public streets, mingling with the profane, immoral things of life without means of correction such as that at home. It is true the home should offer fitting environment and correction, but yet, do they? Numbers do them do, but their shielding influences are gone almost as soon as the child leaves the house and mixes with companions.

The American child is inclined to be precocious today more so than ever. And it is this that makes some source of correction other than home necessary, even imperative. The welfare boards furnish this, and should they be abandoned the State might as well provide appropriations for a bigger penitentiary and more commodious jails. Pitt county has gotten results, and that speaks for itself.

The old-time five-cent cigar is gone forever unless tariff and tax levies on tobacco drop, manufactures and importers have explained to members of the House.

One would never think so, considering the prices being paid for bright leaf in this district just now. The Senate might find room for an intensive probe right here but since Vice-president Marshall, who one time hailed the "five center" as the nation's crying need, is not disposed to be active just now, the matter will rest just where it is.

Southern and gulf ports have joined in an effort to bring about better trade relations in this country. There is plenty of room for action in this line, and if they get "heads together" in time something satisfactory may be anticipated within the next several months at the longest.

DEPORTING RADICAL ALIENS

Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Labor, has at last decided upon a plan for deporting aliens in this country. He proposes that no person shall be arrested except by sworn affidavit, based upon information and belief of conditions. That phase of the question may sound perfectly all right, but it is hardly necessary to go that far with certain persons who have played a big part as undesirables and who might be "shipped" without an investigation becoming necessary.

The secretary says again "that parties shall be confronted with evidence and permitted to furnish testimony and be heard in their own behalf." This ought to prove satisfying in many instances, but when dealing with foreigners, it must be remembered that they have friends even as an American desiring to evade the law. There has never been a person in this country that couldn't obtain some kind of testimony, and when one fails to do so he may be considered completely "down and out" with the world and associates.

"Excessive bail shall not be required," Mr. Wilson also says, yet he would no doubt agree to some poor, illiterate citizen of his own country being placed behind bars without bond an beyond reach of friends or those who could do him much good. The alien question must be handled from a more serious standpoint. Emigration has brought to American shores the very filth and scum of Europe. This class of people would not stop at anything short of taking human life and liberty just to lay up treasures to provide for them in style in the old countries. This is the class of persons which the labor department must deal with and which its secretary would permit every advantage accorded the most degraded of his own country. The situation must be handled differently. More serious action is necessary and unless it is taken the outcome is hard to conceive.

Department of justice officials are probably better acquainted with conditions than any other set of authorities in this country, and the fact that they found room for an outward "clash" with the labor board is evidence enough something fell short in provisions for handling the radical element. This is a great country, but if people would listen more to those who are forced to deal with criminals and who are threatened with their lives at every step, bomb explosions and disorders would become things of the past.

The Calder bill for regulation of the coal industry is called "revolutionary" by the vice-president of the National Coal Association. That's not the only measure that has been termed radical for the last several months, but if getting low prices and less robbery will be brought about by administration of the bill the association has something to worry about. The country has suffered from irregularities in distribution too long to endure further activity, and the government is more able to protect its citizens than any other force. The industry is all right in itself, but robberies have been perpetrated in such cold-blooded fashion that the entire country is sick and tired of it.

Charges that Charles M. Schwab, of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation, had over $260,000 paid him "for personal expenses" while director general of the Emergency Fleet corporation gives the public something to think about. In fact, the charge is about as sensational as Cox's "glush fund" allegations and may have about as much effect with the public. It is true there must have been right much grafting going on during the war, but it cannot be said that one of Mr. Schwab's character would be guilty of such a crime. The investigation may give the public a slight shake-up but hardly will cause people to lose faith in the man who served so well in his line of duty.

Arkansas has fallen in line with proposed plans for reducing cotton acreage one-third this year. Practically every cotton producing State has been impressed with the necessity for making reductions, and if they live up to plans outlined by organization the future will certainly be much brighter in every way. The situation is really serious today, but fortunately there are very few suffering, with exception of the farmer who went deeply in debt last year. A mighty good lesson has been learned and should another occasion of the kind ever arise the nation will be better prepared to handle it by experience.

The sub-committee on banking and currency in this State has decided upon a plan for requiring a minimum capital stock of $20,000, and each director owning not less than five hundred dollars' worth of stock. The plan is a mighty good one and will have a tendency of holding this together more firmly than in the past. The bill also contemplates an increase in bank inspectors, which is not bad at all. The measure tends to make the institution more solid and safe for depositors.

A widow will probably be a candidate for mayor of Kinston, if news reports are true, and in many instances they are. The announcement should not cause any sensation at all, for it must be remembered that when a person is given the vote he is going to use every influence which the prerogative opens up. Kinston, however, may have the pleasure of blazing the way for the women, and if it does by electing a mayor, it will be going some, that's all there is to it.

A "bearish effect" has been felt on the wheat market, according to the latest information emanating from New York city. The wheat market is not the only one getting the same effect either.

Certain factions tinkered with proposed increase of Southern representation in the House of Representatives, but quite fortunately, their efforts were without results. It's a safe game to tinker when you have something to do it with, but otherwise, it's bad business.

MRS. HORTENSE MOYE ENTERTAINS BIRTHDAY LUNCHEON

At one o'clock, on Thursday, Mrs. Hortense Moye entertained at luncheon in honor of her mother, Mrs. C. Jane Forbes, who celebrated her seventy-first birthday. The dining room was attractively decorated for the occasion, a redcolor scheme prevailing. Red carnations and red tapers were effectively used. Covers were laid for twenty. Only members of Mrs. Forbes' family were present and the occasion was delightfully informal.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ENTERTAINS MEMBERS

About three hundred members and friends of the Christian church attended a reception given by the board of the institution last night. Quite a number of interesting features were presented, including instrumental numbers by Mrs. Goode, short talks and a light luncheon served by the ladies of the church. Mr. W. E. Hooker reviewed the history of the church, speaking for several minutes on the great work which had been accomplished in every department. Miss Geneva Exum presented the Christian Endeavor, while Mr. J. A. Applewhite talked of the importance of mid-week services. Dr. Shambart, who this week closed his first year as pastor of the church, spoke on the importance of everyone doing his bit in church work, showing in an interesting way that co-operation is one of the most essential things to success. The occasion was simply a get-together of members and friends and proved auspicious in every way.

BIBLE STUDY CLASS IN REGULAR SESSION

The Bible study class for women, conducted by Mrs. Mary Steidley, met on Thursday and Friday afternoons in the dining room of the Princeton hotel. About 60 ladies availed themselves of the privilege of hearing a portion of the Book of Life explained and commented upon by this capable teacher. The epistle to the Galatians is the book chosen for this course of study, which will be continued on Thursday and Friday afternoons for the next two weeks. The women of the town are cordially invited to attend. Men also will be welcome. Some have been coming—there is room for more.

LETTER BOX PROPOSED FOR POST OFFICE CORNER

Postmaster D. J. Whichard states that since the order has been in effect closing the post office building at night when no employee is on duty—between 11 p. m. and 6 a. m.—request has been made for authority to place a drop letter box on the post office corner in which business people near the office may put letters when they desire to mail them late at night.

There are already six street letter boxes in the business district of the town from which mail is collected a little before 6 o'clock a. m. for dispatch by the two early morning trains. These boxes are located as follows: on Dickinson avenue at corner of Center Brick Warehouse; corner of Dickinson avenue and Green street; corner of Greene and Fifth streets; in lobby, near elevator, of National Bank Building; Moseley corner on Five Points, and corner Cotanch and Fifth streets. With an additional box near the post office practically all business houses of the town will be within two blocks of a drop box. Letters intended for dispatch by the night trains, however, should be mailed in the post office lobby not later than 10:30 o'clock, and not in street boxes, as no collections from boxes are made at night. The night mails leave the office at 11 o'clock and then the building is closed until 6 o'clock the next morning.

BOARDING HOUSE NOTICE

This is to give notice that the boarding house on Dickinson avenue, opposite the Norfolk Southern Railroad station, formerly known as the "Harris House," is now being conducted solely by the undersigned and that Mrs. Effie Lee, who formerly had an interest therein, has moved away and is no longer in any way connected with the management and conduct of said boarding house.

We propose to run a clean, orderly and up-to-date boarding house where the best and most respectable people may rest assured of good service, kind treatment and congenial hospitality.

Your patronage solicited. This January 20, 1921.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hammond.

THE DOT RED CROSS
By Clifford Leon Sherman
This is a regular story about a regular girl and has just lots and lots to do with the Red Cross. Now, if you had known her as long as I have, you would never have thought of connecting her with the Red Cross, but you'll find out as we go along that she is "real people." Of course, it wasn't her fault that her father was enormously wealthy and that she was brought up in luxury. Why, it was only the other day that I saw her in her imported car just coming back from a newspaper office, where she had advertised a reward of five hundred dollars for the return of her imported car.
