PROTESTS AGAINST EXORBITANT PRICES OF LOCAL HOTELS

J. B. Kiltrell Declares Cafes Are Also Charging Prices Enormous Compared to Declines.

DECLARES PATRONS OF CAFES ARE ROBBED AT EVERY MEAL THEY EAT

Says Labor Rents and Equipment Have Decreased Sufficient To Justify Reductions.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Every citizen of Greenville should read the following statement carried in the January 23rd issue of the News and Observer, and make it a point to make a personal kick to our city authorities about the exorbitant prices charged by the cafes here. You only have to visit any cafe in town one time to learn what unfair prices they are charging, and if you will do this you will agree with me that some action ought to be taken to have it stopped. It is admitted that Greenville is about the best town of its size in North Carolina. After one has been here for only a short time it is realized that the people are the finest to be found anywhere. Strangers soon make friends and if they are the right kind of people individuals make it a point to welcome them. Now, that it is admitted that we have a good town made up of the very best people do you not think it behooves us to see that the profiteering being carried on by the cafes here is stopped. Local people have to eat at the cafes occasionally, and if they will compare the prices charged them with the prices they have to pay for the articles served they will readily see that they are being robbed. For instance, two eggs, three pieces of toast and a glass of milk cost you 50c. The actual cost to the cafe is not more than 20c, showing them a profit of over one hundred per cent. A small order of corn flakes with a half glass of milk costs you 20c. The actual cost of this order is about 7c. One-half dozen oysters cost you 40c, and oysters are selling in nearby towns at 40c quart, dry measure. A half grape fruit costs you 20c, the retail price being about 10c to 15c each. These are just a few of the items on which we are charged outrageous prices all the others being in the same proportion. When rents, labor, equipment and provisions were high we had no kick coming, and made none, but now since all these have declined considerably, we have a right to demand that the prices charged by the cafes be reduced in proportion. The livelihood of the operators of these cafes is made possible by the citizens of Greenville. If they do not think enough of our town and our citizens to serve us on a fair and just basis it is high time that we take some action to force it. Not having a home I have to eat at the cafes at times, and I have paid these excessive prices. If more of the citizens had to patronize them occasionally I believe they would agree that some action ought to be taken. Our Honorable City Fathers should make a thorough investigation of these matters, and see that this profiteering is cut out at once.

The article follows:

"In your paper of today's issue I find an article which I consider so very timely that I want to give it my unqualified endorsement—I refer to that on "Hotel and Cafe Profiteering." In speaking of this I do not want to be considered as referring to any of my friends in particular in the hotel business but to all in general who plead "guilty" as charged of profiteering. It is well to air these things while the legislature is in session in order that the attention of our lawmakers may be called to the situation as it stands today. I make the statements, as a rule, with very few exceptions:

- 1 The fare in no hotel or cafe is equal to what it was before the era of high prices.
- 2 The $1 meal is not equal in quality (Continue on Page 4)

Mr. W. A. Teel, prominent young business man of this city, died at his home on Second street last night at 9:30 o'clock following a short illness from pneumonia. The funeral services were conducted from his home this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. Walter Patten, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, interment taking place immediately afterwards in Cherry Hill cemetery.

The following acted as pall bearers: Active: C. H. Forbes, L. L. Hearne, W. E. Hooker, T. E. Hooker, B. S. Warren, W. L. Hall, F. J. Forbes, P. L. Clodfelter.

Honorary: M. D. Lassiter, Harvey Briley, L. B. Fleming, Dr. J. E. Nobles, J. L. Starkey, J. L. Hassell, C. M. Warren, V. C. Fleming, W. J. Hardy, K. W. Cobb, E. B. Thomas, L. W. Tucker, P. T. Anthony, W. H. Smith, L. A. Randolph, O. W. Harrington, Jimmie Burton, Luther Savage, Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, Mack Hearne, James Andrews, J. E. Burrell, F. M. Wooten, Albion Dunn, T. T. Hollingsworth, Berry Rostic, George Woodward, R. C. Flanagan, Deener and G. E. Harris.

Aside from his wife and one child Mr. Teel is survived by a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Teel, of near Greenville.

The deceased was born about four miles from Greenville September 15, 1866. When a young man he entered the business field here, being for a long time associated with the late T. M. Hooker in the Pepsi-Cola bottling works, of which he assumed active management and ownership following Mr. Hooker's death. He was married to Miss Mary A. Beddard, August 25, 1914, and since that time has been permanently located in Greenville.

He was taken sick last Thursday night, and while he was not thought to be in a serious condition, pneumonia developed so rapidly that chances for recovery were considered slight. His death comes as a shock to a wide circle of friends with which he was a general favorite.

BRITISH EXPLORER TO ATTEMPT CLIMB OF MOUNT EVEREST

Sir Francis Younghusband Plans To Climb Himalayan Peak, Called Roof of the World.

ALL EFFORTS SO FAR TO CLIMB MOUNTAIN HAVE PROVED UNSUCCESSFUL

Tibet Government Grants Permission For Ascent By the Tibetan Route Only.

New York, Jan. 25.—Mt. Everest, the Himalayan peak called "the roof of the world" which Sir Francis Younghusband, the British soldier-explorer, will attempt to climb next summer, has never yet been scaled by man.

Towering above the frontiers of the hither to forbidden land of Tibet and the remote province of Nepal, India, another land of mystery, the difficulties is even approaching Mr. Everest have been sufficient to baffle explorers.

The world's highest peak lies in Tibet north of the British Indian border, yet, so far as known, no European has ever approached nearer than 90 miles from its base and few travelers have ever seen its upper slopes.

The attempts which have been made to ascend some of Mt. Everest's sister peaks of the Himalayas have usually been made through Nepal because access to them through Tibet was not open. The approach to Mt. Everest through Tibet is said to be more accessible and presents greater prospects of success than from the Nepal side.

Tobacco Growers To Sign Pledges To Reduce Crops

Intensive Drive to Begin Thursday to Get Farmers Interested in Proposed Reductions.

Efforts to complete organization work for reduction of tobacco acreage in this section of the State will begin in earnest Thursday of this week and continues through Saturday. Farmers in every township are being urged to gather at usual meeting places Thursday and get everything in readiness for an intensive drive for reduction pledges, and it is expected great activity will be in evidence.

It has been requested by organization directors that all warehouses close during the drive, but so far tobaccoists have not expressed themselves either way in the matter, with the exception of Farmville, which will close its warehouses Thursday and remain closed until Monday.

It is imperative that the campaign be conducted in an earnest way, for it will be the last before organization takes place. It is the purpose of the leaders to get the name of every planter possible, particularly those willing to sign the pledges for reduction of crops during the approaching season.

Farmers in Pitt county will meet at the following places Thursday at 2 p. m. to perfect plans for the remainder of the week: Greenville, Bethel, Pacolet, Stokes, Bell's Cross Roads, Winterville, Ayden, Gardner's Cross Roads, Black Jack, Farmville, Falkland, Fountain and Arthur.

Mr. W. B. Pace, secretary of the county branch of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers' association state this morning that it is imperative every planter do his part in making the campaign one of the most successful of any other county in the State. He declared reduced acreage is the only way the present deplorable situation may be relieved and that the personal effort of every man will be necessary in bringing it about. It is proposed that acreage be cut at least one-half, and if every man pledges this the future will be considerably brighter and with greater prospects for improvement in prices.

LUMBER INTEREST TO BE DISCUSSED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Conservation of Forests of United States To Be Taken Up At National Convention.

RAILROAD INTERESTS AND FORESTERS WILL TAKE PART IN ISSUES

Lumber Resources of the West Will Be Among Particular Matters to be Discussed.

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—Conservation of lumber in the United States will be discussed here this month at two national conventions, one of the National Association of Railroad Tie Producers and the other of the American Wood Preservers' Association. The preservers' association meets tomorrow, January 25, and January 26 and 27 and the tie producers January 27 and 28. Most of the delegates will attend both meetings.

Lumber men, railroad engineers, foresters, wood preservers and others from many parts of the United States are expected to attend. A. R. Joyce, of Chicago, is president of the wood preservers' association, and R. E. Lee, of Springfield, Mo., vice-president of the tie association, will preside in place of the late E. M. Blake, San Francisco, who at the time of his death several weeks ago, was president of the body.

Lumber resources of the west will be described by speakers. Officials of the two organizations say that the tie supplies of the east and south are being exhausted and the railroads of the nation must look to the west for their wood. Standardization of the specifications for all woods will also be considered.

Washington, D. C., it has been said, will seek the 1922 conventions of the two organizations. About 250 delegates are expected to attend the meetings.

Describes Vienna As Panarama of Greatest Misery

American Business Man Surprised at Changes Which Have Taken Place in Austrian Capital

Vienna, Jan. 25.—One American business man who has just revisited this city was so surprised at the changes that had taken place in the once gay Austrian capital that he declared that "the panorama of misery" he witnessed here was the greatest shock of his life.

Henry Barna, of St. Paul, Minn., last visited Vienna ten years ago when, as he said there was "great fun" here. Now he has returned and spent about two weeks, long enough, he says, to know what he is talking about.

"I never dreamed," said Mr. Barna to an American Red Cross representative here, "that Vienna would show such tragic effects of the war. I have been in nearly every capital of Europe since the armistice, but nowhere have I seen such wholesale misery. Everything is out of joint. Everything is uncertain. Food is scarce, and fuel still more difficult to obtain. I don't suppose anyone can be happy in a sea of misery like this."

"Why," he went on, "there isn't a smile, much less a laugh, in all that crowd," referring to the people passing the hotel in the Ringstrasse. "They seem so sad and dull-eyed, these Viennese, who were so gay when I was here before."

"Everybody seems to be carrying something. Those little bundles are scraps of food which they have been given by some more fortunate neighbor or relief agencies. There's a man in a fur coat carrying a handkerchief full of food. He wouldn't be seen doing that when I was here last. He would be too proud."

FRÉDERICK N. ZIHLMAN

Representative Frederick N. Zihlman of Maryland is recognized as one of labor's friends in the house. He began his career in a Cumberland glass factory and has held many offices in labor councils, culminating in the presidency of the Maryland State Federation of Labor.

First Service of Church Institute Largely Attended

Sunday School Institute Opens At St. Paul's Episcopal Church Under Favorable Circumstances.

A Sunday School Institute for the training of teachers and the arousing of interest in the Sunday schools of the Episcopal church in the Edenton Convocation of the Diocese of East Carolina is now being held in St. Paul's Episcopal church here. The first service was held this morning at 7:30, a celebration of the Holy Communion. The institute will last four days, and it is expected that a large number of delegates will be present throughout the session. The rector of this church, the Rev. C. H. Bascom, assisted by the ladies of his church, is doing everything possible for the comfort and convenience of the visiting delegates.

A very interesting program has been arranged by the Rev. George W. Lay, chairman of the Department of Religious Education in the Diocese of East Carolina. Dr. Lay is now rector of St. Paul's, Beaufort, but for many years was the rector of St. Mary's school, Raleigh. Miss Mabel Lee Cooper, who has the chair of education in the Western Tennessee Normal, and is also director of religious education in the Episcopal Province of Sewanee, will give daily lectures on the nature of the pupil, the preparation of the teacher, and text books for the church schools. Miss Cooper is a specialist in education, and her lectures are both interesting and helpful.

The schedule of services is as follows: Each morning at 7:30 there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion. From 9:45 until 1 p. m. there will be lectures; from 3 to 4:30 p. m., conferences. At 7:30 each night there will be a service, at which Miss Cooper will lecture. All of the church people of Greenville are cordially invited to attend these night services. While all of the sessions are open to the public, it is specially urged that there be a good attendance on the night services.

St. Paul's church, under the able rectorship of Mr. Bascom, has forged to the front as one of the leading parishes of the Diocese. While this institute is being entertained on short notice, nothing is being left undone for the comfort of the delegates. There are delegates present from Elizabeth City, Edenton, Washington, Windsor, Plymouth, Hertford, Aurora and other nearby cities and towns.

CRIMINAL SESSION OF SUPERIOR COURT OPENED YESTERDAY

Grand Jury Returns True Bill in A Number of Cases During Day's Deliberations.

TRUE BILL OF MURDER IS RETURNED AGAINST HENRY SMITH, COLORED

Several Minor Matters Finally Disposed of During the Afternoon Session.

The regular January term of Pitt county Superior Court, for the trial of criminal cases, convened in this city yesterday morning with Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, presiding. The opening session was probably one of the most interesting in several months and resulted in the disposition and continuation of a number of cases until the next term. The docket is probably the most congested in some time, but it is expected a majority of proceedings will be finally settled before the term is completed.

The grand jury's deliberations resulted in the return of a number of true bills before noon adjournment. These cases, it is expected, will occupy attention of the court's greater part of the week, although there are quite a number of minor actions which in all probability will be reached before adjournment. There are several murder charges on the docket, and these it is certain will be long drawn out and hotly contested before sentences are finally passed. The grand jury is composed of an unusually intelligent class of representative citizens of various parts of the county and this fact will no doubt have much to do with time consumed by each case.

The grand jury is composed of Messrs. J. McDixon, foreman; G. H. Harris, O. W. House, Herbert Mozingo, G. A. Moore, R. Mobley, A. M. Wooten, W. B. Vandford, J. T. Braxton, G. F. Manning, R. E. Willoughby, C. L. Tyson, J. B. Congleton, L. H. Griffin, J. L. Diddy, C. H. Langston, R. L. Johnson, W. Leslie Smith.

A true bill of murder was returned against Hury Smith, charged with killing Clifton Gardner December 18th. The bill of indictment charged the defendant with secret assault and assault with intent to kill.

A true bill of secret assault was returned against Brutus Lagley. Not a true bill was returned in the case against Julius Hines, charged with murder. Will Clinton, waived examination and pled guilty of assault with deadly weapon. He was fined $25, and costs with the understanding that he shall appear before the court every term and answer for good behavior. A true bill was returned against Beber Sumrell, recently indicted for forcible trespass.

Nick Salceby, who appeared before the court and pleaded not guilty to a charge of speeding, was found guilty, judgment being reserved. The case was appealed from Mayor's court. Washington Edwards was found not guilty of secret assault. No proceedings were taken in the case of G. H. Hardee, charged with reckless driving. The same action was also taken in the larceny case against Pat Vines. Noah Williams was found not guilty of speeding. Brownie Gray, indicted for reckless driving, was adjudged not guilty. No proceedings were taken in the case against Elizabeth Bursette, recently indicted for disorderly conduct. The case against Minnie Darden and Ada Coward, charged with larceny, was continued on account of absence of counsel.

3 The service is poorer—many hotels having no porter, man yof them without any heat in the bedrooms, dirty table linen, paper napkins.

4 They are lacking in courtesy, acting as if they actually confer a favor permitting you to stay at all, this is true of many.

5 In most cases the rooms are unsanitary—the beds dirty, and the linen old and ragged.

6 The quality of the food is the poorest in many instances, the cooking the worst, the variety the smallest.

It is right to look after the other institution of the State and to see that our youth are educated, have playgrounds, etc., with suitable teachers provided for them and that sanitary conditions are looked after but in the name of common sense and decency name of common honesty, decency and mercy, do something for the poor travelling man. Others are reducing prices. Why not hotels and cafes. Travelling men are usually the best informed with regard to public conditions and are therefore as a rule most conservative and do not ask for unreasonable things. Because they are better prepared to speak on conditions the should be heard when they do speak. "Hear us for our cause and be silent that ye may hear."

The governor of the Federal Reserve Board is looking forward to a revival trade in the spring. We hope he will get exactly what he anticipates.

The Ford Motor corporation is negotiating for a loan of fifty or seventy-five million dollars. That may be a sign of easy money, but the little Ford will never acknowledge it.

Anyhow, after his experience in America, it looks like the Mayor of Cork might go back home and live the rest of his life in peace. He might meet with greater attention, at least.

Picking a cabinet to meet general favor to all members of the Republican party seems to be a bigger job than Mr. Harding anticipated. The problem will become more complex after the picking's over.

Provisions of the Calder bill regulating the coal industry may not appeal to the profiteer, but it certainly looks good to the man that has borne the load so long. In fact, the legislation should bring about a great change for the better, and help considerably in establishing better conditions.

Now that war has been declared on exorbitant prices charged by cafe and hotel proprietors in many cities of the State it is natural to expect to see prices take a comforting tumble in the next several days. The public has been discriminated against too long to endure it longer, and it is hoped city officials may get down behind the matter and improve conditions.

The new premier of France has taken hold of affairs in a determined way, and indications point to a successful administration. Briand has been premier twice before, but it seems generally believed that his term of office this time will be longer and filled with greater results in interest of his country. France is an enterprising and industrious country, and with a thrifty cool-headed man at its head the future seems to be more promising than in many years.

Representative Doughton, of Virginia, thinks President Wilson has been vilified by Republican members of the senate. That's about right, too, for if the public sees things aright the President has been handicapped and underestimated ever since the war started. They charge him with being instrumental in entering the war, when as a fact they would have found great room for censure if he had not. So what's the difference, so long as they talk.

The farmer that cuts down his tobacco acreage this year and begins to raise cattle and food crops will find himself in better shape next year than at the present. Reduction may not be quite so appealing, but after the first trial everyone will be convinced of the advisability of such. The situation at this particular time may not be so bright, and farmers may not see where the money lost on past crops is coming from, but before the year is over things will not be quite so gloomy. Better times are ahead, and no one realizes it more than the man who learned thru one year's hard luck what he failed to learn during a period of prosperity.

HIGH PRICES MUST GO

Traveling men throughout many sections of the country are beginning to wage a veritable war on hotel and cafe owners with a view to bringing about a reduction in exorbitant prices. The situation really has become accentuated in many communities where proprietors appear to think they may continue charging high prices the rest of their lives, and it is quite probable city authorities in many instances will be forced to take charge of the situation and bring about an improvement. Almost daily some article appears in State papers deploring the situation, but they have been without results so far and cafe and hotel owners if anything have become more independent and arrogant when the subject is mentioned to them.

Everyone realizes the time has come for a change, and that the longer the public continues to put up with such prices the longer the profiteer will demand them. There has been a noticeable improvement in practically every commodity within the past several months. Many things have declined as much as fifty per cent., and considering the proportionate decline in other lines, it is plain that a cut in the cost of eating might become evident without anyone suffering. Some cafes and hotels recently announced reductions. But how many people have been able to discover what was reduced. Very few, of course, for the announcement was merely presented to relieve the burden of prices long enough until a greater harvest could be reaped.

The time has come when the formerly tolerant traveling patron of the hotel and cafe means business, and the sooner this fact is considered seriously, the better off the entire country will be. People may tolerate inflation for a certain length of time when they realize it is proportioned, but when the cost of living declines in one way it is expected to become general. Persons who continue to reap illegitimate profits under such conditions are nothing more than profiteers. The term is mighty mild, especially in a case like this confronting the patrons of hotel and cafe, but if it were in other cases it would be a plain case of robbery, and highway robbery at that. No one can appreciate conditions more than those forced to put up with them, and if there should be no response to the demand soon, it is certain city governments will be forced to take a hand to preserve the respect of their communities.

Greenville is by no means different from other towns of the State. Cafes are more of a monopoly here probably than any other city of the size in the country. They are conducted exclusively by Greeks, who understand themselves as no American understands them, and are going to hold prices to the highest notch as long as possible, regardless of market conditions. There is no reason for such a state of affairs existing in any town with an appreciative government realizing what it means to the town's future, and if the cafes and hotels cannot be convinced that it is time to make a change of price, it is time for legal action to be instituted until they are. Mr. Kittrell has an article covering the situation in today's paper, which is comprehensive in every sense of the word and shows to what extent a casual observer may be impressed by an occasional visit to such places.

Something must be done. The monopolies exist in hotel and cafe circles must be broken or the city might as well close its gates to incoming visitors who have to patronize such places because they have no where else to go. The public has carried its burden of high prices long enough, and demands adjustment of prices. If this is not met within the next several days the recent consumers' strike will be nothing in comparison to the eaters' strike. The situation has become intolerable, and prices must be lowered before anything like normal conditions will be restored.

A LOGICAL PROPOSITION

It is pleasing to note that a co-operative working plan for planting of this year's tobacco crop is rapidly taking form and that it will be placed before the public in the next several days. This plan should carry more than ordinary weight because the farmer has suffered from low prices owing to lack of organization and over-planting, and should be ready to do his part in restoring industry to normal.

The plan as suggested so far demands at least one-half reduction in acreage, which will give the farmer a surplus acreage for the planting of food crops such as demanded in hundreds of cities and towns throughout the country. For the past several years he has been depending upon other sections to supply his wants in this direction, but now that necessity demands that they be raised on home soil, there is little reason to doubt that the change will be other than anticipated. This has been what the nation has needed for years, for soils will be producing an absolute necessity instead of a luxury.

Reduced acreage also will give the planter more time in producing the grade of tobacco demanded more generally by the world market. Heretofore common qualities have been produced in abundance, but now that it has been seen the market is exact in demand, quality in the future will have to become better, and in return, prices will return to normal as perfection is reached. There is no doubt but what curtailed acreage is going to be everything which pioneers in the industry anticipate in outlining plans for the future. It is strengthened considerably by market conditions, and public demand, so it is perfectly natural to expect brighter times if the farmer buckles down to the job and follows the pathway blazed by those acquainted with world conditions.

Congress plans a week of activity. That's curious. Wonder where the boys got so much energy.

The report of the State Board of Public Welfare shows that the institution has gotten results in practically every locality where people were interested and showed appreciation by helping whenever possible. It is shown that probation officers did their work in a commendable way, leaving nothing undone in caring for delinquent children and those subject to charity. The bill before the legislature for abolishing the board has been given one of the most decisive blows since the measure came up for consideration, and should the solons consider the work from every point of view it is believable the proposal for repealing the law will receive the cold shoulder. The Pitt county institution has functioned in an appreciable way for several months, and children have been cared for who otherwise no doubt would become criminals. It is either retain public welfare officers or build larger penitentiaries and prisons. The matter is before the legislature for final disposition, and the future of the State rests entirely upon its decision.
