Negro Man Found Guilty Of Murder In Superior Court

Jury Finds Moses Dew Guilty of Second Degree Murder in Connection With Killing Father.

GRAND JURY RETURNED TRUE BILL IN HEARING DURING AUGUST, 1919

Great Mass of Circumstantial Evidence Produced in Defense in Hearing Yesterday.

Moses Dew, young colored man of Ayden township, was convicted of second degree murder in yesterday's session of the criminal term of Pitt county superior court after practically the entire day had been consumed in hearing evidence connected with the killing of his father at a tobacco barn in Ayden township several months ago. The jury remained out only a short time after argument had been completed, returning a verdict sustaining the charge presented by the prosecuting attorney at the outset. Sentence was reserved until a later date.

When Dew entered the court room yesterday morning a charge of first degree murder hung over his head. A true bill was returned against him when the case was first taken up by the grand jury in the August term of Superior court in 1919, but at the outset of the hearing yesterday morning the State announced that it would ask for a verdict of second degree murder as evidence was insufficient to justify first degree action. Only circumstantial evidence featured the hearing from the beginning to finish, as there were no eye witnesses to the killing, and no direct facts were obtainable.

There were a number of other cases brought under consideration during the day's hearing but by consent of counsel a number were continued. A true bill was returned against Matt Edwards and John Burney, recently indicted for entering a house and safe breaking. The bill of indictment charged the two men with entering the home of E. W. Skinner, in Swift Creek township and stealing a large amount of silverware which they put to their own use prior to apprehension.

Out of the great mass of circumstantial evidence produced in the hearing against Moses Dew, it seems that his father came to his death while curing tobacco at a barn a few miles from Ayden. The young fellow, together with another, was at the barn a short while prior to the killing. A shotgun which was alleged to have been at the barn was found in his possession the next day during an investigation. The gun had been fired one time, and according to investigators, the shell corresponded to the load which had entered the body of the dead man. Several other facts strengthening this point implicated the young fellow to such an extent that he was placed under arrest and held for trial.

Practically the same evidence was aired before the grand jury when the case was first taken up for consideration in 1919, and after due consideration a true bill was returned. The facts as viewed by the solicitor at the beginning of the case yesterday morning were not sufficiently convincing to justify first degree action, and accordingly he asked for a second degree verdict. Dew pleaded not guilty to both the first and last charge, but circumstances surrounding the shooting implicated him insufficiently to justify a second degree penalty.

GEORGE W. SMITH

George W. Smith, publisher of the Liberal, is shown in a recent photograph. He is a native of Louisville, Ky., and is considered one of the leading publishers of the South.

Smallest Paper in World Printed At Liberal, Kan.

Alice Nichols, Age 15, Is Editor, Business Manager and Everything On Sheet.

Liberal, Kan., Jan. 26.—Liberal claims the smallest newspaper and the youngest publisher in the United States. Alice C. Nichols, now 15 years old, is owner, editor, business manager, typesetter and pressman of the Nichols Journal. It is a weekly paper of from four to eight pages with two columns six inches in length.

Miss Alice first became an editor six years ago. While her father, Dr. Roscoe Nichols, was college surgeon at the Kansas State Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kan., Alice, her brother, "Billy" and other young folks built a play town which they called Tiny Town. A newspaper was desired; so Alice was designated to handle this phase of the play town's activities. Under her charge a paper called the "Tiny Town News" appeared. It related the doings of Tiny Town citizens. Alice, who was 9 years old at that time, printed the paper with a lead pencil.

Alice's father enlisted in the medical branch of the army at the outbreak of the war. When he went to camp the first issue of the Nichols Journal appeared to keep him informed as to family news. This was in August, 1917.

The paper was originally printed on a typewriter and the first edition consisted of three copies. When the paper became known, subscribers came fast. It soon became too great a task to get out the paper by the typewriter, even with carbon paper. A mimeograph was installed in the editorial sanctum. This equipment also soon became inadequate and Alice purchased two cases of type. She soon became adept at type composition. When the forms are set the papers are printed on a job press in the office of the Liberal Democrat, which has given the young journalist full range in the shop. She does her own presswork.

The circulation of the Nichols Journal now exceeds 125 and is growing rapidly. It is published as an "independent newspaper." The paper has considerable advertising from local merchants. The display advertising rate is ten cents an inch. Miss Nichols declares advertising in her paper gets results.

Each issue of her paper contains an editorial which she thinks out on her way to and from school. As an example of the serious effort which she puts into her work, is the following editorial urging generosity in relief work from a recent issue:

"With America's prosperity it seems inconceivable that there are people not far away from enlightened happiness who are in the dark abyss of ignorance. Ignorance is the base of constant war, starvation and homelessness. Ignorance throws Christian and happy people into darkness of horrible death. It is up to happy American citizens to do away with these conditions. The very lives of many human beings hang on the thread of our country's generosity. Our own happiness should make us want to do our part. Share your joys!"

Hundreds Of Huns Anxious To Leave For United States

Emigrants from Hamburg and Bremen Cause Tragic Scenes When Refused Passage at Bremen.

NUMBERS REJECTED BECAUSE OF DISEASE AND DISABILITIES

Physicians Having Hard Time Coping With Conditions In Many of the Seaport Towns.

Bremen, Germany, Jan. 27.—Hundreds of emigrants who came from Bremen, Hamburg, and Danzig to seek new homes in America are rejected before they can embark for what to them is the land of plenty and promise. Tragic scenes are numerous when the ships' physicians announce the list of those barred because of signs of disease or disability which would prevent their admission to the United States. One hundred home-seekers were rejected out of 600 who attempted to leave Bremen on steamer recently. All these unfortunate were not defective but the rejection of one member of a family in many cases prevented the entire group from sailing to America.

The most pitiful of the tragedies occur in the breaking up of family groups when some children old enough to travel alone are allowed to proceed to America, while others are detained. Weeping mothers among the hundred rejected the other day tried to kiss the hands of the physicians in an effort to get them to alter their diagnosis while scared groups of bundle-laden emigrants stood by in terror lest some technicality might also keep them off the steamer for Bremen.

One Polish woman, the widow of an army surgeon and her 16-year old son, had been rejected at Danzig when the steamer had touched there because the boy had conjunctivitis. The woman came with her son by train to Bremen and pleaded for another examination here, but the physicians adhered to (Continued on Page Four)

Honor Roll Still Climbing Daily At City High School

Report of Principal Sachse Shows Splendid Increase Since Report Of Last Week.

Just look at the honor roll for the fourth month. It is climbing right along as the following shows: First month, 8 were on; Second month, 19 were on; Third month, 29 were on; and Fourth month, 40 were on. Now parents, boys and girls, let's strive for 100 per cent. for the fifth month.

We can do it by everyone doing his or her bit. Each boy and girl see that your name will be among the others next month, by so doing you will feel good, your parents and the faculty will also feel proud of you.

Elizabeth Gaskins and Ruth McGowan deserve special mention by being on each month.

Fourth month honor roll as follows: Elizabeth Best, Jane Hadley, Inez Van Dyke, Claude Gaskin, Herman Hardee, Mildred Baker, Dorothy Currier, Clifton Duke, Lila Mae Forbes, Maud Fulford, Marie Hardee, Mildred Mattocks, Emily Mason, Ramona Ray, Julia Satterthwaite, Mary Moye Carper, Mary Forbes, Marvin Sugg, Martha Cherry, Mattie Evans, Ella Fleming, Ruth McGowan, Daisy Newton, Mavis Lee Oakley, William Perkins, Theo. Says Protective Tariff Necessary To Meet Demands

Calvin Coolidge Tells Southern Tariff Conference At Atlanta That Survey Is Necessary.

SOLE OBJECT TO BE SOUGHT IS GENERAL WELFARE OF PUBLIC

Declares Steady Progress Is Being Made Towards Industrial Revival In This Country.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 27.—Calvin Coolidge, vice-president-elect, addressing the Southern Tariff Conference tonight, said that in a determination of the economic policy of the country "the sole object to be sought is the public welfare. He defended the protective tariff but said there would need to be a careful re-survey of the field in order to determine what application of former policy can be made to existing conditions in order to best provide for the public welfare.

Geographical divisions and sectional lines have been swept away, said Mr. Coolidge. The just pride of the North and the South, the East and the West, is everywhere submerged in the overmastering sentiment of a yet greater pride that we are all Americans. The outstanding result of the recent national election was more than partisan, it was the unalterable determination of our country to be and remain in all things thoroughly American.

We have not been given a mandate of omnipotence. We have not been entrusted with world responsibility. But we have an inheritance of obligation, of responsibility, or duty to the United States. This conception of our paramount responsibility is in no sense a denial of international relationships, for international relationship implies primarily a recognition of national entity and national duty. We subscribe to the creed of brotherhood, but we recognize that we can serve the world best by serving America first.

Steady progress is being made toward industrial revival and soon the old struggle of international competition (Continued on page 4)

Spanish Society Trying To Change Present Styles

Valiant Effort Made To Have Social Hour End At Midnight Instead At Dawn.

Madrid, Jan. 27.—Some leaders of Spanish society are making a valiant effort to introduce a social day which ends at midnight instead of at dawn of the following day. At present the tendency in Madrid is to drive today into tomorrow and functions are gradually becoming later and later.

Nothing begins before 6 o'clock in the evening, at which hour afternoon tea commences and lasts till 8 o'clock. Theater matinees start at 6:30 or 7 and continue till 9:30 or 10. Dinner is taken anywhere between 10 and 11:30.

Meanwhile the main performances at the theaters and operas have opened, but the smart set never think of entering their stalls or boxes until the second act is well under way, as one of their purposes in going is to be seen. When the performance is over at 1 or 1:30 a supper-dance follows, ending at dawn.

The acknowledged pinnacle of aristocracy, the Duke de Alba, has set his face against this topsy-turvydom and decreed that his palace which is a central point for gatherings of diplomats, scientists, artists and politicians, shall never remain open after midnight. He is supported by Premier Dato, who also favors earlier hours and the Marquis de Uguijo, the billionaire banker, who finds later nocturnal hours interfere with his gigantic financial labors.

Listen Lester Is Received Well In Virginia Capitol

Times-Dispatch Comments Favorably On Excellent Features of Attraction.

The Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch has the following to say about Listen Lester, which will appear at Whites theater in this city Tuesday night, February 1st:

Listen Lester is lodged at the Strand for the first half of the week and, on being viewed last night, proved to be a very amusing offering. It is a show which is full of nonsense, though there is a ghost of a plot, but from start to finish it chock-full of fun.

This fun is derived from many and sundry causes—from songs, from the idiotic lines of the piece, from situations, but mostly from just nonsense, and that means Gus Shy. He is a clever young fellow who apparently is a combination Douglas Fairbanks, Mordkin, and boneless wonder, for he pulls one stunt after the other which makes one laugh and gasp at the same time. His talents seem to go all the way from singing and dancing to chief comedian's part, which keeps him upon the stage a greater part of the time and which he is well able to keep moving right along. Gus Shy is a great addition to a show, for things hum all the while—he is always landing in some remarkable fall or dancing as if he had wings on his feet and could leap into the air any height he wished to reach.

And, speaking of dancing, the show is full of it. Usually, if there is a principal who is adept in this line, there are no others to compete; but in this show there are two other male leads who are extra good at shaking a foot, and two charming girls, both of whom are unusually graceful and who do difficult stunts, too. Virginia Watson was most attractive in the part of Mary Dodge, her winsome personality and pretty face establishing her as a favorite on her first appearance. And Lulu Swan, who was seen as Abutius Quality, a Live One, looked and acted the part to perfection. Miss Swan was another pretty girl who put a lot of comedy in her role, but occasionally dropped it for a graceful waltz or lively jazz steps.

Makes Several Recommendations To Commissioners for Change in the County Offices.

ASKS FOR READJUSTMENT IN PRESENT SALARY PAID TO SHERIFF E. K. DUDLEY

Investigation Shows the Expenses of Office Run Over Amount Allowed Sheriff.

The grand jury of the criminal term of Pitt county Superior court this morning made the following recommendations in a report to Judge Devins presiding.

To the Honorable W. A. Devins, Judge: We, the grand jury for this term of court, respectfully submit the following as our report:

We have visited the county home and inspected the conditions existing and feel that it is well kept and the inmates well provided for. We take the privilege of making the following suggestion for the consideration of our commissioners:

That a separate book in the form of a ledger be kept to show all expenses made for the upkeep of the home and likewise all credits arising from the farm. We feel that such a book will present to the count more accurate information of the upkeep of the institution.

We have visited the county jail and found it in good condition, well kept.

We visited the respective county offices and found them all properly conducted and the records correctly kept, so far as we could ascertain, and feel that each officer is performing his duties splendidly.

Again we take the privilege of recommending to the commissioners of the county the following:

In respect to the Register of Deeds' office; that the business of the county has given rise to the use of a map book in which maps or plats of the farms and other property are pasted; that the book is very large in size, about three feet wide and its weight about one hundred and fifty pounds, that it is entirely too heavy to be conveniently handled; that the maps filed therein are being torn and coming loose from the leaves and the information recorded being lost. We feel that this is a matter of grave concern to a great number of landowners in the county; that when the information to which the landowner may go to get the boundaries and location of his land. We therefore urge that a standard size record book, such as is used to record deeds and mortgages, be used in recording maps or plats; that it is the best interest of the county and that each map be accurately pasted in such book and that the same scale of measurements be used in the making of all maps so as to make the map uniform size, or such plan adopted as will accurately and safely preserve these important records.

And we further recommend and urge, after a detailed investigation, that the following be called to the attention of our commissioners:

We find that the law now provides that the tax books be prepared by the Register of Deeds. This office is doing more than four times the amount of business which it did ten years ago and that the force is the same. The making of the tax books has increased the amount of work in its preparation equally as much; that is, we find that tracts of land have been subdivided making many farms and landowners where formerly there were few. We find that a considerable quantity of property, through some oversight which we did not undertake to trace, is not listed on the tax books; that numbers of persons who make the tax lists for the different townships are unable to find the property as it should be found. We feel that the responsibility of the taxing system of the county, or the tax books of the count, should be placed on one man; that is, centralized so that the county government may know to a certainty to whom to look for errors. The income tax in a nutshell is a mighty big problem to the wage earner just the same.

The Lord Mayor of Cork has appealed for aid for his countrymen. He waited a mighty long time to do so.

Gasoline has dropped two cents on the gallon in Indiana. It's to be hoped it'll keep on dropping until North Carolina is affected likewise.

Harding is getting off a pretty good distance from home, according to press reports. But he's not near so far as he'll be when he gets in the White House.

A proposal for raising pay of congressmen is said to be going its rounds in Washington city again. But after the past gloomy period of grafting and profiteering the suggestion may fall short of its mark.

The tick bill seems to have produced the tiniest bit of inertia in the senate chamber. It is said the boys got so tangled up some of them didn't know which way they were voting. It is ticklish business after all.

Senator Long, of Alamance county, proposes that other State offices be affected by an increase in salary. The senator evidently didn't come from a part of the State hit by hard times. He might come down to Pitt and hear the boys talk about how much they lost in tobacco crops. He would certainly think the country had gone dead broke.

The way the senate voted on the bill regulating packers shows conclusively that the boys don't get exactly what they want. The bill was originally introduced by a Republican member, who managed to secure the support of party members. The Democrats put the rollers under the movement and big business can blame them alone.

It is interesting to note that Allied premiers are giving serious thought to conditions prevailing in Austria and China, for any action they take should bring about an early improvement. Combined action on the part of world powers ought to relieve the terrible state of famine existing in both countries, as resources thus thrown together in one cause would be great indeed compared to individual aid. The situation is serious enough to receive attention, and it is to be hoped the premiers will work hurriedly.

The government plan of seizing the farms on which liquor stills are found as recently introduced by a western State, ought to have a decidedly alarming effect in suppressing moonshining. In fact, if the same measure was adopted in every State the illicit whiskey traffic would be greatly reduced and society saved from many embarrassing situations. If every farm owner knew that his property would be seized by government officials if convicted of blockading there wouldn't be near so much contraband liquor available, and the entire country would not be in need of so many prohibitions of liquor. It's a situation that time will be able to settle to the satisfaction of the temperate, and when the time comes it will be found that American business will be conducted upon a higher plane and with greater efficiency.

WISE SPENDING NECESSARY

Dr. E. Branson, of the State university, in an address delivered before social service workers of the State declared North Carolina may be poverty stricken in spirit but not in purse. To strengthen his argument he brought out clear-cut facts showing that people who spend fifty millions a year for manufactured tobacco, twelve millions on motor cars, six millions on churches, thirty-five millions on wearing apparel, seven millions to State enterprises, twenty-five millions on confections and two and a half millions on colleges, are governed by spirit in pleading hard times instead of material resources.

If this much can be spent for things that are absolutely necessary it is plain the shameful amount yearly turned over to our colleges ought to be increased until the total grows to be the pride of the State. No section can reach the highest plane of civilization if education is not permitted to play the vital part which it should, and if people are willing to continue spending money foolishly as they have in the past, it is hardly probable the future will be as bright as we would have it. Time and again leading educators have attempted to impress this fact upon the mind of the public, and while they succeeded to some extent, the main object of their ambition has not been accomplished, and today the schools are facing conditions anything but favorable.

The time has come though for an awakening. Individual extravagance must be succeeded by a desire to see our schools and colleges of first consideration. This can be done only as we appreciate the advantages derived from practical education such as the business world is clamoring for, which is essential to the welfare of every home. The day of illiteracy has passed. North Carolina people are facing a period of revival in which the unlimited resources are either to be instrumental in producing a more intelligent class of people or continue to be applied in reckless spending such as featured the past.

The pleading of men well acquainted with conditions must be heard, for they are looking to a constructive future in the common welfare of every man and woman. No selfish motive is involved, but the manner by which the destiny of our young men and women is to be molded. Is this worthy of consideration? Is it worth the price of human liberty and freedom from wave of crime and vice such as pervaded the world following the war? It is, and it is incumbent upon every man and woman that his or her influence be directed in making the next several years the greatest period for education in the annals of the State. It's a mission worthy of the greatest, and those who fail to take part will not be worthy of the final success to be in evidence when folks have been awakened to the crying needs of the present era, and hard times are preached no longer.

STATE TO GET SLICE

North Carolina will receive approximately $2,500,000 in Federal aid for road building if a bill reported favorably by the House public roads committee receives proper kind of consideration. This news will be received with pleasure in every part of the State, for if there is anything needed, it's more roads and better roads.

Pitt county will come in for its slice of the Federal aid, and it is probable the next year or so will see a continuance of good roads work going on in other sections of the county other than Greenville and Farmville. Quite a number of main roads are in deplorable condition, and cannot possibly be improved satisfactorily until they are constructed after hard surface plan proposed at the beginning of the campaign. Good roads are essential to every prosperous and thriving community, and if congress knows what it's about the appropriations will be increased instead of curtailed.

North Carolina is rapidly going forward with good roads work, and Pitt county as one of the most thriving counties, is due to share in both State and Federal appropriations. The situation will be greatly improved when the hard-surfaced road to Farmville is completed, but people will not be contented until every important town is linked together in such a way that traffic may be conducted without certain inconveniences and discomforts of the present road system. Federal appropriations mean continued improvements, and news that $100,000 is available will be received with interest in every part of the nation affected.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS
THE PINKETTES
Laxative
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS

A nation-wide survey by the department of labor shows that there are three and a half million less workers in the United States this year than last. The fact may appear startling in the extreme, but when considering the number of large industries closed up North it is not surprising that so many should be unemployed. The facts may be an incentive to the employed man to become more efficient for when there's competition in the field conditions improve and production is considerably greater. America eventually will recover from the orgy of overestimated independence of the laboring class, and when that occurs the country will be in much better condition. However, so many people out of employment is not pleasing. This may be remedied to a great extent when workers realize that reduced wages are a part of readjustment and accept work at nominal fees.

Charles M. Schwab burst into tears while being examined before the congressional committee investigating the charge that he misappropriated funds while director of the Emergency Fleet corporation. He may be a steel magnate but evidently hasn't a steel heart. The charges were sufficiently humiliating to hurt the pride of any honorable person and the case should be a lesson to the investigating committee. Such probes do the country no good, particularly when fostered by ill will of certain factions, and the government ought to be mighty slow in accepting statements without due authentication.

Attorney General Palmer says Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney, is serving his old German clients in criticisms directed toward recent action against alien property owners in this country. Mr. Palmer has a direct way of talking that generally takes the hide off his object, and it is probable the attorney may feel like hunting his hole after such directness. The fact is, Mr. Palmer is too intimately acquainted with conditions in America to make any kind of an assertion without knowing what he's talking about, and it might be to Mr. Untermyer's benefit to lay off.

MISS JANIE BRYAN AND MRS. HOWARD HODGES ENTERTAIN

On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 Miss Janie Bryan charmingly entertained the ladies of the Round Table at the home of Mrs. Howard L. Hodges on Evans street. The chill of the outside air was at once forgotten on entering the cheery hall, where Mrs. Hodges and Miss Bryan met the guests. The hall was lovely, carrying out the club colors of white and gold, with white narcissi with yellow centres and large ferns as a background.

On arrival, the ladies were invited into the dining room, made beautiful with teneriffe lace and cut flowers. Here Mrs. Louis Gaylord graciously entertained the ladies over the tea-cups, while Miss Bryan passed sandwiches.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Whichard, Mrs. Winslow took the chair, heard reports, despatched business, appointing one committee, the program committee for the next club year.

The club is anticipating study with Mrs. Lina Baker, Mrs. James Turner, and Mrs. Jesse Moye on this committee.

The literary program was a continuation of Master Painters, and the afternoon was spent with the Dutch.

Mrs. Person read a most interesting paper on the life of Rembrandt, after hearing which, and catching some intimate glimpses into the artist's daily life, we were better able to appreciate the Interpretations of Some of His Paintings by Mrs. J. W. Higgs. Mrs. Lawrence Carr then read a paper on Dutch masterpieces. There were on display several splendid reproductions in full tone, among which were Pilate Washing His Hands, The Young Painter, Saskia, Titus, The Mill, The Woman With a Pink, and Rembrandt himself.

The club was delighted to have present Mrs. Mary Steidley, who at the conclusion of the program was called on for a word of greeting. As usual, she was ready, and taking up the main theme, Fine Arts, she told us of the wonderful achievements of the early Hebrew people along this line, describing in detail some of the beautiful hand-wrought vessels of gold and silver and brass used in the tabernacle. Also the draperies and curtains, applying the lesson that there have been and are still many great peoples as well as American. The club was also delighted to have Miss Weyman, who comes as club guest in the continued absence of one of the members. Mrs. Hodges assisted by Miss Bryan and Mrs. Gaylord served a delicious cream course.

YOUNG'S CLEARANCE SALE OPENS WITH GOOD SALES

The January clearance sale opened at Young's two stores in this city this morning promptly at nine o'clock. Over forty prizes were given away to first persons entreing the buildings, which consisted of silk shirts, ladies' wearing apparel and jewelry. The sale promises to be full of interest for the buying public the remainder of the month as several splendid bargains are being offered. Prices have been reduced in proportion to the general decline in cost of living, and readily fit every pocketbook. The Young chain of stores has been instrumental in the saving of thousands of dollars by Pitt county people, which first occurred in the sale of sugar and other household necessities.

Isn't your judgment as good as your neighbor's? Test it out at Denton's Drug Store with a guess on the ton of coal they are giving away.

NOTED BUSINESS MEN TO SPEAK AT BANQUET TONIGHT

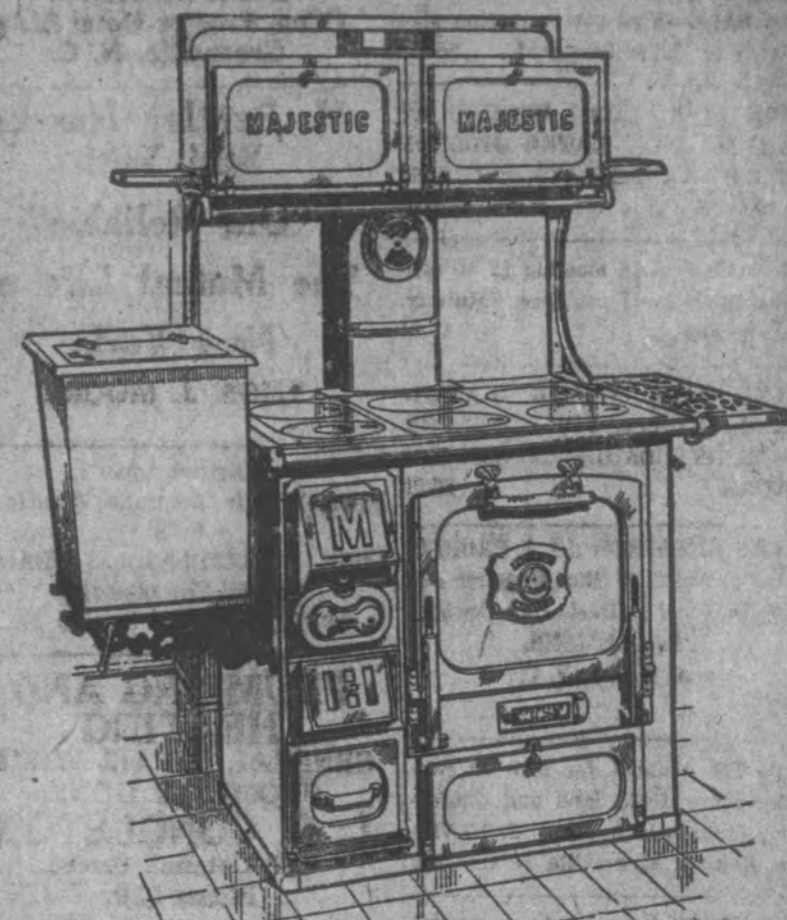

Mr. J. Paul Leonard, secretary of the North Carolina Retail Merchants association, will be one of the principal speakers at a banquet to be tendered at the Princeton hotel in this city tonight. Mr. R. E. Peters, president of the State organization, will also speak on conditions confronting the business man of the present era. The occasion promises to be one of the most interesting conducted by the local association in quite a while, and it is expected attendance will be above the average. Both speakers are well versed in business issues of the country, and what they say will be well worth hearing.

GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS IN REPORT TO COURT TODAY

rors in making the tax books, and we recommend that this work of making the tax books should be put under the supervision of our whole time County Auditor. It is our belief that such a change will avoid much of the error this causes and that such change will add no additional expense to the county. We understand that it is not within our province to command the making of such change, but we give it as our best judgment that the best interest of the county demands such a change and this is respectfully called to the attention of the Court with the request that it be transmitted to the commissioners.
As to the Sheriff's office, on investigation we have learned from sources which we deem reliable and by which we feel we should be guided that the following facts exist:
That we have about twenty terms of one week each, County and Superior, and a Recorder's court each of the other Mondays during the year. This practically requires a Sheriff in attendance on court all the time. A Sheriff or Deputy must be in the court building all the time. In addition there must be an office clerk in the Sheriff's office all the time and that it requires two deputies to do the outside work of the Sheriff's office. We learned that the office clerk is employed at a salary of $75 per month. Deputy R. E. Corbett is paid $150 per month (he furnishing his own car. Deputy A. L. Jackson $125 per month. The expense of maintaining and operating two automobiles (estimated at $100 per month. On this basis the expense of the office not counting the Sheriff's time is $5,400 and that his salary, according to our information to maintain this office is $8,500. We feel that the welfare of the county requires a readjustment of the salary and expense of this office. It is our information that the Sheriff's office collects, each year, approximately $500,000 in taxes. On the commission basis, at five per cent, would be an excessive salary for that office, we think, but it should be larger than now provided.
We visited and inspected the convict camp and respectfully call to attention the following objectionable conditions:
We found eighteen men confined in one cage enclosed by heavy canvas of the size about eight by sixteen. This condition should be changed, as it is dangerous to the health of the persons so confined. We also found insufficient shelter for them and that the team are standing out in the snow with icicles hanging on them. This is both cruel and expensive and should be corrected immediately.

We found that five prisoners escaped from this camp a few weeks ago; that two prisoners remaining, Ed Mayo and _____ captured two of these escaped convicts, and we feel that the convicts making these captures should be rewarded as would be other citizens performing a similar duty. A reward was offered for the capture of these men, and we feel that they should be paid.
Respectfully submitted,
J. McDIXON, Foreman.

SAYS PROTECTIVE TARIFF TARIFF NECESSARY TO MEET DEMANDS

will again confront us. In fact it has already begun. The problem with which we are confronted and to the solution of which the Southern Tariff Congress can materially contribute, is to prevent industrial isolation on the one hand and industrial submergence on the other.
Your forefathers acknowledged the right of America to protect itself against the dictation and domination of any foreign power and they fought with our forefathers for the independence of the United States. The independence which they sought was not merely independence of foreign kings and foreign cabinets. They sought also independence from commercial thralldom.
their original diagnosis and the woman was compelled to remain with her son. In several cases one child in a family of five or six showed traces of trachoma or conjunctivitis. This was sufficient to halt the whole family or to break up the family group, some of the members of which might go to America while others could not.
Typhus, trachoma and favus, an affection of the scalp, are the three diseases for which ships' surgeons seek above all others in examining emigrants from Poland and other war areas destined for the United States. The United States emigration officials are slow to admit persons whose eyes are not normal and force the steamship line to carry them back to their port of embarkation. Besides a fine of $200 may be imposed upon the steamship companies for carrying such persons to American ports.
