NUMBER WHISKEY CASES IN COUNTY COURT YESTERDAY

No. Pros Proceedings Taken In Practically Every Case As Result of Insufficient Evidence.

LENNY EVERETT GIVEN TWO-YEAR SENTENCE ON COUNTY ROAD FORCES

Slight Fines Found Advisable In One Or Two Other Cases Taken Up During the Day.

The second day's session of the criminal term of the county court swung into being yesterday morning with a number of whiskey cases on docket for consideration, and while they were given hearing and probably every effort exerted in bringing about conviction, defendants in practically every instance succeeded in piloting their way to safety by outweighing what little evidence the State had amassed against them. The hearings were in no way different from others taken up by the court from session to session. Insufficient evidence told the same old story and consequently the court had no other alternative but to institute no pros proceedings and arrange for slight fines wherever justifiable. Several cases were taken up during the morning and afternoon sessions, but nothing of any importance transpired with the exception of the conviction of Lenny Everett, white man, charged with forcible trespass, who was sentenced to two years on the county roads. Everett was convicted of entering a man's house last fall, but Judge Wooten suspended sentence on condition that he appear at each term of court and prove good behavior. Judge Cooper, however, made short work of the case when taken up yesterday, and as a result the defendant found himself bound for the county roads before realizing what really had happened.

Lazarus Wooten, charged with selling whiskey, was fined $25 and costs of action on condition that he appear at every term of court for a period of two years and prove himself a law-abiding citizen. Hoyt Daniel, charged with illicit distilling, was released owing to inability of the court to produce sufficient evidence to effect conviction. Charlie and Lewis Curry were also released after failure to prove that they were guilty of selling liquor. Simon Boyd pleaded guilty of selling whiskey, judgment being suspended upon payment of costs on condition that he be on good behavior for a period of two years.

Dempsey Parker was fined $25 and costs for larceny, after professing innocence of the charge, but being unable to establish evidence to that effect, he threw himself on the mercy of the court, with slight fine following. David Hines pleaded guilty of abandonment, prayer for judgment being continued for two years on payment of costs. F. R. Vann and Elizabeth Burdette, engaged in immoral relations, case not prosed. Herman Pitt pleaded guilty of larceny and was sentenced to eight months on the county roads. He appealed to superior court.

COMMERCE COVERS NOTED SECTION OF NEW YORK CITY

Fifth Avenue Gives Way to Steady Advances of Trade in Development of Metropolis

New York, Feb. 9.—Steadily, but steadily advances by tradesmen, covering a period of more than 20 years, have virtually broken the residential exclusiveness of Fifth Avenue, known the world over as the home precinct of the Vanderbilts, Carnegies, Harrimans, Plants, Fricks and other wealthy families.

One by one mansions which housed international personages and gave to Fifth Avenue much of its glitter and fame, are surrendering to commercial enterprizes and the rich are seeking homes in new exclusive parts of the city. Real Estate men, who have watched with interest this aggregation of trade say that another decade will have wiped out the last bit of residential exclusiveness in the avenue.

The change in Fifth Avenue was reflected in the recent purchase of property bordering the East River at Fifty Eighth Street by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr. where she intends to build a home in a section known as Sutton Square. This bit of property is directly where a city prison is located and is almost underneath the Manhattan approach to the Queensboro Bridge. Real Estate men expect that Mrs. Vanderbilt's migration to the East River will mean a new exclusive district in a part of the city where near slums existed before.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, who a few years back, helped to make Fifth Avenue history with her brilliant social activities, said when she purchased the East River property that Fifth Avenue had lost its residential atmosphere, which was its most valuable charm. Traffic and crowds resulting from the trade invasion, she said, had taken away its exclusiveness.

The fight to save Fifth Avenue has been waged since the late 90's when real estate men began to get options on property near magnificent mansions. Members of the Vanderbilt family and others owning homes there expended millions of dollars in buying up property in an effort to stem the tide.

WAVE OF CRIME SURGING RAPIDLY OVER KANSAS CITY

Vast Volume of Murder, Robberies and Lesser Acts of Criminality Reported Lately

EFFICIENT METHODS USED BY CRIMINALS IN CARRYING OUT UNDERHANDED WORK

Law Enforcement Association Reports Modernization of Old Time Authorities

Kansas City, Mo. Feb. 9.—With the regularity of the tides, rather than an occasional wave of crime has surged over Kansas City in a vast volume of murders, robberies and lesser acts of criminality during the past few months according to Ward Gifford, executive secretary of the Law Enforcement Association, formed here for the purpose not only in suppressing crime but to ascertain and correct conditions which foster it.

Crime in Kansas City is a highly organized business and those who are directing crime use as efficient methods as any successful person does in conducting a legitimate enterprise. Mr. Gifford declared. The public cannot hope to combat organized crime without organized operation.

Mr. Gifford declared that it was because criminals found refuge and entertainment in Kansas City that they made their operations a continuous performance here. With this in mind the Law Enforcement Association plan a censorship of motion picture theatres, pool and dance halls, gambling and social evil. To root out crime, he said the city must be cleaned up morally. (Continued on page 4)

GERMAN WAR PLOT THAT FAILED TOLD BY SHIPPING BOARD

Report of Effort to Send American Sailors to Waterway Grave Presented to Committee

New York, Feb. 9.—A German war plot that failed was revealed here today. Four defective bolts, taken from the machinery of the transport Mount Vernon, told the tale. They were discovered by the engineering force of Commander R. D. Gatewood, director of the shipping board's division of construction and repairs, and placed on exhibition at his office.

Here is the story. After the Mount Vernon—formerly the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, the famous "gold ship" that reached into Bar Harbor in the early days of the war—had been seized as a troop ship, her German crew cut two-thirds of the way through the four six inch bolts that connected the engine with the main crank shaft. The skillfully made cuts remained hidden by the fittings of the engine and were only discovered recently when the engines were taken apart.

It is to be presumed that in certain American detention camps there were trained German engineers who waited eagerly for reports which did not come of something happening to the converted troop ship. For it is believed that the bolts were left barely holding with the hope that the craft would just creep out into the U-boat lanes and the final prey to the undersea craft when a sudden strain on the engines came with an order for full speed ahead.

But the break never came. Luck or toughness of steel permitted the liner to make a dozen round trips through submarine infested seas carrying on each voyage from 3,000 to 4,000 men. Just to round things out she encircled the globe to bring troops home from Russia.

HANDING DECLARED NATION PRESIDENT IN CONGRESS TODAY

Coolidge Also Declared Vice-President in Official Counting of Electoral Votes

RECORDING OF VOTES ATTENDED BY FORMAL CEREMONY OF COUNTRY

Joint Session of Senate and House Attended by Solemnity of the Constitution

Washington, Feb. 9.—Warren Gammaliel Harding, of Ohio and Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, were formally declared today by congress to be elected President and Vice-President of the United States for four years beginning next March 4.

Thus was written the final chapter in the history of the 1920 presidential election. The scene was laid in the Chamber of the House of Representatives with the Democratic Vice-President Marshall presiding. The occasion was the canvassing of the Electoral votes cast by the Electors chosen on November 2—404 for the Republican candidates and 127 for the Democratic candidates, former Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, of Hyde Park, New York.

The recording of the votes was attended by all the formality and solemnity prescribed by the Constitution and there not only were present the members of the Senate and House, but many relatives and friends of the successful candidates.

Two brightly polished boxes, inlaid with rosewood and hollywood, were dunn bag actors in this drama of Democracy. Resting on the Vice-President's desk, they contained the official ballots of the electors of the (Continued on page 4)

SALARY INCREASE PASSES HOUSE IN LENGTHY DEBATES

Measure Provides for Increase in Salaries of Judges and Members of Commission

Raleigh, Feb. 9.—Deaf to the forebodings of members who cried hard times, dodging very efficiently the bludgeonings of partisan politics, and jumping over a deep dug political pit carelessly concealed under seemingly harmless amendment, the bill to increase the salaries of statutory State officers, Supreme and Superior court judges, passed the House yesterday by a vote of 65 to 46. The measure had already passed the Senate and yesterday's vote in the House made it a law.

The measure, as passed, raises the salary of members of the Corporation Commission, the Commissioners of Labor and Printing and of Insurance from $3,500 to $4,500 per year. Supreme court justices from $5,000 to $6,000 and Superior court judges from $4,000 to $5,000 with a flat expense account of $1,250 per year. The measure was started in the Senate by Senator Long, of Alabama, was killed then resuscitated and sent to the House where it passed unopposed.

Otherwise, the House had no material accomplishments written in its Journal yesterday. The Welfare bill went over again, even after Representative Williamson had declined to make his speech on local self government and wanted the bill to go back to committee for hearing. He is the Chief opponent, and insisted on the floor that he had not been given opportunity to attend the committee hearing. He was reminded that he was there and made a speech and thus jogged, his memory worked and he recalled having had something to say to the committee. The bill went over.

INDIAN COUNCIL SELECTS HEAD FOR CHIEF OF NATIONS

Creek Indians Meet In Old Council House In Oklahoma to Elect New Chief

Okmulgee, Okla., Feb. 9.—In the old Council House, which was the seat of government of the Creek Indian Nation for more than a third of a century, but which is now a part of the park system of towns of the Creek Indian nation recently met and settled a member of the tribe to be elected to the office of chief of the Nation or tribe. The man selected is George W. Hill, the son of a white father and a full blood Indian mother. Hill's name will be recommended for appointment as chief to the President of the United States, who makes the appointment, and there is no doubt but that Hill will be appointed, according to those in close touch with the governmental affairs of the Creeks.

If Hill is levated in the office of chief he will be the tenth man to be so honored by the Creek tribe since the tribe adopted a written constitution in 1869 and many believe that he will be the last chief of the Creeks.

Chief-elect Hill is 60 years old and was born and has lived all his life within the confines of the Creek National lands. He is a member of the House of Kings, the upper house of the Creek Legislature which no longer functions officially.

Hill also served as a member of the India police in the territorial days, as district attorney of the tribe during the administration of Chief SamChicot and as president of the board of Education of Indian schools for three terms. He is married and has six children, three sons and three daughters all of who live in or near Okmulgee.

The Creek Indian Nation was once one of the greatest of North American Indian tribes. It numbered about 20,000 persons and owned in fee more than 5,000,000 acres of Oklahoma lands from which practically all of the vast wealth derived from the oil fields of this state have been drawn. The Creek migrated to Oklahoma from Alabama and Florida under arrangements made in a treaty with the United States in 1831. They adopted a written constitution in 1869 and built a capitol building in Okmulgee, the capital of the nation in 1878.

COUNTY PRESSING TO FRONT ALONG AGRICULTURE LINE

W. B. Pace, County Farm Agent, Presents Splendid Report for the Month of January.

SHOWS RESULT OF HIS ACTIVITY IN REPORT TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Work Could Have Been Bettered Considerably by Co-Operation From Disinterested Farmers.

That Farm Demonstration departments are proving a source of paramount importance in the development of agriculture in every county of the State has been set forth from time to time by regular monthly reports submitted to the State department at Raleigh. Pitt county fortunately has been one of the counties deriving great benefit from demonstration activities, and today has forged to the front as one of the most conspicuous and thriving agricultural sections of the county.

The report of W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of Pitt county, recently completed for the month of January shows that active interest has been displayed in the welfare of the planter, and that greater benefit would have been derived if co-operation was more in evidence in every community. In the report Mr. Pace shows that he traveled 488 miles during the month sprayed and pruned 386 trees, vaccinated 141 hogs, besides several other features going to make up his regular duties. His statement, however, does not include the number of extra hours placed at the disposal of tobacco interests in organizing farmers to reduce acreage this year, nor does it show to what extent he has helped in dispelling thoughts of financial depression which have held the country in such a relentless grip for the past several weeks.

Mr. Pace has been instrumental in establishing better conditions in life of the farming community ever since he assumed charge of the local department, and while he has filled hundreds of engagements with planters in office and at their homes, he would have done more if assistance and advice had been sought. He recently saw the need of an agricultural board to help in solving problems confronting the planter, and after consulting prominent business men and planters, saw the organization spring into being several days ago. He says there is nothing needed to make Pitt county the greatest farming section in the State but more whole-hearted co-operation and desire to produce better crops and conduct farming on a more solid basis.

In Mr. Pace's report to the State department the following facts connected with activities in January were presented: official letters written, 104; State bulletins given out, 16; Government bulletins given out, 61; callers at office on business, 63; demonstrations visited, 5; other farmers visited, 25; newspaper articles written, 6; meetings held, 4; attendance, 260; hogs vaccinated, 141; orchards inspected, 8; trees sprayed, 165; trees pruned, 201; trees wormed, 21; total miles traveled, 488.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ADVOCATES CAFETERIA

At an enthusiastic meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, held last evening, those present expressed themselves as desirous of going on record as advocating very strongly the establishment of a cafeteria for Greenville, because of the prevailing high prices at cafes and hotels and also the constant complaint by the traveling public and those compelled to patronize same; and believe that it will in some measure, at least, relieve the present eating situation in our town.

Wednesday, February 9, 1921.

This is a mighty fine time to talk disarmament since Germany declared that it isn't anxious to make peace with the United States.

Mrs. Harding seems to be favorably impressed by the one-piece dress. So is the public, and the shorter the better it seems.

After traveling men get prices at hotels fixed to their satisfaction they might investigate the flour barrel at home or help some neighbor solve the problem of high prices.

Republican members of the senate might learn a few things about national conditions if they would take time to refrain from over-riding President Wilson's vetoes.

The Doughton-Connor bill got an official "okch" in the Legislature after four days of constant consideration. Almost any matter ought to get thru after that much time spent in disposing of hot air.

Germany has denied reports that she is ready to make peace with the United States. That's all right it will give congress time to parley.

Meat packers have filed before the supreme court another plan to dispose of stock. They have a long way to travel though before any more can be packed off on the public which is too suspicious to purchase gold dollars at reduced rates.

Counties without department of welfare had better make provisions for increasing the size of jails. When children are permitted to go without proper correction civilization, it is safe to bet, is going to experience a state of retrogression instead of progress.

Secretary Baker has ordered cessation of army recruiting throughout the country in accordance to provisions recently passed by Congress. That would have sounded good two years ago, but there are just enough fellows seeking the army for enjoyment at this time that the news is anything but pleasing. However, it is consoling to know that 175,000 will be left to protect the nation out of the 213,000 now in service.

Labor leaders are pleased with president Wilson's action in refusing to intervene in the controversy over railroad wages. They have a right to be too, for if the matter were taken up at this time traffic might be demoralized to such extent that service would be greatly hampered. The president always had the right idea about such things, and his action this time is strikingly similar to that several months ago when the railroads were faced by acute crisis.

The visit of Thomas Dixon to Raleigh in the interest of women to establish a censorship board for moving pictures will be filled with general interest for members of the legislature as well as the public. The noted author has played an important part in story writing for the past several years, many of his books being classed with the most gripping fiction of the times. If a woman dealing with days following the Civil war have won nation-wide reputation and his visit to any locality is a matter of much interest. He will probably be able to present splendid defense in behalf of the moving picture industry and give censorship promoters something to think about.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Much has been said about Greenville's public library during the past several months, but little done, according to those well acquainted with the institution. It is well to talk such matters, but it is mighty poor advertisement to ra town the size of Greenville that its people are not sufficiently interested in educating the public to provide a library large enough to meet the city's requirements.

The library, we are told, has no permanent home. It has moved from place to place since it first became a library, and today either faces a stage of development or negligence and abandonment. This should not be so. Greenville people ought to be interested in their children enough to get to work and provide funds with which to make the library an independent institution with sufficient resources to augment the splendid selection of volumes that have accumulated from year to year.

The library in every town is a sort of school for the child and adult too. Many works of reference are contained in its racks, and these afford information by which the school child derives direct benefit. It is highly important that Greenville maintain a library accessible to visitors. It gives them a better impression of the town, its people and the progressive spirit dominating their effort in the interest of education. Other towns have made provisions along this line, and have realized considerably more than the venture at first contemplated. Greenville has realized, to a great extent, from what it has done by the library, but by doing more greater results would be noticeable.

A Silver Tea is to be given Wednesday night to provide funds to enlarge the library, and every person in town should attend and give every cent possible to a mission that means more to continued development along moral and business lines than any other one thing just at this particular time. Don't be afraid you can give too much. That's an impossibility in a matter like this.

NOT INDICTED AFTER ALL

President Wilson expects to go into seclusion after March 4th, according to latest advices from Washington city. He plans an intensive rest after the weight of governmental problems have been lifted from his shoulders, and then will probably engage in composition work. It will certainly be a great relief to him to know that at last he can think and act as an ordinary American citizen, without every moment being confronted with something affecting the nation. There is lots of difference in handling personal problems and those intended to satisfy millions of people and this fact should have much weight in relieving the mind of one who has borne his share in a way to win international admiration.

Some have said the President's retirement will be made under one of the greatest indictments in the annals of the nation, but that is not so. He has friends by the thousands who believe as implicitly in his ability and courage as when he first entered the White House. The great wisdom displayed in practically every measure during the war indelibly stamped him as a man fully informed on national and international problems and his reception in Europe would be as great today as it was at the peace conference if his own people had stood behind him.

They failed to do this, however, even to Congress, and he retires today not in defeat nor shame, but in the knowledge that he served the country in war as its people would have had him do at all times under such conditions. He leaves public life with no severe indictment from thinking men and women, and when at last one scans future pages of history, then, and then alone, will the true greatness of Woodrow Wilson be fully realized and appreciated by an unappreciative underrcurrent of public sentiment. This is generally the way in the history of all truly great men, and will be particularly in the case of one who has meant so much to one country.

Law enforcement seems to be the supreme problem for consideration before the country just at this particular time. It will continue to be too until illicit whiskey traffic has been given a set back that will last for several years. Demoralization comes about first through drunken, crazed brains of the liquor drinker and ought to be the first matter taken up by law enforcement agents.

If the State failed to get hard surfaced roads this time after such a fight by Governor Morrison it is safe to say any future fight will be useless. The time for action is necessary as the out-edge about striking while the iron is hot is very appropriate. Advocates should hold this and impress the Legislature with the fact while the bill is up for consideration.

Champ Clark, Democratic leader of the House of Representatives, always had a way of dealing with things of public interest in a pleasing way to the public, and his late attack on opponent trying to force the resignation of George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is no exception. He declares emphatically that such efforts should be squelched as Mr. White's activity in the interest of his party has been sufficiently untiring and faithful to win nation-wide approbation. The statement coming from a man like Mr. Clark ought to have much weight with the public, particularly those well informed concerning conditions of the fight. It will be remembered that the national chairman waged one of the greatest political fights in many years, and maintained absolute faith in party record even until the smoke of battle had cleared away. He is fully capable of handling such campaigns even though some would like to boost some special presidential candidate. Experience has taught him many things a new man would be long in learning and for that reason if for no other he should not be ousted from a position where services were above the average.

People who made anything last year may find something to occupy their time in the next month figuring the income tax blank.

While the appeal is being made all over America for money to help save the war-ravaged countries of Europe from starving until they are able to take care of themselves by a return of normal conditions of productiveness and business, big business in America is storming Congress to put on a higher tariff, which will, of course, make it harder for the devastated countries to get back to a self-supporting basis. Strange world.

In the midst of the recent argument going the rounds about the rates charged by hotels, one correspondent lifts his voice in behalf of the hotels and says if guests will stop packing so much of the hotel's effects in their baggage when about to leave, the hotels would not have to charge so much to help cover such losses.

Unemployment, he said, was not considered to be a factor in lawbreaking as yet. He pointed out that practically all of the robberies were committed by youths from 17 to 25 years of age, a period which he explained, sociologists considered as the most dangerous for the development of criminal tendencies.

The Law Enforcement Association, made up of 600 citizens, he said, is a sort of modernization of the old time Vigilance committee, only that it works entirely in co-operation with the authorities. An outlining of its purpose includes advocacy of more stringent criminal laws; following up of arrests and seeing that the law-breakers are prosecuted; advising with officials on pardons and paroles and keeping a corps of investigators constantly at work collecting data on moral irregularities.

forty-eight states. In large alphabetical order, beginning with Alabama's vote, the return in large envelopes blazoning with seals, were opened by the Vice-president, handed to the Senate and House tellers one republican and one Democrat representing each body and read to the assemblage and recorded.

At the conclusion of the announcement and tally, Vice-president Marshall declared formally that Mr. Harding had been chosen President and Mr. Coolidge, Vice-President in official language that the announcement should be deemed a sufficient declaration to the persons elected President and Vice-President of the United States each for a term beginning March 4.

Pitt County Post
—OF THE—
American Legion

DEAR FELLOWS:—
At our annual meeting Thursday night, January 20th, we decided to have another get-together meeting on Washington's Birthday, Tuesday, February 22nd. Plans have already begun for this meeting and we anticipate a big time. We decided to have ladies at this meeting and every fellow is urged to bring a lady. We prefer a lady, but if you cannot bring one, bring an ex-service man that is not a member of the Legion.

The meeting will be held in the reception hall of the Carolina Club, Tuesday night, February 22nd, at seven o'clock. It will be very informal, and everyone present will have an opportunity to say just what he thinks. The American Legion is a great organization, its membership being only ex-service men and women, and everyone should be a member. You will do the Legion much good and the Legion will do you good, if you are an active member.

Plates will be free to all members of any Post. If you are not a member of a Post you will be charged $1 per plate. All members will be charged $1 per plate for each extra plate reserved. In other words, only the fellows that are members of a Post and have paid their dues will be allowed free plates. Non-members and visitors will be charged $1 per plate, the actual cost to serve them.

Note application blank attached which you must fill out, sign, and return to me by Friday, February 18th. To enable me to reserve plates desired it is necessary that you return blank properly filled out not later than the 18, the sooner the better.

Yours for a big attendance and a big time, I am
Yours Very Truly,
J. B. KITTRELL,
Chairman Executive Com.

Enclosed find check _____, for which please reserve _____ plates for the Legion Banquet Tuesday night, February 22nd.

Signed _____
P. S.—If you are not a member enclose check $3 for one year's dues. This includes subscription to Legion Weekly and cost of a button.
