VIENNA GRIPPED BY VULGARITY IN DRESS AND FOOD

Vulgar Display of Extravagance in Food and Clothing Forms Nightly Pleasures for Suffering Masses

Vienna, Feb. 23.—Vulgar display of extravagance in food and clothing is a mighty picture at the gay restaurants here while only a few blocks away hungry and scantily clothed persons are being sported in community kitchens. Visitors to Vienna are shocked by this paradoxical economic condition. Others are either hardened to the contradictory sights or in their inability to alter either extreme, can only shut their eyes to them.

Crowded theaters and operas at tremendously advanced prices, concerts sold out in advance, masked ball following masked ball in an endless riot against the coming of Lent, cabarets whose risque dancers would bring out the police in New York and where nothing to drink but wine served, cafes and restaurants with never an empty table, not a room to be had in the big hotels whose prices go up from week to week that is one picture. On its reverse, foreign relief straining itself and demanding unceasing contributions in aid of a suffering populace.

In Austria it is the custom on New Year's eve to bring squealing suckling pigs to public dining rooms and the red ribbon with which they are decorated is distributed in bits to guests as tallsmans for the coming year. The newspapers report that in one fashionable resort a woman seized the pig and bathed it in a cooler full of wine. Other women caught the original idea and imitated it to the cost of many bottles. That restraint, incidentally, has had its license suspended for constant violation of the food and closing regulations.

Venue claim that in all these resorts where display and expenditure of the most vulgar kind are evidenced not one real Austrian can be found, that they have not the money. They say they are supported by the horde of profiteers of every race and every nationality that infest and infect the city.

A recent demonstration of the populace is acknowledged to have been inspired by this prodigal display of extravagance and ready money on the part of this small element of the population.

AMERICA DESIRES TO PRESENT VIEWS TO PARIS COUNCIL

Colby's Note Regarding Action on Mandates Create Surprise in League Circles

Paris, Feb. 22.—Ambassador Wallace's notification to the Council of the League of Nations today that the State Department at Washington desired to present the views of the United States before action was taken on mandates created surprise in league circles. The gradual withdrawal of American representatives from the council's commissions connected with peace activities had tended to confirm the opinion that the outgoing administration would leave all such initiative to the new government.

The text of Secretary Colby's note will not be generally known until tomorrow, but his unexpected intervention is learned in French circles and factious as showing that the new world among others also, with evident satisfaction still maintains contact and is still interested in the old world's problems.

Notification of the imminent arrival of the note came when mandates was the first question on the agenda of the council, which spent nearly the entire day in discussing the reply to the American ambassador's note and exchanging views upon those mandates which the American observations are not likely to touch.

The council's reply to Ambassador Wallace, signed by Doctor De Cumba, president of the council, expresses the lively interest with which the council learned of the communication from the State Department, and its early delivery and says that in deference to his request the council will postpone all final decisions relative to the form of mandates now under discussion until receipt of the communication.

REPUBLICANS TO REPEAL SEVERAL TAXATION ITEMS

Repeal of Excess Profits and Transportation Tax Following Inauguration of Harding

Washington, Feb. 23.—The revenue bill to be adopted as early in the Harding administration as it can be put through will repeal the excess profits tax; reduce the sur-tax maximum from 73 to 40 cents; repeal the transportation tax and that part of the luxury tax known as the "soda water tax".

These changes in the revenue law will lose to the Federal Treasury, it is estimated, about $85,000,000 annually. To go about making up this deficit—because it must be made up in some manner—it is proposed to increase the normal corporation earnings tax by 5 per cent, making it 15 instead of 10 per cent; also to eliminate the $2,000 exemption now allowed corporations. It is estimated that these will bring in revenue approximating $450,000,000 and the remainder of the deficit, it is figured will be made up in increased duties to be levied at the custom ports.

A bill containing the above as its chief feature will be introduced in the House Wednesday or Thursday by Representative Longworth, of Ohio, second ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee. Mr. Longworth, of course has no idea of getting any action on his bill at this time in order to get it before Congress, and the country to test out the sentiment of the public and see what "reaction" he gets from the proposals in the bill. Then, if sentiment doesn't react satisfactory, of course the bill can be changed before it is re-introduced in the extra session.

SAYS WORLD WAR AROUSED CHURCH TO ITS RESOURCES

Bishop Nicholson Tells Delegates To Episcopal Council in Buffalo of Conditions as Exist Today

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The world war has awakened the church to its tremendous resources, Bishop Thomas Nicholson told the delegates to the annual meeting of the Episcopal Council of Cities here today. The latest figures give the direct and indirect costs of the world war to be $348,000,000,000 in money and 43,000,000 lives, he said. It is within the power of the church to make impossible another such world catastrophe.

Bishop Nicholson pleaded for a de-business methods in the church. We must have faith in ourselves, he said, and in our ability to do and to give, and we must be willing to bring the methods of work of the modern church up on a scale of commensurate with the progress and development of modern business methods.

The demand of the hour is for more spiritual power. Not long since I was on the Great Lakes. I saw one of the largest steamers afloat. The owner was aboard and with pride he showed me over the great engines. Then he showed me how they had duplicate engines—that if anything went wrong with the machinery on one part they had entirely new set of boilers and engines to carry the ship through. They burned hundreds of tons of coal a day, but they could make time in the face of the greatest storm which could be anticipated on the lakes.

AMERICA MAKES NEW RECORD IN CEMENT STOCKS

New Record in Shipment, Production and Gross Value in Portland Reported in Final Estimate

Washington, Feb. 23.—A new record in production, shipment and gross value of Portland cement was established by the United States last year according to estimates announced by the Geological Survey.

Production is estimated at 3,302,000 barrels, compared with 2,976,378 barrels in 1919, an increase of 24 per cent.

Shipments were 2,620,000 barrels, compared with 2,556,616 barrels in 1919, an increase of 13 per cent.

Gross value was $183,548,000, compared with $146,656,076 in 1919, an increase of 31.9 per cent.

Stocks of finished cement on hand at the end of 1920 amounted to 8,290,000 barrels, compared with 5,822,497 barrels at the end of 1919, an increase of more than 41 per cent.

Average factory price in bulk at the mills for the whole country was $2.01 a barrel in 1920, compared with $1.71 in 1919, an increase of 17.5 per cent.

Pennsylvania produced more than 28 per cent of the year's output leading all other states, the Lehigh district producing more than 25 per cent of the country's total. Indiana was second producing state with more than 10 per cent.

Imports during 1920 amounted to 408,036 barrels, while exports amounted to 2,985,807 barrels, or 822,118 barrels more than in 1919.

SPLENDID BANQUET GIVEN BY LEGION HERE LAST NIGHT

Members of American Legion Guests to Wives and Lady Friends At Banquet Last Night

One of the most enjoyable banquets of the season was last night tendered by the members of the Pitt county's post of American Legion to about two hundred guests, including wives and lady friends of the members. Rev. J. B. Turner, commander of the post acted as master of ceremonies. The club rooms were beautifully decorated with es being in evidence everywhere, the national colors, flags and red roses. Music was furnished by the local orchestra.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Adjutant S. L. Bridges, Rev. F. H. Scattergood, chaplain of the Greenville post returned thanks.

There were numbers of patriotic songs sung, between the three courses which were served by the King's Daughters.

Dr. C. O'H Laughinghouse delivered an interesting address on "The Task Yet Unfinished and what we can do to get it completed". His address touched upon the aid that the government is giving the wounded and disabled soldiers and brought out the fact that they need more help and encouragement.

Mrs. Goode, a member of the High School faculty followed his address with a pianologue. She is a splendid musician, and her music was one of the most enjoyable features of the occasion.

Rev. Vicks, chaplain of the Arden post, delivered a splendid address. His talk was along general lines touching upon the activity of the Legion and the heroic work of the soldiers in the great world war.

His address was followed by a solo by Miss Jessie Moyer.

Mr. J. C. Lanier introduced Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, who made a splendid talk on war, ex-service men and the legion. Judge Devin is a forceful and attractive speaker and the talk was very helpful to the members of the Legion.

Membership cards and buttons were distributed to the members.

Commander Turner, who has recently been appointed by Chairman Hecks, of Raleigh, to serve as chairman of the China Relief Fund in this county, made an appeal for the China sufferers and as a result a collection was taken to aid in their relief.

At 12:30 o'clock the ladies of the Episcopal church will serve a turkey dinner at the Princeton hotel dining room, Thursday, February 24th. Everybody invited. Come and bring the family. Trypey, cranberries, oysters, rice, hot biscuits, for 75c. Coffee, 5c; pie and milk, 25c.

BRITISH BANKERS PREDICT BRIGHTER BUSINESS FUTURE

Industrial Leaders Declare They Believe the Worst of Recent Trade Depression is Over.

SOUND BUSINESS BEING DONE IN MANY SECTIONS OF COUNTRY, THEY SAY

Chairman of Ship Building Concern Believes Much of the Depression Has Been Overdone.

London, Feb. 5.—Many British bankers and industrial leaders say they believe the worst of the recent trade depression in this country has been reached and that the outlook is brighter.

At the annual meeting of the Bank of Liverpool and Martins bank, the chairman, Edward Paul, while admitting the extent and severity of the existing trade depression, did not despair of the power of Great Britain to emerge at no distant date from the difficulties through which it is passing.

He said there were some reassuring features and a good deal of sound business was being done in various directions. The cost of food was coming down gradually and the fall in prices in many commodities, while it caused serious loss to many individual traders, was a relief to other sections of the nation.

He pointed to the rise in the American exchange as a favorable factor and said, while there had been a few failures, the fact that there had been no general catastrophe was a great tribute to the economic stability of the country.

Frank H. Houlder, chairman of the Houlder Shipping Line, presiding at the annual meeting of the line said: "My hope and belief is that the present depression has been overdone and that we may soon look for some little rebound which will enable business to be resumed and developed, with a moderate margin of profit. At the moment, however, there is no gainsaying the fact that the outlook is very unpromising."

Lord Colwyn, presiding at the annual meeting of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Bank said from a trade standpoint 1921 had opened in depression, but he could see no reason to be unduly despondent about the future. Lancashire had weathered worse storms in the past.

WARRENTON FORGES TO FRONT IN MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP ENDEAVOR

Raleigh, Feb. 23.—Besides owning and operating its own water works, electric plant, ice plant, opera house and a railroad four miles long the little city of Warrenton, Warren county, North Carolina, with a population of less than 1,000 is also building a hotel to cost $140,000 to be paid for by a bond issue.

The municipally owned railroad runs from Warrenton to Warren Plains, where it connects with the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, it being the only line entering Warrenton.

"We have made a profit on all of our municipally owned enterprises, except our opera house, and we haven't lost much on it," declared Tasker H. Fell, prominent lawyer and member of the Warrenton Board of Aldermen.

Warrenton is one of the oldest towns in the State. Horace Greeley was married there in 1838.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The standing of this man's town depends upon the prosperity of its citizens. Foolish spending and waste destroy that prosperity. It is, therefore, the duty of everyone to spend wisely and to invest carefully. Government savings securities and other standard investments are great helps along the road to independence.

The Senate immigration bill passed regardless of opposition. If a few more such measures were put through the public might have greater confidence in the future.

Economists think the outlook for the nation is the best in many years. That being the case, the rest of the world should worry as economists generally have their way about things.

If Mr. Hughes, former candidate for president on the Republican ticket, is selected as a member of Harding's cabinet, he will at least get an occasional peep-in at the White House. And that will be more than he got when opposing Woodrow Wilson several years ago.

ROTARY IS SIXTEEN YEARS OLD

A celebration planned by the local Rotary club, marking the sixteenth birthday of the organization, will naturally cause many people to ask, "What is the Rotary club, anyway, and what does it all mean?"

One answer might be that it is a small group of business and professional men who gather once a week for a luncheon and speaking program and that they seem to have a "corking" good time.

But this isn't the real answer. It is no more correct than that definition of a man which would describe him as a "biped on which to display clothes," for Rotary, it seems, is an invisible thing which dwells in men's hearts and which is made manifest through their thoughts and deeds. The getting together, the talking and the fun are only the means to the accomplishment of a great end.

To get a clear understanding of the movement—for that's what it really is—it may be well to start at the beginning and see what brought Rotary into being. Sixteen years ago, a lonesome man—Paul P. Harris, a Chicago lawyer—invited a coal dealer, a coal operator and a merchant tailor to meet with him to form a little group of friends who could gather together once a week in each other's offices and enjoy that close acquaintanceship which comes only through such frequent meetings. From the beginning each man represented a different business or profession. Strict adherence to this plan as each new man was added to the group has proven to be one of the vital points in the success of the Rotary club which came out of this small beginning. As the numbers grew slowly, of course, a name for the club was sought. Inasmuch as the men had been "rotating" in their meetings in the offices of the members, someone suggested that it be called the "Rotation" club, and this was soon changed to "Rotary."

For three years this club was "lost" in the commercial and social turmoil of the big city, just as its founder, Paul Harris, considered himself "lost" without congenial, dependable friends. Then one of the Chicago men made a business trip to California and a second club was organized in San Francisco. This was the beginning of the movement which has spread to all quarters of the globe. In addition to the 800 clubs in the United States, Canada, England, Scotland and Ireland, including the six clubs in Cuba, clubs have been organized in Argentina, Spain, Uruguay, France, Porto Rico, Panama, Hawaii, Japan, China, Philippine Islands and India, while active organization work is going forward in Denmark, Chile, Peru, Egypt, Australia, Holland, Brazil and other countries. Even with its restricted membership plan, there are today upward of 65,000 Rotarians in the world.

Frederick W. Galbraith, National Commander of the American Legion, warmly denounces the Federal government for negligence toward disabled soldiers. He is right, too, for now the war is over and thousands are in need of aid because of injuries received during the war, it is evident the government should do even more by the boys than when the war was in progress. The American played an important part in making the world safe for democracy, and if the government does not care and provide for those who made this possible it fails to live up to conditions under which soldiers were accepted for duty. The American Legion can use its influence to a great advantage, particularly in cases where human suffering is being neglected.

The good roads bill recently passed by the State Legislature is receiving right much criticism just at this time, but after bonds have been issued and roads constructed, there will be very few opponents to admit that they criticized the measure. It is true the bill provides for a large sum of money, but when considering the enormous natural wealth of North Carolina, it doesn't seem so large after all. The entire country is crying out for road improvements upon extensive scales, and States that build them will be among the first to derive benefits certain to follow in the wake. Commerce demands hard surfaced roads and it is not likely any section will make a mistake by providing funds to make them possible.

Persons interested in Greenville becoming a member of the Eastern Carolina Baseball league should not fail to attend the meeting in this city to night when the matter will be taken up. Five other cities have already said they are ready for business, and it would be a pity for Greenville to fall out of line after enjoying such good ball last year. The game this year will be considerably faster than last year, as large towns are involved the mean to play ball. Greenville needs the diversion, and the people should support a fast club.

With some six hundred cases on the civil superior court docket it looks like Pitt county people are in for entertainment for several years. These cases have been accumulating since 1912, and would require constant session of the court for one year before they could be disposed of. The county has a record in this instance that other sections are not anxious to claim.

Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis seems to be coming in for his share of trouble right at this time, and it really seems he must either give up his profession or stay with the base ball crowd. The latter probably would be more lucrative in the long run.

"Service Above Self"

This is ROTARY'S Birthday

Rotary is an organization composed of business and professional men, each of whom earnestly desires to grow in capability for service.

Rotary's Motto is:

"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

The word "profit," as used in the motto, is not profit in its popular sense, meaning pecuniary gain, but is the gain in character which the one who serves receives, as he develops into a bigger, broader, better, and more useful member of society.

1905

ROTARY

1921

In sixteen years, Rotary has grown to a membership of sixty-five thousand and is represented in more than eight hundred cities in five continents. Membership in Rotary has always been restricted to one member from each distinctive business or profession (although occasionally one additional representative from the same firm is permitted). This membership restriction is one of Rotary's greatest advantages. The varied membership secured in this way provides the widest possible number of viewpoints for the consideration of business and community questions.

The only obligations imposed by Rotary are: the maintenance of high business standards, a militant good citizenship, an unswerving loyalty to one's Government, attendance at meetings, active participation in movements fathered by the Club, and active membership in craft, civic, charitable and commercial organizations.

Rotary seeks: The Betterment of the individual member.
The Betterment of his business (both practically and ideally).
The Betterment of his craft as a whole.
The Betterment of his home, town, state, and country.

Rotary's Relation to Community Service

The duty of Rotarians to their community is briefly put in the injunction: "Be a good citizen." Rotary Clubs constantly survey the field of community life, in order to ascertain Rotary's opportunity for service.

A general rule, the manifestation of Rotary's interest in community service work is expressed through the individual Rotarian's activity in the various local civic, charitable and commercial organizations. Where these organizations are functioning well, it is a Rotarian's duty to work with the officers of the various local organizations in the accomplishment of their objects. Where it happens that any of the worth-while community service organizations are inefficient or have become inactive, it is the Rotarian's duty to work with his fellow-members in such organization to make it thoroughly efficient and active in carrying out the purpose for which it was organized.

Many organizations have been strengthened and their spheres of usefulness enlarged through the activity of men who received inspiration in the Rotary Club.

Individual Rotarians in the various craft associations have aided in the formation and adoption of higher business standards.

Frequent public acknowledgment has been given by city officials and by the press for the assistance rendered local organization and local community movements by Rotarians.

There are specific instances, however, where service to the community demands that the Rotary Club shall act collectively, namely:

1. Where there is the need for a particular service for which there is no regularly established organization.
2. Where there is the need for a service which does not properly belong to any other existing organizations.

In both of such instances, the Rotary Club assumes the duty and works for the accomplishment of the service. With this limitation on concerted Rotary action so clearly defined, it is apparent that Chambers of Commerce and other local civic or charitable organizations need have no fear that Rotary will ever attempt to usurp any of their chosen functions.

As a few examples of collective Rotary action, note:

1. War-time services for the soldiers and sailors at home, en route, in the camps, and abroad. The British Rotary Clubs acted as hosts to the American and Canadian Expeditionary Forces quartered in the British Isles.
2. Organized efforts against vice in the territory surrounding Army cantonments in the Fit-to-Fight Campaign in the United States.
3. Activity of all Rotary Clubs in Boys' Work, supplementing the local agencies in new needs, new work, or emergency services. Aside from these distinctly club activities, every Rotarian is urged to assist all worthy Boys' Work organizations and movements. Rotary considers Boys' Work one of its greatest opportunities for service.
4. The "Cross at Crossings" Campaign inaugurated to save pedestrians from injury or death at Philadelphia, Pa.
5. The Rotary Club acting for the United States Government as sales agents of excess Government food stocks in the campaign against the high cost of living in Wheeling, W. Va.
6. Supplying crippled children of the poor with artificial arms and legs in Syracuse, N. Y., and Toledo, Ohio.
7. Creating cordial relations and better understanding between the city man and the farmer at Vincennes, Ind., etc., etc., etc., etc.

As regards the relation between capital and labor, or, more properly expressed, as the Relation between Employers and Employes, it is the duty of every Rotarian to "set his own house in order"; that is, to establish intimate, friendly and cordial relations between the management and the employes. Hundreds of Rotarians have done this, and, assisted by Committees from among the employes, have worked out more equitable distributions of the profits, splendid welfare plans for the employes and their families, and a wonderful spirit of co-operation.

It is not Rotary's function to attempt to solve the questions of "open shop," wage scales, hours of labor, etc.

The Rotary Club does not act as a collecting agency for the raising of money for charitable or community needs, but it inspires its members to serve on Committees organized for this purpose. Rotarians were active on all war-time and Liberty Loan drives. No worthy money-raising campaign ever lacks the assistance of Rotarians.

Rotary rarely expresses itself through resolutions, nor do the local Clubs confine their actions on community matters to the mere passing of resolutions. When it does occur that an expression of opinion by resolution is necessary, Rotarian precedent requires that Rotarians get behind the resolution and work to accomplish what it endorses.

Rotary is a non-partisan parliament. All subjects on which the respective political parties have taken sides, or on which the community has a divided interest, may be thoroughly discussed before and by the Clubs but cannot properly be put to a vote to determine partisan Club action. The settlement of such questions naturally belongs to the local civic associations, in which the Rotarian members, equipped with complete and accurate knowledge of the issue through the discussions in the Club, take action in accordance with their convictions.
