EASTERN TOWNS REPRESENTED AT ROTARY MEETING

Several Delegates From Other Cities Attended House Warming Celebration Here Last Night

PROMINENT SPEAKERS
TELE. OF PROGRESS IN OTHER PARTS OF STATE

Every Speaker Happy in Remarks Concerning Accomplishments of Greenville Club the Past Year

Several delegates representing various cities of Eastern North Carolina last night attended the house warming celebration conducted by Rotarians of this city at their new home on Third Street. The occasion featured largely in addresses by prominent members of the club who were most happy in congratulating Greenville upon its remarkable progress since organization several months ago.

The members gathered at the Rotary building promptly at six o'clock and witnessed an athletic demonstration by a team of boy scouts under the supervision of Rev. S. K. Phillips, gymnasium director. They showed splendid training for the short time the gymnasium has been in operation, and out of town members were highly pleased with the idea advanced by this club for the development of young manhood and womanhood.

Immediately following the usual splendid and appetizing supper, President S. B. Underwood turned the meeting over to C. J. Ellen, chairman of the house warming committee. Mr. Underwood delivered the address of welcome which was responded to by W. A. Edgerton of Wilson, both were happy in their remarks and contributed largely to the spirit prevailing thru out the evening.

Rev. S. K. Phillips spoke on "What We Are Doing For the Boys, and explained in a comprehensive but brief way how the gymnasium is being used in developing the physical condition of the school boy and girl. He said there are at this time about one hundred boys and girls receiving regular instruction in gymnastics five days to the week, and that they have manifested considerably interest in the development of their bodies as well as minds. He carefully outlined different methods employed in the course of instruction, and showed that in the course of a few months their physical condition would be greatly improved.

Alex Blaw, chairman of the finance committee, delivered a short but informative address dealing with erection of the Rotary building, which is the first to be built by any other club in the United States. Financial conditions, as they vitally affected the club prior to proposed construction work were set forth and compared to the present financial situation. He explained the way funds were secured for building purposes and later furnishings for the building, and made it quite plain that any club with proper spirit could accomplish the same thing. The guests were greatly pleased with valuable suggestions along this line, and received inspiration which may lead to erection of other buildings in the near future.

Leake Carroway, of Portsmouth, spoke briefly on the conference to be held in Norfolk beginning April 12, declaring it the duty of every club to send a delegate or delegates to present progress in their individual district.

Tom Pettus, of Wilson, congratulated Greenville upon its past accomplishments declaring the progressive spirit had been an inspiration to every club of the state as well as an example for all.

President Underwood expressed his thanks to the Wilson club for the large Rotary insignia presented Greenville several days ago, and declared it was an inspiration to be aware of such friendliness existing between the two clubs.

Other talks were made by various members during the evening, and those who didn't get a chance of saying some thing were given the liberty of singing as much as they desired. Other speakers were: W. A. Parker of Norfolk,

LOWER WAGES IN NEW YORK BRING UNUSUAL CHANGE

Unemployment and Wages Serving to Make City Become Increasingly Literary and Forsake Movies

New York, Mar. 15.—Unemployment and lower wages are serving to make New York increasingly literary. A drift from the moving picture theatre seems perceptible.

These are the statements which come from officials of the city's libraries, who declare that a new phenomenon has been observed crowding of branch libraries during the morning hours as well as during the afternoon and evenings.

The recent rapid increase in the patronage of the branch libraries is attributed chiefly to a decrease in the demand for books at the branches although the normal increase continued at the main library. Library officials hesitated to give any explanation for this situation. They remarked that with increases and decreases in library attendance in other cities of the country had been laid to high wages. The conclusion that economic conditions had a direct bearing upon library patronage was forced upon them by the flocking of men into the branches at presson.

Most of Greater New York's branch libraries are crowded these days from the time of the opening at 9 a. m. to the time of the closing at 9 p. m. At the main library building on Fifth Avenue overcrowding is chronic. The facilities have been overtaxed for the last five years, officials say.

It is inherent in any public utility service in New York that it should be outgrown before it is ready for use, said one of the library officials. It seems to be impossible to provide point. If the library building were extended to cover Bryan Square all the seats would probably be occupied as soon as the addition was completed.

RUSSIAN NOBLES FARING BADLY IN OCCUPIED AREAS

Distinguished Men and Women Fighting World From Door in Uniform As Hotel Porters

Constantinople, Mar. 15.—Russians of the noble blood and high rank are fighting the wolf from the doorsteps in the uniforms of porters and messengers in Constantinople, center of the crumpled Empires' refugees. Some are waiters and waitresses.

Wrecks remnant of an army is drifting into the city where they pocket their pride and tackle the hardest problem of their life—the mere getting enough to eat.

Generals and admirals have sold their decorations at a little daily auction in the courtyard of the Mosque of Agha Ismail in Stamboul where women of court circles dispose of furs, jewels and their last bits of finery.

Admiral Dickert, decorated with the Grand Cross of the Legio of Honor, was had to get a place as hall porter in the French Hospital. Prince Goubitsen, once rich and powerful in the government of Orel, is selling sausage in a store in the Pera quarter.

General Miodashevsky, commander of the Czarina's Lancers is a parcel carrier. A son of former Premier Sturmer is a bootblack.

Four Russian generals are making their living by catching and selling fish. Dozens of aviators and officers are waiters.

One Russian officer is chauffeur for the American military attache here. Others are dock laborers and stablemen.

Many widowed Russian women are selling flowers and newspapers. Princess Galitsin, Princess Sahofskol and dozens of others are waitresses. Countess Vera Tolstoy is teaching English.

Farmers Pledge to Stand by Plan to Merchandise Crops Instead of Following Old Dumping Process

McCARY TELLS OF PLANS ADOPTED IN OTHER PARTS OF COUNTRY TO SAVE CROP

Campaign to Begin in Earnest With Meeting in Bethel Next Thursday Night

The intensive campaign inaugurated in this county for acquainting cotton and tobacco growers with fundamental principles of the co-operative marketing plan was carried into the Bell Arthur district by the committee last night with marked success, and as a result it has been assured that the remainder of the week will witness great activity among prominent planters in getting surrounding farmers signed up as active members of the association.

The meeting was attended by about thirty of the most responsible business men and growers of the community and was presided over by C. D. Smith, who after explaining the nature of the meeting and the absolute necessity of a better way of marketing in place of the old dumping process introduced O. F. McCary, farm demonstrator agent of this district as principle speaker of the evening. Following Mr. McCary's address C. E. McLawhorn and G. T. Tyson presented the situation confronting the farmer in a brief way and urged cooperation, in doing away with old methods for one more practical and advisable under all conditions. They declared every man of the community is ready to follow principals laid down by the association, and believed the future will result in greater prosperity to all who follow the pathway blazed by such pioneers as Clarence Poe and others.

Mr. McCary gave a comprehensive outline of the contract to bind farmers of North Carolina, Virginia and South Carolina together in one supreme effort to better farming conditions and make market facilities better than they have been anticipated to combat present abnormal conditions prevailing on domestic and foreign markets, and unless the farmer takes advantage of the opportunity to organize and better himself in the beginning that he cannot expect any improvement whatsoever in the future.

The co-operative plan as it has been tried out in other sections of the country was touched upon in a brief way, showing that the California plan is meeting general favor in Texas and other states where the staple is grown. He explained that numbers of farming districts have signed up millions of bales of cotton for the association to handle, and that it is a much safer plan to sell in this way than offering to the market in the usual reckless manner. North Carolina with its great tobacco industry is probably in greater need of a definite marketing system than any other state in the union because at this time prices are considerably below the average with practically no demand for anything but better grades.

This fact he declared, is going to make it highly important that immediate action be taken to better the situation for the next crop which will be the turning point in the industry. It is either organize and definitely arrange for systematic marketing or face ruination. The alternative is up to the American farmer and he alone must decide his individual destiny.

The co-operative campaign will start in earnest with the next meeting in Bethel next Thursday night, W. R. Pace, farm demonstrator agent declared this morning, and after that six members of the cooperative marketing association will visit every community and sign up those desirous of becoming members. The success of the issue, he declared is as important to the business man and banker as the farmer as all are vitally interested in the future of the greatest industry of the country.

The hens just now are giving such productions as brings the price of eggs back about pre-war prices.

ROAD SENTENCES FEATURE LARGELY IN COUNTY COURT

Blockader and Party Charged With Cruelty to Animals Receive Sentence of Six to Eight Months

Only five cases of any importance were disposed of in the opening of the one week term of Pitt county criminal court which convened in this city yesterday morning with Judge L. G. Cooper and Solicitor P. R. Hines prosecuting. There are the usual number of cases on calendar awaiting disposition and while it is quite probable numbers of cases will be disposed of it is not believed the docket will be cleared completely by adjournment Friday afternoon.

The opening day's session gave strong indication of continued progress, however, and court officials are confident the remainder of the week will witness possible greater progress than at any time during the year. Criminal court always has a regular jury, and this fact helps considerably in disposing of many cases involving complex situations that prove puzzling to petty juries.

Judge Cooper dealt out justice in an interesting way, and as a result two parties found way to the county roads for periods varying between six and eight months. Jarvis Moore, colored man of Black Jack section was sentenced to six months service on the county roads for alleged cruelty to animals. The bill of indictment charged him with beating his horse unmercifully and inflicting other painful injuries from time to time.

William McLawhorn, colored man of Cox's Mill section appeared on charges as selling and manufacturing liquor and was sentenced to 8 months on the county roads at hard labor. The defendant was captured in a raid of county officials sometime last year, and placed under bond after preliminary hearing. A still was located on his premises at the time of apprehension, and evidence produced in court yesterday proved convicting in every sense of the word.

Eugene Gardner, also colored, was fined $50 and costs after being found guilty of carrying concealed weapons. Charles Horne charged with assault with deadly weapon was deprived of $50 and costs. James Bryant, found guilty of speeding across the river bridge, was fined $10 and costs with warning that repeating the offense would bring about more severe action on part of the court.

PRAYER SERVICE AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The prayer service at the Memorial Baptist Church for Wednesday evening of this week will be held in the Episcopal church. A large attendance is earnestly desired as this is the last meeting before the revival meetings which begins next Sunday morning.

Thunder came along with the showers last night.

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW POSTOFFICE BOXES IN THIS CITY

Workers Yesterday Began Construction Work On New Boxes Recently Found Needed

Some weeks ago it was announced that the contract had been let for the installation of 240 additional boxes to the lock boxes equipment of the local post office. The actual work on this had to wait for the boxes to be built at the factory but in the meantime the local contractor, Mr. C. B. West, was assembling material to push the work as soon as the boxes were ready. The actual work started yesterday, and Postmaster D. J. Whichard says he hopes to have it completed in time for the new boxes to be in use with the beginning of the next quarter, April 1st.

The addition of these 240 boxes, all of them large-business size, will prove of great advantage to the patrons of the office. The growth of the town has so overrun the lock box capacity of the office that for a year or more it has been impossible to rent a box except where some one dropped out, and this did not occur often. The increased number will make it possible for all who desire boxes to get them. There will be a total of 608 boxes, 240 of the small size, 240 of the second size, 120 drawers and 8 large drawers.

The postmaster also states that those business patrons who now have boxes too small for their mail can change to larger boxes if desired. Those wishing to change should let it be known at the post office promptly so that proper record can be made before bills for the coming quarter are mailed next week.

SIGNS CONTRACT TO PRODUCE RAIN RAINLESS REGION

Charles Hatfield, of U. S. Agricultural Department Plans to Produce Precipitation by Unique Plan

Medicine Hat, Alta., Mar. 15.—Rainmaker Charles Hatfield, who has a contract with the United Agricultural association to produce rain has come to this district from Los Angeles Cal. and according to arrangements made by the Agricultural association is about to begin work on his new project.

Hatfield, according to the terms of this contract, agrees to construct and build a rain precipitation and attraction plant at a favorable site to be chosen by him for its operations.

In outlining plans to begin work on the United Agricultural Association, F. S. Ratliff, secretary, announced that the rainmaker has been offered inducements to visit the district of Nobleford in southern Alberta, and Foremost Saskatchewan. Farmers in general are highly enthusiastic over the prospects.

The main precipitation plant according to the plan announced, will be located at Chappie Lake, about 20 miles from this city. The matter as was also the selection of locations for the rain gauges, which Hatfield is expected to bring with him. What method in producing the rain has not been disclosed the rainmaker intends to pursue closed.

The contract between the United Agricultural Association and Hatfield set forth that his plant is to be kept in constant operation from the first day of May, 1921, to the first day of August 1921 in the endeavor to bring about the largest possible increased precipitation over and about that portion of Alberta, Canada, and a section of territory at least one hundred miles radius with the city of Medicine Hat, Alberta, as a center.

REVIEWS WORK IN INDUSTRIAL COURT IN STATE KANSAS

Industrial Court Law Proves Effective in Handling Mining Problems of District

Topeka, Kans. Mar. 15.—A review of the workings of the Kansas Industrial Court Lay from a Mine Union officials point of view has been made by Alexander Howat, President of District No. 14, United Mine Workers of America. Mr. Howat says:

The Industrial Court has been in existence one year. During that period it has accomplished nothing in bettering Labor's condition in this state. A few wage claims involving but a very small number of men have been handled by the Industrial Court a few crumbs handed out as a bait to Labor hundreds of dollars have been given to the Public Utilities Corporation in increased rates. Eight or ten cents an hour increase was given to the employees of the Joplin & Pittsburg Railway Company, who were already working for a starvation wage of $3.50 to $4.00 per day, and the passenger rates of the Company were doubled.

The Industrial Court has also added about 33 1-3 per cent to the value of the Telephone Company at Topeka, and did the same at Kansas City, Kansas, and permitted their rates to be adjusted accordingly.

The Industrial court has cost the tax payers many thousands of dollars directly, and many thousands of thousands of dollars in increased rates to public utilities that have been given by the Industrial Court. It has prevented no strikes and has done nothing but aggregate the Labor problem and create industrial strife.

Every honest, self-respecting working man in the state should resent a law of this character. There is no law even in the most autocratic country of Europe today that enslaves the workers in such manner as is intended by this law.

The former Kaiser of Germany claim Great Britain was responsible for the war. That may be, but he will be a long time convincing the world of it.

When Harding gets through waiting on job seekers at the pie counter he may feel like retiring for another Sunday's rest.

President Harding is said to be facing momentous problems. That may be so, but what he faces now is small to comparison to what the future will bring forth.

President Harding is promised much entertainment in handing out plums to office seekers during the next several weeks, and before it's all over he may feel like taking another trip to Florida.

The packers handled congress so successful in closing days that no legislation tending to injure them was passed. This goes to show that producers and consumers have right much work ahead of them if they want to bring about better government of better lobbying conditions.

The proposal of a business man for Mayor and the announcement of an attorney for the same office indicates right much interest in politics this year Mayor Clark has a number of adherents who probably plan to support him until the end, and the election promises to be a warm one.

Six Irishmen are to be hanged in Dublin for alleged complicity in the death of intelligence officers. The country may be in a disturbed state, but it might at least prevent wholesale hanging at any cost. Justice cannot possibly be given any man when such a state of affairs exists, unless something is done to improve the situation the population will be confronted by a reign of terror more actual than in years.

In the last four years of Mr. Wilson's administration, farmers created eighty and a half billion dollars in wealth. The record is one that should cause the American farmer to realize that after all, the former president wasn't such a bad leader. Foreign demands have much to do with conditions of this kind, and the world will be unable to appreciate Mr. Wilson's influence in this direction until after he is out of office a while longer.

The need of better marketing plans has been felt by Pitt county farmers for many years, but they never realized it until conditions made it indisputably plain. Many means of bettering the situation may have been presented by various people during the past several months, but so far only the plan adopted in California has received more than passing attention. The "dumping" of products on the market and receiving any price happening to be paid at the time may be acceptable to some, but the farmer who has been compelled to sell below cost of production realizes the time for a change has come. He has suffered trying experiences such as the American farmer has never known before. It may be all right for some to advise planting greater crops, but to the man who has gained through one year's experience what others gain in several years, is sufficient to justify immediate action and acceptance of definite marketing plans.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

Dr. Clarence Poe yesterday told Pitt county farmers, bankers and business men that the old way of dumping farm products on the market means disaster to the farming industry if not materially improved in the near future. He declared the only way to do away with this serious situation is to get together and organize a cooperative marketing association through which farm products may be sold along the collective bargaining plan as used by the manufacturer and large business organizations.

The reckless way of every man dumping his crop on the market and accepting whatever he can get proved ineffective at a time when it should have been successful, and is today realized absolutely inadequate to meet demands of the future. Dr. Poe is well acquainted with farm conditions in North Carolina and many parts of the world. He made a thorough study of existing conditions, particularly the success of the co-operative marketing plan in foreign countries and when it was adopted first in California, therefore, it may be easily seen that his advocacy of such a measure means something more than mere hot air.

He believes that marketing cotton and tobacco as a whole under direction of men acquainted with the world conditions is safer than trusting individual intelligence, and has sounded the keynote to a greater era in farming by personally advocating the system which eventually is going to be accepted in every part of the United States. Pitt should take careful note of the proposition as one of the greatest bright leaf producing sections of the world marketing plan as it is vitally affected, probably more so than any other one section in North Carolina. Much tobacco and cotton is produced that barely pays cost of production, if this situation is to be remedied it is highly important for definite action in knowing when to market the crop.

This is what the cooperative association intends to do, and there is not the slightest doubt that its leaders cannot be instrumental in leading the former from a state of insolvency to prosperity. The testing season has come, and the farmer that plans for reducing acreage and marketing may look confidently to the future, assured of success and a measure of prosperity.

THE GERMANS ATTITUDE

Dr. Simons, German representative who has been making mighty independent assertions about what Germany intends to do and what she doesn't has admitted that he doesn't believe the general run of people really know what terms of the treaty means to them. This being the case, it looks like it might pay him to keep quiet long enough to make an investigation and then present findings to representatives of Allied governments. It may be mighty nice to act independent in some cases of international intercourse but this time it seems parleying is not going to mean anything to Germany's benefit. The world is getting tired of conditions responsible for the state of social unrest and discord in many sections of the country, and unless Germany acquiesces to demands of the Allied power there is no indication that an improvement will be noticeable. Readjustment is essential to every race at this time and continued parleying over terms which appears fair and just compared to Germany's crime against civilization is not going to improve the situation. Mr. Simons should have learned this months ago in dealing with affairs at the conference, and ought not to be very slow in endeavoring to establish better conditions for his country and those suffering from the effects of the past war.

Prohibition agents are investigating incendiary fires which several days ago destroyed a church and school house in Wake county and supposed to have been started by blockaders and a protest against presence of revenue officers. It is absolutely necessary that persons connected with the crime be apprehended and brought to account for such lawlessness shows a spirit that is dangerous to North Carolina's progress. Reports of other acts of lawlessness have been received from other sections of the country, which indicates a flagrant desire to do away with law and order. Organizations should assist in combatting the situation, and in every way discourage conditions which are anything but pleasing in every sense of the word. So far, Pitt county has not been confronted by any such action, further than moon shining, but it will pay officials to keep a keen lookout for anything bordering acts of violence such as is likely to disturb public peace and order.

You can't always tell, yet sometimes you can, but The Reflector has something new to tell you every day that is worth while.

THIS FAMILY HAS RELIED ON DRECO FOR PAST 3 YEARS

Riggold Farmer Says It Proved Valuable in the Treatment of Stomach Disorders, Constipation, Headache and Gastritis

We've kept Dreco in a handy place for the past three years and when any of us get sick we immediately begin on Dreco and I must say it hasn't failed us yet, said Mrs. S. Y. Wilkinson a well known farmer of Riggold, Va. It seems like some one in the family is always having trouble with their stomach, or if it isn't a bilious spell, constipation or Gastritis

Well, Dreco beats anything I ever saw for putting the stomach in first class condition, regulating the bowels, cleansing the system of excess bile and stimulating the digestive organs that no one has trouble with indigestion.

We would really feel lost without Dreco on the shelf and are only too glad to let others know what we depend on to keep the family's health up to the standard.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren's Drug Company in Greenville and sold by all druggists.
