TOBACCO MARKET CLOSES AFTER AN EVENTFUL SEASON

Careful Estimate Shows That Greenville Market Disposed of Practically 37,000,000 Pounds During Year

Following one of the most eventful seasons in history of the tobacco industry in this section of the country the Greenville tobacco market in reality closed this afternoon, although one or two houses will remain open to take care of the remainder of the crop. It was estimated at completion of sales that the market had handled approximately 37,000,000 pounds of the bright leaf, although this figure cannot be considered altogether accurate owing to inability of the supervisor of sales to determine the total amount handled by each warehouse during the present month.

The closing this morning was without the usual interesting features. There was very little tobacco on the floor, with the exception of one or two houses that carried about the usual amount, and the active interest usually featuring the closing day was absent, probably owing to the general effect of low prices throughout the entire season. Sales were completed much earlier than usual, and this afternoon practically every warehouse floor had been cleaned almost completely.

One or two warehouses previously announced their intention of remaining open a week or so longer in order to take care of that portion of the crop which has not been marketed. Numbers of farmers, it is understood have held back a considerable part of their crop, although it is believed the major portion of the entire yield has been marketed. This fact resulted from resolutions to oppose low prices during the earlier part of the season, but hundreds have been so hard pressed by creditors and threatening insolvency they were forced to sell to protect themselves.

Conditions have been anything but favorable the entire season, but the situation is not confined alone to the Greenville market and has played an important part in every section of the country, even in the largest burly belts. Greenville warehousemen exerted every effort possible to bring about increased prices but this was futile because of existing congestion on foreign markets, and the desire of large corporations not to purchase anything but better grades.

Much of the crop has been composed of inferior qualities, and consequently prices have been in conformity to demand. It is believed, however, that farmers have been impressed that only good grades are desired and will see to it that this year will witness a considerably better grade than in several past seasons.

SEVERAL CASES IN THURSDAY SESSION OF COUNTY COURT

Four Liquor Charges Feature Morning Session of Criminal Term Pitt County Court

Four whiskey cases and three other issues occupied attention of the Criminal term of Pitt county court yesterday one land controversy consuming nearly the entire afternoon session. Action in each of the liquor cases was fast and decisive, and as a consequence the court experienced no delay until becoming engaged in the land controversy issue during the afternoon.

John Bell, colored, charged with selling whiskey, was sentenced to six months on the county road at hard labor, but appealed to superior court. Evidence in the case proved decidedly convicting in every sense of the word, and consequently the defendant saw jail bars gleaming before his eyes long before the action was turned over for jury consideration. He will probably be given a hearing at the next term of superior court.

Joe Everett, recently indicted for having liquor in his possession was sentenced to three months on the county road, later taking an appeal to superior court. The defendant recently fell into the hands of local authorities following an extensive raid, and evidence produced yesterday was indubitably plain and convicting.

James McCullom, appearing upon two separate charges of selling whiskey, was adjudged not guilty in both cases, his release resulting from lack of sufficient evidence to bring about conviction. Roy Coward, also charged with selling whiskey, was found not guilty after the prosecution failed to produce evidence of guilt.

In the case of John Tripp, charged with assault with deadly weapon and carrying concealed weapons, the defendant was found guilty, judgement being reserved. Tripp was charged with assaulting one, Dan Dall with pistol and shotgun, the affair growing out of claiming legal title. Tripp alleged he of a piece of land under dispute, both leased the land, and when Dall tried to take possession of it he went after him in a way tending to bring results. Fred Dall who also was connected in the same case was found guilty of the same charge, judgement also being withheld.

Leland Worthington and Shade McGowan, gambling; not guilty.

DECLARES OPIUM ILLEGALLY SOLD IN JAPAN CITIES

Hundred Million Opium Scandal Brought to light by Prominent Newspaper in Tokio

Tokio, Mar. 18.—A hundred million yen opium scandal involving the Seiyukai party Japanese business and public officials is charged by the Nichinichi which alleges that large quantities of the drug have been illegally handled in Southern Manchuria by the connivance of government officials for the purpose of enriching their own pockets. The allegation are denied by Mr. Nakano, Chief of the Civil Administration Bureau in Dalren.

Millions of yen worth of the drug has passed through Kwantung during the past five years says the Nichinichi of which only a small part has been burned by the government authorities. That which was burned is alleged to have been opium of inferior quality mixed with other substances before being destroyed.

Since April 1915 the sale of opium has been conducted directly by the Civil Administration Bureau in Dalren. It is said. The Okuma Ministry discovered this and forced the profits to be turned into the governments coffers as temporary miscellaneous revenue, the Nichinichi goes on to explain, but when the Seiyukai party came into power after the Teruchi ministry this revenue ceased to a minimum, the explanation given being that the decrease was natural because of the gradual prohibition of the sale of the drug.

CHAMPION FLOWER MAKER OF WORLD AT LAST RETIRES

John Kraft, of Minneapolis, Who Was Made Enough Flour to Feed United States Sees Long Service

Minneapolis, Minn., Mar. 18.—Ranking as the champion flour maker of the world, John Kraft, who retired March first after service for 46 years holds the unique record of making enough flour to feed the entire population of the United States and its possessions for a period of one year. Because of empered vision, Mr. Kraft, who is 69 years old, terminated his connection with a local flour company after establishing a record which milling engineers believe will stand for many years.

Engineers at the plant estimate that during his 46 years of active service Mr. Kraft made 138,000,000 barrels of flour. According to the veteran miller, an average normal person consumes about one barrel of flour a year or its equivalent. Mr. Kraft's output therefore could feed the population of the entire United States and its possessions which is approximately 115,000,000 and at the end of one year have a large surplus left.

Expressed by milling engineers, the stupendous amount of flour milled under Kraft's eyes would if placed in barrels end to end, extend around the world three times; would cover every square foot of the site of Minneapolis with flour six inches deep and if loaded for shipment, would require 400,000 cars or 15,300 average trains.

Mr. Kraft has been a head miller for 38 years and during that time has had three mills under his supervision.

Born in Schelotzau, Germany, Jan. 12, 1852, he came to this country when 20 years of age. It was not until he had resided here three years that he obtained employment in the mills.

Beginning at the bottom as a sweeper he gradually worked his way up thru the various stages of smutter, machine tender and grinder. He was made a head miller in 1883. Five years later he was in charge of three mills. In 1908, with advancing years he relinquished his authority over two of them.

HIGH PRICES HOLD SUPREME SWAY IN FRENCH DISTRICT

Householders Still Forced to Pay Over Four Times As Much As Pre-war Prices

Paris, March 18.—The French householders are still paying more than four times the pre-war prices for the necessities of life, although there has been big declines in the cost of living.

The French government has made public figures comparing the living cost in France with those in the United States as given by Brad Street's and for Great Britain, as given by the Statistics These show that the peak for the cost of living in all three countries was attained in April 1920. Taking the prices of 1913 as normal, or 100 percent, the prices of necessities in April last year are given as 587.5 percent in France; 225.1 in the United States and 313.1 in Great Britain.

According to the government figures these percentages had declined in December last 464 percent in France and 243.5 in Great Britain. The figure for the United States in November last was given as 147.9 percent. The December figures were not given. Most of the French newspapers find the joy of the reduction in the cost of living tempered by knowledge that it is still more than four times higher than in 1913 and that it is accentuated by much unemployment.

Business Men and Planters Pledge Hearty Support at Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night

McCrary TELLS OF WHAT IS BEING DONE IN OTHER PARTS OF THE COUNTRY

Several Speakers Urge Planters to Get Busy and Organize as Soon as Possible

Probably one of the most enthusiastic meetings conducted in this country since the opening of the co-operative marketing campaign was held in the Mayor's office in Bethel last night and attended by about fifty of the most prominent business men, bankers and cotton and tobacco growers of the community. The meeting was presided over by S. M. Jones, mayor of the town, who at the outset spoke favorably of the issue and declared it to be the only definite means of relieving the state depression which has faced the Southern farmer for the past several months.

Other speakers of the evening was O. F. McCrary, of Washington, district farm demonstration agent, W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of Pitt county and Messrs, G. L. Moore, H. V. Staton and Z. B. Bunting of Bethel. Practically every man present evinced perfect willingness to become a member of the association and do everything in his power in causing hundreds of planters of the territory to also become active members. They agreed to furnish automobiles for the canvassing party to visit that section next Thursday and assist in scouring the country in an effort to get every man possible to sign up.

Mr. McCrary, who delivered the principal address of the evening, explained in detail the contract as it is to affect the farmer after organization is perfected, and declared that the farmer who remains on the outside will be the one to suffer from low prices of the future. There is no necessity in a man receiving prices below cost of production when the co-operative marketing plan is in existence, he declared, for it removes disorganization in marketing and supplants old methods with a definite plan providing equal prices for all members.

California, Florida, and other states are finding the plan advisable for disposing of their crops, he declared and there is no reason in the world why Pitt county planters should not find it equally as favorable. It simply substitutes the old way of dumping products on the market for a direct way of merchandising such as used by many of the largest business organizations and industries in the world. The plan first originated in Switzerland, and proved so superior to the old way that it attracted other localities, and is today acknowledged as the only direct medium by which the planter may save himself from surreptitious forces eternally trying to purchase offering at prices considerably below production cost.

The time has come he continued, when it is either accept principles such as outlined by the co-operative marketing association or face immediate bankruptcy, or a long period of insolvency. The past has proven how ineffective the old way is, and when such concrete proof is in existence, there is no reason in the world for even the smallest kind of growers to stand back and delay because he doesn't understand every principle embraced in the plan. It is unquestionably certain experienced buyers fully acquainted with world conditions are more capable of fixing upon ascertaining fair prices than the inexperienced farmer. And it is this fact that is going to mean so much when the market is controlled by organization of farmers with such men acting as their advisers and leaders.

Mr. Moore and Mr. Staton urged that the plan be accepted without further delay as conditions at this time demand concerted action. They reiterated Mr. McCrary's statement that other states had found the measure the most advisable, and ventured that another

SAYS WOMEN OF JAPAN AWAKENING TO LIFE POSITION

Representatives of Diet Champion Bill Giving Women Eight of Attending Political Meetings

Tokio, Feb. 18.—Japanese women are beginning to awake to their real position, declared Representative Ichinomiya in the Diet while favoring the bill to abolish the way which prevents women from attending political meetings or joining political associations. The measure which was supported by members of all parties in the House is regarded as an important step in the emancipation of Japanese women.

Socialism and women's suffrage, continued the Representative, who belongs to the governmental Seiyunka party, constituted the two great streams of the world wide social movement. The women of Japan are coming into contact with the broad current of international thought. It is quite natural and right that the fair sex should, under these circumstances aspire to share with men political privileges.

The women are now allowed to discuss and read journals and books dealing with political problems, and yet they are denied the right to attend political meetings. This is a once absurd and unwise, and if the government does not make way for the natural claim of the women the time may come when the authorities may find themselves forced to do so through the over growing pressure of the progressive times.

Representative Matsumoto, Independent, proposed change. In giving the 30, was another warm advocate of 000,000 women of Japan, he said a chance of acquiring political knowledge the government will take a broad stride toward real, national development. Women should not only be admitted into public meetings of political significance, but should also be entitled to the right of organizing political bodies of their own if occasion requires. The self-awakening of the fair sex is a fact that cannot be gainsaid. Society has attained such a marked advancement that, with out political knowledge and comprehension no woman can be competent wives and mothers in the future.

Friday Afternoon March 18

Pie hunting, according to reports, is one of the most popular pastimes in Washington just at this time. Which indicates, we suppose, that President Harding has his hands full serving the pie.

President Harding has selected a Southern man for director of the government mint, and he happens to be from Texas. This goes to show that political pull has much to do with such appointments, especially in states that fly the Republican banner.

Seven of the richest men of the state paid over a fourth of the entire income tax for the year of 1918, according to figures recently compiled by the treasury department. That's mighty generous but there are many people stingy enough to hope they will pay the whole amount next time.

Democratic postmasters stand little show of holding their jobs now that the G. O. P. has taken charge of the government. And there are very few desirous of doing so either. It seems certain that they want to turn the whole business over and see if the pie hunters are capable of doing any better.

The Allied Reparations committee says Germany must be ready to present its billion marks indemnity by next Wednesday or take the consequences. A United States bank has been included as one of the depositaries, but there's little use in this action as the Allies will probably be able to care for everything they get out of Germany.

The new secretary of Agriculture says he must do everything possible to find an outlet for the great food surplus in the country. While he's looking for the outlet, he might as well find the cotton and tobacco crop too so that farmers may be enabled to plant a full crop. The surplus may be great in all parts of the country, but decline in prices so far hasn't indicated such. Many merchants still contend they must charge high prices, when in reality they are reaping enormous profits nearly as great as those during the war. If the secretary should find a way of reducing prices the public will be probably more appreciative.

The fact that North Carolina paid the Federal Treasurer over $56,253,100 in 1918 doesn't indicate that the state is poor in the slightest sense of the word. In other words, it shows we are in much better condition financially than many people would have us believe, for any state that can pay this amount in income tax alone certainly is far from bankruptcy or permanent depression. There are hundreds of people who like to hide behind some screen to keep from paying just debts, and they are the ones who are using the hard time plea so extensively. They may be able to get by for a while with such propaganda, but after the mask of uncertainty has been removed from public mind conditions will change in many different ways, and thousands of people more directly able to divide the right between the wrong. North Carolina is a comparatively rich state even though planters lost millions of dollars in the cotton crop. The future is just as bright as ever if they follow principles laid down by leaders endeavoring to make reconstruction of benefit to everyone. Taxation is a pretty good index to resourcefulness of a community, particularly Uncle Sam's collection of the income tax.

Fayetteville people continue to contribute liberally to funds being raised for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building, latest reports declaring that the goal is near at hand. This is certainly commendable spirit on the part of the people of that city, and sets a record that other sections of the state might prosper by. Greenville would do mighty well to be one of the first to follow the example, for right at this time there would be nothing more in demand and more absolutely necessary to the future. There are hundreds of young men who would gladly take advantages of what the Y. M. C. A. has to offer in the way of recreation and amusement, and there is every reason to believe that a higher standard of citizenship would result from such an influence. Numbers of towns considerably smaller than Greenville has responded to public needs in this way, and that they have profited is set forth in reports made public from time to time. This is a period when young men are subject to many demoralizing influences, but when they have some clean place of recreation to go to at nights many are saved from careers which otherwise would be of little influence in public life. Fayetteville is to be congratulated upon its splendid accomplishment. It has the right kind of people and deserves progress along every line of industry.

With three candidates already in the ring for mayor of Greenville, it looks like the contest is going to prove rather interesting, particularly since Mayor Clark has many staunch supporters who intend to make it their business to see that he is elected for another term. The present administration, while severely criticized by people not acquainted with conditions, has established a pretty favorable record. It has had many problems of social and economic reform to grapple with and so far the fight has proven very satisfactory. It's a mighty difficult proposition for any body of men to handle a municipality's affairs without incurring displeasure and disparaging criticism, but when a man does the best he can and still maintains the friendship of old followers he has accomplished something to be proud of that's all there is to it.

The department of Agricultural of the United States has just issued a statement to the effect that $622,000,000 is available to North Carolina for road and bridge construction. This sum comes out of recent government appropriation and ought to be sufficient to complete work on numbers of hard surfaced thoroughfares which have been under construction for some time. North Carolina is making pretty good progress in road improvement in the eastern section, and in the course of a few years travelers may be able to reach even isolated communities without much difficulty. The program to be instituted by the State together with government appropriations will bring about great changes, and mean much to industrial and commercial development.

Mayor Clark declares Greenville has one of the most efficient police departments in this section of the state. This is very pleasing and ought to be instrumental in improving social conditions before election comes off. Greenville has been confronted by a dangerous liquor traffic since prohibition, became effective, but it seems the traffic has been reduced slightly owing to commendable police vigilance.

BETHEL GROWERS

year's delay would mean nothing more than direct ruination. There is no such thing as the methods not applying to this section. They have proven fully adequate everywhere else, and certainly should be as applicable in one of the greatest tobacco and cotton producing sections of the nation

Mr. Pac asked co-operation of business men, bankers, and farmers as they are all vitally affected in this supreme attempt to stabilize business and improve conditions in the future. He said Pitt county ought to lead every other section of the state in pledges, because it is one of the most productive farming sections and more vitally affected than all others. The campaign period, he declared, and it is the duty of every man to get busy and help put the marketing plan across.

The Uphill Road After Forty-Five

In America, men age swiftly after their forty-fifth year. Digestive disorders, particularly constipation, are in many cases the underlying causes for this premature aging of the system.

Physicians, recognizing the far-reaching dangers of constipation, advise against the indiscriminate use of laxatives and cathartics. Such drugs eventually make worse the malady for which they are taken.

Nujol works on an entirely new principle.

Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables it to pass through the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in the proper way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system.

Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain a steady, thorough bowel movement at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles, bearing Nujol trade mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Building, New York City, 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

LAST NIGHT

I sat with one I love last night,
She sang to me an' olden strain,
In former times it woke delight,
Last night—but pain.
Last night we saw the stars arise,
But clouds soon dimmed the ether blue:
And when we sought each other's eyes
Tears dimmed them too!
We paced along our favorite walk,
But paced in silence broken-hearted;
Of old used to smile and talk;
Last night—we parted.

RETURNS FROM TRIP TO JACKSONVILLE

Rev. F. H. Scattergood and Mr. Hill Horne returned this morning from Jacksonville where they went to attend the installation exercises of Mr. John D. Warlick, as High Priest elect of the Jacksonville Royal Arch Chapter No. 80. Mr. Horne, before the election of Mr. Warlick, held this high position, but having moved to Greenville several months ago, bringing his membership to the local Lodge he left a vacancy which Mr. Warlick will fill while acting as High Priest of the Jacksonville Chapter Mr. Horne served with efficiency and the Jacksonville Chapter reluctantly gives him up.

Rev. Scattergood and Mr. Horne went out on a fishing trip combining pleasure with business and they report a great success, although, on account of distance and warm weather, they could not bring the fish home. They left Jacksonville yesterday afternoon and stopped over in Washington to attend a stated convocation of Calvary Commandary No. 25, at which recommendation was made to the Grand Commandary of the State of North Carolina, that dispensation be granted to Bethlehem Commandary No. U. D. to institute a Commandary in Greenville, N. C. This will undoubtedly bring joy to the hearts of all Sir Knights in this vicinity as it is something which has been looked forward to with a great deal of interest for the past few weeks.

The Smartest of New Spring Shoes

When such galaxy of designs is brought forth as has appeared for Spring 1921, it requires much careful thought to determine which of the many variations are most to be desired.

For a shoe must look pretty on your foot. It must be so designed and constructed that it's beauty will be lastingly. How disappointing is a shoe that is over-trimmed, or one that soon becomes shapeless and "sloppy" looking. In addition to style corrections, and the assured service of these aluring new shoes, you'll discover pleasing price moderation.

ROCKY MOUNT MAN SAYS DRECO HAS BENEFITED HIM

Roused His Sluggish Liver, Relieved Constipation, Stopped Gas In Stomach; Says This Root and Herb Medicine Is Great

While I was working up at Camp Lee in Petersburg, I took some of this Dreco and it sure did me lots of good, declared Mr. J. R. Holloway who now resides in Rocky Mount, N. C.

My liver was lazy which made me dizzy and little specks would dance before my eyes, my tongue was coated and breath foul I stayed constipated all the time and had to take pills or salts most every day. I got nervous and my stomach would fill up with sour gas.

It didn't take long for Dreco to get to work on me. Very soon I noticed my bowels acting free and easy every day without taking pills the gas ceased forming in my stomach and the dizzy spells passed off. I took two bottles of Dreco altogether, and it overcame all my troubles completely and filled me with energy and vigor. I never miss a chance to tell about this splendid medicine.
