

TRAINING SCHOOL SOCIETIES ENGAGE IN LONG DEBATES

Sidney Lanier and Edgar Allen Poe Societies in Spirited Contest Saturday Afternoon

Two Literary societies of the Training school, the Sidney Lanier and Edgar Allan Poe, held the campus Saturday, for it was the date of the annual inter society debating contest. On Saturday evening the representatives of the two societies debated for the cup. The Laniers were the winners of the cup, and are therefore the debating champions of the year. The query was resolved, that the incoming Congress should devise and put into operation a plan for the immediate independence of the Philippine Islands. The Laniers upheld the affirmative and the Poes the negative.

There was unusual interest this year because the form of the debate was changed from the conventional debate with two against two, and the open form used in its stead. This threw the representatives on a group, and made the debate conform more nearly to the practical debating on the floor of an assembly, where give and take is the order of the day, and where open discussion follows the speeches.

The rules drawn up for this particular debate stated that the minimum number of speakers was to be seven and the maximum number ten, but that each one of the number could speak as many times as she pleased. The time allotted to each side was forty five minutes, and they were told how much time was left them.

Mr Underwood was referee, presiding over the debate. He is an excellent parliamentarian and kept the crowd in a good humor. Miss Helen Bahnsen, the chairman of the inter society committee, explained the new form and read the rules. Her introductory remarks were in a happy vein. She gave credit to some of the debaters of the evening would get a chance in the future to debate in the General Assembly of North Carolina. Miss Bahnsen and her sister Miss Elizabeth Bahnsen, secretary of the inter society committee were the time keepers. Misses Katie Harris, from the Poe Society, and Elizabeth Vaughn, from the Lanier Society were promoters who had cards with the names of the debaters on them, and whenever a speaker arose, the prompter for that side slipped a card across and the referee was thus enabled to call the name.

The rules of the debate gave as the minimum number of speakers seven, and the maximum number ten. Only three of whom could be from the Senior Class, and the majority of whom must be from the Junior class. The debaters from the Lanier Society were as follows:

Misses Annie Ruth Joyner, Lucy Andrews, Helen Watson, Elsie Wilson, Lillie Mae Dawson, Beatrice James, Augusta Woodard, Charlie Mae Barker and Blanche Harris. The debaters from the Poe Society were Misses Helen Croon, Grace Strassburger, Camilla Pittard, Carrie Lee Bell, Mamie Hayes, Oma O'Brien and Melissa Hicks.

The judges were Mr. West, Y. M. C. A. secretary of Wilson, Mr. Ashley, superintendent of the Washington School and Mr. Sack, principal of the Greenville High School.

After the debate the debaters and presidents of the two societies were entertained in the parlors of the West Dormitory.

The victorious society gave a serenade after the debate.

SPLENDID CROWD ATTENDS OPENING BAPTIST REVIVAL

Both Morning and Evening Services At Memorial Baptist Church Prove Decidedly Interesting

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN WILL BE CONDUCTED BY PASTOR OF THE CHURCH

Song Service Under Direction of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Proves Pleasing Feature of Services

Sunday was a glad and interesting day for the congregation of Memorial Baptist church. It marked two important events in the life on the church returning to their own house of worship following the completion of improvements recently made to the building, and the beginning of evangelistic services to continue through two weeks.

Those who yesterday saw the building for the first time since the improvements were made were delighted with the changed appearance. The repainting of the auditorium and re-arrangement of lights transformed it into a place of real beauty. The change in the Sunday school class rooms on the first floor was equally as great, these also being newly painted throughout and re-seated, making them most attractive.

The services of the day began with the Sunday school at which there was an attendance of about three hundred. The secretary's record made the number 279, but it was known that several others who came after the class rooms had been passed were not included in the count. There was a contest between the Berean and Philathea classes to see which could show the largest attendance. The Philathea won by the narrow margin of three, having 73 against 70 for the Bereans.

The 11:00 o'clock service opened the evangelistic campaign for which the church has been planning. The pastor, Rev. Leland W. Smith, who will do the preaching during this series of meetings, gave most timely and forcible sermons at both the morning and evening services. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Montgomery, of Williamston, S. C., who are here to lead the music during the meeting were in charge of this part of services. Mr. Montgomery is not only a good singer but, also a trained director, and from the outset awakened the interest of the congregation to take part in the singing. Mrs. Montgomery is an accomplished pianist and also has a voice of rare volume and sweetness. The duets they rendered at the services Sunday were delightful.

The service tonight will begin at 7:30 and those who wish to get most enjoyment out of the singing should attend on time. With tomorrow there will be two services daily, one beginning promptly at 8 o'clock in the morning and lasting just three quarters of an hour, and the evening service at 7:45. All people of the community are invited and urged to attend the meetings.

The blessings that will result from these meetings will be measured by the interest of the people.

DEPLORES FATE OF SUFFRAGE BILL BEFORE THE DIET

Japanese Journal Disappointed Over Action of Statesmen in Considering Man Suffrage Measure

Tokio, Mar. 21.—Nothing can be more miserable disappointing, says the Nichinichi than the fate in the Diet of the bill for universal man suffrage. In this respect, the journal thinks the suffrage movement bears a strong resemblance to the demonstration started some 90 years ago by the Chartist party in England.

It continues: The bill for universal suffrage was slain but it is the one proposed by political parties that was shattered. The bill in the hand of the mass of the people will nevertheless force itself on the government at every opportunity until it is realized. The failure of the bill in the hands of political parties was due to the wrong policy of the Kenseikai, which not only made a mess of the bill itself, but introduced a serious chasm in the very foundation of the party in the form of the expulsion of Yukio Osaki, one of the party leaders.

The Jiji thinks that the regret is not so much at the failure of the bill itself as the disgraceful poor show that lack of unity and prudence. It was the Kenseikai that gave birth to the universal man suffrage project, but it was also the same party that killed it with criminal cruelty.

The newspaper went on: The lack of unity that marked the Kenseikai so conspicuously when the bill in question was introduced in the Diet for discussion gave silent, but nevertheless eloquent confession to the general incapacity of the Kenseikai as an opposition party. This deserves the regret of the people since much depends upon the sound development of the opposition party for the improvement of constitutional government.

FEDERAL AGENTS TO UNCOVER CITY 4,000 YEARS OLD

Mexican Government Appropriates Funds for Uncovering City That Flourished Many Years Ago

San Juan, Teotihuacan, Mexico, Mar. 21.—Prospecting for the habitations of a lost race in virtually the same manner as miners dig for gold, Federal employes here have just started to uncover the remains of a city of at least 100,000 inhabitants which flourished 4,000 or more years ago. Here and there over the confines of the burned city have been sunk shafts to find streets, houses and temples known to exist below the level of the mountain valley in which lies the little village of San Juan Teotihuacan, the name of which means in the Aztec tongue, City of the Gods.

The Mexican government has appropriated funds for this work of excavation which is in charge of Manuel Gamio, director of anthropology of the department of agriculture. The government hopes eventually to make the spot one of the show places of Mexico.

Dominating the area are two pyramids, one to the Sun and the other to the Moon (which for centuries have defied the efforts of archeologists and historians to trace their origin.

PROHIBITION HAS PRODUCED DROP IN PRISON SENTENCE

Decrease in Total Population of Prison in Southwestern States Attributed to Prohibition

Chicago, Mar. 21.—Decrease in the total population of state prisons in the middle west and southwestern states is attributed in a part to prohibition by a number of state prison authorities. Other reasons noted included high wages and shortage of labor, the indeterminate sentence and the merit system. The falling off for 16 states as noted in reports collected here by the Associated Press amounted on Dec. 1, 1920, nearly an eighth of the total on Dec. 1, 1914.

In commenting on the decrease in states where it occurred more prison officials named prohibition than any other single reason. Several citing industrial conditions, gave this cause greater weight than prohibition.

From one of the states that reported an increase, Ohio, the warden of the penitentiary reported he did not believe that prohibition had decreased crime.

The decrease in prisoners was not uniform but took place in nine states where the total decrease wiped out an increase in six states and showed a net decrease for the entire sixteen, one remaining stationary.

New features in the character of crime and criminals were noted by several state officials.

I believe that there has been a general decrease in the prison population of the country said Henry Town, warden of the Wisconsin state prison at Waupun. This can be attributed in part to the restricted sale of intoxicating liquor and also to the fact that labor has been scarce and high wages have been paid.

WALES SHOWING PROGRESS ALONG INDUSTRIAL LINES

Renewed Attention Is Called to Remarkable Progress of Oil Town Near Swansea

London, Mar. 21.—Renewed attention has just been called to the romantic story of the industrial development in South Wales, a land of romance in industry, by the building of a new $7,000,000 oil town near Swansea, with homes for a population of 1,500 workers.

The site for the new enterprise for the refining of oil brought there from the Persian Gulf is Skewen, between Neath and Swansea where vast oil refineries have been constructed.

There within a boundary wall 15 miles in circumference a great oil company has built a new town, including schools, canteens, a postoffice and a hall, almost every adjunct for the comfort and convenience of the workers and their families who are to inhabit the place.

FUND STILL BEING RECEIVED FOR CHINESE

The following contributions have been received for China Relief since Saturdays paper.

Previously reported $1478.50. Dorothy White, $1; Dr. W. H. Dixon (Ayden) $5.

There is a little story connected with the one dollar gift. Dorothy White, the giver is the little six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White. She was on the honor roll last month and her parents gave her a dollar. Different suggestions were offered for the use of the dollar, but Dorothy waived them all aside by stating in her childish manner that she was going to give her money to Jim Turner, to send to the little Chinese children. This is unusual as a child thinks of self first, and her unselfish spirit should inspire people to follow the example which she has set.

JUDGE HORTON TO HOLD COURT HERE NEXT TWO WEEKS

Pitt County Man to Preside Over Two Week Term of Pitt County Civil Superior Court

The regular two week term of Pitt county Superior court for the trial of civil cases convened in Greenville this morning with Judge J. Lloyd Horton, of Farmville, presiding. The calendar consists of about the usual number of cases involving controversies which have been pending consideration for several weeks.

The first appearance of Judge Horton here is greeted with considerable interest from many sections of the county where he is well known, as his rapid advance in the legal profession has been a subject of much favorable comment. He is a native of Farmville and a former solicitor of superior court in the Fifth Judicial district. Last year he announced his intention of becoming a candidate for judgeship and secured such a large following that he succeeded in rolling up a large majority election day. He was later appointed to fill out an unexpired term of a retiring official in another section of the state.

Judge Horton won deserving recognition from the public and press immediately after assuming duties in his new field of endeavors and distinguished himself several times in brilliant charges to grand juries. Decision in important issues were sources of much comment, and he presides over the first court in Pitt county today with a record of being the youngest and most successful official in the country.

The civil court docket has been congested almost beyond hope of relief for the past several months, and the cases to be heard this session are considered the most pressing and were selected by attorneys because of their urgency. Work has been conducted expeditiously practically every term, but actions accumulated more quickly than the court has been able to discharge. There are from sixty to eighty cases awaiting consideration this session, but with good weather and available witnesses it is believed the calendar will be virtually cleared.

LITTLE BOYS HURT WHILE PLAYING WITH DYNAMITE

Masters Calvin Gorman and John Hassell received painful injuries Saturday afternoon while playing with some dynamite caps and as a result John has a burned hand, while Calvin is confined to his bed, with both arms bandaged up, two fingers partially gone from his left hand and his right hand badly burned.

The little boys on Saturday, went out to the Gorman farm a few miles from town. While out in the barn they found a few dynamite caps which were to be used for the purpose of blowing up stumps. Not realizing the danger of the explosives they slipped a few in their pockets and, returned home. Later in the afternoon while out playing, they, with the use of their scout knives, began opening the caps, and as soon as the air struck the explosives the accident occurred. While both little boys were hurt, it is remarkable that they were not killed or disfigured for life. The physicians are trying to save the greater portion of Calvin's fingers.

MARKETING PLAN TO BE PUSHED IN EVERY TERRITORY

Signing Up of Farmers to Begin Today With Meeting at Bell Arthur and Bell's Cross Roads

DEMONSTRATION AGENTS OPTIMISTIC FOR FINAL OUTCOMING OF CAMPAIGN

Members of the State Extension Department to Assist in Completing Drive During the Week

The signing up this week of cotton and tobacco growers as active members will mark the concluding chapter in the campaign which has been conducted intensively in this section of the state for the past several days. Canvassing committees composed of district demonstration agents and members of the State Extension department will leave Greenville this afternoon for Bell Arthur and Bell's Cross Roads where large crowds are expected to be in attendance and in readiness for signing the contract which is conceded as the only direct means of relieving the state of depression faced by the planter for the past months.

The campaign last week was carried and cross roads of the county for the into practically every important town purpose of enlightening the planter of principles of the co-operative marketing plan, and what it really means to future of the industry. Considerable interest was aroused among prominent business men, and bankers also, and indications point to unexpected success. The business man and banker became interested because the issue vitally affects everyone by its tendency of stabilizing business and thereby producing better economic conditions.

Farmers Vitality Affected

The campaign committee will be accompanied by O. F. McCrary, district farm demonstration agent and W. B. Pace, county demonstration agent, who accomplished much splendid work last week, and it is expected their influence will be of great value in finally bringing the issue to a conclusion. Fifty percent of the planters of every district must sign the contract before the marketing plan will become effective, and it is highly important that every person possible assist in convincing the farmer of the wisdom of accepting better marketing conditions before it is too late to accomplish any good.

Demonstrators Hopeful

Both Mr. Pace and Mr. McCrary were optimistic today concerning the outcome of the drive, and expressed belief that practically every important farmer of the county will be signed up together with numbers of business men. Many expressions of confidence in the plan have been received from persons prominently connected with agricultural development of the county, and as they have been hard at work explaining fundamental principles embodied in the measure, it is improbable that any man interested in the future of the industry will fail to sign the contract.

Ayden, Winterville and Grifton districts are about the only sections so far that have not reported public sentiment, but from expressions received from a number of business men it is quite evident growers are in a mood for better conditions, and will readily accept the marketing plan. The depression on both the cotton and tobacco market has produced unusual conditions in virtually every territory, but there is every reason to believe the curtailment of acreage and better marketing should bring about recovery in the near future. At least, this is popular opinion prevailing among interests acquainted with state, national and world conditions, and there is every reason to believe it correct.

would save president Harding much trouble if members of the cabinet would preside at the pie counter in his place. But all the same, it is evident that he is getting much pleasure out of the experience, and for one time in his life enjoys authority that is accorded few people.

The government is giving draft evaders a last chance of getting on good terms with Uncle Sam, and those who fail to report are going to find their names published in leading newspapers of the country. That may be, but it is a safe bet the fellow who has escaped thus far is going to remain silent until his Uncle Sammy collars him as an individual.

It is hardly probable many farmers be misled in the proposed reduction of cotton and tobacco acreage this year. There has been enough information circulated in every nook and cranny of the country to prevent any misunderstanding as to the right thing to do, and the farmer who cultivates the usual large crop intending to shield himself by pleading ignorance, is lost, that's all there is to it. Congestion of the market demands direct curtailment of the crop and persons failing to abide by the rules ought to suffer the consequences.

Fayetteville has set a mighty fast pace for other cities of the state in raising funds for the proposed Y. M. C. A. building. The committee started out to raise $40,000 for the project, but secured over that amount the first day and then placed the objective at $60,000. The latest report shows the total has been reached. The example is one that ought to be considered by many sections of the state. The Y. M. C. A. is an institution necessary to the welfare of young men in every community, as it stimulates a desire for better social conditions. Greenville would not miss by inaugurating a campaign similar to Fayetteville's for if there's anything needed here it's a place of recreation where the business man may enjoy his evenings at some profitable pastime. The proposition is an appealing one to most any section looking forward to the best interest of its people and ought to receive the consideration which it deserves.

Allies have increased the occupation area in Germany nearly to Essen. This fact goes to show they mean business in every sense of the word and are going to collect the indemnity from Germany one way or another. There has been much speculation as to Germany's ability to pay the amount demanded, but this will be more easily ascertained when the country returns to a normal stage of production. It must be remembered that it is easily for crafty unprincipled people to cover up natural resources in a case like this, and about the only way the Allies will ever be able to find out what is fair and just is to keep tabs on taxation and industrial operations under normal conditions for at least a year. The situation is anything but pleasing, but Germany foretells the world into a conflict that provokes hostility to all countries backed and reckoning time has come. There is no alternative. Reparation is demanded by those suffering from the nation's ruthlessness and she must face the consequences.

UNEMPLOYMENT SERIOUS

The unemployment situation is assuming serious proportions in many sections of the United States at this time, according to figures recently compiled by the Department of Labor. The situation in the South, the report declares continues to grow worse, and it is quite probable thousands will be jobless by closing of the summer months. Denver Colorado, so far leads the entire nation in the number of unemployed people as large industries of many kinds are closed down and show no signs of resuming operation in several weeks or even months.

While conditions in the South are considered anything but pleasing, people are not suffering from the results of unemployment as in other localities. The farming industry which has always been the salvation of this section is providing work for thousands who went to large cities seeking employment at high prices prevailing while inflation was at its best. Things have changed so greatly during the past few months that they gladly turn their heads toward the farm where plenty of work is waiting, although prices are not what they should be.

The chief cause of so much unemployment is not in lack of work as in the attitude of the workman by not being willing to accept necessary reductions in wages. This fact has been impressing upon the public mind very plainly since deflation became in progress and early indications pointed to extreme conditions in virtually every branch of business. Things may run on like they are now for a short time, but sooner or later the average working man is going to realize that the country is not disposed to tolerate idleness and demands the very best which every man has to give. It may be some time, of course, before this fact is fully realized, but circumstances in which starvation and hard times play an important part generally work wonderful changes, particularly in cases like this.

The time has come for every laborer to understand that abnormality and extortionate wages cannot exist all the time, and when this takes place it is probably an improvement may be in evidence. Its mighty unusual for the prosperous American laborer to have to yield to such a state of affairs, but it's going to prove good for him, and bring about more direct appreciation of legitimate employment.

The city manager plan is to be revived in Rocky Mount at the next municipal election. It's all right to revive the issue, but as to adopting it the town will find it better to remain as it is.

BETTER TRANSPORTATION

The fact that railroad rates continue to increase in different parts of the country causes belief that the future will witness greater use of hard surfaced roads than ever before. This is easily derived from the gradual decline in the price of gasoline and disposition of the public not to tolerate extortionate railroad rates any longer than forced too. Transportation by automobile trucks over hard surfaced roads may be conducted as cheaply as by railroad, and it is certain service would be considerably better in many different ways.

The country in the course of a few years will be almost completely linked together by splendid highway systems, and when this takes place transportation by railway will be almost entirely succeeded by the automobile. That this will practically revolutionize industry and commerce is indubitable. Large business concerns will rely almost solely on the quickest transportation medium possible, and the automobile truck will prove as great advantage to civilization as the railway system formerly did.

This method of transportation has been conducted on a small scale in many parts of the United States and proved very satisfactory, but with high rates continued to be charged by the railroads it is certain its growth will be far more extensive than dreamed of in the past. It seems now that the price of gasoline and automobiles is going to make it possible for big industries to purchase large numbers at nominal prices, and when this occurs business is going to fall off with the railroads and many lines forced to either retire from business or reduce rates. When that time comes American people are going to enjoy condition entirely new and novel, and the country will be in position to compete with other nations without being handicapped by lack of proper transportation facilities.

MINUTE PRAYING

The notice that through united request coming from churches some cities have announced an entire suspension of business for just one minute and that minute to be devoted to prayer promptly at three o'clock Good Friday afternoon, which will be next Friday. Why not let such observance be nation wide and participated in by all people in cities, towns, and country. It would be most timely and would call the attention of people to their dependence upon God. It is recalled that during the hours of the last world war this custom of one minute silent prayer was of daily observance by many. The people need no less to call upon God now than they did in the midst of war.

The whole civilized world could well afford to join in recognition of Him for one minute at 3 o'clock next Friday afternoon, especially since that day and hour commemorates the time when Christ gave up his life on the cross for the sins of the world.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION CAUSES NO REDUCTION IN MATRIMONIAL CANDIDAT

The first week the bill become effective witnessed a slight falling off, things have picked up. The Bellamy legislation provided for physical examination of applicants for marriage licenses produced a slight falling off in business with Register Deeds Gaskins the first week it became in force, but since that time the average has been considerably better if not as good as before the bill was introduced. Figures for the past week shows that licenses have been about equally divided between white and colored people, with the exception of Friday when all four were issued to colored persons. They are: William Outlaw to Lena Bell Joyner, both Greenville; John E. Joyner to Mary Carr, both of Farmville district; James Arthur Williams to Florence Ellis, of Ayden territory.

CARD OF THANKS

We know that it is indeed impossible to thank our many friends in Greenville and in Pitt county for their acts of kindness and words of sympathy and comfort in our hours of grief. It seems the word thanks is not big enough nor can it carry what is in our hearts. We do know that our many kind friends certainly helped to lighten the burden.

We both look forward to returning to Greenville among our many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Schonberger

without skilled labor

You can't expect Beaver Board results unless this trade-mark is on the back of the board you buy.

You can't beat a good carpenter at his own trade, but when carpenters are hard to get, you'll be surprised at the things you can do with Beaver Board. This 'ready to use' wall and ceiling material comes in handy panels that apply right over studding or old walls. Simply nail it, paint it, and place the decorative strips—and your room is finished. And once up, it's always up—it will never crack or fall.

How about your other building requirements? Our place is headquarters for lumber of all kinds, and we make our prices right. A call puts you under no obligation, and perhaps we can save you money. Come in and see us.

Edison reveals voice secrets

ONLY 22 singers, out of 3,800, sing pure notes.

Many popular opera and concert stars have serious defects in their voices.

"Stage-personality" enables many a singer of poor voice to gain success as an operatic star.

These amazing facts are told by Mr. Edison in a recent interview on "The Imperfections of the Human Voice." Ask for a copy.

He detected and analyzed these vocal defects through the New Edison.

If the New Edison can reveal the defects of mediocre voices to scientists,—it can bring the perfections of great voices to you.
