FINES FEATURE IN MONDAY SESSION OF COUNTY COURT

Defendants in Several Instances Donated Generously in Helping Provide for City Schools

About the usual number of cases were disposed of in the regular Monday session of Pitt county court which held forth in the jury rooms at the court house yesterday morning. There were numbers of cases on docket for the day, but those considered involved more than usual controversy and necessitated considerable delay. Heavy fines predominated as usual, and numbers of violators of the law left the court house after contributing their proportionate part to maintenance of city schools.

Judge Cooper carefully considered each case and dealt out justice in a way that carried terror to the hearts of every person up for hearing. Practically all cases had their origination in mayors court and bills of cost added to fines produced a state of complete bankruptcy to all colored defendants who are not as able to bear heavy costs as they were sometime ago when wages were better and their services more in demand in every branch of industry.

Roy Dixon, Alonzo Joyner, Alfred Boyd and Aaron May, indicted several days ago on charge of gambling, were fined $15 and one third costs each, with the exception of Dixon who was found not guilty and Boyd who was called and failed to appear. They were arrested by police authorities, and brought up before county court after preliminary hearing in police court.

Ernie Johnson, charged with assault with deadly weapon and carrying concealed weapon was found guilty and fined $50 for assault with deadly weapon and adjudged not guilty in the last charge.

William Sellers, James Gardner, Geo Davis and Hinton Gray, charged with gambling pleaded not guilty and fined $15 and one fourth costs each. Evidence in this case was convincing in every sense of the word as the defendants were arrested while in midst of a very interesting game.

Oscar White, charged with larceny, was adjudged not guilty. Walter Wilkes, recently indicted for driving automobile across the river bridge faster than the law allows was fined 15 and costs.

FERD HARRIS EXCELLENT COLORED CITIZEN PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY

Ferd was about sixty years of age born in Greenville, N. C.

During his early boyhood he worked for Dr. William Brown. For a great many years he was in the employ of Dr. Laughinghouse until the Doctor was called into the army of the World war, at which time Ferd began working for the town.

MEXICAN WORKERS RECOVER MONEY FROM EMBEZZLER

Judge Horton Signs Judgements for 500 Against Serian Charged With Embezzling

The opening of the second week term of Pitt county superior court for the trial of civil cases in this city yesterday morning featured largely in getting everything in readiness for consideration during the remainder of the week. Judge Horton consumed practically the entire morning in signing judgments and arranging for compromises wherever they were possible. About one hundred cases were non suited on account of plaintiffs not being present to continue prosecution, and several other features which have been of constant worry to the court for several past months.

Among the judgments signed by Judge Horton yesterday morning was that of five Mexican laborers against Paul Solomon, a former Serian storekeeper of Greenville, charged with embezzling them out of a sum of money approximately five or six hundred dollars. Solomon was indicted last Friday confined in county jail for a short time, but later released when friends went on his bail for $1,000. The Mexicans consented to compromise the action providing Solomon should pay them $500. This he decided to do, and departed on the next train for some other city to make his home.

The case grew out of the misappropriation of several hundred dollars which Espedito Ramirez, Francisco Medina, Linz Mora, Mercia Castro and Leonardo Murillo, employes of the county highway commission had deposited with Solomon for safe keeping. They traded extensively at the Serian's store in fact so much that the proprietor endeavored to show that all money on deposit had been expended in trade.

The Mexicans were in a quandry over this abrupt change in affairs and at office placed matters in the hands of attorney who immediately began prosecution. Solomon had packed his worldly belongings preparatory to leaving town, but fortunately was intercepted in time for the laborers to recover their hard earned money.

A judgment from the Farmers Bank for $500 was also signed by Judge Horton against the Serian, and as a consequence when he left town his finances were running extremely low, in fact much lower than he probably liked.

HOSTILITIES WITH COSTA RICA BROKE AT RIGHT MOMENT

Question of Border Right Precipitated At Time in Favor of Administration of President Porras

Panama, Mar. 29.—The hostilities with Costa Rica over disputed border territory, which began last month and evoked an admonition from the United States government, broke just at the right moment for the administration of President Belisario Porras to attempt to utilize them in its campaign to assure the isthmian republic the right to conduct its affairs without foreign interference.

A national spirit has been developing in Panama since November 3, 1903, when for the fifth and last time, Panama declared her independence. It was hardly perceptible during the first decade of the republic's existence, but in his New Year's message of January 1, 1921, President Porras gave utterance to the belief of his administration that the time was ripe for Panama to stand alone.

Protests to the State Department at Washington over the taking over of land by the American government for canal defense purposes was the first step in the independence program. The Porras administration asserted that the occupation of territory under the Hay-Varela treaty should be consummated through regular diplomatic channels and that, if the United States government continued its present policy to its logical conclusion, it could swallow the entire republic without pausing to notify the victim.

These protests, aimed at the utilization of points on Taboga Island, on the Pacific side and on the Bahía de las Minas, on the Caribbean shore, were almost simultaneous with a protest against a written opinion by Judge John W. Hanan of the United States district court of the Canal Zone in which the court stated Panama occupied the position of a protectorate of the United States. President Porras declared that counted upon the support of Latin-American republics in this protest.

DR. J. D. HUFHAM CLAIMED BY DEATH

Venerable Baptist Divine Passed Away Sunday Night; Funeral at Scotland Neck

Rev. J. D. Hufham, D. D., one of the best known and most highly esteemed Baptist preachers in the State and referred to by many as "the Baptist bishop of North Carolina", died Sunday night after a brief illness with pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Singleton, at Mebane, where he had lived for the past few years.

Dr. Hufham, who was in his 88th year, was born in Duplin county, near Warsaw. He received his early education in the local school and then went to Wake Forest College. He matriculated at this institution at an unusually early age, being the youngest graduate in the history of the college at the time of his graduation.

During his 26 years as a Marion resident Dr. Sawyer has made notable success in his profession and is head of a sanatorium southwest of Marion. Born January 24, 1890, near Wyadot, O., Dr. Sawyer resided at Nevada, O., about 17 years of age, obtaining his literary education in the village school there. At 17 he began the study of the Cleveland Medical college, where he was graduated in 1881.

DR. SMITH PREACHES SPLENDID SERMON ON THE PRODIGAL

Baptist Meeting Attracting Wide Attention With Splendid Preaching and Singing

Quite a large crowd attended the revival services, which are in progress in the Memorial Baptist church, last evening and heard Dr. Smith preach a splendid sermon on "The Prodigal Son," taking for his text Luke 15-18, "I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against Heaven, and before thee." The subject, is an old one, yet over a new one. Dr. Smith divided his sermon into several parts, namely the departure, the prodigal coming to himself, the resolution to go back home, the reception given him upon his return. The prodigal son was compared to the sinner who is born in sin and wanders far from God. When he realizes his condition and sees that he is starting his soul for the lack of the bread of life, he comes to himself and returns to God. God is always ready to receive the sinner, and therefore there is rejoicing in Heaven, just as there is rejoicing in the earthly home when the wandering child returns.

Mr. Montgomery sang a solo in keeping with the subject. At the close of the service one little girl went forward to accept Christ.

This morning Dr. Smith spoke on the Hindrances to Prayer, bringing out many points showing that man allows many things to come into his life to mar the Christian's way of living, and these things combined with selfishness and other worldly things are hindrances to prayer. Services again this evening at 7:45. The public is cordially invited to all the services.

SAWYER IS NAMED HARDING MEDICAL ADVISER, IT IS SAID

Former Citizen of Marion, Ohio, and Old Friend of President Receives Splendid Appointment

Marion, O., Mar. 29.—Dr. C. E. Sawyer, of Marion, Ohio, who has been appointed as President Harding's personal physician with the rank of brigadier general in the medical reserve corps of the army has been a close personal friend of the President for years and during the Chicago convention was one of his most tireless workers.

Dr. Sawyer accompanied President Harding on all of his speaking trips during the campaign. He also accompanied him on his vacation trips to Texas and Panama immediately after the election and went to Florida toward the end of President Harding's stay there and returned with the Harding party. Dr. Sawyer accompanied Mr. Harding to Washington for the inaugural.

During his 26 years as a Marion resident Dr. Sawyer has made notable success in his profession and is head of a sanatorium southwest of Marion. Born January 24, 1890, near Wyadot, O., Dr. Sawyer resided at Nevada, O., about 17 years of age, obtaining his literary education in the village school there. At 17 he began the study of the Cleveland Medical college, where he was graduated in 1881.

During the world war, Dr. Sawyer served as an official in the Marion County War board which he organized for all war activities. He also served as secretary of the Nations Volunteer Service corps, an organization of doctors above the age limit for active service, which was formed for service in case the government needed their services.

Ex-president, Wilson offered him a position in the army medical corps with the rank of brigadier general but he declined.

AMERICAN LEGION MINSTREL TO BE HERE ON APRIL 6

Kinston Post to Visit City and Present Show at White's Theatre For One Night Only

Dr. Chas. O'H. Laughinghouse, Greenville, N. C., Dear Sir:-

On Wednesday April 6th the American Legion Minstrel, organized and staged by the Kinston Post, will show at White's Theatre, Greenville, N. C. as a local talent production it will stand second to none.

As a Legion member we are asking you to give us support and help in any way you can.

The profits from the show will go to a worthy cause. Our post has been assigned a ward of T. B. patients in the Oteen Hospital and we are expected to furnish these little sick boys with the little things of life that will make time pass more pleasantly. Games of different kinds, Victrola records, little articles of wearing apparel, books and magazines, fruits, nuts, cakes and many other things to make the weary hours of these unfortunate boys go by quicker and easier will be provided. We do not intend to go out and pass the hat to go, money to provide the nicer things of life for these boys who have sacrificed their health—many of them as you know will never be cured—for their country. We want the boys in our ward to know that we fellows down here have gone out and worked a few days for them with the proceeds of our labor we have been enabled to send them the things they need. We want to send them comradeship, not charity.

Your post has no doubt been assigned the same task and if you should come to Kinston I can assure you that our Post will do everything possible to help you along.

As a fellow Legionarie we respectfully ask you to speak a word to your friends and ask them to see the show. Thanking you and assuring you we appreciate any support that you may see fit to give, we beg to remain, Yours truly Joseph Dixon Rountree Post No. 43 Commander George T. Skinner,

NO MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED HERE MONDAY

Another slump hit the office of the register of deeds yesterday, and consequently not a single applicant for marriage license appeared during the entire day. This was viewed with considerable concern by members of the office, as it was not expected that business would experience a set back quite so soon after the unusual demand last Saturday. It is very probable, however, that today will make up for yesterday's depression as marriage licenses are invariably always in demand regardless of state, national or world conditions.

FATHER AND SON NIGHT OBSERVED BY CITY ROTARY

Several Interesting Features Presented At Gathering of Fathers and Sons At Meeting Here Last Night

Father and son night was observed at the regular weekly session of the Rotary club in this city last night, the occasion proving by far one of the most interesting and inspirational in several months. There were several features on program for the evening, prominent among them was an address delivered by Rev. S. K. Phillips, who used as his subject A Boy Today, Man Tomorrow. The usual supper was enjoyed, combined with songs by members of the club and short but effective exercises in physical culture conducted in the recently completed gymnasium.

Charles White was the oldest son present with Paul Clodfelter, Jr., proving the youngest. Father and son displayed active interest in the entire program the young men watching with more than general interest the splendid spirit of brotherhood in ascendancy throughout the entire evening.

The meeting was presided over by President S. B. Underwood, who at the outset explained the nature of the meeting and congratulated the members on the excellent spirit displayed in making the father and son night possible. Supper immediately followed the introductory remarks, after which the meeting was turned over to Scoutmaster J. H. Ross, superintendent of the city schools and head of the Boy Scouts. Each young man was required to stand and tell who brought him, and in this way many interesting situations provocative of laughter were brought out.

Dr. C. J. Ellen, O. L. Joyner, Mark Turnage and Robert Crow, designated among Rotarians as the ball-headed quartette, sang the Little Jersey Skeeter much to the amusement of the young men, which was followed by an instructive address by the principal speaker of the evening.

Mr. Phillips briefly outlined the great part which the boys of today is to take in the activities of tomorrow, showing that proper environments are very necessary if development into manhood is to be what it should. He showed what Rotary meant to the young man by instilling higher ambitions and better principles among the fathers, who in turn indelibly impress these vital factors upon the younger generation. He said proper training is absolutely imperative if the coming generation is to be an improvement over the past, and urged his hearers to exert every possible influence in improving social conditions.

Teacher's night which several days ago was scheduled for next Monday night was postponed to sometime in May on account of preparations now under way for the district convention to be held in Norfolk next month. This occasion promises to be a very happy one and every effort is being made to make it of unusual interest.

U. D. C. MEETING

Mrs. C. T. Munford was hostess to the Geo. B. Singletary Chapter of the U. D. C. on Thurs. afternoon Mar 24th. After a hurried business meeting the chapter was given over to Mrs. Walter Woodard, our district chairman, who made a very charming and inspiring address. It was full of information and delightful from beginning to end. The chapter was very much delighted to have as its guests, Mrs. Walter Woodard and Mrs. Ed. Woodard, of Wilson. Mrs. Ed. Woodard gave the chapter a very cordial invitation to attend the District meeting on April 29th in Wilson. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bert Moyo on April 28th.

Tuesday Afternoon March 29

This is the time to begin the annual crusade against the fly. If you haven't a swatter, buy one immediately and put in some mighty good work in the interest of a healthier city.

President Harding has directed an exhaustive investigation into the manner in which the government is caring for disabled soldiers, and as it is a very popular issue it is probable the action will receive favorable consideration, especially by members of the American Legion. It reports that disabled soldiers are being neglected but it is hoped this may be corrected. President Harding has taken the right step and is to be commended.

President Harding has been forced to abandon his open door policy on account of being swamped with visitors, therefore, it is probable he will retire to private life and remain there until congress calls him out for definite action. The policy which he adopted was a mighty good one, but it is not altogether advantageous, especially when he is being served to thousands of hunters.

Telephone companies are seeking an increase in rates through petition before the corporation commission, but it is expected they will meet the same fate as gas companies. This is no time to be seeking increases in any line of business, for with decreasing cost of labor and necessities, the public is in no mood to listen to such arguments. The first of last year was the time to have asked for privileges. This is a time when lower rates ought to be considered instead and the people are not disposed to listen to anything else.

Marion Butler evidently thinks the Republic is combined of the steps prevention and will bring about attention at the pie counter in Washington City. It's mighty hard to see it that way, when old followers contend that Mr. Butler himself fostered the hog combine and kept its machinery well oiled for years. It's a pity the tables should turn at times when he anticipated reward for his efforts, but that's the way with politics.

Prominent Republicans claim that prosperity waits upon America's participation in an association of nations as proposed by Mr. Harding. That may be, but they are going to have a mighty hard time making members of the League of Nations believe it. In fact, the league is functioning very successfully at this time, and it is hardly probable it will be abandoned to accept the association which is the outgrowth of an American's thought, and a Republican at that. It's mighty nice to propose things, but it's a greater problem to get other people to see it as we do.

The fact that disorders are continuing in German cities causes one to believe the people are dissatisfied with the stand the government has taken toward the reparations question, and intend to create disorder until a change is evident. The German public probably realizes better than statesmen that the Allies are not going to back water after being subjected to so much trouble in definitely securing terms of peace and if conditions may be sources, it is quite evident the impression will be permanent. Germany is in no position to offer persistence against Allied forces at this time, and with its cunning ruthlessness, cannot expect to eventually bring about any favorable

Improvement. The lives of thousands of young men from other countries have paid the price of liberty, and Germany must pay the price in concrete form before the Allies will be satisfied.

JOURNALISM RECOGNIZED

The announcement that the Robert E. Lee School of Journalism is to be established at Washington & Lee University shows conclusively that people appreciate the fact that General Lee was one of the first educators to fully recognize the important part in which the newspaper business was to play in development to the country. He saw as probably no authority of his day did the great future before the profession, and did everything possible in its expansion.

The newspaper editor reaches more people than the preacher or school teacher combined, and it is perfectly natural that they should be men well trained and fully enlightened concerning problems affecting both social and business life of the country. They have the congregations and audience of which the public speaker and the teacher reach, and invariably wield an influence to be appreciated. The pity of the profession, however, is that so many newspaper men are under paid. There are thousands working at salaries of the average working man, when in truth they perform a mission of as great value as any other profession.

This fact has prevented many able men from becoming members of the profession, yet there are plenty working at this time simply because they love the work and were really cut out for writers. There are able men in every branch, but very few of them have the versatility necessary for the newspaper office where greatest problems of the day are handled by men who know public sentiment and know when and what to handle. This fact has done more to develop journalism in America than any other one feature, and has been responsible for so many colleges providing way of training ambitious students for a career full of life and requiring great personal endurance. Robert E. Lee probably visualized this great period when he initiated the movement so long ago, and the profession owes him much. The college is the right place for this training and will relieve the newspaper office of so much worry and time in training reporters, although it is true they never receive finishing touches until they receive actual training in the office under careful supervision of trained writers. This is a great period of development and it is gratifying that one of the greatest factors for improvement is to be expanded to meet requirements of the future.

P. P. Claxton, commissioner of Education in North Carolina, tells us that people paid more for luxuries in 1920 than they paid for education in the entire history of the country. This fact ought to be carefully considered by the people in every walk of life, for it shows what might have been done in improving conditions if self-indulgence had been abandoned in the interest of something very necessary to future improvements. North Carolina is not a poor state by any means, but its people have been very careless in handling their money, and ought to put it in things that count. If education is to be made a really great issue as planned by leading educationalists it is imperative that so much luxury be omitted and supplanted by a desire to do the right thing by civilization.

DOLLS REPRESENT WOMEN'S STYLES ABOUT PITTSFIELD

Fashions in Women's Wearing Apparel Strikingly Portrayed in Store Windows in Mass. Town

Pittsfield, Mass., Mar. 29.—Fashions in women's wear for the last 1800 years, from the abundant robes of the Roman patrician to the abbreviated skirts of today, are represented on 185 dolls dressed by Mrs. Charles S. Wright of this city. Work was begun on the unique collection of mannequins more than six years ago, after months of study of authenticated prints portraying styles of different periods. It is said to be one of the best of its kind in the world.

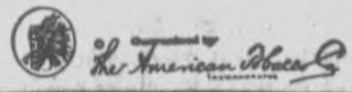

In a specially furnished room madames of the dark ages contemplate beles of the Renaissance and sprightly debutantes of our ante bellum and modern laws. Eve also has a place in the fashion review, but merely as an example of how clothes make the woman.

One of the most interesting costumes is that of a fisher woman from the Firth of Forth. Tailored suits and peek-a-boo waists have had no effects on the lusty Seatts who live on that arm of the sea, for their dress standard has remained unchanged for 500 years.

Shifts in American styles are illustrated by eight waxen faced beauties starting with the street gown of 1850. In this display are an afternoon frock of 1857, a calling costume of 1860, ball gowns of 1860 and spring wear of 1869. The opera goer of 1910 stands haughtily erect in the extremely tight skirt of that year.

VIRGINIA FARMER DEPENDS ON DRECO AS FAMILY REMEDY

Declares He Will Always Have It On Hand. Has Used Twelve Bottles Since He First Found Out about It

It is not an unusual thing these days to hear about families who depend on Dreco to keep them in good health from the father to the youngest child. Dreco is good for all of them. For instance Mrs. M. H. Thompkins wife of the well to do farmer of Whithmill, near Danville, Va., says:

Since we first started taking Dreco we have used twelve bottles and expect to keep a bottle on hand all the time. Everyone of us take it and have been benefited by its use. We find it keeps the bowels moving regularly, the liver active, quiets the nerves and aids the stomach to properly digest the food. "As a family medicine we don't think Dreco can be beat."

After taking Dreco it is soon noticed that the bowels begin to act freely, the stomach no longer fills up with gas, liver gets active so that headaches and dizzy spells pass off, the pains over the kidneys stop, the aching joints and sore muscles also become normal. The circulation improves thereby relieving cold feet, the whole system feels rejuvenated.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren Drug Co., in Greenville and sold by all druggists.
