Delightful Smoker Given In Interest of Membership Drive Chamber Commerce.

Every Section of County Represented And Smoker Proves a Delightful Event

W. C. EWING AND OTHERS SPEAK IN INTEREST OF APPROACHING DRIVE

Every Plan For Success of Chamber Of Commerce Outlined in a Brief Way

Unanimous approval of the organization plans for the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce was accorded last night by leading men representing all townships...

Of particular interest to all present were the expressions of opinion regarding the need in Pitt county of a civic organization which could bring unity of action by the residents...

The smoker started on schedule time, H. A. White, Chairman of the campaign committee presided, and got things under way by calling upon J. H. Rose to lead the singing...

Mr. White, in his opening remarks explained that the gentlemen who were present had been invited to the meeting for the purpose of discussing ways and means of forming a chamber of commerce...

When this campaign winds up you will see many active workers in the effort to accomplish things and I wish to assure you that the campaign will be a very valuable one...

The first speaker called upon was Hon. D. M. Clark, Mayor of Greenville, He said:

'Knock and the world knocks with you, Boost and you boost alone. That is the spirit this organization is called upon to thwart. We have heard the terms: cooperation, pull together, until they have become meaningless through over-use...

The mayor extended the hand of welcome to residents of all other parts of Pitt county, who had come to Greenville to attend the meeting. He assured movement will mean the advancement of Pitt county.

William C. Ewing, campaign director, was introduced, following the speech by Mayor Clark. He outlined the general plan of the campaign for a chamber of commerce, explaining that the fundamentals which applied in a city, would also be of value to a county organization, and told in detail how a community could derive benefits by building up such an organization. He explained that the old type factory grabbing chamber had gone out of existence, for the people realize now that there is more to building up a community than the mere act of getting a new factory...

The essentials of a modern chamber of commerce can be summed up in four sentences, said Mr. Ewing. First, a large and representative, and working membership. Second, and adequately financed organization. Third, continuity, so that the chamber of commerce could be kept going...

'It is a wise parent who plans the development of a community in which he lives and what is needed in every community is a body of men and women with vision and courage. Engineers, in planning the laying of water mains, look twenty years ahead...

Following the speech by Mr. Ewing there was a general discussion, in which a score or more of the men took part.

H. V. Staton, of Bethel, said: 'I heartily approve of the plans for the development of Pitt county and believe that the time has come when we will have an organization which will improve conditions here.'

McD. Horton, of Farnville was very optimistic as to the outcome of the effort to build up the chamber, and G. S. Porter, of Chicod, said 'I, for one, am glad to see it organized. The people in our county are interested and I wish to see it succeed.'

R. R. Cotton, of Bruce, said. 'The main things to be done in the rural districts are the development of leadership, the getting of better roads and more Sunday Schools. I approve of this movement and think that the steps which are being taken will lead to good results...

'I notice of late that people are anxious to get away from the country and go to the towns. I think the time will come when there will be a tendency towards the country again and I extend my best wishes to this campaign.'

G. H. Pittman, of Falkland, said: 'We need improvement of the roads and other things and anything that the chamber of commerce can undertake I will be glad to help.'

E. G. Flanagan said: 'We should first organize the chamber of commerce and then decide what we want to do. We have a water way right here, which is something that very few other counties in North Carolina has, and to force the reduction of freight rates we should develop that waterway. I believe that, when organized, this should be the first thing to undertake. I am sure that Farnville, Ayden, Grifton and Falkland will also benefit.'

Dr. R. H. Wright, president of the Training School, said that the reduction of freight rates would be a tremendous help in every way in this county. He was particularly interested, he said, in markets.

'We have been giving more attention to raising large crops than getting best profits out of those we raise, he said. We want to look forward to marketing what we can produce. Nature has done wonders for us. We should work for the development of markets for what we produce. I think that this chamber of commerce would help give farmers the needed market.'

Speaking on the same line, J. E. Winslow said he was a strong believer

HONOLULU MAKES PREPARATION FOR PRESS CONVENTION

Annual Press Congress of the World To be Featured by Numbers of Interesting Things.

Columbia, Mo., April 29.—From the Honolulu Committee now making arrangements for the 1921 meeting of the Press Congress of the world, to be held in Honolulu October 4 to 14, plans for a part of the entertainment to be offered the Congress delegates have been received here by Warrier Williams, the president of the Congress.

A part of the time will be occupied by business sessions, when problems of noncommunication, and other matters of high interest to the profession will be discussed. The remaining time will be filled with a program of excursions, banquets, fairs, beach parties, and a dozen other kinds of delightful entertainment. In the preparation for the delegates and their families who will attend the Press Congress the Hawaiians apparently have resolved to set a new high mark.

The tentative program for a single day will give the imagination a good start in the right direction. The Pan-Pacific Press Conference, as a department of the Press Congress of the world, will hold a day's session in the course of ten days. Alexander Hume Ford, secretary of the Pan-Pacific Union and editor of the Mid-Pacific Magazine, is preparing the program for that day.

Pan-Pacific Day at the Press Congress will begin with a reception before the morning session at the Iolani Palace, a reception in which the children of all the schools will participate. The children will be divided into groups each group representing a state of the Union and marching around the Palace in a pageant of states. They will be robed in the colors of the states they represent and carry the floral emblems and flags of the states. It is expected that the Ex-President of the Hawaiian Republic, Sanford B. Dole, and the former governors of the Territory will be present.

In diversified crops, He explained that he recently visited a place in Tennessee where twenty years ago they devoted all of their efforts to one staple crop. Everybody went broke. Now they ship each week from that section a train load of chickens. We should not be compelled to bring into Pitt county what we need in living here. Instead, we should raise all that we need and then ship the extra foodstuffs away.

Col. F. G. James said that he heartily approved of the movement and when the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce is organized to see it adopt one thing at a time and push on that until the objective is obtained. For the good of future generations, he explained.

J. J. Laughinghouse said: 'People here have always suffered for lack of co-operation. I think that the greatest thing for this organization is to get men from all sections, and of all classes, within the organization. We suffer most in the country sections from this one man one plow one horse system of agriculture. We should help the farmers get more of a return for their labors and give them assurance that they will have markets for what they raise.'

Senator N. W. Outlaw gave several constructive suggestions on building up the chamber, in such manner that a representative membership could be obtained.

Rev. L. W. Smith, who but recently came to Greenville, said that after a ride during the afternoon over the roads near Greenville he was an ardent supporter of any program for their improvement.

Dr. Eilen, chairman of the executive committee and president of the chamber of commerce, thanked all present for their cooperation and said that he believed that under the leadership of the American City Bureau, that the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce would come into being and prove of great benefit to the people here.

There will be a meeting at 3:30 p. m., Tuesday, May 3rd, at the Court House, where the women of Pitt county will gather to discuss plans for the part they will take in building up the chamber. Mr. Ewing will address them.

WOMEN OUTNUMBER SIMPSON SCHOOL MEN IN THURSDAY'S REGISTRATION SPLENDID PROGRAM

Women Continue to Show Interest in Registration For the Municipal Primary.

The public school at Simpson closed on Wednesday completing one of the most successful sessions in the history of the community. The entire day was taken up with activities of various kinds. The morning and afternoon was used for Field Day and ending with a ball game.

The program at night consisted in a short play, Alice in Wonderland, followed by a declamation and recitation contest in which Miss Mae Tucker won the prize. A number of prizes were given to the children that had distinguished themselves during the year in various phases of school activities, such as scholarship, conduct and improvement in debating. The children deplored themselves well in the closing exercises and reflected much credit on the teachers in charge during the past year.

Miss Southhall, the rural supervisor of Schools, was present and presented the reading circle certificates to nineteen children who had completed the required course for the first year. Miss Southhall explained this work and stated that children receiving certificates for four years in this work would get college credits at that time. The books selected for reading are the best for young people and since so much of one's character is formed during the recreation period the value of good books as companions was emphasized. Simpson ranked well with the other schools in the county in the number of children receiving these certificates.

AMERICA YIELDS GREAT INFLUENCE ALONG THE RHINE

Representation of Men in the Rhine-land District Bring About Great Changes Recently.

Coblentz, April 29.—America's representation on the Interallied Rhine-land Commission, while described as unofficial, yields as much influence in a consultative capacity upon the decisions taken by the commission as that of the three allied countries officially represented, according to Mr. Rolyn Jacquemyns, Belgian High Commissioner on the Rhine.

General Allen, acting in his dual capacity of Commander of the American forces in Germany and representative of the Department of State, attends every meeting of the commission or, when unable to be present, is represented by Colonel Stone of Mississippi.

No decisions are taken without having been first submitted to the American representatives and in many cases American suggestions have been acted upon and have caused agreements to be reached when it seemed as if a hopeless deadlock was about to set in.

Lately, when the question of the application of the new customs regime in the occupied zone, decided upon at the London conference on March 3 was discussed, the British and the French points of view were very far apart. After a few days discussion, General Allen's opinion was asked.

The discussion had been somewhat acrimonious and General Allen, while not endorsing unreservedly either point of view, proposed a medium solution. To the French who were advocating the sternest measures, he said: 'You can't get both steak and milk from the same cow.'

Mr. Futrell, Supt. Public Welfare, delivered a short address which closed the exercises. His subject was: 'The Crop We Are Growing. He pointed out to the progress that had been achieved along many lines and emphasized the importance of giving the children, the present crop of children, a chance to meet the responsibilities of the age in which they would have to live. The rate of progress made by our boys and girls in the rural sections of the state. Nothing short of attending school for the entire school term will prepare the boys and girls for the first grade citizenship so necessary in this progressive age. The house was filled and many were standing outside but marked attention and order prevailed during the entire exercises.'

Her work in the afternoon with the children is the best that has ever been put on in this city. The team is planning a grand day for Sunday beginning at 9:45 at the Bible School hour. Service tonight at 7:45.

ROTARY SUPPER POSTPONED TO TUESDAY EVENING

8,000 REFUGEES FIND QUARTERS AT FINNISH STATION

Members of Troups Give Striking Example of Bolshevik Rule and Discipline in Country.

Terijoki, Finland, April 29.—The 8,000 refugees from the recent Kronstadt revolution in Russia who are quarantined in Finnish concentration camps here and at Ino have just given a striking example of Bolshevik discipline.

The refugees are being fed by the American Red Cross officers. The other day, one of them was caught by his fellows in the act of stealing a larger share of food than was due him.

The others formed a committee, tried the man, found him guilty of stealing food, and then appeared before a Red Cross officer.

'Please give us enough guns to form a firing squad,' they requested, we have found a man stealing food and will execute him at once.

Informed that this was Finland, and not Bolshevik Russia, the committee was momentarily disappointed.

'But he must be punished, they insisted, All right, said the officer, but no shooting goes here.

The committee made the thief strip, although the weather was bitterly cold, formed a long line in the woods, including about 150 men, and they made the guilty man run naked 100 times from one end of the line to the other shouting 'I'm a thief.'

LOCAL REVIVAL GAINING INTEREST WITH EACH SERVICE

Dr. Edwards on Last Evening Preached One of The Best Sermons of The Entire Series

The Evangelistic meetings at the Christian Church are attended by increasing audiences. Last night the attendance overflowed into the balcony and lecture room. The interest grows with each service. Dr. Edwards spoke on 'Compromises, from the Scripture lesson 1st, Timothy 4: 1-5. He most effectively presented the subject under three heads. Those who compromise for money. Selling out as did Judas for gain in wealth. He said there are some folks here who no doubt selling their hope for eternal life for less than thirty pieces of silver, in fact there might be some who like Esau of old, are selling their birth-right for a mess of pottage. Then too, there are those who compromise, fearing personal injury, as did Peter in denying the Lord. He was warming himself by the enemy's fire and by so doing put himself in the way of temptation. He denied Jesus because he feared for himself. I think, said Dr. Edwards, that there are most likely some folks about here who sell Jesus, for fear of business injury or social compromise. Afraid to stand out for God, less they suffer some personal loss.

And then the third compromise is for fear of loss of political power as in the case of Pilate. He sold Jesus rather than incur the possibility of the Jewish displeasure and Rome's disapproval. He knew what was right to do but for political reasons did not do it.

The world has many such today. Are you one of the?

This was one of the best sermons so far by Dr. Edwards, and left a profound impression upon those who heard it. The music by the Pollocks was up to the high standard of excellence set by them. Some felt that the solo was the best yet. Mr. Pollock sang 'Let Us Alone, and the piano accompaniment by Mrs. Pollock was unusually fine.

Her work in the afternoon with the children is the best that has ever been put on in this city. The team is planning a grand day for Sunday beginning at 9:45 at the Bible School hour. Service tonight at 7:45.

BEWARE OF THE LEAK

Passengers on a boat would indeed be regarded as mad if they complacently ignored a hole in the bottom of the boat through which the water was passing while they frittered away their time and attention concerning the speed of the boat.

So it is with people in their financial affairs. They fail to notice the small leaks, and they are gradually swamped by them. If they systematically placed a portion of their earnings in this institution they would soon begin to prevent waste or leakage of their hard-earned money.

Start now to insure against regrets, Shares in our 31st. Series are yours for the asking.

Friday Afternoon April 29, 1921.

Representative Hallet S. Ward, of the first North Carolina district, has introduced in Congress a bill providing a penalty of $100 on common carriers who fail to make proper adjustment within sixty days of any claim filed for losses or damages for freight or express in shipment. If this bill becomes a law it will put an end to the vexatious delays to which shippers are often subjected in getting such damage claim adjusted.

There is but one day left in which to register for the coming municipal primary, and those who fail to register before the books close tomorrow evening will have no voice in the voting Monday. While the registration is large, approaching nearly the voting strength of the town, there are yet some whose names are not on the books. It is every citizen's duty, both man and woman, to be in position to have a say in the affairs of government, and the first step in this is expressing a choice in selecting those who are to administer these affairs. If you are one of the few who have not registered see that your name gets on the book tomorrow.

Out of the meeting held in the court house last night can be seen more prospect for the advancement of Pitt county than any movement that has been originated in many years. The idea of bringing every section of the county together in a "County Council of Commerce, and all co-operating to gether to secure the best things possible for the welfare of all the people of the county, means much to the future of our citizenship. The spirit expressing the interest of those representing the various sections of the county in this movement was simply wonderful, and shows the determination to have a Greater Pitt County.

Granite Falls, North Carolina, has lined up with the progressives and voted $75,000 for improvements of its school system. The town is just developing beyond the village stage, and consequently this progressive step is commendable in every sense of the word. It has started out the right way. Its increased educational facilities will better moral life and open up way for direct appreciation of the things so vitally essential to the success of every community. Many other towns have voted bonds for such improvements right recently, but Granite Falls has taken the lead when comparing its size and amount of the bond issue to others.

While there is yet a week before the opening of the next series, the 31st, of the Home Building and Loan Association, it is learned at the office of the secretary that so far about 1100 shares have been sold for this series, and the outlook is that the number will reach not less than 1500. This is remarkable and far surpasses expectations, for it had not been anticipated that this May series would reach so high a figure, especially as it comes following a period when there has been so much talk of hard times and scarcity of money. It clearly demonstrates two things; first, that times are not so hard nor money so scarce as some have been mad to believe by the talk about it, and second, that the people are so convinced of the advantages of our local building and loan association that they seek to take shares every time a series is opened. And well may they do this, for the history of the association is blazoned with the good it has brought to the community.

Students' government has been organized for North Carolina College of Agriculture and Engineering. From what has been appearing in the papers recently it would look like something should be done to govern the students before letting the students assume the governing power.

FEEDING PIE HUNTERS

The resignation of Hon. Samuel L. Rogers, director of the census, occasions no surprise in this section of the country as it has been expected all the time that the president would sooner or later begin vacating jobs for Republicans hunting juicy plums of office. The action, however, certainly should not have taken place until Mr. Rogers completed the task which he began during the great war with Germany. This would have shown him greater courtesy and been of far greater benefit to the government.

The president failed to see these things, however, and informed Mr. Rogers through Herbert Hoover that the office would be desired in a short time for some member of the party. It was only natural for Mr. Rogers to offer his resignation immediately, for this was certainly preferable to getting fired out of office without consideration.

Mr. Rogers has nothing to regret in the final moments of his administration. He proved by far one of the most capable men of the Democratic administration, and could have done the same for the Republicans, but failed to represent the kind of efficiency with which the party means to carry on affairs of the government for the next several years. Capable men are hard to find, and Herbert Hoover must have recognized the fact in commending the census department and the great work which it succeeded in accomplishing during the war—the greatest period in history of the bureau.

President Harding also recognized the value of Mr. Rogers, and no doubt inwardly would have been glad to keep him in office. But there are those promises he made during the campaign and quite natural his first step was to make them good. The census bureau is one of the first changes. That others are coming cannot be doubted in the least. The government cannot be operated successfully with Republicans in power and Democrats in office, therefore, it is perfectly natural to expect that he same kind of efficiency of his past will not be acceptable in the future. It's all the same in the long run, of course, but the parties look at public questions differently and harmony in office is absolutely necessary.

This change shows beyond doubt that the Harding administration means to have everything strictly Republican. It doesn't mean to give the Democrats a chance of prying into affairs, a chance that was accorded hundreds of Republicans while the great war was in progress and the government demanded the assistance of every man and woman. It cannot be said the party took unfair advantage of this opportunity, but it is unquestionably certain opposition in the senate kept the Democrats from accomplishing things that would have made the country far better off in every way than it is at the present.

THIS FAMILY HAS RELIED ON DRECO FOR PAST 3 YEARS

Ringgold Farmer Says It Proved Valuable in the Treatment of Stomach Disorders, Constipation, Headache, And Gastritis. Dreco Now Sells at The Old Price.

We've kept Dreco in a handy place for the past three years and when any of us get sick we immediately begin on Dreco and I must say it hasn't failed us yet, said Mr. S. Y. Wilkinson, a well known farmer of Ringgold, Va. It seems like some one in the family is always having some trouble with their stomach or if it isn't that its a bilious spell, constipation or gastritis. Well, Dreco beats anything I ever saw for putting the stomach in first class condition, regulating the bowels, cleansing the system of excess bile and stimulating the digestive organs so that no one has trouble with indigestion.

We would real feel lost without Dreco on the shelf and are only too glad to let others know what we depend on to keep the family's health up to the standard.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren Drug Company and sold by all druggists. Adv.

LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF GREENVILLE

Fellow Citizens of Greenville:-
In concluding this campaign for reelection for Mayor, I respectfully refer you to my record, which is public property and open to the inspection of all.

I have indiscriminately given my time and attention to every department of the town, and as your representative, have stood for and worked for those things that I deemed best for Greenville.

On finances, street maintenance sewer, water and light extensions, and Law Enforcement, I have done everything possible within the power granted.

Regarding Law Enforcement, I have no better endorsement to offer than the fact that my candidacy is being bitterly fought by the lawless element and its sympathizers.

As to whether I have always fulfilled my duty to my country, or my State, County and Town, I leave to the good judgment of those who know me.

My only promise is that I will try to enlarge on my efforts of the past. Other than this I make no promises; preferring rather, as your representative, to let the circumstances surrounding each problem and my conscience be my guide.

If my record warrants your confidence, I will appreciate your support and accept the trust with gratitude; and will endeavor to continue to serve, as in the past, to the best of my ability.
Respectfully,
D. M. Clark

BRIDGE AND ROOK PARTY FOR BENEFIT OF PUBLIC LIBRARY PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The bridge and rook party given on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, for the benefit of the Public Library, by a committee from the End of the Century Club, composed of Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, chairman; Mesdames J. L. Little, L. C. Arthur, T. E. Hooker and Mrs. Hortense Moyer, proved one of the most successful and interesting social events of the entire season and was attended by a large crowd of interested guests.

The committee composed of ladies interested in the Public Library and other things for the good of the community, left nothing undone that could possibly detract from the success of the occasion. The home of Mrs. Laughinghouse always filled with an air of hospitality, was especially so on yesterday and each guest attending was made to feel welcome. The house was beautifully decorated. The living room, hall, dining room were decorated to carry out the pink color scheme, with pink roses being used in profusion. The library carried out the red color scheme and was decorated with red roses. Six tables for bridge and six for rook were arranged in the living room and library and many progressions were enjoyed. After the games were over a few minutes of conversation were spent, at the conclusion of which an ice course with fresh strawberries was served.

The party being for the benefit of the Library, each guest was asked to carry the small amount of fifty cents and in this way quite a neat little sum was raised, without much cost to anyone and for a most worthy cause in which the people of our community as a whole, will profit. The success of the party will live on and on and will work untold good, because good reading instills in a person a desire for greater and better things.

The End of the Century Club and the committee which they selected, are to be congratulated.

Leading Authorities Now Show What Tanlac Really Is

Physiological Action of Principal Ingredients of Celebrated Medicine On The Human System Is Explained.

SUPREMACY CLAIMS WELL SUPPORTED

Many of the Medicinal Elements Have Been Known and Used Since Civilization First Began.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this country and Canada, is composed of the most beneficial roots and herbs known to science. The formula is purely ethical and complies with all National and State Pure Food and Drug Laws. Altogether, there are ten ingredients in Tanlac, each of which is recognized therapeutic value.

Many of these ingredients have been individually known and used since civilization first began, and some of them have been used and prescribed by leading physicians everywhere, but until they were brought together in proper proportion and association, as in the Tanlac formula, humanity had not heretofore realized their full value and effect.

In referring to one of the most important ingredients of Tanlac, the Encyclopedia Britanica says: It has been the source of the most valuable tonic medicines that have ever been discovered. In referring to others of the general tonic drugs contained in Tanlac, the 13th edition of Potter's Therapeutics, a standard medical text book, states that: "They impart general tone and strength to the entire system, including all organs and tissues."

This same well known authority, in describing the physiological action of still another of the ingredients of Tanlac—which is of value in treating what is commonly known as a run-down condition, uses the following expression: "It is highly esteemed in loss of appetite during convalescence from acute diseases."

There are certain other elements in Tanlac which, because of their influence upon the appetite, digestion, assimilation and elimination, improve the nutrition and vital activity of the tissue and more important organs of the body, and produce that state of general tonic which is called Health.

The United States Dispensary makes the following comment regarding another ingredient: It may be used in all cases of pure debility of the digestive organs or where a general tonic impression is required. Dyspepsia, atonic gout, hysteria and intermittent fever are among the many affections in which it has proven useful.

There are certain other ingredients described in the Dispensary and in other standard medical text books as having a beneficial action upon the organs of secretion, whose proper functioning results in the purification of the blood streams passing through them. In this manner objectionable and poisonous ingredients of the blood are removed and the entire system invigorated and vitalized.

Tanlac was designed primarily for the correction of disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. At the same time, however, it is a powerful reconstructive tonic and body builder, for it naturally follows that any medicine that brings about proper assimilation of the food and a thorough elimination of the waste products must, therefore, have a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the system.

Although Tanlac's claims for supremacy are abundantly supported by the world's leading authorities, it is the people themselves who have really made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it with gratifying results, and have told other millions what it has done for them. That is why Tanlac has become the real sensation of the drug trade in this country and Canada, and that is also why it is having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world today.
