UNDERWOOD MAY SUCCEED HOWELL IN CAPITOL CITY

Pitt County Superintendent of Schools Receives Inviting Offer to Head Raleigh Schools

The probability of S. B. Underwood resigning as superintendent of Pitt county public schools to become head of the Raleigh school system, as carried in the columns of Sunday's News and Observer, has been received with surprise and regret throughout the county, although it has been known for several days that he had the proposition under consideration. Asked this morning as to what he intended to do Mr. Underwood merely stated that he had not come to any decision, but will probably make an announcement during the latter part of the week.

Mr. Underwood notified members of the county board of education of the Raleigh offer about two weeks ago, and while they have done everything in their power to still retain his services the Raleigh proposition is an inviting one indeed, and has the endorsement of men who have reached an enviable goal in educational work of the state. Mr. Underwood has served Pitt county faithfully and untriflingly during his administration and the announcement of his resignation is received with keenest regret in every part of the county.

The story carried in the News and Observer covered the situation thoroughly and set forth in an interesting way the determined effort which members of the Raleigh school board and public officials are exerting to secure his services. Much pressure is being brought to bear from every part of the county to retain Mr. Underwood, but so far he has been unable to definitely decide what he will do. Not until his decision is received by the county board of education will any move be made to secure a successor. The story carried in the News and Observer follows:

S. B. Underwood, now superintendent of Pitt county schools and professor of school administration in the East Carolina Teachers Training School, will probably be the next superintendent of Raleigh township schools to succeed Harry Howell, resigned.

The office has been tendered Mr. Underwood with an agreement on the part of the school board that will make him its secretary and give him a free hand in the administration of the school system. While he has not yet announced his acceptance, it is generally believed by his friends here that he will forward his acceptance early this week.

It has been generally known for some time that Mr. Underwood has been tendered the superintendency and the news of it has caused general satisfaction. Assurance of generous cooperation, not only from the board but from civic organizations and individuals, have been tendered him.

Mr. Underwood is considered by school authorities one of the best equipped school men in the South. He was graduated with high honors from Trinity College, and has served as instructor in Trinity Park School, professor of English in Southern College, Sutherland, Fla., superintendent of Hertford county schools, headmaster Trinity Park Schools, professor of secondary education Trinity College, superintendent of Kinston city schools, and since 1914 superintendent of Pitt county schools and professor of school administration East Carolina Teachers Training School.

He has virtually reorganized the county system in Pitt by means of consolidation, transportation, improving equipment and buildings, better training of teachers. Local tax districts have been multiplied by three, and one teacher schools have been reduced fifty per cent.

In addition he is active in civic, social and church life, charter member and now president of the Greenville Rotary Club, one of the largest Rotary organizations in the state.

REVIVAL SERVICES STILL DRAWING BIG CROWDS TO CHURCH

Yesterday Proved Full Day in Services in Progress at Christian Church

The revival services which have been in progress in the Eighth Street Christian Church for nearly two weeks will continue through this week with final sermon by Dr. Edwards coming on next Sunday evening with a reception for the new members on Monday evening May 9th, and a recital by Mr. and Mrs. Pollock on Tuesday night May 10. The meeting so far has been a great success and many members have been added to the church.

Dr. Edwards on yesterday, the second Sunday of the revival, preached two strong sermons. At the 11 o'clock service he preached a doctrinal sermon taking his text from John-17:21: "That they all may be one; as thou Father art in me, and I in thee; that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me. The sermon was based on the prayer which Christ prayed to the Father before going to the cross.

At the evening service Dr. Edwards took his text from Revelations 3:20: "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock. After briefly relating the instance which led to the text, Dr. Edwards developed his sermon into many parts. He brought out as his first point, The Condescension of the whole matter. How God, who made man and who holds the life of every living thing in the palm of his hand, will stand in the palm of his hand, will stand and knock at the heart of man, asking for entrance. The second point, how he will wait the convenience of man. At this point Dr. Edwards showed where the presidents and kings will demand that men await their pleasure and where, the Great Father awaits for mere man to accept Him.

The third point brought out was the fact that God does not strive always with men. He becomes discouraged and at some time if man refuses Him one too many times, he commits the unpardonable sin and therefore, the Spirit leaves him. The speaker begged the unsaved in the large audience not to turn God away, but to let Him enter and sup with him.

At the morning service two new members were added to the Church and at the evening service two more were also added.

Services again this evening at 7:45, followed by baptism.

The singing was a great feature of yesterday's services, especially the solos by Mr. Pollock.

FORTY STATES TO OBSERVE HOSPITAL DAY IN AMERICAS

National Observance Day to be Held May 12, Attended By Many Notables, It is Said

Chicago, May 2.—Organization of Forty states and four Canadian provinces for the observance of National Hospital Day, May 12, was announced today by Matthew O. Foley, Executive Secretary of the National Hospital Day Committee which is in general charge of the program for the day. The sectional organizations consist of state chairmen who are to appoint committees representing leading hospitals in each section of the state to develop the local programs.

Surgeon General Hugh R. Cumming of the United States Public Health Service, following the endorsement of the day by President Harding, has instructed the commanding officer of each of the sixty-seven government hospitals in which the 26,000 disabled war veterans are under treatment, to throw wide the doors on May 12 and invite the public to talk with the patients, inspect the food, laundry and other departments and to otherwise learn how the service men are being cared for. ## BILL HARRINGTON BROUGHT BACK TO PITT COUNTY JAIL

Outlaw Held By Baltimore Authorities Delivered to County Officers Early Yesterday

Bill Harrington, Pitt county outlaw who some time ago escaped from the Lenoir county chain gang, was brought back to this city from Baltimore, Md., yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Guy Cayton and placed in the Pitt county jail for safe keeping. Pitt county authorities were notified Wednesday that Harrington had been arrested by Baltimore secret service men, and after obtaining requisition papers from Governor Cameron Morrison, Sheriff Ernest Dudley commissioned Deputy Cayton to deliver the prisoner back to this county.

Harrington is surrounded by a number of serious charges, and it is quite probable he will be sentenced to several years in the penitentiary. The latest charge launched against him is for stealing two mules from Richard Barnhill and holding them in the woods for several days while waiting for a reward. It is alleged that he went to Mr. Barnhill's home and told him he would lead him to the mules for the sum of three hundred dollars. Mr. Barnhill refused to pay the amount but did consent to pay one hundred.

Harrington, as the story goes, led a representative of Mr. Barnhill into the woods. He pointed out the location of the mules, and since that time hasn't been seen in these parts. It was first thought the mules had strayed away but the way Harrington acted about the reward brought out the belief that he deliberately stole the animals with the intention of getting as large a reward as possible.

Since that time a reward of $500 has been offered by the county for his apprehension, and it really seemed he had made good his escape until the message from Baltimore was received, stating that he was being held until the arrival of officials from this county. A number of larceny charges have been entered against him, and as all of them are of a serious nature, it is expected the courts will deal severely in every instance.

Just received—New shipment of ladies Brown Oxford rubber heels, specially priced $5.00. Stephenson Shoe Co.

All parts of the country will follow this open house idea also, and in addition open the nurses home to girls and young women interested in this profession, as well as hold graduating exercises for the senior nurses.

May 12 was chosen as the day for the observance as it is the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, pioneer in modern hospital and nursing methods.

Although the idea of a National Hospital Day, was originated by Chicago hospital people a little more than month ago, it already has been heartily endorsed by governors and other public officials and leaders in welfare work in all parts of the country.

MANY LEADERS TO ADDRESS MEETING OF LABOR PARTIES

Governors of Three States and Other Officials on Program For Event At New Orleans

New Orleans, May 2.—Practically every important South American country will be represented at the third annual convention here today, of the Mississippi Valley Association, acceptance of invitations indicate. In addition several representatives of European and Oriental countries have signified their intention to attend.

Several speakers of national importance including Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and Archibald Kahn, president of the Federal International Banking Company will address the foreign delegates on matters of commerce and trade, it has been announced by H. H. Merrick, of Chicago, president of the association. Secretary Hoover is expected to speak on "Old and New Domestic and Foreign Trade Markets."

Formulation of plans to bring about closer trade relations between the United States and countries represented by foreign delegates will be among the main topics of the meeting. It is expected these delegates will be able to offer detailed information concerning the class of products of other countries which the valley might purchase and there will be thorough discussions of foreign credits, financing, port facilities and market conditions, all tending to foster further imports into the United States.

Information received here from President Merrick's office indicates that special efforts will be made during the convention to formulate plans for the organization of such reciprocal foreign trade machinery as may be needed to foster the closest possible relations between the producers, manufacturers, distributors, bankers and people of the Mississippi Valley and similar groups in Latin America, the Orient and Europe.

50 PERCENT OF COUNTY GROWERS FAVOR NEW PLAN

Campaign Committee Says Over 50 Percent of Growers Have Already Signed Marketing Contract

A. W. Swain, director of the campaign committee of the Co-operative Marketing Association in North Carolina, left this morning for Goldsboro after practically completing the sign-up campaign which has been in progress in Pitt county for the past two weeks. Before leaving, Mr. Swain stated that over 50 per cent of the cotton and tobacco crop of the district already have been signed up and that there is every indication the total will reach the 75 per cent mark when the drive is actually concluded Thursday of this week by four members of the committee who will remain here until that time to assist Mr. Pace.

The reception which the committee received in the many localities visited during the campaign justifies belief that Pitt county will take first rank in organization of the state institution Mr. Swain declared. Practically every township, with the exception of two or three, evinced pleasing willingness to become members of the association, and majorities were easily secured by the twelve members of the committee who worked faithfully day and night while the drive was in progress. The three sections which were not signed up will be visited again this week, and it is expected more favorable weather will enable the committee to bring the percentage up to the 75 per cent mark. Sentiment has been sounded in each of the places, and there is everything in evidence to justify belief that there is much interest prevailing among tobacco growers as cotton. This has been the case in all other sections, therefore, it would not be surprising if the goal is not passed.

Mr. Swain predicted at first that Pitt county would make an enviable record compared to the other nineteen counties which have already been signed up, and the splendid showing made during the two weeks of intensive campaigning was not surprising in the slightest sense of the word. The farmers were impressed with the necessity for organization because of low prices prevailing on both cotton and tobacco markets, and the reception accorded the co-operative marketing plan representatives was perfectly natural.

W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent, who will have charge of the drive during the remainder of the week, stated this morning that nothing will be left undone in signing up the three districts. He expressed the same spirit of optimism of Mr. Swain, declaring the time for organization is here and that the greatest part about it is that the farmer realizes it and means to profit by the opportunity offered by the marketing movement.

INTENSE INTEREST CENTERED AROUND PRIMARY STRUGGLE

Lively Voting Features Municipal Election From Opening of Polls to Late Hour This Afternoon

More than ordinary interest is being manifested in the municipal primary which is being conducted at the Court House in this city today, and indications point to one of the hottest contested affairs in history of the city. The polls opened this morning promptly at seven o'clock, and since that time have been completely swarming with supporters of the nine candidates for aldermen and three for mayor. At three o'clock this afternoon even candidates themselves were hardly able to determine who was in the lead, so quietly had voters from various parts of the city conducted themselves, but it was evident that Mayor Clark was in the lead of his two opponents and will probably win out by a heavy plurality if not by a slight majority.

This is the first time women have ever participated in a municipal primary, but they showed at an early hour that they intended to feature prominently in the struggle, and made this fact more evident as the day drew to a close by appearing around the polls in goodly numbers. Closing of registration books last Saturday night gave them a total of 451 registrations against 710 for the male members. Only about 1,000 votes is expected out of the total registration of 1,161 registrations.

Taking the registration by wards, the Second, at the close of the books Saturday night led with a total of 302 registrations against 267 in the third Ward. The fifth Ward came in for next honors with 242 registrations against 217 in the Fourth. The First Ward dropped below all others with a total of 133, and as a consequence, the lightest voting today came from that section.

Candidates entered in the primary today are as follows. For Mayor, D. M. Clark, J. C. Lanier and W. L. Hall.

For Alderman, First Ward, Closs W. Heane, and S. E. Gates; Second Ward, W. A. Bowen and George Clark; Third Ward, Claude Tunstall and R. E. Sellers; Fourth Ward, Fred Forbes and B. F. Tyson; Fifth Ward, P. L. Clodfelter.

No confusion has been created by the woman vote. In fact, they appeared before the poles in many instances either in the company of candidates or members of their household, and exhibited probably more interest than the men in the tide of victory. However, hardly at any time during the day has anyone been able to even roughly guess the way things were running for aldermen, although it was apparent Mayor Clark led his opponents by a pretty safe plurality.

This fact makes it hard to determine whether or not a second primary is going to be necessary to decide the issue. Many persons think so, while more optimistic have persisted all the time that the present incumbent would win by a good majority over his opposition. The fight in the wards is the stiffest in years, and it is quite probable the race is going to be close enough to justify another primary, although this is merely problematical.

TABLEAUX TO BE PRESENTED AT WHITE'S THEATRE

Wednesday night at White's Theatre, there will be presented between pictures, Tableaux of Old Familiar Songs. The tableaux will be posed by several of Greenville's most attractive girls and boys, wearing handsome costumes to suit each song—brilliant lights and scenic effects will add to the charm and the musical talent of the team will be used to accompany each tableau. Among those who will sing are Misses Jessie Moye, Helen Joyner, Mary Hagley Overton and Mr. Bill Bradsher. Those posing in the tableaux are Misses Willie Skinner, Alice Fulford, Hannah Fulford, Elizabeth White, Marie Thomas, Frances Harney and Alice Le. Hooker, Messrs. Tom Foley, Bernice Gardner, Joe Norman and Ed Williams.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be given to the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Senate intends to vote on the Knox peace resolution today, but fortunately that doesn't mean it is going to be accepted, not by a long way.

Prohibition may have been a failure, as some like to charge, but the way authorities are capturing stills in every part of the state suggests the probability of better success in days to come.

The ambition of the cotton grower sometime ago was to see sixty cent cotton. Since he had to abandon that it is natural to suppose the next greatest ambition will be to get cost of production and stop at that until things change enough to justify confidence in the industry.

The American government is hopeful that the reparations controversy between Germany and the Allies can be settled by discussion. If that were possible it would have been concluded long ago. Germany doesn't mean to settle the matter any earlier than possible and the more they parley the longer the matter will be prolonged.

The way other towns of the state are preparing to enlarge school facilities assures everyone that education is going to be the last thing to be neglected by North Carolina. The spirit in about the most commendable anyone could desire and a sure indication along all lines of industry in the next several years.

That the country is getting back to normal again is evidenced by the baseball spirit in ascendancy in various parts of the country. This is one sport that may be counted an index to prosperity in America, and the sooner every locality gets in the game the better off everyone ought to be.

Republican members of the senate seem to be giving foreign relations more than ordinary consideration at this time. But we can't see why they should as all of them seem to be mighty poor relations. And that's exactly what the C. O. P.'s are opposed to at this particular time.

The campaign to enlarge the Greenville Chamber of Commerce promises to be even more successful than anticipated. At least, the general run of business men appear to think so, and that's about all anyone wants to know about eventual success of the movement.

Italy seems to be favorably impressed by the position of the United States in the Yap controversy, but that doesn't mean she is going to get the best end of the bargain by any means. America merely intends to protect its interests in the island, but beyond that the Italian government may rest assured we are no further interested.

The United States Steel Trust has been charged with unfair practices in its dealings with the public. The charge is a mild one indeed when considering the great liberty for profiteering which the ordinary American industry has been accorded in the past. Continued investigation may bring out the fact that the steel trust is not the only one that has discriminated against the public.

The price of cotton and tobacco may be way down below the cost of production at the present time, but in course of a few months the farmer is going to realize that his efforts to better conditions have not been in vain. Curtailment of acreage and organization along the co-operative marketing plan are two features naturally assuring success, therefore, it is very probable indeed that conditions cannot always remain as they are now.

America's interest in foreign countries seems to be of the starring kind. That must be the reason Harding is in such indecision as to what to do about foreign affairs. He probably thinks his ideas will be received more favorably when they are all starved out.

Business men who support the movement now under foot for enlarging the Chamber of Commerce may rest assured they will be rewarded by seeing improvement in general business conditions of the community. There is nothing that more directly insures civic progress than organization of business men, and Greenville should consider itself fortunate in being the center of a campaign in which every man of prominence of the county will be interested. The issue deserves the co-operated effort of everyone, whether associated in the work or not, for they are affected in the long run by what the Chamber brings about.

Charles M. Shawab, who has just returned from a trip to Germany, declares the price of labor must come down in this country, or that Germany will outdistance us in supplying world demands. This is true. It has been realized for months that the cost of production in the United States is greater than it should be, but abnormal conditions are such the decrease will be long in coming. That it must come cannot be questioned in the slightest sense of the word. Readjustment will bring it about, and when the time comes America may not worry about what Germany in its present state of discontent will do. Germany, however, has always been a strong competitor in world trade, and that it will regain former status in the course of years is not to be doubted. It will be necessary to absolute recovery from the effects of the war, but will be accompanied by similar progress in other countries.

THE COMMON WELFARE Is Our Goal

President Harding in his inaugural address pictured the American home as the abode of happiness and contentment, saying:

"We would not have an America living within and for herself alone, but we would have her self-reliant independent, and ever nobler, stronger and richer. Believing in our high standards, reared through constitutional liberty and maintained opportunity, we invite the world to the same heights. But pride in things wrought is no reflex of a completed task. Common welfare is the goal of our national endeavor. Wealth is not inimical to welfare; it ought to be its friendliest agency.

"There never can be equality of rewards or possessions so long as the human plan contains varied talents and differing degrees of industry and thrift, but ours ought to be a country free from great blotches of distressed poverty. We ought to find a way to guard against the perils and penalties of unemployment. We want an America of homes, illuminated with hope and happiness, where mothers, freed from the necessity for long hours of toil beyond their own doors, may preside as befits the hearthstone of American citizenship. We want the cradle of American childhood rocked under conditions so wholesome and so hopeful that no blight may touch it in its development and we want to provide that no selfish interest, no material necessity, no lack of opportunity shall prevent the gaining of that education so essential to the citizenship.

"There is no short cut to the making of these ideals into glad realities. The world has witnessed, again and again, the futility and the mischief of ill-considered remedies for social and economic disorders. But we are mindful today as never before of the friction of modern industrialism and we must learn its causes and reduce its evil consequences by sober and tested methods. Where genius has made for great possibilities, justice and happiness must be reflected in a greater common welfare."

There would be fewer widowers in this world if more wives were provided with Electrical Home Helps.

Drudgery and home happiness never dwell under the same roof. The woman who lives long and keeps young isn't enslaved by monotonous, heart-sickening drudgery. By use of electrical home needs she banishes the torments and despair of house work and lives to enjoy life.

"Electrical" help is instaneous, tireless, limitless. It is always bigger than the work to be done. It is collective, farreaching help that makes short work of all work in every department of the home.

Millions of women are doing systematic, progressive, efficient housekeeping in "Electrical Equipped Homes" Let your old working equipment give way to "Electrical Home Needs"

They are reasonable in price. Their service is beyond price—in time and labor saving.

We sell Universal, Westinghouse, and Hotpoint appliances.

Why Chalmers knows The NEW EDISON gives his true voice

BECAUSE he has compared his voice with its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. Because thousands of people have heard this comparison. Because no one distinguished any difference between his living voice and his RE-CREATED voice.

Don't take the statement of an artist that a phonograph gives his true voice. See whether that phonograph can sustain the comparison test. If it can't, you know that such phonograph does not give you the artist's true voice, but merely a mechanical version of its own. Think about these things! Then remember that the New Edison does sustain the comparison test, that it is the only phonograph which sustains the comparison test; and that we are always glad to prove this to you.

If you love music, your credit is good here. You can arrange your payments on a gentleman's agreement.

THE DOT RED CROSS
By Clifford Leon Sherman

Don't you sometimes wonder if the very rich little girls don't get bored once in a while with having so many people looking after them? I should think it would be lots nicer to get away alone and have some fun. What difference does it make if one's hands get dirty or one's frock gets torn? We are not going to live forever. Now, I don't know whether our little heroine got bored or not, but sometimes I used to feel sorry for her when her mother would send her out for carriage exercise. There would be the maid, and the driver and sometimes two, but surely always one (74)
