S. B. Underwood Accepts Four Year Contract As Head of Raleigh Schools

Signs Agreement For Four Years at Salary of $5,500 Annually at Meeting of Board Yesterday

WILL BE SECRETARY OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE WITH UNUSUAL AUTHORITIES

Former Superintendent of Pitt County Schools to Take Charge of Situation About July 1st

S. B. Underwood, of Greenville, yesterday accepted a four year contract as Superintendent of the Raleigh Schools at a salary of $5,500 a year. Heretofore the position has paid $4,200 a year and employment has been on a one year basis.

Mr. Underwood will not only act as executive officer of the committee, with full control of administrative matters, but will also be the secretary and financial officer of the committee, J. F. Ferrall, the present secretary, having tendered his resignation as secretary effective July 1. He will have full control of the administration of the Budget, which will be prepared jointly by the committee and the Superintendent, and will select and assign teachers and other employees of the school system.

The term of the new superintendent will not begin until July 1, but he announced yesterday that he will spend as much time in Raleigh as possible prior to that date. He also stated that no announcements regarding personnel will be made until he can hold a conference with Harry Howell, the present Superintendent, and Miss Lelia Cobb, supervisor of elementary education.

Mr. Underwood was the unanimous first choice of the School Committee for the position and members of the committee expressed themselves as highly gratified by his acceptance of their offer. Yesterday's meeting was attended by the full membership of the board which is as follows: Mayor T. B. Eldridge, chairman ex officio, J. F. Ferrall, A. M. Maupin, S. Wade Marr, Mrs. W. A. Withers and Mrs. W. A. Upchurch and W. J. Andrews.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Underwood stated that he is thoroughly satisfied with the terms of his agreement and is confident that his relations will be harmonious with the board.

No one has attempted to deceive me about the situation here, and I realize that I am entering upon a difficult task, but I am not concerned about past squabbles and am looking only to the future, he stated. I have accepted the position with complete information and after mature deliberation, because I see the opportunity to do a big job and my only concern is to build up the school system of Raleigh, with the cooperation of the people of the city, he added.

Mr. Underwood was graduated from Trinity college in 1906 with Magna cum Laude honors. During his college career, he was editor of the college magazine, president of the Y. M. C. A., president Columbian Literary Society, member of the college debate council, assistant librarian, intersociety debater, winner of Wley Grey Orator's medal, instructor in Trinity Park School, member of 6019 a scholarship fraternity at Trinity.

During the year following his graduation he was professor of English in Sutherland College, Sutherland Fla., and from 1907-10 he was superintendent of Hertford County schools. For the year 1910-11 he was head master Trinity Park School and professor of secondary education in Trinity College. For three years beginning 1911, he was superintendent of the Kinston City Schools and during his administration the bonds for the present High School building was voted.

Since 1914 he has been superintendent of schools for Pitt county and Professor of School Administration in East Carolina Teachers Training School. During this time he has virtually reorganized the school system, by means of consolidation, transportation,

DELIVERS STIRRING SERMON ON STORY OF JESUS CHRIST

Dr. Edwards Tells Crowd at Revival Last Night of Christ and the Rich Young Man

Dr. Edwards preached last night on the story of Jesus and the Rich Young Man. He drew many parallels in the life of today where one thing is lacking. He said this young man was a fine character and many people today would suffer in comparison.

The sermon was especially directed to young people and was enjoyed by all present. The Pollocks gave more than the usual length musical program last night. Mr. Pollock's solo was one of the best he has sung. Tonight Mrs. Pollock's class of children numbering more than one hundred and fifty will present a program before the sermon. Services begin at 7:45 o'clock.

Improved equipment, new buildings, and better trained teachers. The local tax districts have been multiplied by three and one teacher schools reduced fifty per cent. While the total number of schools have been reduced by consolidation nearly thirty per cent.

He is a member of Phi Beta Pappa, national scholarship fraternity, a member of the North Carolina Teacher's Assembly and National Education Association having appeared on the program of both bodies and having been president of the State organization for 1920.

Mr. Underwood has been very active in social and civic life having served two terms on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a charter member of the Greenville Rotary Club and is now president of that organization.

He is an active member of the Methodist church, member of the board of Stewards, delegate to the annual conference for several years, delegate to the general conference in 1918. He has for several years taught a large Sunday School class.

During the war he was secretary of the Soldiers Business Aid Committee of Pitt County, county chairman of United War Work Campaign, and was active in Food Administration, War Savings Stamps, and Liberty Bond campaigns.

In 1907, he was married to Miss Eloise Lister, of Pasquotank county, and has one son, S. B. Underwood, Jr.

Definite Organization of Eastern Carolina League Brighter Now Than Ever

Kinston Busy Today Raising Funds to Support Club to Participate in Playing About June 1

TOM HOLLINGSWORTH SAYS GREENVILLE CLUB IS READY TO GO AT ALMOST ANY TIME

Definite Arrangements For Association to be Made at a Called Meeting in Kinston Soon

Prospects of baseball in Eastern Carolina seem brighter today than ever before, and if nothing prevents the next several days will see the formation of what is known as the Eastern Carolina League which will be composed of Kinston, Greenville, Washington and New Bern. The issue has been of more than paramount importance in all four cities for the past several weeks. There were some who desired organized baseball, and others who didn't, so no definite decision was reached until it seemed there would be no base ball at all.

Kinston has kept the matter under continuous fire ever since first brought up, so at a meeting of supporters conducted there last night tentative plans for organization of the home club were formed. Subscription drives will be carried into every nook and crook of the city during the remainder of the week, and it is thought by that time the required amount to make the club a possibility will have been secured. There seems to be right much interest existing in New Bern and Washington also, and as the question is a much mooted one on all sides it is not considered that much difficulty will be incurred in organization.

Tom Hollingsworth, who managed the Greenville club last year, stated this morning that Greenville is ready to go at any moment, and that he had wired for practically all of the old players who constituted the team last season. There will, however, be a few additions owing to the inability of other men to return, but it is believed by opening of the season that Greenville will be ready for the fray with a team fully capable of keeping its honors from trailing in the dust.

It will be remembered that the city was canvassed to obtain purchasers of stock when the matter was brought up several weeks ago, and Mr. Hollingsworth believes that a sufficient amount has already been disposed of to carry the club safely through the entire season. However, some soliciting may be necessary, but promoters are confident of raising the amount and feel that the question is so accentuated that few refusals will be experienced.

The Kinston Daily News stated this morning that representatives of Greenville, Washington and New Bern will be summoned to Kinston in the next several days to form the association, draft by-laws and regulations, make out a suitable schedule and perfect everything preparatory to opening the season about June 1st. There is plenty of time to put the clubs through a strenuous training period, and for that reason the league will begin functioning after mature deliberation of every feature essential to its success.

That the four important towns will produce a better standard of base ball than last year when there were so many smaller clubs involved is assured. They are large enough to support their clubs in splendid form, and there is little reason to believe the class of ball

Cramber of Commerce Dinner Well Attended Last Evening In Spite of Inclement Weather

FEDERAL RULING ON BUSINESS IS STILL HELD GOOD

Argument Brought Up Some Fifteen Years Ago is Considered Valid in Industry Now

Cleveland, Ohio, May 6.—The argument presented some fifteen years ago in support of federal incorporation for companies doing business entirely inside the United States, also apply today in support of federal incorporation for companies doing business entirely outside the United States and between foreign countries and the United States, J. B. Powell, Honorary member of the American Chamber of Commerce told the National Foreign Trade Council today.

Since China is a great undeveloped country, he said, and probably our greatest potential trade field, it is natural that the attention of Congress should be directed toward legislation calculated to place our merchants in that field upon an equal footing with our competitors. Other nations which have preceded us in China have already taken this action years ago and have obtained strong foothold there.

If Congress does not come to our assistance and enact legislation to place us on an even footing with our strong competitors, our trade out there is almost certain to return to its unimportant position of before the war.

Our trade with China has not been healthy for the reason that we buy more from China than we sell to China, China is a great market for machinery and for practically all lines of manufactured articles produced in America, but we can't sell enough out there to even balance our purchases of Chinese raw products. What further argument do we need for legislation that will enable our manufacturers to go to China, and sell their products on an even basis with the manufacturers of other nations.

MR. MARK QUINERLY DEAD

Mr. Mark Quinerly died at his home in this city last night about 8:30 o'clock. He had been ill for some time and death was not unexpected.

He is survived by his wife and four brothers; John C. and Frank, of Florida and Dan and S. A. Quinerly, of Kinston. The funeral services were conducted this afternoon at 5 o'clock, the interment following in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

The pall bearers were; active, Messrs C. C. Pierce, N. O. Warren, Dr. J. B. Nobles, S. R. Meadows, Roy Flanagan, C. T. Munford, Travis Hooker, H. A. White, Honorary, E. G. Flanagan, B. B. Ficklen, Dr. S. Hassell and J. L. Little.

SPLENDID INDUCEMENTS

FOR EX-NAVY MEN

The following instructions have been received at the local Navy Recruiting Station: Ex-Navy men who have not been discharged more than one year and who re-enlist for a period of four years, may be given the opportunity of attending one of the Navy trade schools which are now open.

No man is eligible who has had instructions in a trade school on former enlistments. Ex-soldiers and ex-marines may also attend these trade schools if found qualified.

It is so directed that men applying for detail to a trade school be required to sign a statement that he will not make application for furlough without pay, or a discharge by special order of the Secretary of the Navy during current enlistment.

Howard Strong Delivers Stirring Address in Value of Organization to the Community

MEN AND WOMEN FROM MANY PARTS OF COUNTY INTERESTED VISITORS

H. A. White Pays Glowing Tribute to People of Eastern North Carolina For Progressiveness

Service was the keynote last night at the civic dinner given by the chamber of commerce in the interest of the united citizenship of Pitt county. Howard Strong, in his discourse on idealism in this field of endeavor, laid particular stress upon it. Rev. Dr. Edwards, the Evangelist, told of the great rewards which come through service; Dr. Laughinghouse took service as his theme and Mr. White, who presided, made continued reference to it.

The dinner was pronounced a great success. Representative men and women from all parts of Pitt county were there. Despite the inclement weather they came from all sections of Greenville and from every township over roads which are so bad that Mr. White, who presided, said that he could assure all the first major project which the reorganized chamber takes up would be the improvement of the roads.

Great credit is due the ladies of the Memorial Baptist church for their work in preparing the dinner, every one agreed. Given in a tobacco warehouse which was kindly loaned by Forbes and Morton to the chamber of commerce for the occasion, there was necessarily much cooking to be done elsewhere. Co-operation by the Smith Electric Company, in furnishing lights and by Taft and Vandye and Quinn-Miller Company, in furnishing chairs, did much to help the meeting. The downpour of rain mattered not at all to those who came in automobiles, for these were driven right into the banquet hall.

J. B. Kittrell, chairman of the meetings committee, was on the job all day. He had considerable difficulty in finding a piano, because of the bad weather which caused many owners to hesitate in loaning one. But after the dinner was started his persistency met a just reward, and into the banquet hall drove a truck with a fine upright that four huskies quickly put into place so that the singing could start on time.

Prof. Rose led this singing with Miss Francis Taft as pianist.

Rev. C. H. Bascom, of the St. Paul's Episcopal church said grace and then those present forgot the cold and went to their dinner. Some of the striking points brought out by Howard Strong, were that our country is facing peace problems which can be met only by the tremendous driving power of unified efforts, chambers of commerce, once merely resolving bodies, are now conservatories of citizenship. The war has visualized means of solving new problems. The civic citizen is the man who interprets his own interest in terms of community welfare. The me should be substituted for we.

Mr. White, in closing, thanked sincerely all who came from other parts of Pitt county to attend the dinner and assured those present that here is no question but the Chamber of Commerce campaign for new members next week will be a great success and that Pitt county as a whole will profit by its reorganization. He paid glowing tribute to the people of eastern North Carolina, whose hospitality, he truthfully declared was a heritage of which all are proud.

Following is the speech by Mr. Strong:

The war has brought us face to face with new problems, new duties, new responsibilities, but with these new problems, duties, and responsibilities, it has shown us great new opportunities and it has brought into focus new means of meeting these opportunities. For the first time we have come fully to appreciate the driving power of united effort, the progressive force of a solid front.

And so our communities are meeting their peacetime problems as never before through organization, and not (Continued on Page 2)

Friday Evening May 6th, 1921

If that last ultimatum to Germany is as effective as former ones, the Allies might as well conclude matters at once.

The ultimatum may be sent to Germany may be sent with all good intentions, but it is a safe bet it will get no better results than former ones.

American people are always talking about foreign relations, but when it is recalled that most of them are poor relations they're not so interesting.

The weather man has set a new record in unfavorable conditions of the elements; one in which the country hopes will never be repeated.

Hi Johnson seems to have it in for Dave Blair, but before its all over they will be hugging one another like good party members.

The German cabinet has resigned. It might as well have done that several months ago as so far they have been unable to realize any results.

The reparations question is of paramount importance to all countries involved, but the Allies will probably be more pleased when it has been definitely concluded.

President Harding has been successful in gratifying members of his party at the pie counter, therefore, it is certainly probable that he will be given great support throughout his entire administration.

The Mellon program for revision of taxes will be received favorably in every part of the country, for this is what people have been desiring for many months. Excessive taxation has proved one of the greatest handicaps to industry and when it is removed everyone may rest assured of greater progress.

Now that North Carolina has seen fit to restrict the issuance of marriage licenses it might do well to decrease the number of divorces. This is one feature that has nauseated the polite society for several past months, and humanity would be treated fairly if the law was made stricter.

Senator Borah probably feels disgruntled now that his proposal for disarmament has been disregarded by the senate, but its a safe bet the action won't discourage his usual spirit of loquacity. The gentleman has proved too talkative in the past, which probably accounts for the failure of his resolution to get through as he desired.

The rejection of Borah's proposal for disarmament may cause Senator Knox to feel rather uncertain regarding his position. It will be remembered that he was rather active against the league of nations and the peace treaty there is no reason in the world why that he will receive a calling down before it is all over.

The expansion drive of the Chamber of Commerce ought to be received seriously by people of Pitt county for the movement is one that naturally promotes the welfare of the community in general. Other towns have put on such drives with great success and there is no reason in the world why Greenville should not realize as great success as any of them.

Chicago police, so we are told, are going to use wireless telegraphy in detecting the great wave of crime which has been sweeping over the city for the past several months. This is a mighty good beginning and ought to be instrumental in handling the situation in a much better way than formerly. Other cities might adopt the same measure without going amiss.

A New York magistrate sentenced a barber to five days in the workhouse for presenting a bill of $6.15 to a customer desiring a shave. If it was intentional on the barber's part he deserved to be sent to the pen for several years instead of to the workhouse. That was an enormous price for a shave, but during the period of extravagance in America there were many who would have paid the price without murmuring to get it done when they wanted it. Thank goodness the same conditions prevail no longer and the country seems to be nearing a state of normalcy at least.

The Co-operative marketing association is exactly what the farmers have needed to produce better conditions, and when it gets to functioning it will be one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the country. Switzerland and a number of states in America have found it to meet their requirements, so it is evident Pitt county farmers will be well repaid for making the plan possible. W. B. Pace, demonstration agent of the county, thinks it is the most advisable means of handling farm products ever before presented for public consideration. He studied the measure thoroughly at the outset and consequently was in position to become a strong advocate when the campaign was brought into the county. The future will show whether it measures up to expectations and those who have strenuously opposed it will be glad to join as soon as they get the opportunity.

Such weather as this is having a bad effect on cotton and tobacco.

MRS. ROBERT WRIGHT ENTERTAINS COMPLIMENTARY TRAINING SCHOOL FACULTY

Mrs. Robert H. Wright entertained in honor of the Training School Faculty yesterday afternoon from five to six o'clock at her home on Fifth Street. Despite the rainy weather, a great many people attended and enjoyed Mrs. Wright's hospitality. The soft glow from the candles and masses of lovely flowers made a festive scene in the home.

The guests were met at the front door by Mrs. Beckwith and Mrs. E. B. Ficklen and Misses Mead and Davis directed them upstairs. Mrs. Herbert White and Richard Williams conducted them to the parlor where Mrs. Wright, her guest, Mrs. Will Carr, of Wilson, Mrs. R. R. Cotton and Mrs. Preston Cotton were in the receiving line. Mrs. Wiggins and Mrs. Hassell conducted them from the parlor to the dining room where Misses Jenkins, Ross, Beaman, Cole and Mrs. Spillman and Mrs. Jeter received them. Here Mrs. Louis Skinner and Mrs. Lula Fleming presided over the dining room table and were assisted by Misses Novella Moye, Pattie Wooten, Katherine Lister and Ernestine Forbes in serving refreshments. Mrs. J. L. Little and Mrs. Walter Patten led them from the dining room into the back hall where Miss McKinney and Mrs. Austin received.

Mrs. Carey Warren and Mrs. Underwood directed the guests to the living room where punch was served by Mrs. Jim Hines and Mrs. C. L. Porter, assisted by Misses Pearl Wright and Mary Corbett. Misses McFadyen, Collins, Whiteside, Goggin, and McFarland received in the living room. Mrs. S. K. Phillips, Mrs. Stewart Carr and Mrs. Wesson were at the library door. Misses Maupin, Harding, Gorrell, Wyman, Lewis and Bartholomew received in the library. Mrs. Harry Skinner and Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse were at the door leading into the hall.

The house was beautifully and artistically decorated in cut flowers. Masses of pink roses were in the parlor and dining room. White lilies and jessamine were used around the punch bowl and red poppies in the library.

Misses Mary Wright and Martha Moye kept the victrola going. One of the most delightful features of the afternoon was Miss Aileen Jones' singing. Misses Mead and Bartholomew played duets on the piano. It was a charming reception and very greatly enjoyed by the guests.

Chamber Dinner Well Attended

chambers of commerce have taken on new activity and greater life. The chamber of commerce was not always as it is today. It used to be called a board of trade. It was an organization which gathered a few statistics, held an annual banquet and passed resolutions expressing satisfaction with the state of things in general - and the resolution was the end of the matter. The Board of Trade was in reality a Board of Tradition. Then came the Booster Club which went about telling of the things which our town possessed whether it really possessed them or not. This was in reality but a Booster Club. And so finally there came the chamber of commerce which is in reality a chamber of citizenship - an organization which concerns itself with the interest of each citizen in the community.

Today citizenship can mean but one thing, service. The time has passed when the man who pays his taxes if he cannot get out of them, casts his ballot on election day if it is not too rainy and gets all the money he can out of his town, is a good citizen. True citizenship today is synonymous with service personal service for which no substitute can be employed - cooperative service with other citizens for the community. The difference between the good and bad citizen is just like this, the bad citizen interprets the community interests in terms of his own welfare; the good citizen interprets his own interests in terms of the community welfare.
