

CHAMBER DRIVE OPENS UP IN FULL SWAY HERE TODAY

Intensive Drive For Members of Pitt County Chamber of Commerce Begun By Eight Teams

A total of 118 memberships in the Pitt county chamber of commerce was reported this afternoon. Teams met at the Rotary Club at one o'clock for lunch and where captains made their reports. The four teams of the East Division, Major A. L. Blown, commanding, reported 42 memberships. The four of the West Division, Major P. L. Clodfelter, reported 46 Mrs. J. E. Winslow, Major of the Woman's Division, in which Mrs. T. E. Hooker and Mrs. C. L. Prater are captains, reported 5 memberships. The Special Committee of which Rev. J. B. Turner is commander, reported 25 memberships.

The drive is on

This morning (promptly at nine o'clock, eight teams of civic spirited men met at Campaign Headquarters, Chamber of Commerce, and started out for members of the reorganized body. Each team was commanded by a captain and given a number of names of prospective members who should be called upon. Majors of the East and West Divisions were present and the Teams Committee was on hand to see that all went well.

One hour later the two teams of the Woman's Division met and started their canvassing. Major and team workers in other parts of Pitt County have been supplied with names of prospects and it looked this morning as if there will be good returns from all townships. Names of members signed up today will be published in this newspaper tomorrow.

The teams met for luncheon at the Rotary Club, where reports were posted on a blackboard and where all present joined heartily in singing songs. Tomorrow morning they will renew their work, meeting at Campaign Headquarters promptly at nine o'clock—excepting the ladies, who will meet at ten.

The poet says that "the child is father of the man," and therefore it is appropriate that the first forum in the Conservatory of Citizenship should be for the high school students. Last week their cooperation was requested in building for the future in Greenville. Five questions were asked of them, and the answers, which have been listed at campaign headquarters, make an excellent guide for the men and women of today who are working for the better things in Pitt County. One of the questions was, "What would you like to see the Chamber of Commerce undertake for the improvement of Pitt County?"

More than one hundred and fifty students replied to that question. Of the young men twenty two stated that two said that better roads should be a hospital should be built. Twenty constructed. Several stated that the sanitary conditions should be improved. Three said, "Make this the greatest county in the U. S." Three wanted a gymnasium built. Some of the other answers were, get a troop of Boy Scouts and an efficient master; build more schools; reduce the taxes; build a park; help make the environment more pleasing to the boys and girls to keep them in this community; build a Community Building; get up a good baseball team and have more cooperation by the merchants. The young ladies' replies were even more interesting.

Forty five of the young ladies said that a hospital should be built. Twenty seven urged that good roads be constructed. Several said that the sanitary conditions should be improved. Five wanted a park or playground. Five wanted a basketball ground. Four said that the educational advantages should be improved. Two suggested that Tar river be navigable. Other answers were: Have all old buildings on Main street torn down; build an orphan's home; build a library; organize the farmers.

ART EXHIBIT WILL BE CONDUCTED HERE DURING THIS WEEK

Two Hundred Pictures to be Shown at Model School Thursday, Friday, and Saturday

Recognizing the educational advantages to be derived from opportunities to see good art, the schools have arranged with the Elson Art Publication Co., Inc. of Belmont, Mass., for an art exhibition of two hundred pictures to be held at the Model School, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 12, 13 and 14.

This collection, consisting in large part of carbon photographs, photogravures and prints in full color, made directly from the original masterpieces is selected by art experts and should attract large crowds. A small admission will be charged the entire proceeds of which, after deducting expenses of the exhibit, will be used in the purchase of pictures for wall decoration. The purpose of the exhibition is thus clearly two-fold.

First—To give people an opportunity to see a collection of the world's famous masterpieces of painting, sculpture and architecture.

Second—To make it possible for the public schools to own a few of these pictures.

Why should this exhibit interest you?

Because, throughout the country, people are awakening to the importance and value of good art as creative of a refining influence and inspiring atmosphere and just so surely as people become familiar with the best in art, just so quickly will the crude in art be displaced through appreciation of something better. It is, of course, idle to suppose that one shall become a competent judge of art simply through studying for a time photographs of prints.

But one can and should be obtained is a large measure of appreciation. A work of art which is really great will bear reproduction, and even though this may not possess the pleasure, giving power of the original in a gallery three thousand miles away, that measure of power which it does possess is well worth taking.

One of the leading art critics of our own, John C. Vandyke, says: "You must look at pictures studiously, earnestly, honestly. It will take years before you can come to a full appreciation of it, but when at last you have, you will be possessed of one of the purest, loftiest and most ennobling pleasures that the world can offer you."

One great object of picture study is that of opening the eyes to the beauty all around which an artist's trained eye perceives, while it is missed by others. This is the essential service of all great men, to draw us up in some measure to their own level of insight and inspiration. These pictures are of interest to both young and old, and they are expected to attract and instruct large numbers of people. Every one should come.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR ENJOYS HAPPY HOUR YESTERDAY

The young people's Christian Endeavor had a great "happy hour" meeting at the Christian church yesterday at 5:30. A fine program of social stunts and good time came first, then an enjoyable luncheon followed. The Pollocks led some special songs. A brief devotional program came next and Dr. Edwards gave a short talk at the close. About fifty or sixty young people enjoyed what was truly a "Happy Hour"

OLD DEED FILED FOR REGISTRATION IN CITY LAST WEEK

Deed of Transaction Made by King George to James Crandall for Years Before Revolutionary War Filed

Many land transfers have taken place in Pitt county during the past several years, but the most interesting was filed with the Register of Deeds J. C. Gaskins, the latter part of last week and carries one back exactly 157 years ago, or precisely four years prior to the Revolutionary War.

The deed in question was filed by Mr. C. A. Crandall, of Carolina Township, and has been handed down from generation to generation and preserved in splendid condition considering its age. The printing is some of the first produced in other parts of the country and while the paper is somewhat worn and ragged, the printing is legible and contains several lines of handwriting, beautiful indeed in technique and regularity.

The printing shows that the conveyance was a special grant made by King George of England, during his eight year reign and made to Lord Earl Granville one of the eight Lord Proprietors having control of the colonies while under England's supremacy. The instrument was drawn up and presented to John Crandall two years before the incorporation of Pitt county in 1762. It provided for a tract of land what is now known as Carolina Township, containing 676 acres, with a rental value of 27 shillings and one-half penny.

The deed has created considerable interest among visitors to the court house, and many have marveled at the excellence of the printing and handwriting, which, instead of being crude as a result of America's struggle in inventive power and worn by time, shows signs of perfection and style comparing favorably with present day methods. Mr. Crandall explained that the deed had been carefully preserved by his ancestry, being cherished more as a relic of the colonial instead of its intricate value.

It has been filed away with other old papers on file at the court house, but takes first place in value of age and consummate skill of American forefathers.

PIANO RECITAL IS GIVEN BY PUPILS OF HIGH SCHOOL

Pitt County Contest For Students Also Held Following Regular Recital

Friday night a very entertaining piano recital was given at the High School auditorium by the pupils of Misses Howell and Lay. Those who played were Cotton and Elizabeth Skinner, Eliza Laughinghouse, Edith Quinerly, Martha Moys, Elizabeth Evans, Elizabeth Holton, Mary Moye Carper, Mary Wright Marie Hardee, Ramona Ray, Maude Johnson and Frances Taft. After the recital the Pitt county contest in piano playing for High School students was held. Those entering the contest were, Kathleen Spain, pupil of Miss Howell, Elizabeth White, pupil of Miss Lay and Lenore Stone, pupil of Mrs. Jones, both of Grifton.

The judges for the contest were Misses Mead, Gareis and Bartholomev, all from the Training School. The decision, made from the standpoint of Tone, Interpretation, Technique, Pedaling, memory, etc., was rendered in favor of Miss White. All three pupils played extremely well and the contest was in every way a success. Miss White will be Pitt county's contestant in the State contest, which will be held in Greensboro, May 14th.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT CHRIST CHURCH BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Large Crowds Attended Three Services At Series of Services at Christ Church Yesterday

Three great services were held yesterday. Dr. Edwards addressed the Bible School at the closing. At 11:00 o'clock he preached on "The Mothers." This was a great and touching message. His tribute to the mothers will never be forgotten by a man who heard him. In the afternoon, Edwards preached to men only. His sermon was pronounced by many of those present as being the best sermon to men they had ever heard. The story of the beggar at the beautiful gate was used as the basis for the subject: "That Which is Better Than Gold." The Christ with his healing power was held up to the men as that which gold could not buy.

The young people had a great meeting from 5:30 to 7:30. The evening service was the climax of a great day for Christianity in Greenville. Dr. Edwards' theme was the "Passing Harvest." It was a wonderful appeal to redeem the time and opportunity when they come to us. Baptismal services followed the sermon. Seventeen went forward during the day. The Pollocks led the music of the day and delighted all who attended. Mr. Pollock sang at each service a song touching Mother's Day.

At the evening service every seat was taken in the auditorium, balcony, Sunday School room and balcony and rooms above. Dr. Edwards and the Pollocks have been engaged to return for the whole month of April 2022.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC AGAIN HARD HIT BY CITY RAIDERS

Thad Williams Captures Still Near Shelmerdine, While Jackson Pours Out Four Barrels Beer

The illicit whiskey traffic of Pitt county was given another discouraging blow about 2 o'clock this morning when Deputy Sheriff Thad Williams, accompanied by Claude Wooten, succeeded in capturing a "monkey rum still" in the vicinity of Shelmerdine. There was no one at the place when the officers arrived, and from all appearances the outfit had not been in operation in several days.

The still itself was somewhat superior to the usual type employed in this section of the country, being constructed entirely of copper with worm and all accessories. It was located in a dense forest, and consequently the officers had much time in locating it. This, however, was due more from indirect information instead of geographical location, but they got what they went after, and that's all they wanted.

One peculiar feature connected with the capture is the fact that there was no beer secreted anywhere in close proximity to the still; neither were there any barrels, but the officers did find a pair of hooks which had been used in fastening into the end of bar-rough the forest by assistance of a rels so they might be rolled along thru- nule at the end of the shaft. This is the first time such device has ever been discovered and indicates another improvement in surreptitious movements of the lawless element.

Deputy Sheriff Jackson went out on a booze and still hunting expedition this morning but failed to get anything along this line except the pleasure of pouring out four barrels of beer in the vicinity of Staton's Mill. There was everything in evidence showing that a still had one time been in operation at the place, but this had been removed by the owners before the officers arrived causing much sorrow in official circles here.

MOTHER'S DAY IS WELL OBSERVED IN TOWN YESTERDAY

Memorial Baptists Render Splendid Program in Honor of Occasion

"Mothers Day" was observed most appropriately in the Memorial Baptist Church yesterday. At the Sunday School hour there was a record breaking young men present in the Baraca class, attendance with over one hundred. All other classes had a large attendance. At the eleven o'clock service the choir rendered several selections all touching upon Mothers Day. Rev. Leonard W. Smith preached a beautiful sermon taking his text from Exodus 20:20, "And Thy Mother." He based his sermon on two points, first: An appeal to the child to honor the parent, and second: an appeal to the parent to be worthy of the honor and respect of the child. He showed where a mother's love is the most wonderful thing on earth and where after all other things perish away, the love of mother will live on and on.

The choir always renders beautiful music but that of yesterday was a great treat and better music is seldom ever heard in this city. The following program was rendered:

Organ Prelude—Home Sweet Home, An Old Familiar Hymn—Come Thou Fount.

Duet—Mother, by Mrs. Bridgers and Miss Forbes.

Scripture Reading.

Solo and Quartette—Till Mother T'll Be There, by Miss Morgan and Quartette.

Prayer.

Solo—Little Mother Mine, by Mrs. Bridgers.

THIRTEEN NEGRO GAMBLERS GIVEN 90 DAYS ON ROAD

Farmville Policemen Bring Truck Load of Them Over, Each Drawing 90 Days on Public Roads

Thirteen colored men were brought to this city from Farmville this morning by Policemen Taylor and Hobgood to be given a hearing in county court on charges of gambling and selling whiskey. The negroes walked directly from the truck to the court house, and hardly before charges had been preferred against them Judge Cooper announced that all thirteen were sentenced to 90 days service on the county roads. This is the first time so many defendants have appeared in one single case, and probably the first time that judgment was pronounced so quickly.

Judge Cooper says he means to put an end to so much meanness resulting from unemployment and idleness in every part of the county, and believes when such conditions as these are discovered that defendants will be better off in helping improve the county thoroughfares. This attitude certainly will bring about a wonderful change in that element which is going to be mean in spite of the courts and Satan himself, and if the public will co-operate it is very evident Pitt county will be much better place in which to live.

The negroes sent to the roads this morning were captured in Farmville yesterday afternoon while playing a sociable game of African Golf in the colored section. Three made their escape, but were captured by police in Wilson, who immediately notified Farmville. As a result the officers were able to deliver the entire lot to Judge Cooper at one time, and that's the reason probably justice was dealt out so quickly.

Much interest was created along the main streets in the city when the truck loaded to its capacity with policemen and colored "gemmen" appeared, and there were a number so inquisitive that they followed the conveyance to the court house, where the cause of the unusual spectacle was ascertained. Many of the negroes smiled contentedly when they alighted from the truck, but when they reached the court house and heard Judge Cooper snap out 90 days each without waiting for argument there were some who changed from smiles to tears.

COL. MINOR TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY MAY 30.

Col. Sidney W. Minor, of Danville, Va., who commanded the 120th Infantry of the famous 30th division, will be the principal speaker at the celebration May 30th. Col. Minor needs no introduction to Pitt county. Many of his boys live within the confines of old Pitt, and they will see to it that their noble leader is given a royal reception on the 30th. Mr. Dave Turnage of the Pitt county Post is chairman of the committee who is working in conjunction with the committee appointed by the Woman's Club to make the occasion a success.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Beginning with Sunday, May 8, we will take full control of the city sales of the News and Observer. Patrons of the paper who have heretofore been paying for their paper weekly will be served by us, with no increase in price. The daily News and Observer will be sent by mail or from us, as preferred. The Sunday issue will be delivered by carrier or can be called for.

The price of the paper is 20c per week. Payment at this low rate must be made in advance. No exception will be made to this rule. Those who do not pay in advance will be charged 5 cents for each copy.

Monday Afternoon, May 9th, 1921

The fact that President Harding has accepted the invitation of American participation in the Supreme council, indicates that he has a better opinion of foreign relations than at one time believed. It also strengthens belief that he is not so much opposed to the league of nations, although it is certain he will do everything in his power to bring about an Association of nations so he will not have to swallow all these bad things said about the league. Time works wonderful changes with everyone, and it will probably prove more general with the Republican party than any other organization in this country.

The German government is determined to resist terms of reparations as long as possible, and the sooner the allies quit sending notes and get down to brass tacks the quicker a favorable change will be evident. If Germany had meant to do the right thing she would have done it without so much delay. This fact was not plain to the allies, however, and consequently they have lost much time and spent a considerable sum of money in conferences and other means tending to show Germany why her debt is so large. The time for more determined and consistent action has come, and if the indemnity is to be paid it might as well be now as in the future.

The high cost of transportation is one of the greatest problems the American public is forced to deal with at the present time. But like all other issues a solution will be found during this great period of readjustment. The railroads apparently are not making any money, but by cutting wages and demanding economy along other lines it looks like they might be able to reduce freight rates at some early date. There are many who deplore the falling off of passenger business, but they only have to turn to high rates to find the reason for it. Travel would double with shorter time than contemplated if the railroads really want to do business to the general satisfaction of the public they will do so as early as possible. Inflation will no longer be tolerated by a country which has suffered so much during the past several months, and unless railway officials take immediate steps to better conditions they will find business falling off still more.

Greenville people should turn out in great numbers tomorrow and help make the Memorial Day celebration one of the greatest in years. Members of the J. Bryan Grimes camp of the Confederacy are disappearing every year now, and as the ranks grow thinner through demands of the grim reaper everyone should do their part in making the remaining ones realize that they are still honored heroes of the South. It has been some sixty odd years since ending of the war between the states, but the spirit for which the South struggled so gallantly and tenaciously still survives in the heart of its people. The veterans that will be with us tomorrow refresh memory of the perilous days, and it is only right and just that people of the present era bow down to them with deference remembering the cause for which they fought and traditions which they perpetuated. The war was small in comparison to the great conflict just ended, but it more vitally concerned the American people because it resulted from different opinion existing between the North and the South. It is then, a great thing to the United States and it is only right that those who fought in it should be remembered by appropriate exercises every year.

HARDING SHOWS SENSE

The country heartily approves actions of President Harding in deciding to send a representative to represent this country in deliberations of the Supreme council. It is to be regretted, however that the man is to be George Harvey, because there are so many other men of the party who could present American desires so much better.

There are Hughes and Taft for instance, both of them are familiar with requirements of the nation and also foreign nations. They could wield a greater influence simply because they are men who have studied problems of interest, and are able to champion them as they should be. Mr. Harding has met a situation that will be generally approved throughout the country, for it is realized he is drawing near to principles enunciated by the democratic administration and especially by Mr. Wilson.

It is true there are many members of his party who will oppose the action, but this will mean very little to the favorable sentiment which has been created among the masses. This is what counts in accomplishing things, and the president's action is suggestive of careful insight into conditions not yet conceived by his less appreciative followers.

The Knox peace resolution seems to have struck a snag in the House, if reports are true. But still no one cares if it is delayed for an indefinite duration.

The new Spring clothes are such a temptation to every woman who loves pretty things—and sometimes she cannot afford quite all she wants. So we are suggesting a real economy—a corset which is dependable in style and fit and which gives wonderful service in long wear.

The prices of Warner's are not only unusually low, but they are even lower when you consider how long one of these corsets will last and that it can be washed again and again to be just as good as new. We are showing plenty of styles from which to select your model.

Time Tests Plumbing Work

THE house built upon sand looks as good as the one founded upon a rock—at first. But time determines the worth of the plumbing fixtures and the skill and care with which they are installed, just as it tests the foundations.

If you are interested in having honest, capable plumbing service call upon us. Those whom we serve will give all the testimony you want as to our ability.
