

TOMLINSON TELLS PITT FARMERS OF MARKETING PLAN

Prominent Wilson Business Man on Visit to Farmville Urges Membership in the Association

M. L. Tomlinson, of Wilson, who is considered one of the best informed men in the state on agricultural conditions, addressed a gathering of farmers, bankers and business men in Farmville during the latter part of the week in the interest of the co-operative marketing association and told them that the future of the farming industry is to be largely determined by what the farmer does for himself within the next several days.

Mr. Tomlinson told his hearers that he was raised in this section of the State and has been intensely interested in what they have been doing because their prosperity means prosperity for his business. The same situation prevails among every business man and banker, he said, because the money that goes into hands of the farmer naturally finds its way to the business man in the settlement of debts made in the production of the farm crops.

No man, he declared, can be opposed to principles of the co-operative marketing association because it is an organization promoting better prices for what the farmer produces. It is enabled to demand better price conditions because it is to control the major part of the cotton and tobacco production and markets it in a way that eliminates speculation and the profits which have been preventing the farmer from getting his share of what he produces.

When the farmer is down, Mr. Tomlinson declared, the business man and banker is down also, and it is imperative therefore that immediate steps be taken to set aside the possibility of such conditions as have confronted both cotton and tobacco growers for the past several months. The business man that refuses to promote the new marketing plan and won't help the farmer when he needs assistance is either ignorant of fundamental principles of the movement or desirous of becoming a parasite to his community. There are numbers hanging back in indecision, falling to act because of selfish motives, and it is such fellows that are proving themselves a menace to the industry and leeches sapping the very life out of constructive business methods.

The marketing association, he asserted, is going to hire the most capable and efficient men of the country to conduct its business, and whatever they accomplish will be in the interest of the farmer and not any single individual. Many skeptical people have asked how these men are going to be obtained and where the money is to come from to pay for their services. "Where does Buck Duke get his $100,000 a year and several million dollars on bonuses?" Mr. Tomlinson always asks. You farmers pay him, so it is very evident you will have little trouble in paying men the same amount working in your interest alone.

If two merchants were to come to my store, Mr. Tomlinson continued, one being a member of the association and the other an independent, I would much rather extend credit to the former than the latter, because the association member is in position to receive the best prices the market has to offer while the other will continue sacrificing his products to the selfish interests of independent agencies. There is a vast difference between organized selling and the old plan, and the farmer that takes advantage of the opportunity to become a member and fails to do so deserves to be a complete failure in every sense of the word.

It is the duty of every business man, banker and professional man to hear Aaron Sapiro in Greenville Thursday, Mr. Tomlinson said in conclusion, because he is an authority on world conditions and fully enlightened concerning things necessary to the progress and advancement of the industry.

BETHEL AND STOKES REPORT MEMBERS IN CHAMBER CAMPAIGN

Grimesland Also Among the First Sections of County to Report Work in Membership Drive

Bethel, Stokes and Grimesland are the first towns of Pitt county reporting actually signed membership cards in the chamber of commerce, and if the proportion holds good in other communities, and in the rural districts, there is no question regarding a representative membership beyond the limits of the city of Greenville.

Membership cards in Bethel were signed by Z. V. Bunting, the Farmers and Merchants Bank, Cecil Garretton and H. V. Staton. Stokes reported W. H. Gray, L. H. Roberson and J. L. Perkins. Grimesland's contingent consisted of Clark Brothers, J. J. Elks, A. F. Fleming and Mr. Proctor. "There will be more, too, in a few days," said the team workers in each of the above named towns.

Farmville, Ayden and other towns will be heard from next week. The reports are most favorable from all places and officers of the county division are very optimistic as to the outcome. The fact that every member of the new chamber will have a say as to the program of work which will be adopted and the men who will serve on the board of directors proves to all that look into the merits of the movement that it is a very democratic institution.

Memberships in Greenville reported yesterday at the final luncheon held at the Rotary club were taken out by the Carolina Building and Supply Company, the Chero-Cola Bottling Works, which subscribed for three memberships, R. T. Cox, W. C. Dresback, G. A. Forrest, J. A. Mills, W. H. Moore, Everett Stroud, H. C. Sugs, Taft Brothers, E. B. Thomas and C. L. Tucker.

There are a few residents of Greenville who as yet have not been solicited by team workers. These men and women will be given the opportunity next week of joining the organization so that they can work constructively with their neighbors in deciding what the Pitt county chamber of commerce should first start out to accomplish, when fully organized.

NEW MISSIONARIES SENT TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES LATELY

More Than One Hundred Now Being Supported by Southern Baptist Convention

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 14.—More than 100 new missionaries were sent out and eight foreign countries entered for the first time by the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist convention last year, according to the annual report of the board, presented to the convention today by Dr. J. E. Love, secretary. The number of new missionaries is practically three times as large as the record of any previous year. The larger number of appointments were made possible through the larger receipts from the 75 million campaign, it was announced.

The eight foreign countries entered as mission fields for the first time are Spain, Jugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania, the Ukraine, Siberia, and Palestine. This new field has a combined population of more than 100,000,000. In addition, Southern Baptists have agreed to re-inforce the work of the Brazilian Baptists in Portugal, in case such need is necessary. The work to be done by the board in Siberia connects up with the work already being done in North China and Manchuria.

HAPPENINGS HERE AND THERE IN CITY AND PITT COUNTY

News Notes Gleaned by Reflector Reporter During the Morning

Chautauqua Coming
Greenville chautauqua opens June 10. Dr. D. A. Downey, the Swarthmore chautauqua advance agent will meet the guarantors next Monday night at 8 in chamber of commerce rooms to assist in lining things up for the chautauqua that opens in Greenville June 10.

Full details of the tenth anniversary program will be given, and all local committees will be appointed. Everything points to a most enjoyable program this year. The management have done their utmost to make this tenth anniversary program an exceptionally good one.

Crops Looking Good

Despite inclement weather of the past several days the crops of Pitt county are looking good at this time, and indications point to splendid production. Men who have visited nearly every part of the county recently say the farmers have not failed to realize the importance of curtailing acreage and have cut both cotton and tobacco crops at least 25 percent. The potato crop is particularly in splendid condition and a large yield is anticipated. The corn crop no doubt will be short, but planters will make up for this in normal production of other food crops.

Health Officer Here

L. E. Robbins, State health officer, has arrived in Greenville for the purpose of inspecting public places. Mr. Robbins says it is probable warrants will be in evidence during the entire three weeks he is in the city, especially for those who have not been paying proper attention to sanitary closets. This is the first time the State inspector has been in Greenville in several weeks, and it is hoped the people will cooperate with him in making every locality healthy during the summer months.

Large Crowds in Town

In spite of unfavorable weather conditions early this morning large crowds of people were in the city today shopping and attending to other business. The farmers are very busy this season of the year, but always find time to visit Greenville on Saturday to lay in a stock of stuff needed the following week. When the hard surfaced road is completed traveling will be much better, and as a result Greenville business houses will draw trade from a much greater distance than heretofore. This will create a more determined spirit of competition and help lower the cost of living.

Want All The News

The Reflector is making every effort to furnish its readers with all of the local news happening in this part of the state, and every one having news which they think will be of interest will render us a great favor by either notifying us by telephone or mail. It is very difficult to get in touch with every happening, especially visitors coming and going, therefore, our readers will be conferring us a great favor by informing us of such happenings.

Baraca Class Meets

The Baraca class of the Methodist Sunday school met last Sunday with Rev. Patten as teacher. The regular teacher, Prof. Wright, was absent. He went to the funeral of Prof. Graham, a very close friend. Rev. Patten gave an excellent talk to the class. He made several good applications of the lesson to the present day.

After a report of the social committee it was decided to have a "get-together meeting" or social on Friday night, May 20th. Several noted speakers will be present and every member is urged to be there and enjoy himself. Announcement will be made later as to place for social.

Visitors always welcome.

METHODISTS AND BAPTISTS PLAY TO A TEN INNING TIE

Game Between Sunday School Classes Yesterday Full Interest—Other Happenings of City

Methodists Tie Baptists
One of the most spectacular games of baseball staged in Greenville this season was pulled off at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon when clubs representing Sunday school classes of the Immanuel Baptist church and the Jarvis Memorial Methodist played a ten inning tie, the contest being interrupted by rain and darkness, the score standing 10 to 10. Dr. J. B. Turner, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, did the mound work for the Baptists, and although the Methodists succeeded in swatting the ball to every part of the lot in the first stages of the contest he succeeded in curbing the batting spirit in latter frames. Willis Flemming started off for the Methodists and breezed along nicely at first, but later on a regular slaughter occurred. Foley was placed on the box, but fared little better, so Tom Cannady was called into action and finally stopped the slaughter.

Hard hitting featured the affray for both sides, and the old ball game hung in the balance many a time, but in the final stages the invincible spirit of the batters died out and the fielders were given an opportunity of enjoying a short respite from hard labor.

The tie is to be played off this afternoon if all players are able to get away from their business, but this is very uncertain and it is probable the game will be deferred until next week. Both teams showed good forms considering the practice they've had, and promise a much better exhibition next time.

To Open Ice House

The Reflector wishes to call attention of its many readers to the page advertisement of Mr. George Cherry's carrying in today's issue. Mr. Cherry is preparing an up-to-date ice house and will place wagons on the street next week. His prices will conform to the cost of production, and deserve the patronage of the people.

Vaccinating Hogs

W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of Pitt county vaccinated several hogs in the Bethel community yesterday. This work has been going on for several months, and Pitt county stock as a result is in a much healthier condition than formerly. Mr. Pace says it is imperative that hogs be given proper attention and urges farmers to notify him when they have any vaccinating to be done.

JUDGE BOND DRUNK AND COURT SUSPENDED

Court was suspended Wednesday morning because of the drunken condition of Judge Bond. This is the second occasion at least, that he has been drunk while in Clinton to hold court. A telegram to the following effect was sent Governor Morrison Wednesday morning by a Clinton citizen: "Judge Bond here on streets this morning publicly drunk and unable to hold court. An investigation will confirm above, and quick investigation will find him still drunk. Judge Bond was all broken up, we are sure, by the address of yesterday in which he referred to the death of his son in the Argonne forest, but such conduct cannot be longer excused in one who holds his position of power and influence. Reformation immediately, resignation or removal is demanded."—Sampson Democrat.

METHODISTS MAKE SPLENDID RECORD IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

Attendance Recorded Last Sunday Surpassed Any Single Sunday in Several Months

Last Sunday was the biggest day that the Jarvis Memorial Sunday school has had. There was a grand total of 551 present, and these came without any special effort being made, except for the fact that there were a few mothers present who were not regular attendants. The following classes took first places: SA, taught by Miss Ross, and SB, taught by Mr. M. K. Blount. Both of these classes had every member present and on time. Next came GB, taught by Miss Poindexter, with all present and all on time save one; Mrs. Milton White's class and Mrs. Underwood's class had all present, and two tardy only. 10B, taught by Mr. Futrell, had full record of 60 present out of an enrollment of 63, a record hard to beat for a class as large as that. The young men's class had 51 present out of an enrollment of 68. The Baraca class taught by Mr. Wright had 69 present and the Training school class taught by Mr. Underwood had 62 present. 5A, taught by Miss Mial had only one absent and GA, taught by Miss Julia Harris had all present with only one tardy. After the class period there was a special musical program consisting of an orchestra selection, solo by Miss Aileen Jones, and male quartette, all of the numbers being appropriate to the occasion, Mothers Day. The singing by the whole school with the aid of the orchestra was an inspiration to all those present. The orchestra now composed of clarinet, French horn, three violins and a piano is a source of joy to every one that comes.

Tomorrow at 9:45 there will be another session of this same Sunday school. It will have special musical features, both instrumental and vocal. At this session the Circle No. 3 of the Missionary Society will present to the Sunday School a brand new high grade piano.

If you want inspiration, recreation mentally and spiritually, knowledge of the Bible, and good music, Rally Round at 9:45.

CAROLINA LEAGUE TO STAGE OPENING GAMES ON JUNE 9

Greenville to Play Opener at Washington While Kinston Will Go to New Bern

The Eastern Carolina league which has been under discussion in this section of the State for the past several weeks is now an actuality and in the course of a few days will see clubs representing Kinston, Washington, New Bern and Greenville preparing for opening games Thursday, June 9th. This decision was reached at a meeting of representatives from all four towns conducted in New Bern last night, at which time definite plans for the league were outlined and adopted.

The meeting was one of the most interesting since the league was proposed and featured in the adoption of bylaws, arrangement of schedule and election of officers. The schedule provides for sixty games, the opening games on June 9th to be played between Greenville and Washington at Washington and Kinston at New Bern. The season's opening will be accompanied by a general celebration of the occasion in each town, and it is probable attendance will be everything expected.

In the election of officers William Ellis of New Bern is to head the organization as president, Felix Harvey of Kinston, vice president, and Henry Henderson of New Bern, secretary and treasurer. These officers assumed charge of affairs last night and hereafter will direct operations of the association.

The by-laws this year will probably be more binding than last year because it is realized that regulations are the only way of conducting affairs of the association in an orderly manner. Each club will be forced to adhere to regulations, and clubs deviating from the rules be subjected to a fine.

A meeting of the Greenville club will be conducted in the Carolina club rooms Monday night when definite arrangements for the participation of Greenville club will be outlined. There are many things to be discussed before opening of the season, and it is urged that a large delegation be present. Stock was solicited sometime ago, but effort to raise additional funds will be made in order that the financial condition of the club will be everything desired. This plan has already been adopted in other towns, and it is highly imperative that Greenville do the same thing if it intends to offer opposition for the pennant.

The result of the New Bern meeting will be received with more than general interest in every part of the State because of the disposition of some towns not to accept anything but organized ball. Under the present ruling, however, the league will be composed almost entirely of college men and amateur players, but these will be able to furnish a class of ball equal to the Virginia league and the Western Carolina association.

The four towns comprising the League this year are large enough to support their clubs in splendid form, therefore, it is expected that the spirit of competition will be considerably greater than last year when there were so many small towns included. All four clubs plan to offer strenuous opposition for the pennant, and as a consequence some mighty interesting ball is anticipated.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 14

The cotton and tobacco grower that curtails acreage this year will be the one to reap great benefits of the harvest season. The demand for both products is not what it should be, but with reduced crops each year congested markets will be relieved enough to justify normal production much sooner than expected.

Wayne county has voted money for the construction of hard roads, which goes to show that North Carolina will in the course of a few years be linked up by such thoroughfares. When this takes place transportation will be conducted largely by truck and the railroads will be deprived of much business. That's just what the people have been desiring for many years, and the sooner it takes place the better everyone will like it.

That "likered" candy reported to have been distributed among school children in Charlotte disappeared before it reached the State chemist for examination. That's not surprising in the least, for there are people in the State who would do almost anything to feel the effects of intoxication. The school children didn't like it, however, and that's the reason it fell into more appreciative hands.

The campaign for raising funds for the starving millions in China is being continued with renewed vigor in the United States, although a considerable sum has already been sent to the famine stricken region. Any sum is appreciated, as three cents will save a life for a day. American people have been blessed with bountiful harvests for many years, and unless they respond to the call for relief they will not be fair to themselves, in any sense of the word.

Josephus Daniels, editor of the News and Observer and former secretary of the navy, believes that North Carolina is in need of a drive for greater christianity. He expressed this opinion in an address delivered at New Bern the first part of the week, and received assurance of co-operation from the important sources of the city. This is what every state needs for years. Not that church work has not been everything that could be desired but because there are thousands of people throughout the nation who are in complete darkness concerning the teachings of the Bible. Mr. Daniels has made a splendid proposition and ought to receive the support of interested persons in every section of the country.

Are college men ignorant? Thomas A. Edison seems to think that way about it, as results of a questionnaire recently sent out shows that the majority of them are "amazingly ignorant" of things vitally affecting natural life. The self made man thinks there is no use of going to college, while the college man thinks the man who has never been to college is absolutely wrong, for the man that learns to train his mind to accomplish something, or to master situations, may be considered the educated man, and all the foreign languages he may master in a lifetime will not make him educated unless he has. The ordinary American is astonishingly illiterate concerning many problems, but taking them as a whole they are above the average simply because they have learned to master situations occurring in ordinary every day life. This fact cannot be disputed, for it is always in evidence, to the keen business man and to the other class of men desiring to secure the services of persons capable of producing with a degree of efficiency.

EXPOSING KEYNES' STATEMENTS

The statements pertaining to Upper Silesia's importance to Germany, contained in J. M. Keynes' widely read book, "The Economic Consequences of the Peace," were recently shown by Andre Wierzbicki, member of the Polish Diet, to be based on German propaganda pure and simple.

So similar were the statements in Keynes' book and the statements in the German memorandum presented at the Peace conference, said Mr. Wierzbicki, that the Germans in translating Keynes' treatise were able to insert whole passages from the original German document without a single change.

In other words, these statements which allied diplomats have long looked upon as representing a disinterested view of the Upper Silesian question are in fact nothing less than German claims reiterated by Keynes, said the Polish deputy.

Had Keynes, instead of accepting the statements at their face value, investigated the German claims, Wierzbicki pointed out, he would have discovered no end of misleading and even false statements—even though his investigation had been confined to the study of German documents.

In Mr. Wierzbicki's speech before the Polish Diet he called particular attention to the efforts of the Germans to mislead the world opinion in regard to Upper Silesia during the peace conference. Keynes' complete adoption of the German statements and his aid in giving them wide distribution, he said, brilliantly served the desired ends of the German propagandists.

Owing to the false statements in Keynes' book, Wierzbicki stated, no small number of the statesmen of the world have been misled into believing that Germany could not exist without Upper Silesia and that Poland had no particular need of the coal region.

The belief that Upper Silesia is not important to Poland is based on the lack of even such elementary information as the territorial extent of present-day Poland. For instance, Keynes states that Poland in 1913 consumed 10,500,000 tons of coal, of which 6,800,000 were supplied by coal fields located in the territory definitely assigned to Poland, whereas Upper Silesia supplied, according to the same authority 1,500,000 tons. This statement is not true. This figure represents less than half of the real consumption of Poland in that year within the present boundaries. The figure 6,800,000 tons, given by Keynes, represents the production in the Dombrowa Basin, the Krakow Basin, not being taken into consideration. The figure 1,500,000 tons represents the imports during that year of Upper Silesian coal to the former Congress Poland only. The importation of coal from Upper Silesia to all the territories which have now been united into the Polish state was five times as great as the figure thus given.

Instead of being essential to Germany, a study of the question shows conclusively that for Germany Upper Silesia would mean only a source of greater wealth, whereas for Poland it is a fundamental basis of economic existence. Germany without Upper Silesian coal will be not only unable to cover her entire demands, but will have considerable coal for exportation, whereas Poland must have Upper Silesian coal. The Upper Silesian iron industry does not play any great role in the total balance of Germany, its significance for Germany has been decreasing from year to year. The natural markets for this industry were the Polish provinces, from the largest of which Upper Silesia was cut off by customs boundaries which hampered the development of the Silesian iron industry.

On the other hand, territories belonging to the present Polish state are for Upper Silesia sources of raw materials and of food which Germany is not able to supply to Upper Silesia.

Reports say Scotland Neck plans to continue paving its principal streets. This is mighty commendable and attests the spirit of thrift of its people. Good roads or streets are absolutely essential to all thriving communities and the Halifax county town is doing the right thing in keeping the good work going on.

Time Tests Plumbing Work

THE house built upon sand looks as good as the one founded upon a rock
—at first. But time determines the worth of the plumbing fixtures and the skill and care with which they are installed, just as it tests
the foundations.
If you are interested in having honest, capable plumbing service call upon us. Those whom we serve will give all the testimony you want as to our ability.
