In case there's to be another war an indemnities it might be to the advantage of belligerent nations to begin paying their bills in advance.

The cash and carry plan has met the approval of the public in many large cities, but there are many people too lazy to see its good points.

The railroads are beginning a campaign to cut expenses. If they meet with the same success of the ordinary working man, then they have a long way to go before accomplishing anything definite.

Paying the indemnity was a bitter dose for Germany to swallow, but now that the matter is concluded it's to be hoped Berlin will be more amicable about it.

The United States, it is pleasing to note, has abandoned its policy of isolation in accepting the invitation to become a member of the supreme council. While this may not be exactly so good as the league of nations, it is all right for a beginning and assures the public that many good changes are pending for the future.

Eight cent street car fares are being sought by various trolley lines throughout the State. This is no time for increased fares, and the companies might find it to their advantage to go back to five cents and remain there. They would certainly receive greater patronage, which in turn would make up for the shortage brought around by the reduction of rates.

Freight and passenger rates are high enough to indicate prosperity for the railroads, but they claim to be hard hit, just the same. It's to be hoped they will figure out an adjustment at an early date and reduce rates. The public is getting tired of being the loser for it has played the part so long there are getting disgusted.

Turning the corner headed for better times is one of the greatest things American people have been up against in years, but being the greatest "stickers" on earth they will pass over the period in condition to take up the great burden of reconstruction in a way to win plaudits of the world. Everyone should measure up to individual responsibilities for in this way alone will the country ever be able to reach the ambitious goal outlined by leaders of olden days.

The expansion drive of the chamber of commerce may not mean anything to the ordinary run of people, but to the man desirous of seeing his community develop along all lines it means "eternal hammering". Such institutions have been wonderful sources of help to small towns and large cities, and thousands of industries have sprung up as a result of combined effort of organization members. The true virtues, or intrinsic value of the chamber of commerce is best expressed in progress, but no one can appreciate its real greatness until they have been acquainted with the way they function. Pitt county people are on the verge of deciding one of the greatest issues in years. They are at a point of determining whether the county wide chamber of commerce is to be a success and upon their response received by membership canvassing committees this week rests the decision. It is hoped the response will be everything expected, for if it is the future can not be anything but beneficial to everyone.

FAVORS MARKETING PLAN

The visit to this city recently of Dr. J. Y. Joyner should be of interest to every business man and cotton and tobacco grower in the county, as he came to acquaint them with principle issues of the co-operative marketing association. Dr. Joyner has for many years been a leader in public affairs, and what he has to say regarding most any subject may be considered reliable and based on mature consideration.

He believes the co-operative marketing association is necessary to the cotton and tobacco planter because he knows that it has proven satisfactory to growers in every district where it has been given a trial. Its cardinal virtues cannot be denied, because they are tegning with unquestionable facts based upon the foundation of one of the greatest organizations the world has ever known. It easily replaces the old dumping plan because it has a definite purpose, a purpose in which the cotton and tobacco grower will realize cost of production, instead of the low prices which the market has been offering for the past several years.

The association, Dr. Joyner says, is founded upon the same principles of any other large organization of this country. It gains entire control of the market, and demands prices in proportion to the cost of production. The Standard Oil company, one of the largest enterprises in America, is based upon the same principle. Does John D. Rockefeller lose money on his investments? We think not, because he knows what the world demands and keep prices at a point where they readily conform to what it takes to produce his products.

The American farmer will find himself individually connected with one of the largest industries of its kind. His products will be turned over to the association. Capable and efficient men will provide a market, and then arrange with the farmer the amount of stuff to produce. There will be no speculation, and the farmer no longer will be compelled to go to the buyer and "What'll you give?" As a consequence prices will be readily adjusted, and in the course of a few years the farming industry will be functioning on a paying basis.

Mr. Joyner is well informed concerning conditions prevailing in North Carolina, in fact, in every part of the world, and he wouldn't be going around advocating something to harm the farmers when they are his friends and have been his friends for numbers of years. He is vitally interested in their future, and it is safe to say his influence is going to mean much to the success of the new marketing association, especially after it becomes an actuality.

It is hardly possible that cotton and tobacco growers will fail to curtail acreage this year as they have been advised to do. The past has proved the wisdom of such action and the man that fails to do so will be unfair to himself and his neighbor. The future of the industry is largely dependent upon the action of the grower this year and if he would enjoy the prosperity of the future it is advisable that plans now being advocated be accepted. The time for action has come and every man should do his part in making them an actuality.

I WANT TO GO BACK TO THE COUNTRY

When Mr. Brown moved off to town. He thought he made a show; He sold his land for cash in hand And dressed up like a beau; But when dull times came down on him,

And debts were hard to pay, He met the coal man with a sigh, And Brown was heard to say:

"I want to go back to the country Where fuel's growing free, I want to go back to the country Where dealers never bother me; I'm weary of factory whistles And tired of the tumult of town, I want to go back to the country As sure as my name is Brown."

And next came Dan, the market man, With manners very meek: "Oh, can't you pay," I heard him say, "For goods you got last week?" The poor man's face grew very dim, His throat was very dry, But finally Brownie got his breath And made him this reply:

"I want to go back to the country Where rabbit flesh is free, I want to go back to the country Where market men don't bother me, I'm weary of factory whistles, And tired of the tumult of town, I want to go back to the country As sure as my name is Brown."

The clock struck ten when Billie Ben The landlord, came in view; "Pay up or get out," I heard him shout, The streets have room for you; A cloud of wrath came o'er his face, Despair had made him strong And to the landlord's great surprise He sang this little song:

"I'm now going back to the country Where house rent's almost free, I'm now going back to the country Where landlords don't bother me, I'm weary of factory whistles, And tired of the tumult of town, I'm now going back to the country As sure as my name is Brown."

No more of town for Mr. Brown, Who breathes the country air, And works all day in the good old way His life is free from care; His little wife is happy, too, His children work and play, When Brownie wants to sing a song He never forgets to say:

"I'm glad I'm back in the country, Where everything is free, I'm glad I am back in the country Where people never bother me; I'm weary of factory whistles, And tired of the tumult of town, I'm glad I am back in the country As sure as my name is Brown," —Paul Edwards.

MEMORIAL BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL MADE A SPLENDID RECORD HERE YESTERDAY

The "blues" won from the "reds" in the contest which closed yesterday at the Memorial Baptist church, with the exception of one class in which he "reds" had the largest average. The contest has created quite a good bit of interest and the competition between the classes has been keen. Yesterday was the record breaker in attendance, with four hundred and five being present.

As a result of the contest, the "reds" will give the "blues" a fish fry in the near future.

THE TRIAL OF THE ROBBERS PRESENTED BY THE B. Y. P. U. OF THE MEMORIAL BAPTIST

"The Trial of the Robbers", a mock trial which was presented by the B. Y. P. U. of the Memorial Baptist church, on last evening was a great success and taught those attending a splendid lesson on tithing. The play had a regular court setting and proved very interesting indeed. Misses Ernestine Forbes, as "Mary Stingy," and Will Whedbee as "John Rich," were on trial for robbing God of the one-tenth which belongs to Him. Mr. W. T. Lipscomb, Jr., as judge, and Messrs. Frank Patrick, solicitor, and Richard Gorman, defendant's attorney, were splendid and displayed great ability and judgment. All arguments were based on the Bible, and in each instance it was proven that one-tenth he longs to God, and if a man fails to give the one-tenth he is guilty of robbing God. The witness were Mr. Colgate, H. L. Smith, John Rosa, Mr. Brantley and Mrs. Brown, Miss Macle Southall. Each witness stated that they practiced tithing and had found it the best way. Mr. Non Tither, Mr. on the defendants' side. Solicitor Pat S. N. Graham, was the only witness rick soon did way with his statements by bringing the Bible into play. The jurors, Misses Ward Moore, Annie L. Savage, Rubelle Forbes, Miss Martin, Louis Gavin, Mr. Carson, J. W. Jernigan, Cecil Cobb, Mr. Burnette, returned the verdict of guilty, but the judge, with the promise that they would give heir share to God, allowed the defendants a little more time.

It was a splendid lesson and one which should be learned by everyone.

BUY YOUR COAL DIRECT FROM MINE—BIG SAVING

The high cost of coal is a thing of the past! At least, there are no complaints on this account—since the removal of government restrictions—among those who have learned how to buy coal is to get direct from the mines. This saves several middlemen's profits. It saves hauling expenses. Anyone can now buy at mine prices, whether a carload buyer or one who uses only ten or fifteen tons a year. This has been made possible through a plan evolved by a large and old established concern THE BERNICE COAL COMPANY, with main offices at 587 Como Building Chicago. This company has thousands of customers in various sections of the United States who receive all of their coal direct from the mines. These customers are pleased not only because of the many dollars they save every year, but also because of the quality of coal they are getting. Many write that they never had coal before that makes so little dust, that burns so well, leaving so few ashes. If you are a coal user—whether you use hard or soft coal much or little—it will be greatly to your advantage to write the Bernice Coal Co., at once for prices, stating kind and quantity of coal you use.—adv. 28 every Thurs. 1f.
