MEHAGEN BAND IS SEVERAL ROTARIANS SOURCE OF GREAT INTEREST IN CITY IN THIS CITY TODAY

Band Boys From Kinston Render Music at Mass Meeting of Farmers in City Today

The Mehagen band, composed of seven Kinston boys and Mr. Mehagen himself, was in the city today and rendered music in interest of the meeting at which Dr. Kilgore and Dr. J. Y. Joyner were leading speakers. The boys attracted considerable attention throughout their entire stay, and contributed largely to the success of the mass meeting at the court house which was attended by hundreds of people from practically every county in this section of the State.

They produced a class of music that naturally appealed to the large gathering, and the many sprightly numbers instilled greater life in the occasion in many different ways. Mr. Mehagen has been instrumental in developing some mighty fine musicians in his city, taking them while young and in the course of a few months making good band men out of them. At the present time he has twenty members, the seven of which are here today being included among the number to visit Pittsburgh, Penn., and travel from there to New Orleans, paying their own expenses. Mr. Mehagen makes such a trip every year, leaving Kinston about the middle of July and returning two months later.

His boys show signs of excellent training. They are exceedingly orderly, considering their age and perform like musicians who have been at the game an entire lifetime. Mr. Mehagen has taught them how to observe those principles so necessary to development of a higher plane of citizenship, and has been a source of much help to the town in which he has resided for a number of years. The boys here today were: John Mehagen, Quincy Sutton, Willis Smith, Charles Spier, Jack Oliver, Eugene Scott and Kenneth Worthington. They range in ages from 14 to 17. They arrived this morning at 7.45 and left on the afternoon train for home.

GREAT EXHIBITS OF OLD PAINTINGS TO BE MADE IN PARIS

Exhibit of Photographs of Notable Buildings in the United States Planned Soon

Paris, May 19.—An exhibit of photographs of a great number of notable buildings in the United States, public and private, constitutes an unusual feature of the annual exhibition of the Société des Artistes Français, popularly known as the Old Salon. Photographs of more than 300 exhibits from the leading American architects occupies a special section in the exhibition, a thing never before done in France.

The American collection was organized by a committee appointed by the American Institute of Architects.

Some of the best known buildings in America are shown. There are a few models, one of which is that of the Woolworth building in New York, which quickly attracts the eye because of its typical American design. Other New York buildings shown in photographs are the custom house, the West street building, the Bush terminal building, the army supply base in Brooklyn; the Equitable building, the municipal office building and numerous other office structures and some apartment houses.

Numerous public and office buildings in other cities are shown, such as the city hall at Waterbury, Conn.; the Detroit Evening News building, the Bell Telephone building at Philadelphia; the Union Trust company building at Washington, D. C.; the Metropolitan bank building in Minneapolis; and that of the First National Bank in Boston.

Eastern Cities Represented for Purpose of Organizing Inter-City Conference

A meeting of representatives of various Rotary clubs throughout this section of the State was conducted at the Rotary club building in this city this afternoon for the purpose of forming tentative plans for an organization to be known as the Inter-City Rotary conference. The idea was originated by members of the local club mainly to bring about a greater spirit of co-operation among clubs in this section.

Two representatives were present from each of the six or seven towns represented and the session was an unusually interesting one. The local Rotary club is rapidly forging to the front as a leading factor of the great movement, and the fact that it owns its own buildings and has captured two loving cups gives it additional prominence even in large cities where memberships are considerably larger, although certainly not more enthusiastic.

A complete report of the meeting will be carried in the columns of this paper tomorrow afternoon.

Grimesland Men Here

Messrs. J. C. Galloway and R. L. Little of Grimesland were numbered among visitors in Greenville this morning attending the mass meeting in interest of the co-operative marketing association. Mr. Galloway is one of the staunchest advocates of the movement in the county and his efforts have resulted in great good in his community.

Presbyterian Picnic

The Presbyterian Sunday school and congregation will have a picnic at Red Bank on the river, Saturday afternoon. Everybody will go to the church by 3:30 p. m. except those who are at the Training school. Last Sunday the picnic was announced for Monday afternoon, but owing to examinations in the schools next week, the date has been changed to this Saturday afternoon. Committees in charge are hereby notified of this change, as well as all the members of the Sunday school and church.

Crowds Attend Meeting

Three automobile trucks loaded with Craven county cotton and tobacco growers arrived in Greenville this morning, where they unloaded, the occupants attending the meeting at the court house. They came especially to hear Aaron Sapiro, who was detained in Wilson because of severe cold. Craven county was not the only section represented, however, for they came from every direction and fully enjoyed the splendid addresses delivered by Dr. Kilgore of Raleigh and Dr. Joyner of La Grange.

Colored Woman Dies

A colored woman about forty years of age, the wife of John Smith, tenant on the D. H. Allen farm near this city, passed away yesterday afternoon, death being due to chronic heart trouble. She was highly respected by the entire community and yielded much influence among her race, despite the fact of confinement to her home most of the time.

Four Deeds of Transfer

The following deeds of transfer have been filed in the office of the register of deeds for registration since reports of yesterday afternoon: L. G. Due to an open market in control of Cooper and wife to Hugh Ragsdale and wife, consideration $1950; J. H. Boyd to J. H. Boyd, et al, consideration $600; W. C. Whitehurst to Gilbert Peel, consideration $400; Adam Boyd to J. H. Boyd, et al, consideration $600.

DR. J. Y. JOYNER DELIVERS STIRRING APPEAL TO THE FARMERS HERE TODAY

Dr. Joyner and Dr. B. W. Kilgore Principal Speakers at Meeting Here in Interest of Co-operative Marketing Movement—Large Crowd Here

Cotton and tobacco growers representing practically every county in this section of the State gathered in Greenville this morning and heard principles of the co-operative marketing association explained in a masterly way by Dr. J. Y. Joyner of La Grange and Dr. B. W. Kilgore of Raleigh, director of the State agricultural department. The day was one of the greatest for the farmer in a many day and not a single one failed to take advantage of hearing of the great plan which is destined to be the salvation of the American farmer in the days to come.

Aaron Sapiro, noted Californian, was scheduled to deliver the principal address of the day, but Dr. Kilgore was forced to leave him in Wilson to recover from the severe strain of speaking and traveling of the past several days. Dr. Kilgore said his voice was in bad condition from being overtaxed by many engagements since leaving his native State, and that he regretted very much not being able to come to Greenville to fill his engagement. He will probably speak in Wilson this afternoon. Dr. Kilgore said, although this is not certain owing to the severity of the heavy cold.

The court room was taxed to its utmost capacity with farmers and business men long before the appointed hour for the speaking this morning, and when the hour really arrived there was not even standing room available. A band from Kinston furnished music throughout the morning, and the meeting as a consequence was the most spirited and inspirational ever conducted here in interest of the movement.

Dr. Kilgore, the first speaker of the morning, explained Mr. Sapiro's absence, expressing his deepest regret at the unfortunate occurrence, but said that he and Dr. Joyner would do their best to fill his place as far as this became possible. He explained the principles embodied in the movement, declaring it to be one of the most binding instruments ever before presented for the consideration of the American farmer. He said the contract covered a period of five years, in which time the farmer would be expected to abide by its regulations and plans stressed by leaders of the association. The association will employ only the very highest class and experienced salesmen, he said, and the farmer need have any fear but what his interests will be served in an unspeakably plain and definite manner.

Immediately following the conclusion of Dr. Kilgore's address, the fundamental points of the association were explained by Dr. Joyner, who emphasized the necessity of co-operation because of the low cost of production at the present time and the deplorable situation which has faced the planter throughout the entire year. "Something must be done," he declared. "Everyone admits that the agricultural machine is out of order and adjustment, and the only thing to do is for the farmer to go to work and find the trouble and remedy it according to the way discovered by others of the industry. There's no use to snort and cuss about the matter for the only way it can be improved is to go to work and fix it."

"Now what is the matter with the machine?" he asked. "The main thing is and always will be the matter if the farmer continues selling his product in an open market in control of Cooper and wife to Hugh Ragsdale and wife, consideration $1950; J. H. Boyd to J. H. Boyd, et al, consideration $600; W. C. Whitehurst to Gilbert Peel, consideration $400; Adam Boyd to J. H. Boyd, et al, consideration $600. As long as the buyer fixes the price of the farm product as he has done and is doing now, he is going to fix it as low as he possibly can get it. That's human nature, and anyone would do the same under similar circumstances. "There is the fundamental trouble of the whole matter. The next trouble is that he not only has to come into the open market and sell his stuff at a price fixed by the buyers and manufacturers mainly, and having no voice in it himself, he has to turn around and come back into the open market and buy his necessities and the few luxuries needed at a price fixed by the other fellow, who is no other than the manufacturer and the seller. As long as this condition continues, the farmer is bound to be between the commercial millstone and be ground into parts. The thing to do is to find a way to fix the machinery in its present state of disorder.

"In hunting for a way to better the situation, the wisest thing to do first is to look for the successful experience of others and see how they found a way out of their trouble, and profit by that experience by applying to our own personal use. If we can believe the evidence of the farmers of Ontario, Canada and numbers of other foreign countries that have found a way out of the bonds of economic servitude to economic independence and in successful operation for forty years in California 26 years and in many instances for ten years in other territories.

"Only marketing association in hunting a way out for our farmers has employed a man who has been attorney, adviser and director of fourteen of the most successful marketing associations in California and has embodied in their contract the principle and the experience of the California plan which for ten years has been demonstrated a great success and is no longer in an experimental state. This is the only way out of a bad situation, and if other sections have done it, we certainly can.

Another point of direct importance is to find out who got out and how they got out to fix their machine. The way to do it is to get a fellow who has had the same trouble and adopt his plan. The farmer can't hope for any relief as long as he is at the mercy of the buyer to fix the price of what he produces and at the mercy of the seller to fix the price of what he buys. Now if we exert get in a position to protect the price of what the farmer produces, then we will have saved the industry from certain ruin.

"The product must be protected in equity at least to the point of the cost of production and reasonable compensation for the labor of the farmer and his family that goes into the production. There is only one way ever found by mankind to do that and that is by business organization to get control of at least a reasonable percentage of the product of the commodity sold. The product must have some control over its output, distribution and marketing of his product before he will ever be able to receive benefits of his labor and a voice in fixing prices, and the only way he will ever get it is through the same plan adopted by the largest business organizations of the country, and the same plan upon which the marketing association is founded."

GREENVILLE WINS FAST GAME FROM FARMVILLE CLUB

Local Club Goes Over to Farmville and Beats the Mighty Finch by a Score of 8 to 5

In probably one of the fastest games of ball witnessed in this section in sometime Greenville yesterday afternoon defeated the strong Farmville aggregation, at Farmville by the score of 8 to 5. The contest was featured by fast and consistent work in the field by the visitors and good work with the stick which was accountable for the victory. Finch, a former player of the Virginia and Eastern Carolina league, appeared on the mound for Farmville, but failed to measure up to expectations, and proved an easy prey to the hard hitting visitors. Williams pitched a splendid game for Greenville, keeping hits well scattered and pitching exceptionally well in pinches. This was mainly accountable for the victory.

Thieves Steal Ford Coupe

A Ford Coupe belonging to J. K. Young was stolen from his home last night and so far authorities have been unable to secure any trace leading to its recovery. This is only one of a number of cars which have disappeared from homes and business houses in this city recently, and while numbers have been recovered, others have not. The desire for stealing cars seems to be rather strong and the only way it can be stopped is by severe prosecution when the culprits are apprehended.

Prominent Tobaccoist Here

Mr. Parham, prominent tobaccoist of Kinston attended the mass meeting of cotton and tobacco growers in Greenville this morning. He has been prominently connected with the tobacco growing industry for a number of years, and came to hear operative marketing movement.

Dr. Kilgore Visits City

Dr. B. W. Kilgore of Raleigh, director of the Agricultural Extension department, was numbered among visitors in the city today attending the mass meeting of co-operative marketing supporters conducted at the court house this morning. Dr. Kilgore was one of the main speakers of the occasion, and exhibited considerable interest in what had been accomplished by Pitt county in past several months. He extolled principles of the new marketing movement, declaring it is the only direct way by which the farmer may save himself from the distressing conditions of the past several months. Dr. Kilgore's department is what might be termed the "main spring" in the movement in this State and what has been accomplished so far is very commendable, indeed. There are numbers of earnest workers connected with the department, and each believes in the fundamental principles of the marketing plan as explained from day to day in sections which they visit. They are as proud of the great success attending the movement as Dr. Kilgore is himself, and it is safe to say their efforts are going to mean much to final success of the movement.

Mr. McCrary Here Today

Mr. O. F. McCrary of Washington, district farm demonstration agent for this part of the State, attended the mass meeting of business men and farmers conducted at the court house in Greenville this morning in the interest of the co-operative marketing movement. Mr. McCrary has taken an active part in the new movement in every county in this district and finds the majority of people ready and willing to do their part by it. He says there is little doubt about Green county going over the top by a large majority, as everyone seems greatly interested. Mr. McCrary assisted in the Pitt county drive and rendered invaluable assistance to members from the extension department who were here for a period of two weeks.

Messrs. J. T. Ross and F. T. Paul of Washington spent a short time in the city yesterday evening. Auto Supply Co.

AYDEN MAN GETS A LEADEN SALUTE AT WHISKEY STILL

Tried to Visit Still and Is Mistaken for Revenue Officers of the District

Ernest Smith, white, of Ayden is in St. Luke's hospital, New Bern, with a bullet wound in his back as a result of an attempted visit yesterday morning to a whiskey still in a swamp 2 miles beyond Vanceboro. His condition last night was not considered serious. With him at the time of the shooting was Smith's brother, Ed, also of Ayden.

According to Joe Abien, to whom Smith went for aid early in the afternoon, the brothers were returning to their home by automobile after a visit here. When about 12 miles beyond Vanceboro, where they thought there was a still, they drove the car into the woods, and parking it, set out on foot.

Within a few hundred yards of the spot where they thought the plant was concealed a volley of shots from a revolver and shot gun crashed through the bushes around them. Without a moments hesitation the pair turned and fled, to be overtaken by more bullets, one of which found a target in Ernest Smith's back.

The men who did the shooting were supposed to be outposts guarding the entrance to the illicit plant. The brothers told Abien, he said, that they had meant to visit the still thinking they might get a draught of rum.

Children to Meet

ITALIAN SOLDIERS SUING GOVERNMENT FOR PROPER FUNDS

Men Mutilated During War Swarming Government Offices to Secure Living Expenses

Rome, May 19.—Italian soldiers who were more or less mutilated during their own hands and have swarmed to their own hands and have swarmed in thousands into many of the government ministries, taking possession by force of the places of the many young women who gained a footing there during the war, and so far have refused to be displaced.

Newspapers have been flooded with letters, some of them arguing that the women clerks have earned the right to work if they please, and to support themselves, but most of the writers telling lurid and terrible tales of the frivolity of these daughters of Eve; of the little work they do and the great amount of time they waste on flirtations and on their toilettes; of the alleged subversive effect they have in well regulated ministries, and of many families whose peace is said to have been undermined by their dangerous proximity to staid and respectable men.

At any rate it appears that soldiers who have served their country have made good their claim to the coveted positions and both in Rome and in many provincial towns the edict has gone forth that the girls must go. Italian housekeepers hope that some will return to the many mistresses who sigh in vain for assistance in their households, but doubt whether after the short hours and independence of office life they will take kindly to domestic service or the long hours of shop work.

Brazilian railroads are burning wood for fuel. That's nothing out of the ordinary in any sense of the word, for other countries will be doing the same if strikes are not entirely eliminated within the next year or so.

Boston scientists are quoted as saying that the ordinary "hot dog" is one of the most nourishing kind of sandwiches. Judging by the way they are sold at State and county fairs, salesmen think the same way about it.

Congress expects to dispose of the emergency tariff measure this week, according to reports emanating from Washington city. That being the case it is safe to say the public will be able to determine which way it is going to function and if it is going to prove all the Republican leaders say it will.

Postal robberies totaled over four million dollars during the past year, according to reports from the postoffice department. Uncle Sam had better arm his employes, or his losses may be even greater in the future. It is estimated that at least one third of the loot has been recovered which is not so bad after all. However, a little greater precaution would bring the sum down considerably, and that's just what the people want.

Portland, Oregon, is planning to observe a "well babies' week." This speaks mighty well of the western city. It has set an example that might be practiced by other cities to a pretty good advantage. When the babies are protected and cared for as they should be it is safe to say civilization will be on a higher plane in not so very long from now. That's the way it should be, and the man or woman that does his part deserves to be commended.

LITTLE TAX TROUBLES

The State tax commission has given counties contemplating horizontal reduction thirty days grace in which to decide whether or not the reductions are desired or advisable. At first nearly every county was "rearing" to cut regardless of probable eventualities, but somehow or other they have come to their senses and find expenses won't endure too much slashing. As a result about fifty percent of authorities are working out some scheme of continuing without bothering with reductions, but whether they will be able to satisfy the public remains to be seen. Right here in Pitt county the situation is by no means different from other localities. The commissioners at a recent meeting ordered a slight reduction, and it is probable the decision will hold good, although this remains to be seen. The sheriff reports that people are paying up considerably better than in other counties, therefore, it may be that the situation will be concluded to the general satisfaction to all parties concerned. There are, of course, quite a number of unintelligent people who would not be taxed at all if they had their way about it, but since this is very necessary to prevent the county from going into bankruptcy, they manage to pay as little as possible and growl like the dickens when they do. Human nature is mighty strange and when you go to tugging at the strings of a man's pocketbook you've sounded the keynote to his character and general physical makeup. They all like to squeeze Uncle Sam's eagles as long as possible, and when it gets so they haven't any to squeeze and taxes continue in vogue somebody's going to hear from somebody as sure as there's a depository for county funds. Pitt county people are mighty thrifty and have paid up their taxes regardless of stringent money, so it may be said with assurance that the substantial reduction by the county commissioners will hold good regardless of what they are going to do in other sections of the country.

It is alleged that high wages are responsible for the serious situation confronting American railways today, so it is apparent the owners know where to start to gain relief. Railroad workmen have received splendid pay for the past several months, and they ought to accept reductions without complaining. This action is a natural part of reconstruction program, and very necessary to every American industry or enterprise if successful business is to be continued. Prices of commodities are declining rapidly, therefore, it is easily seen that living expenses are considerably more favorable than since ending the war. Abnormality cannot exist always and the sooner the United States gets back to normalcy the easier it will be on everyone.

"INLAYS"—A New Development in Shoe Styling.

Adding a touch of color in unexpected places, the use of the "Inlays" has developed a new vogue in shoe decoration.

So varied are these little touches that it would be virtually impossible to give more than an ordinary impression of their effectiveness in a picture and even a picture cannot show the pleasing color effects which are possible.

It's really best to see the shoes. We have just received some as above cut in the new color brown calf skin.

IF YOU CAN'T SING, HUM

Wat's the matter? Lost your grip?
And it's spring.
Can't you let the worry slip, do a thing
That will make the world less blue?
Perhaps the fault is only you,
Hustle! Find a lot to do!
Try to sing!

There are cheerful words to say—
Don't be dumb—
Cares to ease and drive away as they come,
Perhaps you're buttoned up all wrong;
Set things right, life isn't long;
If you can't contribute a song,
You can hum!
