President Wright in introducing the speaker said that he needed no introduction to the people of North Carolina but that he wished to say that Mr. Brinson was merely returning home. He was once of the board of trustees of this school. After he straightened us out, he was needed by the nation to straighten the world out and help make it safe for democracy, therefore we let the nation have him.

Hon. S. M. Brinson—delivered a strong, inspiring address on "The School and Schoolcraft," but which might have been called also the state responsibility to the schools. He dwelt largely on the rural school because the large proportion of the population in North Carolina is rural, and yet showed that, selfishly and unselfishly, these problems were also urban problems.

School and schoolcraft, he took it, include both the temple of learning and the priest who ministers its altars, the teachers. He referred to the school as the great agent of enlightenment and to the office of teacher as a sacred office.

He paid tribute to the school Goldsmith describes, and its kind, which in spite of neglect through generations did a great service.

The school must be looked to in the future, he said, to lead in all the movements for rural uplift. The challenge he threw out to the state is this. Will the State, whose best defense is the school, whose character is fixed and destiny shaped by the school, be content to give it meager, sometimes grudging support, while it lavishes its favors upon enterprises more skilled in the arts of the lobby, or more favored with political leadership?

The country school of today must minister to the moral, social economic and physical needs of the community. Mr. Brinson then developed each one of its rewards. His closing words were these: "May North Carolina each year witness a constantly growing army of teachers leaving this school professionally equipped, with the faith and zeal of the Crusader and the tender shepherd-heart of Him who taught as none other ever taught and exalted as no other could the Holy office of teaching."

Announcements. President Wright in his announcements said that he knew this was the best bunch of graduates in any school in North Carolina. He accepted the gifts from the class and referred again to the wonderful spirit. The audience applauded as each of the 78 came forth for her diploma.

This class will have a helping teacher, the first of the kind ever sent out by any school in America. Next year Miss Miriam McFadyen will follow up the work of these young women and help them out through their first year, the most trying of a teacher's life. The next year she will return to the school and teach methods, stitution, or will be when the nine to while Miss Whiteside will follow up the next class. In this way the contact between the school outside and the teachers will be very close.

President Wright called attention to the size of the class, the largest by ten ever graduated from the institution. He announced that the graduates made the dresses which they wore, and the average cost was $5.18. They also made the dresses worn at the Class Day exercises and the average of those was $5.04.

He announced the fact that the four years course would be offered after this, but that the two years' course would continue to be the course which most of the students would and should take. He repeated the announcement made at the Alumnae dinner that this was a member of the organization of Teachers Colleges.

After the announcements, President Wright told a beautiful story with a deep meaning.

Alumnae Meeting. The Alumnae Association held a most important business meeting yesterday morning. They decided to take on the details for carrying forward endowed scholarships for the school and have a committee at work on the details for carrying out the plan. They are starting out to do great things for the school in a big way. They now number over five hundred and have enough to work together on big problems.

Miss Louise Smaw, who has so ably served as president for two years, asked to be released, although the nominating committee recommended that she be continued. Miss Ophelia O'Brien, of the class of '17, was elected president.

Alumnae Luncheon. The Alumnae luncheon was a delightful occasion. The dining hall was beautifully decorated in yellow flowers and green vines and plants. Long tables were arranged the length of the dining hall with a cross section for the guests of honor and the speakers. A string band furnished the music.

A great number of the Alumnae were present, with perhaps all classes represented. After the guests and guests and the Alumnae had taken their places the class of '21 filed into their places of honor in the center of the dining hall and sang their class song. A delicious course luncheon was served, the Junior Class served.

Miss Louise Smaw, president of the Alumnae Association was toast mistress. She told of the work and spirit of the association. She graciously welcomed the guests and gave a warm welcome to the incoming alumnae, the class of '21, and to the girls who had come home, the alumnae. Miss Helen Watson responded for the class of '21 in a charming manner. She referred to the great things the Alumnae had done and the greater things they were going to do, and said this class is glad to come in at a time when they were planning big things. This class carries the roll of the Alumnae away beyond the five hundred mark, by August, beyond the five hundred and fifty mark, making an average of 50 members a class since the first of the school.

President Wright when called on welcomed the girls saying it is always good to have the children come home, and you have come home to your school." He expressed his gratification at the fact that they were working to give endowed scholarships for giving those who would be prospective backers a chance, and said he hoped that he expected to live to see the day when there would be a hundred of these scholarships.

He announced that the school is now recognized as one of the fifty teachers colleges in the country and is the only one so recognized by the National Association of Teachers Colleges. This recognition came with the putting in of the four years course for teachers. He wishes to have it distinctly understood that in having the four years course the school has not change its purposes it still gives the two years' course and will continue to do so but it also has the four year's course which gives the student the opportunity to secure two years more of training and enables her to get into the group demanding the maximum salaries. He gave his vision of a big college filled with North Carolina students who will take the best they can get back to North Carolina children.

The health record of this school, which there has never been a death and never an epidemic except the influenza, and that only one year, explodes the theory that the east is not healthy.

He told of the buildings that are to be put up within the next two years, and asked the Alumnae to get behind the program, and help carry it out. He called on them to carry the "Message to Garcia," to convince the state of the greatness of the school and of the needs of the school, for the State doesn't yet know what we are doing. They must do it if they have to fill the General Assembly with the Alumnae to do it.

The county organization reports were interesting. Mrs. Emma Cobb Bynum gave the history of the Edgecombe Association, Miss Christine Johnson of the Pitt County and Miss Alla Mae Jordan of the Weke. The Edgecombe County was the first to organize, and raised $50. The Pitt county girls constitute the finance committee of the association. The Wake girls, numbering only seven have raised $80 this year, and have planned to put the Training School Quarterly into every high school in Wake county so that the people may see what this school is doing. They have meetings once a month and ask all of the Alumnae who come to Raleigh to attend these meetings.

Miss Lizzie Stewart boosted for all the county groups and called on all to work together for the big association, and suggested ways in which they could help each other.

Miss McKinney was called on to give the "Forward Look," and spoke inspiringly of the work they were doing and the work ahead to be done, and called on them to pass the good news on to the girls in the high school and to send us the best wishes. These are turning out.

Miss Estelle Greene gave a clever toast in rhyme to the guest of honor. Miss Dicie Howell, who acknowledged it with a gracious bow.

Dr. Brooks, president of the board of trustees, was called on and responded with a few pleasing words, and a good story, and quoted some lines from Edwin Markham.

Marshals. Beatrice James, Chief Marshal Lanier Literary Society. Lanier Society—Mary Brock, Louise Buffalo, Irene Stem, Elsie Wilson. Poe Society—Elizabeth Boney, Mamie Hayes, Pauline Saunders, Neola Spivey.

Meeting Postponed.

The Bible study class, that has been meeting each Wednesday afternoon, in the dining room of the Princeton Hotel, with Mrs. Brinkley teacher, has discontinued these meetings, for the summer.

The next meeting will be October 12th.

THROUGH PULLMAN CAR FROM GOLDSBORO TO CINCINNATI TO BE INAUGURATED JUNE 26

State Corporation Commission Made this Announcement Today—State and Federal Free Employment Bureaus at Raleigh, Rocky Mount and Greensboro for the Week Ending June 4th Have Placed Fifty-three Applicants for Work and Referred Sixty-six.

Raleigh, June 7.—Date for bearing the appeal of attorneys for clemency for J. T. Harris, slayer of F. W. Monnish at Ridgecrest, is expected to be fixed by Governor Morrison following his return to the capital from Asheville where he is spending the week.

Harris recently lost his appeal for a new trial before the supreme court by a 3 to 2 decision. His attorneys have announced that they would take the case to the governor in a last effort to save the condemned man's life.

Advance reports are that an able array of lawyers will come to Raleigh and go before the executive to urge that the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Letters and telegrams in behalf of the prisoner are being received at the governor's office and the indications are that the appeal is going to be one of the strongest in years.

The dead man, Monnish, was a wealthy Alabamian who spend the summers at Ridgecrest. He was shot to death by Harris on the street, Harris lying in wait for him for an hour or so. There had never been any difficulty between the two men but Harris, immediately after the homicide, charge that Monnish had had illicit relations with Mrs. Harris. This was later denied by him, however.

Cause for the murder is not in the evidence but lawyers for the State sought to infer that Monnish's efforts to rid Ridgecrest of illicit liquor making figured in the affair.

Special sessionists who would like to see an extra inning of the General Assembly called to straighten out the tangle the cities and towns are in because of the senate error in validating the 1921 municipal finance act are unable to predict the final outcome. They are very uncertain as to whether Governor Morrison is going to issue the call.

While it is known that the Governor has an open mind about the matter it is likewise known that he does not, from what information that has been submitted to him, think it imperative that a special session be called.

Until the municipal finance officers get busy and get something definite in shape and put it in the hands of the Governor, nobody will know whether an extra session of the real thing will be needed.

The State Corporation Commission announces that a through Pullman car is to be operated from Goldsboro to Cincinnati, leaving Goldsboro at 10:35 at night. This new service will begin June 26 and will be attached to train No. 11 by way of Asheville, with dining car service from Salisbury west.

This car will arrive at Cincinnati at 8:10 a. m., making connections and arriving at Louisville at 8 a. m. and St. Louis at 7:24 p. m. the same day, thus giving a through service of great value to the State, the commission believes.

As soon as business conditions improve the railroad officials have assured the Commission that the matter of a through train from Goldsboro to Cincinnati will be again considered. At the present time, however, the additional expense cannot be borne. Should the through car service receive favorable and ample patronage it is likely the through train will be started in the early future.

State and Federal free employment bureaus at Raleigh, Rocky Mount and Greensboro for the week ending June 4 placed 53 applicants for work and referred 66. During this period there was a total of 160 registrations. The placements were as follows: skilled, 9; unskilled, 27; clerical and professional, 6; domestic, 8 and industrial, 3.

Insurance Commissioner Stacey Wade yesterday heard witnesses who charged that F. M. Harper, former superintendent of schools, but for two years agent for the Provident Life and Trust Company, of Raleigh and Paul Schenck, State agent for the same company, of Greensboro, had granted rebates to policyholders. It is charged that Harper and Schenck rebated John H. Andrews in order to obtain policies amounting to $160,000. These charges are denied. A ruling will be made by Commissioner Wade later.

With Mrs. Wilson. The West Greenville prayer meeting will be held with Mrs. Frank Wilson tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

10TH ANNIVERSARY OF CHAUTAUQUA

The best Chautauqua program ever given is to be here this year.

Dr. Boyl who will be here Friday night is a master of world painting and dramatic oratory. He has but few equals and no superiors.

The "Four Artists on the First day are fine. You will enjoy their program of songs, readings, music of piano, harp and violin.

Each one is an artist and when you hear them you will say they are the best ever. The whole week of Chautauqua is a program which is worth ten times the price of your season ticket.

Buy your ticket before Friday noon, save money by getting a season ticket. Every town has expressed just one sentiment "The most wonderful program they have ever heard."

WAR COST LIMITS TAX REVISION

Of every dollar of national expenditure 77.3 cents goes for purposes of war, according to the National Bank of Commerce in New York, which points out that any constructive program looking to a remedy of the present tax situation must take this fact constantly into consideration.

"This condition is not a new one," the bank says in the June issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly. "Each war in which this country has been involved has left us a heritage of increased expense. Not only has the direct military burden been permanently increased, but there have been additional outlays on account of war debt for pensions, and for administrative purposes growing out of the experience and results of the war."

"The scale on which military operations were conducted during the most recent conflict was so great that the percentage of the revenue devoted to war purposes has enormously increased. In the five fiscal years just prior to the outbreak of the European war less than half of our governmental expenditures, on an average, pertained to the military establishment. This condition prevailed until we entered the war in 1917. In 1919, when the peak of war cost was reached, these expenses were more than twenty times as much as those for purely civil purposes."

The bank cites official Treasury reports to show that from 1910 to 1914 the average annual expenditure for war purposes was $436,320,000 or 45.6 per cent of the total. This figure increased to $869,568,000 in 1917, to $8,653,132,000 in 1918 and to $15,028,010,000 in 1919, then dropped to $5,071,740,000 in 1920. Even with all doubtful items, including advances to foreign governments, excluded, war expenditures in both 1919 and 1920 exceeded 77 per cent of the entire amount expended.

"Through analysis of the cost of the different functions of government is requisite to an adequate understanding of such questions as taxation, revenue, governmental economy and a national budget, and also of the wider question of international disarmament, the bank adds.

AUSTRALIAN TARIFF

Export trade of the United States with Australia does not appear to be facing extinction in spite of Australia's high protective tariff of 1920, under which preference is given to the United Kingdom, the National Bank of Commerce in New York says in the June number of its magazine, Commerce Monthly. However, if this tariff is not revised it will probably cause a change in the variety of goods which can be marketed in Australia, the bank believes.

"While the principal of reciprocal tariff preference to British countries has been recognized for years by the Commonwealth of Australia, the tariff of 1920 has given it a wider application than ever before," says Commerce Monthly. "Australia is determined to become a manufacturing country and to this end has adopted the most strongly protective tariff in the history of the Commonwealth. Extensive natural resources and the development of agricultural and pastoral industries have made the country an exporter of raw materials. It is now urged, however, that these valuable resources be utilized at home. Industrial development in Australia involves heavy costs both for plant installation and for permanent wage standards and it is in order to make possible the sale of high cost domestic manufactures that the extremely high brought out had not been infrequent. It is understood the committee also will request the legislature to prohibit agreements between labor and employers where the union fixes the price which employers must charge builders for labor.

Other suggestions will be to compel every contractor dealing with the city to agree not to compare quotations with others; to forbid contractors from belonging to any association that hampers the offering of unrestricted bids and to compel them to submit a list of all sub contractors engaged on a particular piece of construction work.

Along with these recommendations the committee is expected to ask the legislature to ease the financial phases of building by requiring banks and insurance companies to place a certain percentage of their resources into real

BE ASKED TO GO
FOR PRICE FIXERS

Committee Said to Favor Jail and Pen Sentences for Preying on Public and Choking Competition

New York, June 5.—The New York legislature at its next session will be asked to erect sterner legal barriers against price fixing combinations. Its committee investigating building trusts expects to recommend legislation intended to preclude a repetition of collusions, unfair price making and extortion such as has been exposed during hearings in New York.

This committee, it has been learned from official sources, favors jail and penitentiary sentences for individuals who prey on public or private purses by choking free competition. It does not consider that fines impose sufficient punishment upon such men.

For violations of State anti-trust laws a minimum sentence of six months probably will be recommended in the proposed legislation. In this way, Samuel Untermeyer, counsel for the committee, contends that officers of concerns convicted of gouging the public suffer as much, at least as those guilty of disorderly conduct.

CLASS EXERCISES TRAINING SCHOOL

The Class Day exercises at twilight in the woods on the West side of the campus were very pleasing. The students of the undergraduate classes marched down the walks and into the woods from the North side, while the Seniors marched over the hill, so the people could see the line of march. They were dressed in blue and white organdies, the blue alternating with white. These are their class colors.

Miss Camilla Pittard had charge of the program and announced the numbers. The class marched around the stage and formed the figures 21, and stood and sang the class song. Miss Ruth Dean then read the class history telling their deeds for the past four years. She read in a clear voice and put in little touches of wit that are pleasing.

Miss Margaret Hayes a class prophet read the report of the class supposing that this were a class meeting ten years hence, making the date 1931. She made a number of hits in her prophecies.

Miss Helen Watson presented the last will and testament and evidently pleased the students with the disposition made of the property. Miss Josie Dorsett, the class president, passed on to the president of the incoming Junior class the gift left to them by the class of two years ago a gift not to be opened until the first first class meeting when they are seniors.

Miss Dorsett then called President Wright out and presented to him the gifts from the class to the school. These are the sum of $200 to be used for interior decorations, and endowment insurance policies amounting to $7,500 to mature in twenty years, and then to be turned in to the school for whatever is most needed at that time.

President Wright in accepting the gifts spoke in terms of highest praise of the work and spirit of the class and urged them to put that same fine spirit into the schools of North Carolina. He told them that this was the first class in North Carolina ever to take out endowment policies for the sake of their school and commended the spirit that prompted them to do it.

A printed list of the things that the class has done and has stood for was presented to Mr. Wright to be placed on the walls of the board room, and a copy was placed in the hands of each member of the class.

Miss Grace Strausburger read the farewell poem, and the exercises closed with one of their class songs.

PRESENTED WITH A SILVER SERVICE

Headed by G. R. Whitfield, a delegation representing the colored teachers and school committeemen of Pitt County filed into the office of the County Board of Education during the regular monthly meeting of the Board Monday and asked to be heard for just a few minutes. The time was given them, and the committee proceeded to take the retiring superintendent, S. B. Underwood, completely by surprise by presenting him a handsome silver service as a token of their esteem and appreciation of his work for the colored race during the time that he has been county superintendent of schools.

Prof. Whitfield, who is the Jeanes Fund Negro School Supervisor, made the presentation speech, which was a gem. He used only a few words, but spoke in feeling terms of the appreciation in which his race held Mr. Underwood. He said that the gift represented the best wishes of those who gave it to one whom they considered their true friend. He also referred to the splendid work of the county board and the way in which it is appreciated.

Mr. Underwood was taken completely by surprise, and was visibly touched by the act. He said that nothing had happened to him which touched him more or which was more keenly appreciated. He expressed his appreciation for the splendid attitude of the Pitt County colored people toward the work of the schools, and his pleasure at the cordial race relations existing here.

After a few remarks by Mr. A. G. Cox, chairman of the Board of Education, and the singing of "God Be with You Till We Meet Again" by the visitors, the delegation filed out as quickly and as quietly as they had entered, leaving behind them the recollection of a most pleasant tulle in a very busy day.

Mr. Underwood will leave about June 28 for Des Moines to attend the meeting of the National Education Association, and will take up his work at Raleigh immediately on his return. Mrs. Underwood and Sam Junior will remain in GREENVILLE until Mr. Underwood returns from Des Moines.

NOTED SINGER GIVEN OVATION

The song recital by Dicie Howell last night was a veritable ovation. The house was packed with friends who expected great things of her and she went even far beyond their expectations. She sang gloriously in her rich, beautiful voice.

Her program was made up of songs that required various moods and qualities of voice. She sang all with sympathy and artistically from the first number, "Care Selve" to the dramatic "Jewel Song" from Faust, and the bright, joyful "Alleluja." The first number required pure large and sustained tones which she took well, in spite of the fact that the audience had not settled down completely. The group of five songs at the end of the program changing moods and she sang all with a charm and beauty that delighted her audience.

It is difficult to say the favorites of the evening. Some liked the old English song "Shepherd, Thy Demeanor Vary," while others preferred the Lullaby or the Light melodious serenade, while others cared most for "Silent Tears." The last number brought out the volume of her voice and a rich and wonderful tone.

Miss Howell was generous with her encores. After the first group she sang "Love's Old Sweet Song." The negro spiritual after the second group took well. She sang Puccini's Vissi D'Arte, from "Tosca," just before the last group and as a curtain call sang "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia."

Miss Howell's stage appearance is charming. She has poise and dignity as well as charm, and in some ways seems to create a kind of atmosphere for the different kinds of songs she sings.

Miss Bertolet is a wonderful accompanist, fitting her playing to the needs of the singer and to the kind of song, and never did she play better than last evening.

The stage was beautifully decorated with green vines and plants and white flowers.

A great many people from a distance were present, especially from around Tarboro and Scotland Neck, and other places where Miss Howell is well known personally.

Miss Howell's program was as follows:

- Care Selve Handel
 - Rose Softly Blooming Spohr
 - "Del Mio Core" (from Orfeo) Haydn
 - Alleluja Mazort

GREENVILLE GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

The following is taken from The Fayetteville Observer of yesterday under a Goldsboro, N. C., date line which is self explanatory and will prove of interest to readers of this paper.

Helen Askew, a pretty and fascinating 15-year-old girl, a stranger in this city, attempted to commit suicide at her boarding place at a late hour Saturday night by drinking two ounces of iodine. After drinking the poison, Helen called a lady in the house and said, "Don't send for the doctors, I want to die." Her reason was that her parents, well-to-do people of Pitt county, had gone back on her, and that she had no one to love her, and that she wanted to die. The lady quickly summoned two doctors, who worked on her for some time, until there was hope of her recovery. The girl is very weak today, but unless unlooked for complications take place, she will recover.

Of Chautauqua Which Opens on June 10—This Year's Program Most Attractive.

The Bohemian Girl, Balfe's Ever Popular Opera will feature the Chautauqua program this season. It will be presented by a star cast of experienced singers and players, who will have scenery constructed especially for their Chautauqua tour an elaborate costumes to provide a fitting background for their high grade artistry.

Who does not remember and who has not been thrilled by these perennial favorites among light operatic gems, "Then You'll Remember Me," "The Heart Bowed Down," "I Dreamt that I Dwelt in Marble Halls" and the other well-known airs of "The Bohemian Girl?"

You will be charmed again by them this summer as rendered by the principals and chorus of the Chautauqua cast. Prepare yourself and your friends for this unprecedented musical treat which is in store for Chautauquans.

"The Bohemian Girl" is but one of the 21 programs arranged for your 1921 Chautauqua. Other features will be:

The well-known comedy-drama, "Nothing But the Truth." Could you speak "Nothing But the Truth" for 24 hours, in order to win $100,000, provided you succeeded? Robert Bennett thought he could, and his many experiences in attempting to carry out this seemingly easy stipulation, make the action in this irresistibly funny farce.

"Nothing But the Truth" will be presented on the third night of your Chautauqua program. A company of experienced players will present the play. Special scenery and costumes will allow this comedy to be staged under the most favorable conditions. It is sure to rival, if not exceed, the success of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Dr. Gregory Zilboorg, Under Secretary, the Ministry of Labor, in Kerensky's cabinet, who escaped from the Russian Bolsheviki with a "tale to keep old men from the chimney corner," will speak on the fourth night. Begin now to plan for your Chautauqua week. Season tickets now on sale at the drug stores. No season tickets sold after Friday. Greenville Chautauqua begins June 10th.

SCANDALS IN THE OFFICIAL LIFE

Tokio, April 22—(Delayed)—Several scandals in official life has aroused public opinion in Japan and has called forth severe condemnation from some of the metropolitan newspapers. The graft charges made in connection with the running of the South Manchuria railway and the alleged illegal sale of opium in Manchuria which were exposed at the last session of the Diet have now been followed by a series of sensational scandals in Tokio in connection with the sale of gas to the public, the operation of the customs at Yokohama and the building of highways and other public outlays. Officials of the Tokio Gas Company have been arrested on the charge of bribing members of the Tokio City Council, many of whom are facing trial for accepting bribes. Similarly, contractors are alleged to have offered bribes to official employees, whilst at Yokohama government servants are charged with conniving in the smuggling of watches and jewelry generally.

The gas scandal has excited the public most for the high price of gas authorized has hit the pocket book of every household.

EXTENDING WORK OF ORGANIZATION

Detroit, Mich., June 7—Plans for extending the work of the organization and for forming state associations in every state in the country will be mapped at the annual convention of the World Wide Philanthropic Union, to be held here June 23 to 26. The Union, composed of Sunday school classes of all Evangelical churches, and the organizations throughout the world, has a membership of more than 1,000,000 persons.

American Federation of Labor calls for repeal of Sherman Anti-Trust law, passage of which was largely due to demands of labor.

SAYS HE NEVER FELT AS GOOD IN HIS LIFE BEFORE

Saunders After Taking Tanlac Eats, Sleeps and Works Better Than In Years

"Tanlac fixed me up over a year ago and made such a good job of it I've felt fine and dandy ever since," said R. L. Saunders, a baker in the employ of the Federal Systems Bakeries. His home is 20 South Spruce St., Richmond, Va.

"I tried everything I ever heard of, even took an outdoor job trying to get relief, but nothing did me a bit of good till I got hold of Tanlac and that suited my case exactly, and finally I got to where even a whiff of food being cooked nauseated me. I actually hated the sight of food and had to force myself to eat enough to keep going. I got so nervous and worried I dreaded to see night come and in the mornings I felt all fagged out and unfit for work.

Tanlac sure made a big change in me. It soon had me eating better, sleeping better and working better than I had in years. I gained eleven pounds in weight, too. I never had better health in my life than I have in the past year and I'll go the limit for the medicine that did it. Tanlac is a world beater.

County Chamber to Develop Last Plans This Week

felter, P. J. Chester, E. G. Flanagan, Dave L. Turnage, W. L. Hall, Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, E. G. Joyner and E. E. Williams. Dr. Ellen also will serve in this capacity. The chairmen will meet in the chamber of commerce offices at 5 o'clock today.

Plans are now being worked out for holding similar group meetings in the various sections of the county. These too, will be held this week.

NOTICE

In the District Court of the United States, district of North Carolina, No. 56.

In the matter of Rose Solomon, bankrupt.

To the Honorable Judge of the district court of the United States for the Eastern district of North Carolina, Rose Solomon of Greenville in the county of Pitt and State of North Carolina in said district, respectfully represents:

That on the 21st day of January, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 21st day of May, A. D. 1921.

ROSE SOLOMON, Bankrupt.
Order of Notice Thereon
Eastern district of North Carolina,

On this 25th day of May, A. D. 1921, on reading the forgoing petition, it is Ordered by the Court that a hearing be had upon the same on the 6th day of July, A. D. 1921, before said court, at Wilson in said district at 11 o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in Daily Reflector, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the same time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors of said petitioner and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated. Witness the Honorable H. G. Connor, Judge of said court and the seal thereof, at Washington in said district on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1921.

A. MAYO,
1 1t Deputy Clerk.

NOTICE
Having qualified as administrator on the estate of the late Robert Horne of Bethel township, Pitt county, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of the said deceased to present them within twelve months from this date or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery.

All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment. This 9th day of May, 1921.
B. W. JAMES, Administrator.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION

To all whom these presents may come—Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Hughes, Thomas and company, Inc., a corporation of this state, whose principal office is situated in the city of Greenville, county of Pitt, State of North Carolina (W. C. Thomas being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon process may be served) has complied with the requirements of chapter 22, consolidated statutes, entitled "Corporations," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution: Now, therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 2nd day of June, 1921, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In testimony whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal at Raleigh, this 2nd day of June, A. D. 1921.

J. BRYAN GRIMES,
Secretary of State.

THE DOT RED CROSS
By Clifford Leon Sherman

Our heroine was brought up so beautifully that she didn't know there were any rough things in life. She was carefully shielded if ever a little girl was. And her manners were certainly perfection. She knew exactly what to do and when to do it. She had a French teacher and a dancing teacher and I don't know what. And she didn't have to do anything for herself. Why, you may not believe it, but when she used to go to the class in deportment twice every week a maid went with her just to carry her.
