

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR COMPLETING CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING CAMPAIGN IN PITT COUNTY IN NEXT FEW DAYS

W. B. Pace Left This Afternoon for Winterville Where Tomorrow Canvassing Committees Will Begin Intensive Campaign Work in Territory; Swift Creek is Only Remaining District

W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of Pitt county, left this afternoon for Winterville to get everything in readiness for an intensive canvassing campaign in the interest of co-operative marketing which will begin tomorrow and continue until practically every farmer of the county has been signed up.

Reports coming in from other territories indicate that cotton and tobacco growers are exhibiting much more interest in principles enunciated in the contract of the association and are exerting every influence to get their localities signed up for active participation as soon as this becomes possible.

Cotton farmers responded to the call for organization with alacrity, but for some reason or other the tobacco planter has not been quite so yielding and apparently means to wait until the moment before making a decision.

Mr. Pace has sounded sentiment in both sections which have not been signed up and is gratified over the outlook. He has found that business men and bankers, too, are ready to do their part in making the campaign a success, believing it will be instrumental in improving the financial situation in a considerably shorter time than under ordinary circumstances.

There has been right much criticism of the movement recently, Mr. Pace says, but Dr. Joyner, Kilgore and Clarence Poe are of the opinion that this has had a tendency of increasing favor of the farmer and will cause everyone to investigate every feature connected with the movement.

WOMEN PURCHASE A MILLION DOLLAR TRACT OF EARTH

Women's National Foundation Making Arrangements for Continued Co-Operation

Washington, June 14.—The Woman's National Foundation, recently organized here as a means to focus the interests of the women of the country in co-operation with women's organizations has bought a million dollar tract of land in the heart of the Connecticut avenue residential district and plans to erect buildings costing about $3,500,000.

The site of the home of the organization is the old Dean tract on Connecticut avenue hill. It is probably the last remaining estate of extensive grounds in the region which has not yielded to the uptown march of business and apartment hotels.

Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, president of the foundation has described its objects in an address to its thirty founders, as follows: Our purpose is a co-operative work for humanity. I heard a man say that a tremendous dynamic force has been liberated in the world by the enfranchisement of women.

MOOSE MEMBERS IN FIRST MEETING HERE LAST NIGHT

Number of Visitors Attend Organization of New Order With Club Rooms in Hines Bldg.

The Loyal Order of Moose, which has recently been organized in this city, held its first meeting at the Hines building last night and entertained a number of guests from several surrounding towns.

In the regular business session plans for the success of the order were considered at length after which refreshments were served, followed by drilling of degree teams and other formalities connected with organization.

An intensive campaign for members has been in progress for several weeks, but organization was impossible until the last few days when it was found that enough members had been secured to make this possible.

The visitors were greatly impressed with the splendid work which has been accomplished in the infancy of the local order, and were of the opinion that it will experience rapid growth in the near future.

HEALTH FACTS TO BE TAUGHT MANY PARTS COUNTRY

Tuberculosis Sanatorium Plan Extensive Program for Informing People of Health

New York, June 13.—Up to the minute methods of teaching health principles to children will be shown in the 17th annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis association which will open here tomorrow.

Marionette shows, a cardboard theater, motion pictures and pageants are some of the novel schemes to be advanced for inculcating in the minds of children the value of strict adherence to health principles.

As a means of teaching the proper use of foods Tiny Tins theatre will be introduced for the first time to tuberculosis and health workers.

The Modern Health Crusade, a system of health teaching in the public schools, through which children are taught to perform certain health chores daily, will be demonstrated at several of the sessions.

The history of the National Tuberculosis association will be presented before the convention Thursday night through the medium of a pageant entitled The Crusade of the Double Barred Cross.

KEEN INTEREST IS EXHIBITED IN FIRST CHAMBER ACTIVITY

Balloting for Nomination of Directors Receiving Considerable Interest in Every Section

Keen interest is being shown in the outcome of the nominations for directors of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce that will close tonight at seven o'clock.

Tomorrow the names of the 24 nominees declared in tonight's count will be mailed out to the members. Returns of this election must be in not later than 7 o'clock next Monday night.

Group meetings for the development of the program of work in the county sections have been started. Last night the members in Grifton were called together by Dr. W. W. Dawson.

NATIONAL POLO IS SAID TO BE OLDER THAN COLUMBUS

Discoveries Show That Game was Played During the Day of Great Discoverer

New York, June 14.—Although the international polo matches between the United States and English teams which are resumed in England this week, began in 1886, the game of polo was played before Columbus discovered America.

The game was introduced in the United States in 1876 but the sport is centuries old. It originated in Persia, and was played in China and India long before early cavalry officers, garrisoned in India, brought the sport to England and made it the "sport of kings".

Largely because of the excellent training in horsemanship which polo affords, it has been fostered by government and army officials. At the close of the recent war Sir Douglas Haig conferred upon the sport a "citation", declaring it to be the most efficient training for army officers yet devised.

According to tradition, polo had its origin in the court of a Persian king. It is said to have been invented by a court physician for the purpose of providing physical exercise for his sovereign and members of the retinue.

ANTI OCCUPATION SENTIMENT STRONG AT DUSSELDORF

Three Large Cities of Rhenish-Prussia Want to be Free of Troops

Dusseldorf, Germany, May 27.—The anti-occupation sentiment is much stronger in Dusseldorf, Ruhrort and Duisburg, the cities of Rhenish Prussia recently occupied by the French than in Mayence, Coblenz and Cologne, which also have been under foreign occupation for more than two years by the French, Americans and British.

The reason may be that the French are occupying that part of the right bank of the Rhine that they hold near the Ruhr in real military fashion and the occupation is much more severe than that on the left bank.

That hatred of the population is directed more especially against the French and children are being brought up in a constant terror and disguised scorn of the occupying forces which gives little promise that the real brotherly love between French and Germans will be achieved with the coming generation.

Occupations bring out the witty sides of the occupied populations and books have been written about the good jokes which the Belgians perpetrated on the Germans while the latter were ruling their country by force of arms.

SENATE MAY NOT ACCEPT RESOLUTION FOR EARLY PEACE

Porter Resolution In Doubt Even Though It Has Been Passed By the House

Washington, June 14.—Whether the Senate will accept the Porter peace resolution, passed by the House as a substitute for the Knox resolution is uncertain. Leaders on both sides have expressed a determination to stand firm which would send the matter to conference.

CHAUTAQUA STILL CREATING INTEREST AMONG CITY FOLK

Comedy Play Last Night Attended by Capacity Audience; Afternoon Lecture Enjoyed

The Swarthmore Chautauqua program continues to receive considerable interest from patrons in every part of the city and as a consequence attendance yesterday measured up to expectations in every way possible.

The tent was crowded to its capacity last night when a comedy play entitled Nothing But the Truth was presented in an interesting way by an excellent cast.

The young fellow was at the office with the men he made the wager with. The telephone bell rang and a prospective customer inquired about the stock which they had for sale.

This brought on certain eventualities which caused him to misunderstand his sweetheart and the sweetheart to become doubtful concerning his affection and sanity.

The cast was composed of four men and three women who played their respective parts in a way that drew constant and unrestrained applause.

There are a number of other splendid features on program for remainder of the week, including lectures dealing with problems both of national and international importance.

Greenville people are attending in much larger number than at first supposed. Ticket sales have reached favorable proportions and it is assured the guarantors will not lose anything in a financial way.

Silas Whedbee of Hertford is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Whedbee.

Hazing may be a crime as some people like to declare, but it seems to be very popular in many colleges. The time, however, has come for determined action in discouraging the practice and it is hoped every college in the country won't be slow in recognizing it.

It is said that ninety-three per cent
of people in fifteen cities of Japan favor an arrangement looking to disarmament by international concerted action. That being the case it looks like they might try to convince the other part of the country of the same thing and settle the issue by popular approval. Every country likes the idea but the trouble is finding a way to get to it. The future has many great problems to settle, but it is probable this one will occupy considerably
more time than all others combined.

The United States desires peace,
but it isn't willing to become a member of the league of nations so it will be able to engage in a great disarmament program. It's a pity action in this matter should have been delayed
so long, but it is probable procrastination will feature largely in the future,
even though a decision may eventually be rendered in its favor.

The city aldermen and Mayor Clark are to be congratulated upon their decision to widen Dickinson avenue.
This is one street that has caused the public much concern in the past and has resulted in great congestion. The street passes through tobacco town,
and really ought to afford room for the heaviest traffic of the entire city.
If the aldermen take action immediately as proposed it is to be hoped it will be while the market is not open.

A Chicago woman says poor grammar is the cause of more divorces than poor cooking. That may be so in some instances, but with the majority language is insignificant indeed compared to cravings of the stomach. The lady presents a very advanced view of the situation and one that affords
much food for thought.

The Republican national committee continues to decrease Southern representation. This may be considered wise at the present time, but when the next election rolls around land-slides won't be quite so much in evidence. The Southern people demand recognition in everything, especially in politics and the party is making a mighty unwise move in reducing representatives as it is doing. Time, however, is a great teacher, and apparently there are many to profit by it.

Students and visitors at Trinity college commencement applauded the president of Princeton Theological seminary when he declared that Harvey was entirely wrong in his inter-
Trinity commencement would applaud
States. Not only people attending a Trinity commencement would applaud
such an utterance. Mr. Harvey has injured the country probably as no
other representative, and the sooner President Harding sees fit to recall him the more smoothly international relations will be. A man in his position expressing such sentiment is an unintentional enemy to his own country and deserves to be removed from his position supposed to carry power and influence.

MEETS WITH FAVOR

The co-operative marketing plan seems to be meeting with more than ordinary interest throughout the county at the present time and if nothing happens it will measure up to expectations in every way possible. It has been realized for sometimes that some thing would have to be done to save the farmer from conditions that are deplorable in the extreme and leaders of industry seem to have solved the problem in the co-operative market-proposal. The old plan of dumping products on the market to receive whatever price happens to be offered at the time is no longer advisable and the quicker the planters are convinced of the fact the quicker they will be in position to protect their own interest.

The measure quite naturally has a number of bitter opponents, but like all practical issues the time will come when it is an actuality. The market is too uncertain for the hard working farmer to bother with, and it is hoped this year will see the last of low prices and reckless marketing of crops.

When there's quick baking to be done

IN fact, the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove does all kinds of cooking perfectly and economically. With a New Perfection Oven it is possible to bake the fluffiest of cakes and light, crisply-browned biscuits.

Note the long blue chimney on each New Perfection burner. This provides a draught which drives clean heat produced by the white-tipped flame forcibly against the cooking utensil, without sootling it. Soot is simply good heat gone to waste.

And remember that the white-tipped flame gives the most heat. Through the mica door in the chimney you can always see the flame and wick and adjust them in a second.

Busy housekeepers appreciate the small amount of attention that the New Perfection requires. No coal or wood to bring in, no ashes or litter to sweep up and take out. It stands up well above the floor and you can dust under and around it in an instant. Select the four-burner size with cabinet top and New Perfection Oven. It is made also in five, three, two and one-burner sizes for any who prefer them.

You will always get perfect results from your oil stove if you use Aladdin Security Oil—it's pure kerosene.

New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves are sold at most department, furniture and hardware stores.

GREENVILLE BOLL WEEVILS DROP FIRST GAME OF SEASON TO BEARS IN OPENING GAME HERE MONDAY

Locals Hit the Pill Hard in First and Second Frames and Had an Apparent Walk Away Contest, But Visitors Cooled Off and Made Things Interesting, In Fact More Than Folks Desired

In one of the fastest and best played games witnessed on any diamond since opening of the Eastern Carolina league New Bern defeated Greenville by the score of 3 to 2 in the first clash of the season at the fair grounds in this city yesterday afternoon. The exhibition undoubtedly created more general interest than all games combined because the two clubs defeating Kingston and Washington had exhibited their true strength and only awaited a first contest here to test their fighting ability.

The game was witnessed by possibly three thousand people, composed of hundreds of visitors from New Bern and other sections of the State. Never perhaps in history of baseball in Greenville has a better spirit been displayed by the fans. Greenville accepted the defeat splendidly, because everyone realized that the fight had been determined one featured entirely clean, fair work on all sides and resulted in hard fighting by every man comprising each club. The rooters from New Bern recognized certain prerogatives of supporters of the Greenville club and if there was anything unpleasant happening it failed to be evidenced in the cheering, high spirited hundreds who thronged both large grandstands and lined up as far down the base lines as permissible.

The game itself was a wonderful exhibition of the true fighting proclivities of players in both infield and outfield, for from the very first inning when the umpire yelled "play ball" the men were in the game and remained there until the last Greenville player had been retired and the game conceded to the visitors. There were, of course, four errors credited to both clubs, New Bern having three against Greenville one, but only in one single instance did they really prove costly. And that was when Lefty Wilson swatted the old apple far out into center field, where Fogleman, after making a long run, stumbled over a hole in the ground, and muffed the ball, which at any other time would have been his beyond doubt. It was fortunate for the visitors of course, but there were numbers who were such good sports that they would have rather lost the run than had the misfortune overtake the fast playing Boll Weevils.

But getting down to brass tacks concerning the features contributing so largely towards making the contest as interesting as it proved to be it may be well to say that Captain Saxe Barnes pitched ball deserving of commendation in every sense of the word. The Bears hit hard at every opportunity, but Barnes seemed to have something on his balls they couldn't always handle as they liked. At times, however, they managed to connect in a timely fashion resulting in three runners reaching the checking station just in time to have their work checked up by the score keeper.

A recent acquisition to the New Bern club by the name of Pollock started off to do the mound work, but was relieved in the last half of the third after the hard slugging Boll Weevils had massed a total of four safe bingles. He was replaced by Llewellyn who succeeded in quieting things for the time being. However, he at times found himself in pretty hot-water and had to struggle like the mischief to prevent hits from being converted into runs. He succeeded in keeping another runner from reaching the rubber, and pitched splendidly especially in pinches and when hits would have certainly meant runs.

Carson caught a wonderfully effective game for the home club, pegging the bases like a veteran and talking so little that Manager Smith at times felt keenly concerned about his health.

DIAMOND DUST

Well, the suspense of the past few days is over. We have met the strong aggregation from New Bern and found them to be everything we didn't expect. The game was full of interest from the very first inning to the final frame, and ought to have been Greenville's in every sense of the word. The Boll Weevils outplayed the Bears in every stage, with the exception of one or two instances when an error and inability to handle the willow timely resulted in a slight advantage which was immediately accepted. It's true the visitors have a club worthy of consideration, but this fact only makes Greenville all the more anxious to get the edge on John Ivey's crew. The Bears appeared to be out of the game at the outset, but that unfortunate jab of Shirley's to center field with one man on base played havoc with hopes for bagging honors of the day. However, we have two more days to prove our superiority, and with a couple of acquisitions to the pitching staff Captain Saxe Barnes ought to be able to guide his crew to victory.

J. B. Dawson, the affable editor, owner and sports writer of the Morning New Bernian, was guest of the Reflector in its new press box at the ball park in the first game with New Bern yesterday. J. B. is a dead game sport from his feet on up, and apparently had conceded the game to Greenville until Shirley walloped the old pill to the center garden for three bases with one runner on. It's true we were soaring in the realms of happiness prior to that time and were consoling our visitor in every way possible, but when that transition period moved around we nearly collapsed and fell over in J. B.'s big fat arms. This would have been a calamitous occurrence with all those pretty young women looking on from the crowded grandstands, but if the same thing ever happens again we are going to do it regardless of who happens to be peering in on the press box at the time. Mr. Dawson believes New Bern and New Bern people are the best folk on earth, but he admits now with all candor that Greenville is right up with them. This was his first visit to the city in many a day, and he was so pleased with the cordial reception accorded on every hand that he has promised to come again, regardless of which way the wind blows in the baseball realm.

Saxe Barnes is admittedly the luckiest man playing baseball in this section of the State, but he apparently lost his horseshoe or rabbit's foot prior to the game with New Bern yesterday. To say that he pitched winning ball would be expressing the matter in a mild way. He did more than that, for only nine Bears succeeded in finding him for a safe bingle and everyone of those failed to produce everything expected of them. It's tough, indeed, to lose after staging such an exhibition and Greenville people are not slow in condoling with versatile captain in this, his first misfortune of the season.

Greenville fans will remember Duncan, who played left field for the local club last season. Well, the same old boy covered the same old position for New Bern yesterday and played his usual good game. He and Barnes have always been on pretty good terms, but for some reason or other Saxe absolutely refused to let him wallop the old pill as he desired yesterday. Dunk, as he is familiarly known among teammates, is consistently persistent both with the willow and in the field and promises to do much towards helping New Bern capture the pennant this season.

To think that the Boll Weevils cut-hit and outfielded the Bears in the opening game yesterday and couldn't get the necessary hit after the visitors galloped that single run lead. Talking about hard luck. Well that's about the toughest anyone could ask for, and it's certain there are very few who desire any more of the same brand. When old card back hits Greenville it bucks with all force possible, and that's exactly the reason Mark Webb didn't line the old apple out for about three bases in the ninth

The infield of both clubs fielded in a decidedly gratifying way while the outfield handled the old sphere as if they had been used to it from the cradle all the way up. It was a game which will long be remembered by the hundreds of people in attendance, both from New Bern and other cities for a class of ball was presented which compares favorably with anything seen in the Virginia or the Carolina association, which claims to be a little above the class here.

Greenville did its scoring in the first and second innings, and they made a remarkable effort to pile up something the visitors couldn't climb over. Stringfield started things off by hitting to short who erred, the runner getting safe; Ratchford sacrificed; Massey singled, scoring Stringfield. In the second frame Morton led off with a single to centerfield; Adams sacrificed; Carson sacrificed the runner to third; Barnes singled, scoring Morton. Runners were gotten on bases practically every inning thereafter, but inability to hit opportunely prevented them from reaching home.

New Bern failed to draw first blood until the fifth inning when Neal singled, later advancing to third on Duncan's sacrifice; Wilson drove the pill to deep center where Fogleman erred, the runner going home. In the ninth frame Duncan singled after two men had been retired, scoring when Shirley lined one out for three bases, himself dying on the third corner. The disastrous work came in the ninth frame when Llewellyn singled, Wilson later popping one to right field, the runner reaching the checking station after a tolerably fast trip to the checking station.

The box score follows:
