ROTARIANS ENJOY FIRST CONFERENCE HELD AT KINSTON

Big Barbecue Dinner, Fine Speeches and Ball Game Principal Features

Kinston, June 23.—Nearly two hundred Rotarians stormed and captured the city yesterday, the occasion being the first of the Inter-City conference of East Carolina cities holding Rotary charters. From the time Tom Mewborn of local club called meeting to order in the Grand theatre at 10 o'clock until after the ball game, there was something doing. Rotarily, and never for a moment did the spirit of the occasion lag.

Delegates representing six of the ten cities were present, these including Wilson, Greenville, Washington, New Bern, Wilmington, Goldsboro and Kinston. District governor Joe Turner was the honor guest of the Rotes, and made the principal address of the day. Included, also, among the visitors, were many Rotarians prominent in educational circles, these including Sam Underwood, head of the Raleigh public schools, Robert H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers Training school, and Joe Turner, who is himself president of a college in Virginia.

The business session was over with by 12 o'clock. During this session many fine talks were made. After a sightseeing trip over the city the visitors were transferred to "Hillcrest" the new park where "Old Tom" Harney and Frank Hill had prepared the boys the finest barbecue dinner (and fried chicken dinner) that they ever attacked. It was indeed, a spread fit for a king and the Rotes told Tom so in plain words.

After dinner, the boys lounged around under the shade of the trees and heard some choice oratorical explosions by such well known Rotes as Ajax Edgerton and Tom Pettus of Wilson, J. B. Kittrell of Greenville, W. D. McMillan, Mayor James H. Cowan, Roger Moore and Jimmie (Mary) McCoy of Wilmington, Carl Goerch and others of Washington, Bill Dunn of New Bern and Tom O'Berry of Goldsboro. Lemuel J. Meyborne, for the Kiwanis club, honor guests, made a brief talk, too. There were others, all enjoyable.

After a minute inspection of the new pavilion at Hillcrest, the Rotes proceeded to the baseball game, where they made themselves heard and seen. They put the jinx on the locals, however, evidently feeling a deference for the lowly sailors.

It was unanimously carried that New Bern's invitation to allow them to entertain the next conference be accepted.

TOBACCO BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS FOR THE NEXT SEASON

Gentry & Gorman Dissolve Partnership, But Business Will be Continued by Mr. Gorman and Sons

A business transaction of considerable interest to people in this section of the State is contained in the announcement of the dissolution of Gentry & Gorman, prominent tobacco warehousemen who have been in business in this city for a number of years. The business hereafter will be continued by Mr. Gorman in connection with his sons, the firm to be known as J. N. Gorman Sons & company.

The old firm conducted business here for a number of years, having one of the largest auction houses in this section of the State and also enjoying liberal patronage from many points of the bright leaf producing sections. The warehouse is a mammoth brick structure, containing a redrying plant and all requisites of the industry, and is about the only one in this part of the State so well equipped.

Mr. Gentry will continue in the tobacco business in Greenville, having purchased the Liberty warehouse from S. T. Hooker, who recently retired from business, W. S. Moye and S. D. Hooker will also be connected with him. The establishment will be known as the Farmers warehouse.

The news will be of particular interest to tobacco growers throughout the county in fact throughout eastern Carolina, because of the extensive relations enjoyed from so many territories. Nothing has been said of the plans of the new concern, but it is assured the business will be conducted upon the same high plane with best interests of the grower at heart.

FOREIGN POLICIES SERIOUSLY AFFECT MISSIONARY WORK

Unsettled Conditions Prevailing in All Countries Result in Bad Situation

Des Moines, Ia., June 24.—Unsettled foreign policies of governments during the last year as never before, have affected missionary enterprises, declares the 107th annual report of the American Foreign Mission society, presented today at the Southern Baptist convention sessions. Political disturbances and famine in China, an almost unparalleled financial crisis in Japan, the inauguration of "one of the greatest experiments in democracy ever undertaken" following an amazing national awakening in India, and Mohammedan aggression in Africa, have been factors placing many of the society's missionaries in a delicate position, says the report.

It adds that financial handicaps have been encountered in the industrial depression here, and in the fluctuation of money exchange rates in the Far East, food, clothing and other essentials for the missionaries jumping in cost as the value of silver dropped. Housing has also been a problem.

During the year, the reports says, John D. Rockefeller made gifts to the society totaling $2,000,000. This sum was grouped with previous gifts from Mr. Rockefeller in the last two years into a permanent trust fund known as "The John D. Rockefeller Fund," the income of which will be used for general purposes.

George B. Huntington, the treasurer, reports that $207,000 has been spent during the year for relief in China and Europe.

DIAMOND DUST

Washington certainly did Greenville great favor by defeating the strong Kinston aggregation yesterday. The Robins were in position to beat us for second place, but the Sailors' timely walloping removed the probability of any such occurrence within the next two or three days at the greatest.

Big Llewellyn, the new manager of the New Bern club appears to be as lucky as John Ivey Smith. In fact the Bears seem to have improved under his leadership and promise even a better braided ball before the season is over.

That New Bern club has set a pace that any other club of the country will find mighty hard to improve on. Eleven straight victories with loss of only one game is an enviable record, any way you put it and shows training to be admired in every sense of the word. The club, it is true, has played in great luck, but it must be admitted the boys know how to pull together better than any other organization of the league.

Washington has been in charge of the cellar throughout the entire season, but if nothing happens it is probable Greenville will assume charge at an early date. The Boll Weevils set a stiff pace in early stages of the season, but the club in some way became disorganized and met the Bears when at its worst. Kinston, of course, contributed two games to us, but the Bears came back and managed to get three straights again. Some people say it's a case of hard luck, but the majority believe it is a case of superior ball playing. And the last conclusion is no doubt correct.

Mark Webb seems destined to play in the hardest kind of luck imaginable. But before the season is over maybe things will change. The hefty Pinetops lad deserves better support than the boys have given him so far, and it's safe to say he will win one of the games against Washington this week.

Well, Washington plays here the rest of the week. The three games will determine which club will take the cellar. Washington has filled it with great dignity for several days, so if they win two of the three game here this week the public will be able to see what kind of guardfan the Weevils will make. The cellar isn't a very desirable location, but someone has got to occupy the place, that's all there is about it.

Sammy Carson continues to catch his usual good game for the Greenville club. If the remainder of the team played like the Bethel lad the club would be formidable indeed. Lyle is also proving his value as a catcher, therefore, it is easily seen that this position is about the strongest of the entire aggregation.

Lefty Wilson is proving about the most dependable hurler of the New Bern club. In fact, he has pitched more games than any other man up to the present time, and won under conditions anything but enviable. Wilson pitched Carolina to victory in many a game during the last two years, so it's to be expected that he is proving of the first water class among the Bears.

If Washington beats us today, then we might as well give us all hope of becoming a contestant for the first half. The fact is New Bern seems to already have the first half on ice, and any club wishing to furnish any determined resistance had better do so quickly. The Bears are to be reckoned with at all times, and deserves to be watched in the forward march for the pennant.

Saxe Barnes' nephew, Sam Jones, is setting his uncle a mighty fast pace on the mound, and if the aforesaid "unc" intends to maintain his reputation as a hurler it's about time to show something out of the ordinary. Sam won from Washington, Kinston and had the bears scared nearly to death, but unfortunately, played in hard luck and lost a battle which would do credit to a hurler much older and experienced.

MODEL COAL MINE NOW CONSIDERED IN ILLINOIS FIELD

Mining Experts to Present Plans at National Exhibition to Be Held in Chicago

Chicago, June 14.—A model coal mine built under the supervision of government experts and illustrating the very latest form of labor saving mining machinery, will be one of the unique features of the national exposition of mines and mining equipment arranged for by the American Mining Congress in connection with its 24th annual convention to be held in Chicago October 17-22.

From the cutting machines to the ventilating fans keeping the air fresh and free from gas, every form of modern coal mining machinery will be seen operating under actual working conditions.

The visitor will have an opportunity of seeing a real coal mine and of exploring its recesses. He may come to an open shaft, enter an elevator, and slowly go down seemingly hundreds of feet. At the bottom he may step out into a black tunnel with miners' lamps flickering here and there. Further on he can enter into a mine room to observe the cutting machines at work, watch the loaders pick up the mine coal, place it into dump cars and see an electric locomotive hook up the cars and pull them up to the conveyor which lifts the coal to the mouth of the mine.

According to Secretary John D. Clausen, the American Mining Congress at its exposition with the help of the United States congress and through the construction of this model mine, hopes to be able to bring about a better understanding on the part of the public of the various cost factors entering into the production of coal and at the same time to give to the mine owner a chance to study improved methods which will assist him in bringing about a lower price at the mines.

MINISTER SAYS CHILDREN NOT TO BE BLAMED TODAY

Baptist Preacher Criticizes Parents For the Attitude of Their Children

Des Moines, Ia., June 24.—The young people of today, the targets of so much criticism at the present time are not the ones to blame for their attitude, Rev. Bernard C. Clausen, pastor of the First Baptist church of Syracuse, N. Y., declared last night at the Northern Baptist convention in this city.

Men are charging that the new generation is irreligious, he said. If this be so, it is futile to spend time in blaming the youngsters. The only sane thing for religious leaders to do is to find out what 21 wants in its religion.

The thing that the new generation wants most, he declared, is fearlessness. It demands a religious faith which prescribes no books, prohibits no courses of study, bans no contracts with the ever-widening horizons of the world's knowledge, erects no walls about itself, but frankly and fearlessly answers every fair question.

The nagging, don't of our worn pedagogy is not the religion for 21. Dr. Clausen affirmed. It insists that religion treat of life, rather than of death. The new generation has seen too many of its contemporaries die, at the height of a glorious adventure, to feel the need of a religion which believes the call of death. It demands a faith which is willing to be judged on the way it prepares men for life.

When religion is able to meet these essential requirements of youth the new generation will embrace it, Dr. Clausen declared.

COUNTY CHAMBER IS HIGHLY ELATED AT FREIGHT RATES

Action of the Interstate Commerce Commission Received Gladly Everywhere

Officials of the Pitt county chamber of commerce were elated over the announcement just received from Washington that the Virginia-Carolina freight rate case waged for the past two years by North Carolina interests had resulted in a sweeping victory. The decision of the interstate commerce commission was published Tuesday.

The local chamber cooperated with the other leading chambers of commerce of the State and also urged local shippers to take direct action. The case was initiated fully two years ago because of alleged discrimination in favor of Virginia cities that enabled them to buy in the north and east and undersell to all points in the Carolinas and practically all over the southeast. The decision directs that the carriers so change their existing rates that the differences between points in the north and east to North Carolina points and points in the north and east to Virginia points shall not be greater than specified maximums. All the reductions are considerable.

The action of the inter-state commerce commission, it is considered, marks the close of the case. The decision that the commission rendered last September was also in favor of North Carolina cities but the Virginia corporation commission pleaded for its re-hearing. This was granted, delaying the reduction. The decision published Tuesday disposes of the claims of the Virginia corporation commission and reaffirms the original decision.

Carriers affected are directed to revise their rates and submit the revisions to the commission within 60 days.

KINSTON MAN DIES AS RESULT OF GUN WOUNDS

Well Known Citizen Succumbs to Pistol Wounds Inflicted by Mr. Poplin

Kinston, June 23.—Bert E. Sugg, prominent local tobaccoist and business man, who was mortally wounded Tuesday night by a pistol ball, fired by John D. Poplin, his brother-in-law, died at the Parrott Memorial hospital at 9:10 o'clock last evening, a little more than 24 hours after the fatal shooting. He was conscious for a short while after rousing from the effects of the anaesthetic early yesterday morning, administered previous to a surgical operation made in the hope of saving his life, but soon entered a state of coma.

Mr. Sugg was in his 47th year, and a native of Greene county, where he lived the greater part of his life. He came to Kinston seven or eight years ago, and engaged in business. At the time of his death he was an active partner in the conduct of the Central tobacco warehouse. Surviving him are his wife and six children, as well as many other relatives. Mr. Sugg was well known to practically every citizen of the city, being a man of excellent character.

UNION CHURCH ENDORSES DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

Honolulu, T. H., May 31.—De-layed)—Central Union church, Honolulu, whose members are drawn from the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist denominations, and which rears its spire in the heart of this heavily fortified and garrisoned outpost of the republic, recently approved by unanimous vote the action of the United States Senate in requesting President Harding to call an international disarmament conference.

The motion was put by the minister of the church, Rev. A. W. Palmer, and it passed without a dissenting voice.

HEALTH CAMPAIGN WILL FEATURE IN PEACE TIME PLANS

Co-ordination of Existing Agencies is Major Thing That is to Be Considered

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—Public health work, in the aid and co-ordination of existing public health agencies, is the major peace time activity of the American Red Cross, George R. Bedinger of New York, director health service department American Red Cross, told the delegates to the National Conference of Social Work here today.

The program of the Red Cross health service consists mainly of a broad statesmanlike plan of public health education and information, under which the Red Cross is performing certain joint services for the public health agencies of the city of New York, which it would be difficult for any one agency to do so well for itself alone, Mr. Bedinger added.

Among these common services offered without charge by the health service of the Red Cross is a bureau of public health information through which any interested person can secure up to date information in regard to all phases of public health activity.

To strengthen and support existing health agencies is not only the aim, but also, the achievement of the New York county chapter of the American Red Cross since it entered the field of public health eighteen months ago.

One of our co-operative enterprises is a health speakers bureau, designed to act as a clearing house through which all public health agencies can find opportunities for their lecturers to speak, and through which local groups of any kind desiring to arrange public health lectures, can secure qualified lecturers, or a series of lectures, if desired.

The entire health program of the New York county chapter American Red Cross is one of co-operation; no health activities are undertaken alone; no health service is provided without securing the co-operation of some other organizations, much of this service being undertaken at the special request of other health agencies. To supplement and not supplant the public and private health activities of the city is the motto of this new Red Cross service.

HIGH POINT MAN SAID TO HAVE BEEN BADLY BEATEN

High Point, June 22.—While returning to his home in this city late last night George Burns, white, is reported to have been seized by a party of men who took him in an automobile to an unknown place where he is said to have been beaten. Two arrests have been made as a result of the incident, but tonight the police refused to disclose the names of the men arrested.

It was impossible to obtain any authentic information concerning the attack. Rumors were thick and fast. Persons residing in the section were alarmed by the cries of Burns and a crowd gathered on the scene. When help arrived the man had been hurried away in an automobile. He was later returned, it is said.

STRANGER FOUND DEAD IN WINSTON SALEM HOTEL

Winston Salem, June 22.—A man who registered at the Zinendorf hotel yesterday as S. M. Smith, Winston, N.C., was found dead in his room this morning. On the window sill were found two bottles of morphine, one of liquid and one of tablets. A hypodermic instrument and a number of needles were found in the room.

A citizen after viewing the body stated that Smith a few years ago was a well known physician in Siler City. Coroner's jury said death was due to heart failure and overdose morphine.

Thursday, June 23, 1921

A prominent headline in an equally prominent paper says: "Harding's friends are slinging his praises." It must be a mighty discordant tune.

The democrats seem to be a side issue right at this time, but by and by the old mule will again come into his own.

A great statesman is quoted as saying that the only hope of the world is in the league of nations. It would be hard to convince the majority of American people, even though it is so.

Comparatively few people believe times are really hard, but when you present a bill, that's the only thing they know what to talk about. Human nature is mighty strange, even with the best of us.

The change in freight rates in North Carolina will mean saving of more than $40,000,000 annually, so it is estimated. That being the case we wish it had occurred several years ago. We might have had more money now.

Montgomery county is preparing to organize a county chamber of commerce such as that just perfected in Pitt County. The movement is a very commendable one and deserves consideration of people throughout every section of the county. Pitt county is expected to realize great benefits from the organization's activity, and there is no reason why Montgomery county shouldn't do the same.

Healthy stock is absolutely necessary to every section of the country, particularly where land is too barren to afford bumper crops such as raised through this country. One of the most direct means of bettering the stock raising situation is by timely vaccination of hogs. W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of this county says this is now in progress in many sections, and it is natural to suppose the future will see quite an improvement. Pitt county of course, is a great farming region, but hog raising should prove mighty profitable, especially while there is absolutely no demand for products of the farm. So long as the farmer raises something to eat, there's no use to worry about hard times.

It is said the value of the 1920 milk crop in Alabama exceeded that of the cotton crop in that state by $3,000,000. That being the case it looks as if other states might find it more profitable to give dairying a try out instead of growing so much cotton and tobacco. This is especially applicable in Pitt county where the tobacco crop at the present time is absolutely worthless, with exception of the better grades which, of course, will always have a certain value. Dairying has been made very successful by numbers of people already, but still there's plenty of room for increasing the work. Conditions usually couldn't be made worse than they are through the right kind of experimenting.

It is gratifying to note that the summer session of the East Carolina Teachers Training school promises to be even more successful than heretofore. The school is today recognized as one of the leading institutions of the country for training young women for the school room and promises to be even more successful after contemplated improvements are completed. President Robert H. Wright and his competent faculty are to be congratulated in this moment of their greatest achievements. They have a great future before them and plenty room for achievements of the most creditable and helpful nature.

Professor Hamilton Holt has written President Harding requesting that he clear himself regarding international affairs. The request is perfectly natural, but Mr. Harding's policies are not clear enough to himself just yet to define or explain them for anyone else.

Minnows are being used for eradicating the mosquito in Spanish territory. They haven't anything on Pitt county. The same plan is at the present time being used in the anti-malaria campaign which has been in progress around Greenville for several weeks. It is said the minnow eats the little pest as fast as they hit the top of the water, so it is quite natural they should be very valuable in the work.

The freight rate question has troubled this state for a long time, but it seems that we have won at last. Virginia contended that we didn't deserve rates equal with those accorded that state. The railroads put up the usual contention, but both lost. Business may be conducted more extensively now, and instead of realizing any loss the various roads ought to see a decided increase of business.

It is stated Tar Heel editors will tour the state sometime within the next several months. It is to be hoped so, for there are members poorly informed concerning their own state and would certainly mean great benefit from an opportunity of studying conditions in prevalence.
