

COMMERCE BODY CHOOSES ACTIVITY FOR THE FUTURE

Twenty Big Things Selected by Members of County Institution in Recent Meetings

Twenty big things have been selected by the members of the Pitt county chamber of commerce as the important problems before the county. They form the basis of the program of work that has just been compiled. It is now being considered by the directors. At the meeting of the board at four o'clock today plans for carrying out the wishes of the members will be studied. The outstanding things in the program are relief from high freight rates, continued work for good roads, crop diversification, co-operative efforts in all county undertakings, development along industrial lines and for a cotton centre in Greenville, the establishment of a hospital and the development of the river for transportation.

The program that has been presented to the directors is divided into three sections. The first section contains all those important things for which there is overwhelming sentiment. The remaining planks of the program are arranged in the order of their support from the members. Public forum meetings are suggested for some of these in order to develop and crystallize sentiment in their favor.

Major Program of Work

Plank 1—Freight Rates. Take initiative and co-operate with State agencies in working for less oppressive freight rates and in opposing increases.

Plank 2—Roads. Further the continued development of hard-surface roads throughout the county.

Plank 3—Crop Diversification. Show advantages of extensive crop diversification, methods, results and value and urge adoption in Pitt county.

Plank 4—Co-operation. Strive to bring about a spirit of co-operation among all the forces and all sections of Pitt county.

Plank 5—Industrial Development. Determine the industries that would thrive best in Pitt county, assist in their establishment and foster their development.

Plank 6—Cotton Centre. Develop Greenville as a cotton centre by urging installation of recognized grading system and establishment of market yard.

Plank 7—Hospital. Strive for the establishment and maintenance of a modern hospital at the most advantageous point in Pitt county.

Plank 8—Development. Study the possibilities of Tar river development for freight transportation and assist in the project if deemed feasible.

Forum and Discussion Program

Plank 1—Housing. Arrange a public discussion of the housing needs and present a solution of the problem.

Plank 2—Public Conveniences. Arouse a general appreciation of the necessity for public conveniences—drinking fountains, rest rooms, comfort stations—and urge their establishment.

Plank 3—Marketing. Discuss the marketing problem and present a solution that will be of mutual advantage to both producer and consumer.

Plank 4—Parks. Create an interest in the value of and the necessity for parks.

Plank 5—Schools. Keep before the public the necessity for high standards in public education and the need for constant improvement.

Plank 6—Union Depot. Study the problem of a consolidated railroad station, arousing public interest in the need for the change.

Supplementary Program of Activities

1. Urge further street development—paving and lighting.

2. Study causes of indifference and unsatisfactory telephone service and endeavor to bring about improvement.

3. Have the vacant lots cleaned and maintained in this condition.

4. Spread the knowledge of Pitt county's greatness so that there will

WRIGHT SPEAKS TO STUDENTS AT SUMMER SCHOOL

President Tells Training School Pupils of Great Future Before Them

President Wright made a strong talk to the students of the summer school Tuesday morning, the first time he has appeared at assembly exercises. He told the students something of the purpose of the school, and its standards and ideals, explained to them the place in the educational system of the State, and called on them to avert the school by telling others about it. His talk was inspirational, especially at the close when he stressed the great need for trained teachers and pleaded with the student teachers to heed the call of the little children of North Carolina who are begging them for light to show them the way out of darkness.

He carefully explained the different courses and the difference between the normal, or two year course, and the college, or four year course. By calling this what it henceforth actually is, a normal school and a teachers' college, he made the distinction clear. The two year, or normal course, entitles a student to the "B" grade of certificate in the State scheme of certification. This means they are accredited with the same grade of certificate as students from any other college in the State get for three years of work beyond the high school. This is because of the nature of work done here. The four year course, or college course, entitles the graduates to an "A" grade of certificate or the highest offered by the State.

When Pres. Wright announced that this was the only teachers college in North Carolina recognized by the American Association of Teachers colleges, of which there are fifty in the United States, the students applauded. This means that it is the only school that devotes its whole time to the training of teachers.

Three summer terms in this school are counted as a year, whereas it takes four of any other summer school in the State. This is because this has an eight weeks term, while the others have only six weeks.

He declared that when a teacher has her highest grade certificate she is then really licensed to teach school, and school teaching is then on a professional foundation, but not until then. The spirit of the professional teacher in North Carolina is what has brought this to pass. He expressed the wish that he would live to see builded at this place one of the greatest teachers colleges in the country. It will take money to get it here. He said that he wanted the next legislature to appropriate one million, four hundred thousand dollars, and that would get the plan well on the way. He said he hoped that next year over a hundred graduates would go out from the school, the next more, and more until there would be five hundred teachers sent from this school into the schools of North Carolina every year.

Mid-week prayer services will be held in the churches tonight.

FAVOR INVESTIGATION OF DISFRANCHISEMENT

Washington, June 28.—At a conference tonight 52 house Republicans voted to favor an immediate and comprehensive investigation into alleged disfranchisement, particularly of negroes in the South, with the view of reappportioning the House on the basis of the findings. Two votes were cast against the proposal, which was submitted in the form of a resolution offered by Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts.

Before a vote was reached, Representative Mondell, the House leader, said that only 80 out of the 288 of the Republican House membership were present.

There was more general appreciation abroad and at home.

5. Study the needs for additional burial grounds and suggest solution of the present problem.

DIAMOND DUST

The Robins have succeeded in making it two straights and today's game will decide whether Greenville will at least get one out of three.

Kinston succeeded in sending four runners around to the checking station in the first and second innings yesterday, gaining a lead which the Boll Weevils found absolutely impossible to overcome during remainder of the game. And to accentuate matters, the Robins continued to put a runner across the rubber every inning or so afterwards, making the score possibly the largest of any other contest of the season.

Doubles and triples were in order in yesterday's affair, Kinston getting five doubles, one triple and four singles. Greenville went two better getting a total of twelve hits, including two triples, two doubles and six singles. If that doesn't constitute what the boys term a slugfest, then we are at a loss to know what it takes to make one.

Mark Webb appeared decidedly out of form in yesterday's exhibition as the Robins were able to hit when hits resulted in runs. While Greenville hit harder and more freely they were unable to do so at opportune moments, and as a consequence the big side of the score fell to the visitors. This is the first time of the season fans had an opportunity of seeing such a slugging match, and that they thoroughly enjoyed it goes without saying, although it would have been better received had Greenville been in the lead.

Jim White led with the willow for Kinston yesterday, getting four hits and two runs out of six trips to the plate. Stringfield also featured for Greenville, pounding the old apple for a total of three hits and one run out of four trips to the rubber. If that isn't hitting the old pill, we are unable to understand exactly what else could be expected, unless some Babe Ruth stuff is expected.

Greenville continues to play in that old streak of uncertainty regardless of repeated attempts of Manager Guy Smith to get rid of it.

Fans have been talking about new players of late, but so far none of them have made their appearance. If luck doesn't change pretty soon, well here is only one thing about it, and that is we lose all chance of winning her first half.

We had a pretty good chance of coming out on top for the first half but Kinston has almost snuffed under all such hopes. If we lose today's affair, then we might as well concede things to the Bears and start out on the last lap for the pennant.

The locals landed on LaBate for a total of twelve safeties yesterday, but couldn't get them when they counted for runs, except in the sixth when four runners were gotten to the checking station. We earned everything we got by clean hitting. While the visitors, by taking advantage of Webb's wildness, succeeded in piling up a total which was impossible to overcome even by a crew of sluggers.

Never mind, old hard luck. You may have us now, but before the season is over you are going to be trailing behind some other club. That's what Manager Guy Smith has to say about it, and he generally means what he says.

New Bern blanked Washington to the tune of 1 to 0 yesterday in probably one of the prettiest games of the season. The Sailors have been staging a class of ball worthy of approval and Washington people ought to appreciate it. The Bears have been romping away with things for the past nearer curbing their tide of victory nearer curbing their tide of victory than any other club. That's something to consider, too, when it is recalled that the club heretofore has been considered the weakest of the entire circuit.

Greenville's five errors yesterday didn't prove so costly as some might think, but they produced a very unpleasant sensation. The boys have been making too many of late, and the

MOOSE TENDER BANQUET HERE LAST EVENING

Members of the Lodge Enjoy the First Occasion of Its Kind Since Its Organization

Members of the Loyal Order of Moose had an enjoyable banquet at their new quarters, Blues building, Dickinson avenue, last evening. A menu consisting of fried chicken, country ham, potato salad, pickles, ice cream and cake was enjoyed by the members and visitors present. A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Geo. Cherry, Jr., and she was declared the champion chicken frier of North Carolina. Mrs. Eugene Atkinson received a vote of thanks for the country ham, cooked to a king's taste, also for beautiful flowers that decorated the tables. Mrs. C. J. Adams received a vote of thanks for the potato salad, which could not have been better, and it is no longer a mystery why old Charlie looks so healthy.

The affair was presided over by visiting members of the Washington lodge and the following officers were elected: Chief Lester Jones, dictator; Adolph Matthews, past dictator; J. P. Rowlett, vice dictator; Mr. Jenkins, perler; S. T. Hicks, J. D. Lassiter and C. J. Adams, trustees; Eugene Atkinson, A. T. Denton, Mr. Burton, C. J. Adams and Frank Brinkley, Jr., house committee; Pat Foley, secretary; R. B. Starr, treasurer.

It was voted unanimously that the house committee, assisted by the trustees, buy the necessary furniture and equip the auditorium and club rooms and so very large things may be expected of this order in the near future.

Advised of Aunt's Death

Mr. S. L. Bridgers received a letter yesterday advising him of the death of an aunt, Mrs. Ellen Patrick, which occurred the day before at her home in Hamlet. Mrs. Patrick was near 70 years of age and had been in feeble health several years.

PAPER MILL WORKERS TO TRY ARBITRATION

Albany, N. Y., June 28.—Striking employees of paper mills in this country and Canada have voted to accept the proposal made by manufacturers to submit to arbitration the wage dispute that caused some mills to shut down on May and others on May 11. This was announced today by Jeremiah J. Carey, president of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers.

sooner they get out of it the better the public will like it.

Webb, Kittrell and Ratchford led in stick work for Greenville, securing two bingles each out of four trips to the rubber. Stringfield, however, beat the entire club, getting three hits out of four times up, one of which proved to be a triple.

If we happen to take today's affair it will to some extent help relieve the sensation of two successive defeats. The Robins are putting up an entirely different brand of ball from that staged on home grounds, and show they mean to give New Bern something to think about the latter part of the week.

Greenville fans are to be commended for the splendid way they have been supporting the team. A stout heart is necessary to stand behind a losing club, therefore, it is evident we have been doing mighty fine. The club has played some good ball at times, but for some reason or other the boys can't pull together. That's what made the Bears what they are today—that old pull together stuff—and it is hoped the locals will get some of it in them before many more days.

We certainly outdid Kinston, but they managed to make what they got count for runs, and that's exactly what we didn't succeed in doing.

Here's hoping Washington wallows the Bears today and that Kinston lets us win, if we can't win ourselves.

DELINQUENTS ARE TAKEN TO SCHOOL BY WELFARE MAN

Three White Children to be Confined in Reformatory in Greensboro Until Better Children

Probation Officer Futrelle left this morning for Greensboro, in company with three small children who are to be placed in the North Carolina children's home in that place. Condition of the children was called to attention of the welfare department several days ago, and after an investigation Judge Harrington found it advisable to send them to some place where they may receive proper care and treatment. The delinquents were the smallest tots brought to the attention of the department in its history and their environments necessitated immediate action. They had been living under the influence of a profligate father and didn't know good from bad. In fact, they were exactly what juvenile court authorities term delinquents, but with proper training in their new home, should make valuable men and women.

The welfare department, under the direction of Superintendent Futrelle and J. F. Harrington, judge of juvenile court, has accomplished great good since its establishment several months ago. Hundreds of charitable cases have been handled not including numbers of critical cases in which medical attention was necessary.

Mr. Futrelle has been very diligent in performance of his duties especially in providing children of poor parents. The school attendance record also was increased the past season because of the department's vigilant supervision, and it is expected the coming year will see even more children in school than formerly.

The names of the three children carried to Greensboro were not made known this morning. Mr. Futrelle believed it wise to keep this from the public in order that the children may be able to take a fair position in society upon their return. The parents of good standing, it is understood, but has been careless and indifferent in providing for the children.

TYPHOID FEVER SLIGHTLY INCREASES IN NORTH CAROLINA

Report From State Health Department Shows Over 100 Increase Over Last Year

Raleigh, June 29.—Reports of cases of typhoid fever received by the State board of health total 374 for the present year as against 200 cases reported for the same period of last year. In the same months of 1919 there were 297 cases reported.

The evidence is that typhoid fever is more prevalent in the State this year than it was for the first half of either last year or the one before that. An increase of eighty-seven percent in the incidence of this disease is cause for a general warning on the part of the State board of health to the people of the State to immediately take all precautionary measures.

The best immediately available measure of protection against typhoid fever is inoculation with the anti-typhoid vaccine which is furnished without cost by the State laboratory of hygiene. This requires three doses, administered a week apart, and confers immunity of from two to three years. The treatment is available through local physicians, health officers, county physicians and county quarantine officers in every county of the State, and in a number of counties energetic campaigns are now being carried forward in the endeavor to have immunized a large part of the population of these counties without any cost whatever to the individuals, the county authorities having provided for all expense incurred in such campaigns.

$700,000 DEFICIT IN SCHOOL FUNDS NORTH CAROLINA

Budget Overreaches Appropriations For Teachers by Big Amount; Revaluation a Factor

Raleigh, June 28.—Estimated expenditures for the public schools in North Carolina overreach the legislative appropriation by approximately three-quarters of a million dollars, according to an analysis of the school situation in the State issued by State Superintendent E. C. Brooks yesterday.

To further complicate the situation the incomes of many counties have been reduced through a revival of property values, which may seriously embarrass the administration of the schools before the 1921-'22 term has run its six month length. This feature of the situation is not discussed in Dr. Brooks' statement, but will be the subject of a letter addressed later to county authorities.

An almost over-night elevation of their professional standing by thousands of North Carolina teachers, entitling them to the higher salaries provided in the schedule adopted by the general assembly is responsible for the deficit that stares the school authorities in the face, Dr. Brooks finds, after a careful analysis of the situation.

North Carolina citizens have demanded better teachers in their schools, the State has placed a premium on better teachers, and the teachers have measured up to the standard established, Dr. Brooks declares, and it is now up to the State to make good its program of building up the schools with better teachers. It will cost an additional three-quarters of a million, bringing the total school budget in the State to around $15,000,000.

"A statement will be issued to county officials giving them directions as to how to proceed under the new legislative provisions so that our rate of progress may be maintained," the statement concludes. The suggestions to county authorities have not yet been determined upon, it is understood, and will come after further consultation with the Attorney General and the Council of State.

LITTLE JAMES WHICHARD FALLS FROM WINDOW

Yesterday afternoon while playing around an up stairs window in his home James Whichard, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Whichard, fell from the window to the ground without receiving any injuries except a few bruises. The little fellow had been cautioned several times about the danger of the window but being too small to understand he pushed the wire window a little too hard which caused him to lose his balance. Members of the family rushed out expecting to find the child badly hurt and were surprised to find him uninjured, it was a narrow escape.

SEVERAL CASES BEFORE MAYOR D. M. CLARK TODAY

The following cases were disposed of before Mayor D. M. Clark this morning: J. D. Overton, qow running at large on street, paid the costs; L. A. Randolph Co., John Burroughs, manager, violating the Sunday garage ordinance, paid costs; J. B. Biddle, no rear light on automobile, paid costs; Frank Sawyer, failing to purchase city privilege license, judgment suspended upon purchase of license and payment of costs; Sam Johnson, parking automobile and leaving motor running without an attendant, paid cost.

Enjoyable Dance

On last evening the young men of the city gave a most enjoyable dance in the Forbes-Morton warehouse. Electric fans and other comforts were provided for the dancers and they proved perhaps one of the most pleasant dances of the entire season. Large crowds from adjoining towns were present, and participated in the dancing. The music was furnished by "Tar Baby's Five," Carolina's own, and to say it was splendid would be expressing it in a mild form, it was great and thoroughly appreciated by the large number of dancers.

Germany doesn't favor plans regarding the disposition of Upper Silesia. That was to be expected, for that country isn't favoring anything it can of.

What else will London have before getting back to normal. A water famine is threatened now, but maybe it won't prove quite so serious as other troubles.

Samuel Gompers says he is sure his election will bring no comfort to Hearst or Gary. That may be so, but the time may come when they will.

So long as nearby streams continue to furnish plenty fish, and the farms food, we should worry about the panic and shortage of money.

It is said a great international syndicate will control American trade with Russia. That may be so, but when other concerns find it is a paying proposition the syndicate will have plenty company, no question about that.

Pretty soon the boys will begin putting by the tobacco crop, and then will begin one of the busiest periods of Pitt county farming. Housing and cutting the crop is a huge task, but folks down this way are used to it and are glad when the time comes and glad when it goes.

Pitt county farmers may not have so very much money at this time, but they are producing food crops, which will be equivalent to money in the future. The farmer that plants surplus acreage in food crops will get the best the market has to offer, while the fellow who planted normal acreage will get it in the neck.

The administration is trying to provide ways and means of helping the farmer over the most serious troubles in years. In fact, a large appropriation may be granted at an early date, which should make things much easier, although not quite so easy as some would have it. The period of inflation ruined many a hard working man but the period of depression will help bring him to his senses, that's an assured fact.

Samuel Gompers and his entire administration has been returned to office. This shows work of the head of the American Federation of Labor has been very satisfactory, regardless of criticism from many sources. Mr. Gompers, it is true, has made many mistakes, but when considering the enormous tasks that faced his administration during the war, everyone must admit he did as well as could be expected. The labor problem has been one of the most serious before the American public for years, and it is very gratifying that services of Mr. Gompers are to be retained through reconstruction period.

Road building programs now being instituted in various counties of the State are very commendable indeed and indicate that the entire State will be connected by good roads in the next several years. Bad roads have been exceedingly detrimental to business in this section of the country for years, and it is to be expected that quite an increase will take place when the roads are completed. Good roads helped to increase business up north to no little extent, and consequently that part of the country enjoys the most extensive trade of any locality. The South is awakening to the great issues at hand and it is natural to expect things to change considerably after hard surfaced roads are completed.

Reports say Lloyd George is gradually losing popularity in England, but they are not to be considered seriously because the able statesman has a hold on public sentiment that will require more than reports to weaken. He has been a leading figure in all great issues since ending of the war, and it isn't to be expected that his followers will renounce him during a period when the very best brains are needed to prevent accentuated conditions such as have threatened the country for many months. The premier's cabinet handled the most important issues of the nation in a most commendable way, therefore, it is not probable he will be abandoned before the nation passes through reconstruction.

Senate leaders plan to put tax revision ahead of tariff. The decision will be considered with favor in all sections, as taxation has been a sore subject for many months. The Senate could do nothing better than provide for necessary reductions. Times are hard and people are having a difficult time existing without excessive taxation.

Mary Pickford at last has been granted a divorce from Owen Moore. Movie fans will receive the information with pleasure, as it may help Mary to give them a better class of pictures in the future. The little screen star has been a great favorite with the American public, but like all people, she has had her troubles and little chance to enjoy the notoriety.

'T WAS A BLESSING TO ME, DECLARES NORFOLK WOMAN

Her Condition Now and Month Ago Is Different As Day Is From Night

"There is as much difference between my condition now and what it was a month ago as there is between daylight and darkness," said Mrs. C. L. Liverman, 1617 Claibourne Ave., Norfolk, Va., while telling of her remarkable recovery by taking Taniae. "I was a confirmed dyspeptic and had been a sufferer from stomach trouble in all its forms for five years. What I ate did me more harm than good, no matter how careful I was about my diet. Finally my nerves gave way, I was restless day and night and I shudder now when I think of the awful headaches I used to have. Sometimes they almost drove me distracted. I got so miserable and worried I lost heart and just moped around the house with no hope of ever being any better.

"This was my condition when I began taking Taniae exactly four weeks ago, and now I am as well and strong as I ever was in my life. In fact I never have had such an appetite as I have now. Why, I eat anything I please and never feel the slightest distress afterwards. I sleep sound and peaceful all night long and wake up in the morning feeling just as bright as a girl. It certainly was a blessing to me that I found Taniae."

This unusual warm weather coming so early in the year has greatly increased the length of the fly season this year, and flies are the greatest distributors of typhoid. ## KINSTON WINS SECOND GAME FROM GREENVILLE, SCORE 12 TO 6

Locals Completely Outclassed by Jim White's Robins Yesterday, Who Made it Two Straights. Locals Outhit Visitors, But Were Unable to Hit Opportunely Except in the Sixth Inning

In a game featured by heavy hitting of both clubs Kinston yesterday afternoon won the second game of the series from Greenville by the score of 12 to 6. To say that the contest was reverted into a slugging match by the visitors would be expressing the matter mildly. They simply took advantage of Webb's wildness in the first and second frames and put the game on ice before the locals even had an opportunity of trying out with the willow.

Kinston started things off in the very first inning by waiting for bases off balls, and hit batsmen, which combined with wild throwing, let in four runners off two hits to begin with. The second inning was simply a repetition, the visitors securing the same number of runs and hits. Webb absolutely couldn't find the plate nor prevent hits when they resulted in runs, so Kinston continued to increase their lead by sending runners to the checking station in the third, fifth, sixth and ninth innings, getting a total of ten hits against Greenville twelve.

Greenville had five errors charged against them. While two of them proved costly, it cannot be said the remainder gave the Robins any decided advantage. They simply lined the old pill out for clean hits, and either scored on wild throwing or timely hitting. It was a cinch for them from the beginning and Manager Jim White didn't fail to take advantage of it. The umpire, of course, helped to accentuate things occasionally by rank decisions on both sides. It appeared though as if he wanted to favor Kinston in the matter of balls and strikes and that made numbers of hearty supporters "firing" mad.

Greenville succeeded in sending a runner to the checking station in the first frame when Stringfield, first man up, lined the old apple to right field for three bases, later scoring on Webb's sacrifice fly to the right garden. They rallied every inning with a hit or so, but absolutely failed to send other runners across the rubber until the fifth and sixth frames. The sixth half looked good to weary, eyeladen fans lined along the bleachers and in the grandstand, too, for a total of five clean hits four runners were sent home. Further scoring was threatened during the same inning, but as always inability to hit when hits meant runs proved Kinston's victory.

The locals, however, secured a total of twelve hits and six runs. They were also credited with five errors, which is about the usual number for such a game, even if the score isn't quite so large. The infield worked to perfection in last stages of the exhibition, but somehow the outfielders couldn't help from dropping long flies to save their lives. The easiest kind of fly proved the most difficult, and Kinston as a result found it the easiest thing in the world to send runners to the checking station with a clean registration.

C. White, D. Kuyk and Johnson came in for honors with the willow for the visitors, but the first getting four hits out of six trips to the plate and also two runs. The second secured three bingles out of six trips up also registering three of the twelve runs. The third made it two hits and two runs out of six times up, which is an average most any player would like to have credited to him.

Stringfield led for Greenville with three hits and two runs out of four times up, one hit being a triple. Kittrell won second place with one run and two hits out of four times up. Carson, Webb, Fogelman and Ratchford also came in for honors, each getting one single, with exception of Ratchford and J. Webb who banded out two.

NEW BERN WINS GOOD GAME FROM WASHINGTON CLUB

By Pure Luck the New Bern Team Defeated Jeannette's Cellarites Yesterday

New Bern, June 28.—Today's game at Ghent Park was one of the best of the entire season so far in the league season, and but a bare 500 people were on hand to see it. Carl Jeannette's Sailor boys came within an ace of beating the Bears, but it seemed that luck was against him. The final score was 1 to 0. It was a pitcher's battle between Stanly Johnson of New Bern and Baird for the Sailors, who are among the top-notchers of the circuit. The only run of the game was scored in the 4th inning. Hits were exceedingly few and in most instances far between on both sides. Washington came near sewing up the game in the seventh. Jeannette doubled and Grubb walked. Wood sacrificed both runners. Rowland frantically tried to connect but Johnson had his measure and he fanned. Baird hit a pretty one down the left field line which was called a foul, and a moment later smacked to short left. A splendid running catch by Duncan of this hit featured the side and saved the game. Features of the game were three snappy double plays and a spectacular bare handed catch of a hot liner over short by Huffstetter.
