

COMPLETE EQUIPMENT FOR GREENVILLE WHITE WAY TO BE PURCHASED HERE NEXT MONDAY BY MEMBERS OF COMMITTEE

Resolution Looking to Purchase of Necessary Material and Equipment Adopted at Meeting of Committee Members at Chamber of Commerce Yesterday; Dickinson Avenue Not to be Included in System, But May Come Later; System to Extend Over Evans Street Between Fifth and Third and on Fifth Street From Five Points to End of Pavement.

All necessary material and equipment for the Greenville white way will be purchased next Monday and installation will be rushed to completion immediately after the material arrives, according to a resolution adopted by members of the White Way committee in session at the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon.

The committee soliciting subscriptions on Dickinson avenue failed to secure a sufficient amount to make installation of the White Way possible on this thoroughfare, and it was decided by the committee to install the lights in other sections first and let installation on Dickinson avenue come at a later date, or when sufficient funds have been secured.

The White Way will extend along Evans street between Third and Fifth streets and on Fifth street from Five Points to end of the pavement, and the committee having this work in charge will purchase all necessary equipment for this part of the system at the meeting Monday when bids will be let to competitive concerns.

Merchants and property owners along the streets over which the new system will extend are enthusiastic over the proposition, and it was through their liberality that Greenville is able to purchase the splendid equipment. It was the purpose of the canvassers to install the entire system at one time, but as this can't be done they mean to make available funds go as far as possible and give the city the advantage of the great improvement.

The committee handling the White Way is composed of H. A. White, chairman; W. L. Best, R. L. Crow, P. L. Clodfelter, J. E. Winslow, E. G. Flanagan and W. H. Dall, Jr.

MABE IS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT

H. D. Mabe Elected Captain and C. B. Willard Foreman at Meeting of Fire Department Last Night

Election of officers and disposition of regular routine business featured the first meeting of the new year held by the Greenville Fire Department last night. The meeting was one of the interesting in many months, and many things looking to improvement of the company were discussed at great length.

DR. WALDO SPEAKS BEFORE STUDENTS AT LOCAL COLLEGE

President of Western Normal of Kalamazoo, Mich., Delivers Informal Address to Teachers

At East Carolina Teachers college last night Dr. D. B. Waldo, president of Western State Normal of Kalamazoo, Michigan, charmed his audience with a fine, informal talk instead of giving a learned address on pedagogy. It was full of fine thought, wisdom and wit and showed that the speaker was a man of rich experience. He broke the ice as soon as he arose to speak, by his friendly manner and the kind things he had to say about his day in Greenville and on the campus. He proved that he was just as much interested in people and things here as the students were interested in things from his section.

He said that years ago he determined to see as much as he could of the south and thought perhaps that had something to do with this visit. He spoke of the days when the two sections of the country were divided, when people in the north did not appreciate Lee, or those in the south admire Lincoln. He declared that the people of Michigan today consider Lee one of the greatest men since the beginning of the history of the country; they admire the military genius of Stonewall Jackson and have increasing respect for Jefferson Davis. Each side realizes the other side was sincere in the cause for which it fought.

ALLEGED WHISKEY MAKERS ARE SENT TO COUNTY ROADS

Dorcas Ward and Stephen Lehoe, Alleged to Have Fired on Raising Party, Take an Appeal

Dorcas Ward and Stephen Lehoe, white men of the Pactolus community, charged with shooting Constable J. S. Fleming during a raid on a still during the holiday season, were given a hearing before Judge Lewis G. Copper, in county court here yesterday afternoon and sentenced to 18 months each on the county roads. Notice of appeal to superior court was immediately filed by attorneys, bond being fixed at $500 each.

It was alleged the two defendants were operating a still in the Pactolus community and fired on Officer Fleming and others members of a raiding party endeavoring to capture the outfit. Fleming was painfully injured, and it is probable all members of the party would have been killed if they had not fled in terror.

The officers declared at the time that they recognized Ward and Lehoe, and said there were other parties at the still they did not recognize. This fact was vigorously denied by both defendants in the hearing yesterday, but they didn't have enough evidence to substantiate their story. The officers told their story in a plain, straightforward way, as in the preliminary hearing before Magistrate E. F. Tyson some time after the shooting occurred, and considered their escape short of a miracle. The case was continued from Judge Tyson's court to county court.

The officers were greeted by a storm of bullets and gun shot when they attempted to enter the clearing where the still was located, it was stated shortly after the incident occurred, and were forced to flee for life. It was when seeking cover from the hail of bullets that Constable Fleming was wounded.

The outcome of the case is being watched with considerable interest, as this is the first time in many months that officers of the law have been fired upon by members of the blackfacing traffic.

ANNIE SMITH CASE TO BE POSTPONED UNTIL APRIL TERM

Case Against Board of Trustees of City Schools Not to Come Up Next Monday

The case of Annie Smith against trustees of the Greenville public schools for not admitting her children to classes because of alleged negro ancestry, which was to have come up for hearing next Monday morning, has been postponed until April 24th, by request of attorneys for the plaintiff, according to an announcement made in court circles here yesterday.

No reason for deferring the case was given out with the request for postponement, but it is generally presumed that the plaintiff desires more time for considering the facts at hand. No new developments have taken place since mandamus proceedings were instituted several weeks ago, and it is hardly probable anything will occur before the hearing in April.

Members of the board of trustees of the city schools have not changed their position from that presented in the answer to the notice of suit, and from all indications the issue will stand as it is until the day of the hearing.

FIVE DEEDS OF TRANSFER FILED SINCE YESTERDAY

The following deeds of transfer have been filed in the office of the register of deeds for registration since reports of yesterday afternoon:

Blaney Stocks to W. J. Wyatt and wife, consideration $2600; W. D. Whitehurst and wife to B. C. Bernhill, consideration $1200; Albion Dunn, commissioner to Mary Teel, consideration $1850; W. L. Hall, et al. to Sallie Williams, consideration $1200; I. B. Oakley to T. W. Long, consideration $10.

TOBACCO MARKET RE-OPENS TODAY AFTER HOLIDAYS

Sales Completed in About an Hour After Opening; Prices Showed Greater Strength

The Greenville tobacco market reopened following the holiday season this morning with probably the lightest sales of the season. All houses were able to clear their floors of the day's offerings within an hour after the opening, with everything passing off smoothly.

The price situation was all that could be expected. Good tobacco as usual brought prices in proportion to cost of production, and it is quite probable prices of other grades showed greater strength than the closing day. Tobaccoists are looking forward to an early improvement in prices, but sales are expected to be light the remainder of the season.

GREAT PROGRESS SHOWN IN REPORT OF NATIONAL BANK

Twelve Percent Dividend Declared at Annual Meeting of Stockholders; Has $50,000 Surplus

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the National Bank of Greenville was held this morning in the office of the bank, with 658 shares represented. The meeting was called to order by President J. L. Little, and after the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting Cashier F. J. Forbes read his report to the stockholders based on the condensed statement of the bank for December 31st, 1921, the figures of which have appeared in this paper the last few days. The report of the cashier further showed that net earnings of the bank the past year were $11,980.00, a fraction above 12 percent. Of the earnings a dividend of 8 per cent had been ordered by the directors and checks for this were distributed to the stockholders. After paying this dividend the bank has a surplus of $50,000 and undivided profits of $12,130.84, making a total of $62,130.84. The deposits are $1,100,862.92 and total resources $1,296,539.76.

President Little supplemented the report of the cashier with a statement as to the character of securities by the bank in making loans and the conservatism with which the business of the institution has been conducted. Taking in consideration that the past year was a hard one for making money, the net earnings of the bank are most remarkable. Besides the splendid showing in surplus and undivided profits, the bank at this time does not owe a dollar for borrowed money and has been able to provide all funds for making loans. The policy of the bank, while being conservative, has been liberal in aiding business enterprises and extending loans.

GRIFFITH ELECTED PROVISIONAL HEAD OF IRISH REPUBLIC

Founder of Sinn Fein Party Elected as Successor of Eamon De Valera by Dail Eireann; Members of Cabinet Also Named After De Valera and Adherents Had Been Requested to Leave Hall, Which They Did Followed by Many Members; President and Cabinet Constitute Provision Government of Free Irish State.

Dublin, Jan. 10.—Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein party, was today elected president by the Dail Eireann, succeeding Eamon De Valera, whose resignation was accepted by the party yesterday.

Griffith announced that the cabinet of foreign affairs would be in charge of Gaván Duffy; finance, Michael Collins; defense, Richard Mulcahy; other affairs, E. Duggan; local government, Deputy Cosgrave; economics, Deputy Higin.

The president and his cabinet constitute the provisional government of the Irish free State. De Valera and adherents bolted, and were not allowed to remain in the house while the vote on Griffith was being taken. Accompanied by fifty-five adherents, he left the hall and failed to reappear.

PROMINENT GERMANS GIVE VIEWS ON PROBLEMS CONFRONTING EUROPEANS

Need for Understanding Between Great Britain, France and Germany is Emphasized—Tentative Do Not Fancy Agreement in Which Either France or England is Left Out

(By International News)
Berlin.—The need for an understanding between Great Britain, France and Germany in the interest of the reconstruction of Europe, recently advocated by Winston Churchill, Great Britain's Colonial secretary, brings forth interesting comment from prominent German leaders.

International News Service is herewith able to present the views of these men. With the exception of Field Marshal von Hindenburg all of the men approached gave expressions. They follow:

Field Marshal von Hindenburg—Do not intend to express any opinion. General Ludendorff—My previous utterances show that I share Mr. Churchill's views, but I fear the realization of the project in question seems almost hopeless.

If the bull weevil is as great as the scare prevailing in this section, then he's going to be something to think about, and we wouldn't fool you.

Pitt county is getting its experience in robberies now, but if they are not more serious than those so far reports we should consider ourselves very fortunate indeed.

Equality with the north in tariff legislation is demanded by representatives of the south. Impressing the Republican party with the seriousness of the matter is another thing, however, regardless of demands.

The Greenville tobacco market reopened today for the last half of the season under favorable conditions, and it is very likely the remainder of the season will see prices take a favorable turn upwards. The price situation, however, has been mighty favorable this season considering conditions and very few farmers are not able to get their heads above the water that threatened to submerge them months ago.

The wave of lawlessness is gaining such serious proportions in this country at the present time that some action must be taken to bring about a change. Authorities are as vigilant as ever, but it seems people are more unsettled and discontented than ever before. If the situation doesn't improve the law must throw a dragnet around suspected criminals and place them in such position that crime will no longer be possible among them, although certain elements are uncontrollable.

Fourth street near the ravine could be made one of the best looking streets in the city if improved, and it is hoped the next movement for beautifying the city will affect all property in this part of the city. There are many property holders living in this part of town who would feel more like paying their taxes if the streets were properly improved, and it is up to the city to get busy and see what can be done in this direction. It's a pity for such valuable property to have such poor streets running through it, and it is perfectly natural for residents to protest against such conditions as now exist.

Better rural homes should be a slogan among farmers in this country. In many sections the visitor is surprised at the small, uncomfortable homes with large automobiles parked in the yards or under sheds. The fact is, more money is expended for automobiles than homes, and not until this condition is removed can our farming communities expect to be as prosperous as desired. We need some of the thrifty spirit of our western and northern friends, who can take what the south wastes and live comfortably on it. Money placed in expensive automobile should be applied towards better homes, and when this is done this will truly be one of the greatest sections on earth.

MORE RURAL HOMES.

All forward-looking men and women are agreed that our national security depends upon the further development of our rural homes, not that the producing area of the country needs to be extended at this time, but that more men and women should be placed in possession in the resources that are necessary to establish their economic independence.

Until the deep-seated causes of the present world-wide distress are removed, prosperity can not come back to us through any struggle that we make. The odds are against us. Instead of spending sleepless nights over plans for controlling the markets of hundreds of millions of people too poor to buy, why not consider plans to prevent our own people from sinking to the economic level of the people of Europe? Life in these perilous times for many, many millions in the great cities of this and other countries is most precarious. Armies and navies can not combat the forces which threaten the world today. Other means will have to be employed. Only by increasing the purchasing power of our own people and the extension of our home markets can the economic balance in this country be restored. This can most readily be done through the further development of our own natural resources, but this must be in a way which will establish the economic independence of more people.

More homes must be established, and these must be rural homes. Their existence will permanently strengthen the country's real "first line of defense," which is the happiness, contentment, and loyalty of the great common people.—Representative Wm B. Bankhead, of Alabama, whose bill in congress, H. R. 048, concerns Federal Aid to Farm Ownership.

IRISH COMMUNITY LIFE.

A few centuries ago Sir Horace Plunkett and his colleagues of the Irish Agricultural Organization Society cast their economic generalization into the minds of the Irish people. He advocated agricultural co-operation and his message was so well received, he found so many enthusiastic and disinterested helpers, that today many speak of the ideal Ireland as a co-operative commonwealth.

Already about one hundred and thirty thousand Irish farmers, and these the best, are united, in over one of these were originally started for some one particular purpose, such as butter-making, the purchase of requirements, or the sale of produce, but very soon these societies for special purposes began to change their character, to enlarge their objects, until they became what I might call general purpose societies.

If this tendency goes on, as I have no doubt it will, because it is economically beneficial, we shall find rural Ireland in the next generation with endless rural communities, each covering an area of about four or five miles around the center of business all buying together, manufacturing together, and marketing together, using their organization for social and educational as well as for business purposes.—George W. Russell, Editor, The Irish Homestead.

The Import Trade of China.

"China is entirely dependent upon foreign machinery and methods for the development of natural resources or the creation of an industrial organization," says the National Bank of Commerce in New York, in the January issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly, "and it is not surprising that there should be keen international competition for Chinese trade."

"Despite a very low average standard of living the absence of industrial development makes China a large user of foreign goods. Japan, the British Empire and the United States are the chief competitors," continues the bank, "and it is of interest to note that since the close of the war, imports into China from Great Britain and the United States have more than doubled in value while those from Japan have slightly declined. Imports have been increasing steadily in the past decade, except for the war period, and in 1920 reached a total of 762 million Haikwan taels, the equivalent of slightly over a billion dollars at the average rate of exchange for that year."

"Cotton manufactures form more than half the total of both the British and the Japanese trade and are important in the imports from the United States. In the American trade illuminating oils and tobacco are by far the most valuable items. Both Great Britain and the United States send iron and steel manufactures, machinery of all kinds, and electrical goods in considerable quantity."

FILM STAR SLEEPS IN LAFAYETTE'S BED

Scenes of "Rainbow" Mdac at Morristown, N. J.

While in Morristown, N. J., making scenes for "Rainbow," which will be shown at White's Theater on Wednesday, Alice Calhoun stopped at the Morristown hotel, which served as Lafayette's headquarters during the Revolutionary war, and was given the room in which tradition has it that the famous French general slept. In fact, Alice was told that she slept in the very bed and sat in the same chair which General Lafayette used in 1775.

Another interesting incident connected with Miss Calhoun's stay at Morristown was the renaming of a mine used for many important scenes of the production. The owners of the mine were so impressed with the actor's personality that after she had made a trip exploration through the mine they renamed the place Rainbow after the title of the production.

The story of "Rainbow" deals with the adventures of a young girl brought up by three foster fathers who are engaged in working a mine left by her father. Through the duplicity of an uncle the mine was sold and a claimant appears on the property, much to the disgust of the three daddies. After numerous dramatic situations the young girl learns that the youth is the rightful owner of the mine and prepares to surrender it to him. The youth, however, suggests they form a life-long partnership, in which the ownership of the mine shall never be disputed.

Resolved! that the year 1922 will continue to see Buick cars with more safety and all the missing gear!

Just think how much happiness it would bring if everybody could start the new year with a new Buick.

Look over the list of Buick owners in this community; you will find among them the most representative people of our city. Next to the pride that we feel in having the best automobile buy in the world, is the pride we feel in the type of people who are driving Buick Automobiles in our territory.

try are turning the corner towards better things throughout the south.

W. H. Johnson, who has been connected with the grocery department of Willard & Smith, will manage the Pender store in Greenville, and left this afternoon for Washington, in company with Mr. Moore, to fully acquaint himself with the methods of this concern. The Washington store has just recently been established and its method are similar to those employed in the daily business of seventy other stores operated by Mr. Pender in other parts of the country.

The new grocery will be located in the old Hicks building on Fourth street, which is now being remodelled, and will be ready to open to the public within the next two weeks. In the meantime, however, representatives will remain in the city getting everything in readiness for the opening day.

During the course of war 750 English and 800 French airmen saved themselves from burning balloons by means of parachutes.

RICHMOND MAN SAYS IT SURELY PUT HIM RIGHT BACK ON JOB

Schneider Was Almost Down And Out But Is Now Feeling Just Fine

"There is no doubt about it, Tanlac put me back on the job and kept me there. A short time ago I was almost down and out, but I feel just fine now," said Charlie Schneider, 1000 Randolph St., Richmond, Va.

"Stomach trouble got the best of me a good many years ago and I was going down hill steadily all the time. I was subject to bad attacks of neuralgia, too, and would have a raging headache every few days. I was always having to knock off from work on account of my poor health.

"I don't know what it is to have a pain or an ache now, and have more life and energy than in years."

Tanlac is sold in Greenville by the Greenville Drug company and leading druggists everywhere.

12 Reasons For Chiropractic Spinal Adjusting

UNCLE BEN SAYS

Common sense, Nevy does more to prevent sickness than drugs. There is no substitute for proper exercise of the brains.

- All life is transmitted by way of the spinal nerves.
- The backbone is the pipeline.
- Nature made the backbone jointed and flexible to permit bodily movement.
- The 24 movable joints of the backbone can become out of alignment from nerves at their point of exist from between the joints of the spine.

HEALTH FOLLOWS

CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

- This defective alignment of any one or more joints causes pressure upon spinal nerves at their point of exist from between the joints of the spine.
- The exist for spinal nerves is between joints. The freedom or openness of the exist depends upon each joint being in perfect alignment with the next one.
- The Chiropractor discovers this lack of alignment by the sense of touch.
- He restores alignment by an adjustment made by hand.
- The result of the adjustment is to free the nerve for the transmission of its full amount of nervous vigor.
- After the nerve is freed, Nature restores the normal condition of HEALTH.
- Neglecting the spinal condition invites dis-ease and unhappiness.
- Health is YOUR RIGHT and YOUR RESPONSIBILITY.
