CONGESTED DOCKET FACES OPENING OF CRIMINAL COURT

Number of Interesting Cases to Be Disposed of After Organization This Afternoon

JUDGE CRAMNER MAKES SPLENDID CHARGE TO GRAND JURY MEMBERS

Law Enforcement Stressed by Judge Cramner Before Members of the Court This Morning

The January term of Pitt county superior court for the trial of criminal cases convened in this city this morning with Judge E. H. Cramner of Southport presiding, and Solicitor J. H. Davis of New Bern, prosecuting. There are many cases on docket for this term, including a number of matters in which the public in all parts of the country is concerned.

The morning term was consumed entirely in getting the court organized for work and Judge Cramner's charge. The charge was one of the finest heard here in many years, and carried a direct appeal for better law enforcement. It's the duty of every citizen to support the law, Judge Cramner declared, and when this is done conditions in every community will see an improvement. Quotations from Scriptures were used to clarify the points which he wished to impress forcefully upon his hearers, and they carried great weight.

The following citizens were drawn for grand jury duty: J. N. Hart, foreman, T. E. Langley, O. W. Eakes, J. A. Mewborn, W. R. Smith, J. Harvey Briley, B. A. Highsmith, R. T. May, J. E. Jefferson, W. J. Tugwell, W. G. Clark, J. E. Meeks, R. E. Pittman, G. M. Shirley, C. C. Meeks, A. O. Beddard, W. J. Briley and H. J. Jolley.

Organization had practically been perfected by noon adjournment and this afternoon will be consumed in the hearing of jail cases. Many liquor cases are on docket and it is expected these will require more than ordinary time.

SAYS AGRICULTURE MUST RISE ABOVE ITS CHAOTIC STATE

President Issues Warning to Members of Agricultural Conference in Washington Today

INDUSTRY FACES EARLY DISASTER IN EVENT BIG CHANGE ISN'T EVIDENT

President Declares Government Must Take Hand in Helping the Farmer Overcome Conditions

(By International News)

Washington, Jan. 23.—Agriculture must be lifted from the chaotic depths of imminent disaster and placed firmly on a thriving basis by government aid if industrial and commercial America is to survive.

President Harding issued this warning to the nation today at the opening of the National Agricultural conference.

The farmer is in his hour of disaster is entitled to every support the government can give, the President told four hundred delegates who gathered from all parts of the country to attend the conference.

Matters of vital importance to the industry will be discussed by the conference during the session, and it is expected many things of benefit to the grower will be accomplished. Definite plans for the future are to be decided upon, and the President's warning will have great effect, it is believed.

LARGE CONSIGNMENTS OF GRAIN TO RUSSIA

Washington, Jan. 23.—Twelve ships carrying three billion bushels of grain have been sent to Russia for relief of the starving people in that section. It was announced by Secretary Hoover. Eighteen other vessels are now being loaded to carry another cargo.

CROWDS CLASH AT CATHEDRAL TO SEE BODY OF VATICAN

Police Forced to Resort to Unusual Measures to Force the Crowds Back From St. Peter's

TO APPOINT POPE'S SUCCESSOR DURING MONTH OF FEBRUARY

Mortal Remains of Sovereign Pontiff Dressed in Ceremonial Robes Ready For Burial

(By International News)

Rome, Jan. 23.—A conclave of cardinals to elect a successor to Pope Benedict will be held February 2, according to Ginnale Ditalia.

A clash occurred between crowds in front of St. Peter's cathedral and members of the police department when the crowd attempted to break through the cordings.

Masses for repose of the holy father's soul were changed throughout the morning before the altar in the papal death chamber, in the vatican's chapel, in the cathedral streets and all catholic churches of Rome.

The mortal remains of the sovereign pontiff dressed in ceremonial robes had been borne by whole guards from the papal chamber to the throne room to lie in state until this afternoon.

The late pontiff will be buried temporarily in the crypt today. The body will remain there until the tomb is prepared. Ordinarily, the body reposes in the crypt a year, and usually lies in state nine days after death, but the benedict had expressed wishes that his body not be embalmed.

SAYS VIRGINIA WOMEN ARE BEING DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN LEGISLATION

Washington, Jan. 23.—Charges that Virginia has discriminated against her women in many respects were made here by Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews on behalf of the legal research department of the National Woman's party. The party has opened a campaign through the south with a view of amending state laws held prejudicial to women.

GERMANY NEEDS BILLIONS CREDIT EXPERT ASSERTS

Vast Scheme Suggested Whereunder Nation Could Reconstruct Her Commerce

(By International News)

Berlin.—Given a credit of $4,000,000,000, Germany will be able to reconstruct her commerce and industry and pay her debts to the Allies, declared the German economist Parvus in a comprehensive article published by the Vorwarts.

Parvus, whose real name is Helphand, is one of the best known of German economists. He was one of the economic experts of the German delegation at the peace conference of Brest-Litovsk and was frequently sent by the Kaiser's government on foreign missions.

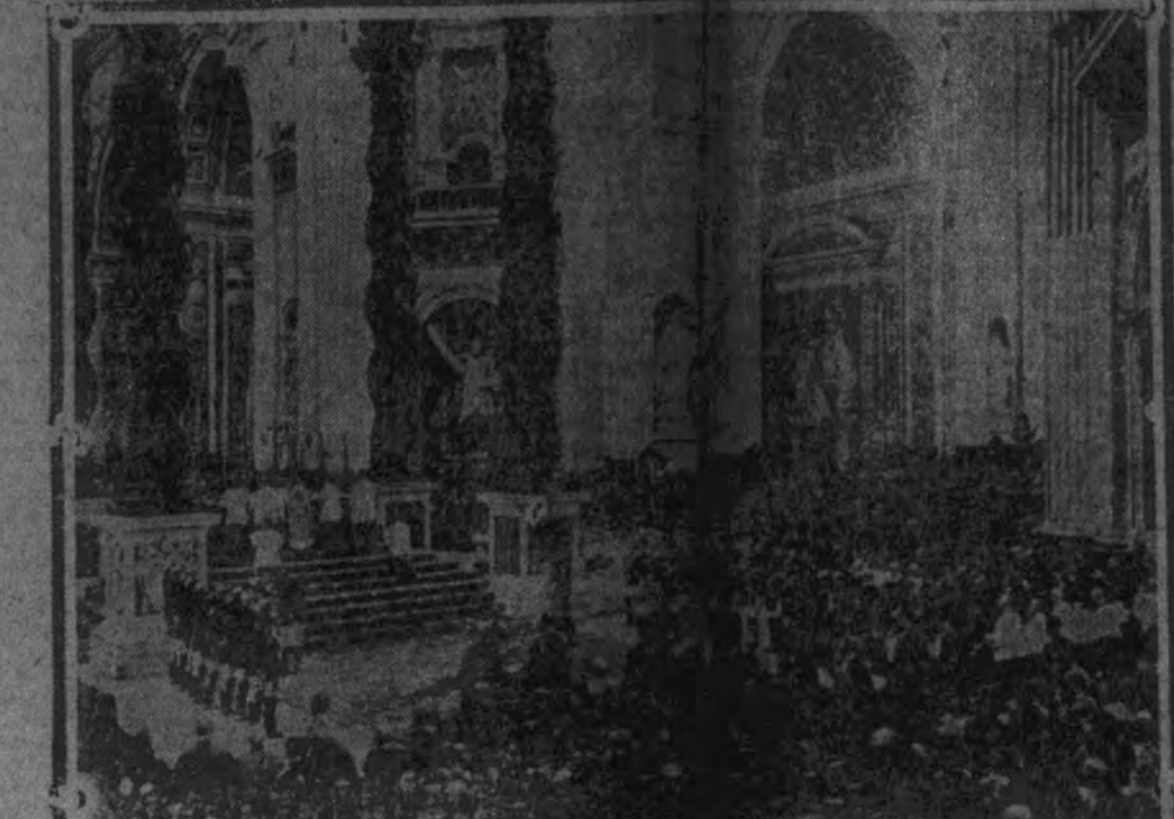

In order to furnish the necessary security for this loan, said Parvus, the German State monopolies and the big business interests must organize themselves together into a mutual credit association. Such a credit association would naturally have to face severe attacks from the money lenders.

Its properties and going enterprises will cover many times over the figure of the loan asked, and they would also provide for the interest payments.

The $4,000,000,000 credit should be used before anything else, to constitute a reserve for the German payments to the allies, in so far as they could not be met by the current revenues of the Reich. Once these payments are protected, then we could lay plans for the balancing of the budget and reform of the monetary system.

A part of the credit should immediately go for the reconstruction of the State monopolies and private industrial plants.

FIVE DAYS STUDY OF CONDITION ON SOUTHERN FARMS

Larry I. Moore of New Bern is Named as a Delegate to the Big Meeting

Washington, Jan. 23.—Five days have been allotted to the National Agricultural conference which meets here Monday to study the conditions of the farmers of the United States and to suggest remedies to meet the situation.

The program, made public today by the agriculture department showed that the present acute distress of the farmer is to be given first consideration, after which the conference will take up consideration of a permanent agricultural policy designed to avoid periods of depression such as at present face the farmers.

President Harding will open the conference Monday and will be following by Secretary Wallace who will outline the purpose of the gathering. Secretary Wallace tonight made public an additional list of delegates to the conference, including Larry I. Moore, of New Bern, N. C., a farmer.

WITHDRAWS FROM POSTMASTER RACE IN PRUETT'S FAVOR

Gilbert Issues Statement Objecting to Tactics of Republican Party and Retires From the Race

Owing to the unfair methods and tactics of the Republican machine which is making federal appointments, J. J. Gilbert, one of the three candidates in the race for postmaster of Greenville, this morning presented the public with notice of his withdrawal. In withdrawing, Mr. Gilbert, declares he does so in favor of Mr. Thomas R. Pruette, who made the highest average in competitive examinations.

Referring to the nomination of Mr. Munford by President Harding, Mr. Gilbert declares his Ayden citizenship and physical disability incapacitates him from handling mail. His statement in full follows:

To whom it may concern: This certifies that owing to the unfair, irregular and fraudulent manner in which the local endorsement of candidate for postmaster has been handled, I being promised a meeting and ballot of the county Republican executive committee as to their choice and endorsement, which meeting and ballot was not had due to manipulations of so-called leaders of the party in the county, I hereby resign my eligibility and bespeak any favor, support or chance I may have for Mr. Thomas R. Pruette, who was rated as No. 1 on the eligible register, and who is thoroughly competent and

VANCEBORO CLUB TO PLAY LOCALS TOMORROW NIGHT

Basketball Clubs to Stage What is Expected Will be Most Spectacular Contested Game of Year

BOTH CLUBS SAID TO BE IN SPLENDID CONDITION FOR INITIAL CONTEST

Double Header Friday Night With Tarboro Also Being Watched With Much Interest

Considerable interest was centered around the basketball game to be played in this city tomorrow night between the Greenville high school club and Vanceboro. The contest promises to be one of the most stubbornly fought staged here in many days, and local supporters are looking forward to game with much interest.

Coach Duncan stated this morning that his club is in splendid condition for the fray, and should be able of capturing honors without much trouble. Vanceboro, however, is said to have one of the strongest clubs in this section, and if the locals win they will be compelled to fight for every foot of ground gained.

The line-up for the game will be J. Barber, r. f.; Z. Brown, l. f.; Roy Hardee, c.; Tom Foley, r. g.; R. Williams, l. g.

Other players are Norman Winslow, Joe Mayo, Robert Mayo, Wesley Harvey, Guilford Smith and Alton Perkins.

Another game of more than ordinary interest is the double header scheduled for Friday night, in which both girls and boys will feature against Tarboro. The girls club is in excellent condition by this time, and it is believed they will be able to capture the first game of the season.

HARDING TO TAKE PART IN THE COAL STRIKE

Washington, Jan. 23.—President Harding today took a hand in an effort to get the truth of conditions in the New River coal fields in West Virginia. Secretary Davis has dispatched conciliators to investigate conditions.

qualified and a gentleman of unquestioned character, and also a world war veteran. I am informed an effort is being made to defeat senatorial confirmation of H. R. Munford on grounds of his Ayden citizenship and his physical disability, which certainly incapacitates him for the handling and distributing of letters, which is supposed to be the important function of a postmaster. Should this disqualify him, and consideration be given to the other eligibles, it would be my wish that Mr. Pruette be nominated.

This action on my part, will not affect my politics. I simply object to the methods and tactics of the machine which is making federal appointments, and do not feel that I owe any allegiance to it.

MAN WHO KILLED GEO. WOOTEN IS GIVEN LIBERTY

T. Chris Wooten Returns From Florida Trip Where He Attended the Trial

Kinston, Jan. 22.—T. Chris Wooten, attorney of this city, has returned from Florida, where he appeared for the family of George Wooten, a relative of the lawyer, who was killed by Clarence Jones, in January last year. The jury finally acquitted Jones, the state putting up a poor fight and Jones claiming self defense.

Wooten stated that the judge was not satisfied with the verdict, but did not have the power to set the verdict aside.

The body of Wooten, it seems, was badly mutilated, by a stick in Jones's hands, but the state's case was too much theory. The jury was out for most of one day, it is said. Wooten was related to a leading family near Fort Barnwell and also to other prominent families in nearby counties. He had lived in Florida for some time and leaves a widow and several children.

HENDRIK EZERMAN TO GIVE A RECITAL AT LOCAL COLLEGE

Noted Musician Arrived This Morning and Was Guest of College and Students

D. Hendrik Ezerman, the noted Philadelphia musician who is to give a piano recital at East Carolina Teachers College this evening at 8:30, arrived this morning. He was the guest of the college at luncheon today. This afternoon he tested the auditorium and the piano. Those who heard him were charmed with his wonderful playing, his beautiful, clear tones and his inspiring interpretation of the masterpieces. They were impressed by the fact that he was free from mannerisms and seemed to be just a fine man, with business-like manner, who loses himself completely in his playing.

No one should allow the weather to keep him or her from coming out this evening and getting a full evening of musical enjoyment. The public should also remember the cause for which the Poe Society is to give the proceeds and should at least contribute a good house, so the young women will have a good sum to add to the Fleming portrait fund.

Tickets will be on sale both at the Warren Drug Company and at the door.

The seats in front of the gallery are $1.00, those under the gallery are 75 cents.

SENATE MEMBERS OPPOSE PLANS TO CONFINE DEBATES

Move to Amend Rules For Debating Public Issues Ruffles the Senators

SENATOR JONES FIRST TO PRECIPITATE ISSUE AT RECENT SESSIONS

Republicans of Washington See Immediate Need For Saving Time

By L. A. FERNSWORTH International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington.—Senatorial dignity has been ruffled by the suggestion that senatorial eloquence be muzzled.

Mr. President in connection with this resolution to investigate the explosion on the battleship So-and-so, I wish to remind the Senate that the first crop in the west is facing the first crisis in its history.

That kind of speech sounds like it was lifted from the opera comique, but it is not at all a far-fetched parody on the kind of speeches spectators in the Senate galleries are often started to hear enunciated on the floor.

And the suggestion that senatorial eloquence be muzzled simply means that certain senators think speeches of that sort ought to be stopped.

Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, threw the bomb into the camp of his colleagues when he introduced a resolution providing for an amendment to the Senate rules to read:

Debate shall be confined to the question under consideration unless otherwise provided by unanimous consent.

Under the present rules a senator is privileged to talk on any subject under the sun any time he can get the recognition of the chair. That is what is called senatorial courtesy.

And very often a senator who has made up his mind to speak on a certain subject will receive recognition during the progress of a hot debate on another topic that was under consideration by a speech lasting for hours.

DANGER IN AERIALS ACCORDING TO POLICE

(By International News)

Pittsburgh.—Everybody around Pittsburgh appears to have gone "looney" over the wireless telegraph and particularly the wireless telephone. Recently a good many persons have been hitching their aerials to anything handy, including poles and overhead structures which carry high-power electric wires. The police department has issued a sharp warning against such practice, pointing out that it is dangerous to life and property. "Attach your aerials to something that does not carry heavy electric currents," warns the police department.

FAR EAST ISSUES TO BE SETTLED BY ARMS CONFERENCE

Week Beginning to Feature Grave Problems of Entire Conference, According to Leaders

SUPREME ISSUES OF FAR EAST MUST SOON BE FULLY SETTLED

China and Russia Viciously Concerned in Questions to Be Finally Decided During 11th Week

(By International News)

Washington, Jan. 23.—Decisions of grave importance in determining the future of China and Russia and the Japanese policy in the far east hung in the balance today as the Washington conference swung into its 11th week session.

In high conference circles the week starting today is regarded as one of the most important and critical of the entire conference, involving as it does the settlement of supreme issues of the far east.

ADVISES COMPANIES TO STOCK UP WITH COAL

Washington, Jan. 23.—Railroads and public utility companies throughout the country have been advised by the government to stock up to their capacity with coal before April 1st, in face of the bituminous strike which appears inevitable.

SHOULD DEVELOP THE PHILIPPINES AS A TRADE OUTPOST

Delegates of Foreign Trade Department Make Recommendations After Extensive Study

By ELLIS H. MARTIN, International News Service Staff Correspondent

San Francisco.—Development of the Philippines as an outpost of American trade in the Far East and a national movement to secure for the United States abroad adequate consulates and efficient personnel are two of the suggestions brought back from a tour of Japan, China, Straits Settlements, Dutch East Indies, French Indo-China, the Philippines and Hawaii by a large number of San Francisco business and professional men and women, and voiced by Dwight G. Grady, secretary of the foreign trade department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the "trade relations" tour.

"We found in Japan that the people of that country in commercial circles at least prized American friendship very highly," said Mr. Grady. "Wherever we went we were royally received. In this connection I can point out that America consumes 80 per cent of the silk of Japan, the basic product of wealth in that country. That in itself constitutes an inducement for the growing friendship and respect between the two countries. There are no sounder arguments of the world for friendship than the arguments which progressive commerce presents.

"From Japan the party went to China. In my opinion China offers America her greatest present opportunity.

Chinese Hospitality. "We found that wherever the Chinese dwell, be it in North China or in South China, Straits settlements or in the Philippine Islands, the Chinese eagerly went out of their way to extend hospitality to us.

"Surely where such friendship exists, and it was shown to us in many ways with receptions and extremely warm hospitality in Peking, Soochow, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Singapore and Manila it should not be difficult for properly equipped Americans handling good goods to succeed.

"From China the party went to Singapore, in the Straits settlements. There we found a few good Americans strongly entrenched and doing some business in spite of a very marked business depression.

Other delegations at the armament conference should not permit Japan to delay progress when selfish interests are involved. In fact, the conference should be completed as early as possible, and Japan or no other nation should stand in the way.

Will Hays plans to purge the motion picture of everything tending to corrupt the morals of the public. That there's plenty room for improvement goes without saying, and the post master general will find all kinds of entertainment.

The government should vigorously prosecute members of the whiskey traffic who make it their business to frequent government hospitals and sell their goods to disabled veterans. This is one of the worst and most reprehensible crimes that has been charged against traffic members, and that they will fare badly in case of apprehension is assured.

The city street commission is making every effort to improve the streets. It was stated by a member last week, no those who have endured such conditions in past months may rest assured of finding relief in the future. The city is making every effort to make such improvements, but all can't be made in a day, and time alone will see desired changes.

The farm department has made a number of experiments in cotton production the last several months, and the results of these experiments were presented the public in Saturday's edition of The Reflector. This information should be of great interest to the farmer owing to the coming of the boll weevil, and everyone should take advantage of it. Cotton production is of great importance to this section, but will never grow to great proportions until the grower takes advantage of facts gained through actual experience.

It is impossible for a newspaper to get every news happening of a community, and it's the duty of the public to cooperate and help make their home paper what they would have it. Editors and news gatherers are busy people, and it matters not how diligent they may be in trying to get all news possible, some is bound to be missed in the rush. There is no excuse for anyone taking exception when their names are omitted. In fact, this could be eliminated by phoning the office and informing us of what is happening. We desire to carry as much news as possible, so if you know anything, why not call up and inform us of what is happening. That's the duty of everybody desiring to do by the home paper as it does by them.

NEW TREASURY SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

The new issue of Treasury Savings Certificates, which was placed on sale on December 15 last, has aroused much favorable comment. These certificates, which mature in five years and sell at the rate of $80 for $100 maturity value, are offered in three denominations—$25, $100, and every certificate is registered in the name of the purchaser as a protection against loss in case of fire, theft, or other unavoidable agency. If the certificates are held to maturity they yield interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent compounded semi-annually. If redeemed before maturity, they yield interest at the rate of about 3 1/2 per cent, compounded semi-annually. Any person, firm, or corporation, or every member of a family, firm, or corporation may hold $5,000 maturity value of certificates issued in any calendar year.

"This investment," says the Providence (R. I.) Journal, "is the only one which is absolutely secured against depreciation. The certificates are not negotiable, and the treasury always stands ready to redeem them at cost and accrued interest. The treasury will have early use for the money derived from this offering, since some $300,000,000 worth of outstanding savings stamps fall due on the 1st of January, 1923. With a refunding operation in view, the old stamps will be accepted in exchange for the new issue. And the latter's increased interest rate is an invitation to carry the previous investment along."

OPEN FORUM

LAW IN GREENVILLE.

Greenville's reputation for hospitality is far-fung. Its citizenry believes in proffering the hand of friendship to the newcomer to make him feel a part of it at once. It undoubtedly believes in justice and personal freedom, remote from personal grudges and petty persecutions at the hands of those who have a shadow or more of authority.

But does its personnel always live up to those ideals of existence? Do neighbors live at peace with one another, with good will to all and malice toward none? Do those wearing the badge of authority act in their official capacities to promote the public weal impartially, seeking to prevent misdoings rather than to correct offenders after the misdeed has been done? Let us examine a recent incident for information. Verily, some clothed with mite of command delight in displaying their importance at every turn of the wheel, justice or no.

Yesterday afternoon, an officer wearing a badge shiny with recent contact of tissue paper saw fit to utter his self-expression by serving a search warrant upon an automobilist. Everything but the differential was taken apart in the effort to show the efficiency of the certain member of Greenville's police force. Nothing in the way of ardent spirits could be found. The officer's duty was done. He reluctantly permitted the driver to proceed with his lawful business.

But, here is the rub. The owner and driver of the car was not a member of Greenville's citizenry. His duties have brought him to this section and he has seen fit to make this place his headquarters in plying his legitimate trade as salesman. What was his sensation to find himself the center of a proceeding having as its nucleus the sale of illicit whiskey? He had heard of Greenville's geniality towards strangers. So this was it; an upstart's suspicion that he was a bootlegger. Where did the servant of the people get his lead? Oh, he had seen the man's car standing in suspicious places at some time or another. Hence, like Sherlock Holmes, he added two and two together and secured six. Verily, an unusual man for a town's guardian. And mark ye well, the warrant was dated a full week ahead of the time when it was issued. Well don't thou good and faithful servant. You win the non-skid buckwheat cakes.

But, soberly speaking, is that welcome to afford a person who believes Greenville is good enough for him to call home temporarily while he is making an honest living? Will our Chamber of Commerce be able to overcome the handicap of such a reputation if it once becomes general, when it seeks to interest new enterprises and home-seekers in our thriving community?

The best way for outsiders to judge a town is by the way its officials conduct themselves. Allow petty persecutions to become epidemic and the reputation of the place is as good as ruined. First, the voters must see that the right kind of officers are at the head of the town government. Next, they must insist that the law be administered, justly, fairly, at all times. But nagging persecution—never, never. When a guardian of the peace shows his incompetency (and that is nowhere better exemplified than in the futile show of authority), then must the voters come up to the scratch and demand better, more efficient men in charge, or else prepare to have their town rated very low in the estimation of their neighbors.

IS IT FOR THE FARMERS?

The following editorial from the Southern Tobacco Journal will be of interest to tobacco growers here:

You are called upon, gentlemen, to enter into an agreement with some one (God knows who). This agreement is supposed to bind you for 5 years. In this agreement you agree to pool your tobacco. That is you place your tobacco in classes with hundreds of others. This tobacco is then prepared for market, re-dried, etc. It is then stored and buyers invited to inspect, etc. Then you deliver your tobacco to be classed. You are told that you are to receive 60 per cent of the value of your tobacco, and the remainder, or what is left after it is sold and delivered. Of course you know that out of the tobacco that is sold you are to pay your proportional part of the cost of grading, re-drying, packing, insurance, taxes, etc. They tell you that expert men will attend to classification, valuation, etc. Well now stop just one minute an estimate what all this will cost. The expert grader, the appraiser, the expert re-dryer—the expert this and expert that. With a complicated system of bookkeeping—and then a great loss in weight you know that there will be a bill of charges that will stagger you. Now think again: What manner of man is he, who can possibly place a value on tobacco in advance? Did you ever think of this? If not think of it seriously now. No human being can tell what the prices of tobacco will be from one season to the other—and in the face of this fact, these promoters tell you that you will receive 60 per cent of the value of your tobacco.

Now comes the proposition of financing the proposition. Naturally those who can furnish the money will want to know how it is going to be applied—and believe us—they are surely going to know. Do you believe for one minute that banks or the government will loan money to pay for tobacco on a valuation that would in all probability be out of reason. And then again—it is going to take millions of dollars to pay other expenses. We will leave it to you to tell us where it is coming from. Another thing gentlemen, and that is, if this great scheme should be put into operation—those who are stockholders (and every man who stores tobacco is a stock holder) become speculators or dealers in leaf tobacco. Suppose the concern has several million pounds on hand to be sold. There are only a few buyers who cut a big figure. The tobacco that is for sale is of course put up in hogheads, redried, etc. One of these big concerns wants the tobacco handled and re-dried in its own way—and so do the others—and the result is that in all probability none of the tobacco is handled to the satisfaction of a possible purchaser.

Going back to the grading proposition where several hundred farmers pool their tobacco to be classed. Now gentlemen, honestly, do you for a moment believe that there are a set of men on earth that can classify tobacco to the satisfaction of all concerned.

These are only a few of the difficulties, but there are others. Farmers as a class are no different from all others in that they need their money when they earn it. It will be a sad day for many poor farmers who work hard all the year, who go in debt for his fertilizers and other supplies, when he is forced to wait indefinitely for a big part of his tobacco money. Now come on gentlemen, and think of this matter seriously. Did it ever occur to you that it would have been fairer to the farmer if this contract had been for one year instead of five. Why is this five year business? Think of it—investigate thoroughly—and when you do, you will discover "the nigger in the wood-pile."

Do you believe for a minute that a man will come from his home in California to help the tobacco farmer unless he expects big pay? Do you believe that men who are active in the business are working for nothing? You are not fools and you know better.

We are frank to say that we believe the Co-operative Market Plan as applied to nearly all farm products is a good thing. We believe that the plan is a good one, when applied to such things as farmers' produce, for immediate and direct consumption, but when it comes to leaf tobacco, all fair minded men must agree that the Auction System of selling leaf tobacco is the best way.

The fact is gentlemen, the best friend the tobacco farmer has is the Warehouseman. The tobacco warehouseman stands between the buyer and the seller, and as he gets his pay from the farmer, it is his duty to see that his patrons receive the best market prices. The tobacco farmer makes his crop, gets it in good shape, takes it to the market, places it on the warehouse floor, where all buyers can see it—and when he is supposed to receive the highest market prices. The farmer gets the market price for his tobacco for which he receives cash on the spot. This system is all that can be desired—and the very best and fairest way of selling leaf tobacco. Now gentlemen, listen to us: Just as certain as any thing can be, the present system of selling tobacco will continue. For a while there may be a departure on the part of some from the Auction system. Those who enter into the five year agreement will regret their action and those who refuse to be led into a departure from the old way of selling tobacco, will certainly be glad of their action.

To the business men of the tobacco centers of the tobacco producing sections we suggest, that they look into the proposition which is pending. A few men are putting forth every effort to destroy a system of selling leaf tobacco which would if successful work a serious injury to some of the most progressive towns and cities of the country, and at the same time would hurt the farmer, who wants all he can get for his tobacco, and who needs it when his crop is cured.

In conclusion gentlemen, what is all of this thing about any way? Here comes a man from California—crossing the continent, 3,000 miles, and as he comes he could find in some sections through which he came, corn being used for fuel, oat meal selling for 25 cents per bushel, potatoes rotting in the fields and farming conditions generally bad. He leaves all of this and comes to where grazing is good. He lands in the tobacco producing belt and proceeds to organize tobacco farmers, when in fact tobacco is selling, and has for some time been selling for good prices. Taking the quality of the crop into consideration, tobacco is selling this year for big prices. Whenever a farmer offers any thing that is at all desirable he is satisfied. Then why all of this fuss about the tobacco farmer. Now you can find "the nigger in the wood-pile."

Mr. Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, tells you about what they are doing in Canada and Maryland. Does he know that Canada produces but little more tobacco than Stokes and Rockingham Counties combined, and that the Canadian tobacco is entirely different from our tobacco. And so in the Maryland tobacco, the larger proportion of which is taken by foreign markets.

As we close this article we are receiving letters and telegrams from all sections endorsing our position.

YOUR TOWN

(In Store News)
If you want to live in the kind of a town

Like the kind of a town you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip

And start on a long, long bike; You'll only find what you left behind, For there's nothing that's really new;

Its a knock at yourself when you knock your town—

It isn't your town—it's you. Real towns are not made by men afraid

Lest somebody else gets ahead; When everyone works and nobody shirks,

You can raise a town from the dead; And if while you make your personal stake,

Your neighbor can make one too, Your town will be what you want to see.

It isn't your town—it's you.

News from Evans St. School—Primary Grades.

B Grade News.

Two little Eskimos, Egan Partin and Hazel Duke from 2A grade, visited us Thursday.

1B and 1C grade will soon have new library books bought with the Red Cross money.

Those who have been out on account of sickness are: Rex Hodges, Graham Register, James Harris, Perry King, Catherine Tyson, Janice McGowan.

1A Grade.

The children are hoping to have another holiday Friday as they are on the fourth week without having any tardies or unexcused absences.

All have been very much interested in the Eskimo work we are taking up now. They have completed their paper dealing with Eskimo life.

They halted to see six of their playmates go to the second grade. They were:

Elizabeth Applewhite, Anna Bell Aswell, Mary Balafis, Mildred Eakes, Hazel Moore, Mary Lee Williams. They were very glad to have ten new children to come in their room.

2A School News.

We have added eight new members to our grade, making us forty-one in number. Thursday we had a delightful imaginary trip to Eskimo land the little Eskimos were very interesting.

At last we earned our half holiday no tardies for a month.

Friday every one of the forty-one were present on time.

We had nineteen on the honor roll last time and would like to have forty one this time.

News of 3A Grade.

The three A grade won a half holiday last Friday by not having a tardy nor an unexcused absence for a month. This week we have had three absences. We are sorry that Dorothy White and Tyson Bilbro are so sick they cannot attend school. We hope they will soon be back.

Last Monday we went to the Model school where Dr. Driggs taught us a language game. We played circus and filled an animal tent. Since then we have enjoyed filling a bird cage and fish pond.

Our best readers chosen since last news day are: Doris Garris, Joe Dixon, Katherine Utley, Gladys DuVall, Frances Harvey Estelle Harris, Belmont Kittrell, Mary James Lipscombe.

News from 3B Grade—Evans Street School.

We are glad to know that Alberta Oakley who has been absent for several days, will soon be back in school.

We have been studying Eskimo life this month and are all interested in knowing how the Eskimos live. We each made a paper representing it.

Those who have not missed a word in spelling the past month are: Raymond Smith, Alfred Evick, Lonnie Staton, Paul Hatem, Linwood Brewer, Edith Fornes, Lillian Nelson, Bettie Fornes, Lula Mae Briley, Robert Speight, Virginia Dare Jones, Hattie Leo Nelson, Lena Morgan, John Churchill, Buster Cowell and Frances Steppe.

INCREASE IN WEIGHT!
MILLIONS of people all over the United States and Canada have not only been relieved of the most obstinate forms of dyspepsia and indigestion by the Tanlac Treatment after other remedies have failed, but many of them have reported a remarkable and rapid increase in weight and a return to normal health and strength by its use.

Although Tanlac's claims for supremacy are abundantly supported by the world's leading authorities, it is the people themselves who have really made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it with the most gratifying results and have told other millions what it has done for them.

That is THE REASON WHY Tanlac has become the real sensation of the drug trade in the United States and Canada, and that is also THE REASON WHY it is having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world today.

Tanlac is sold in Greenville by the Greenville Drug Company and leading druggists everywhere.

DENIES WORLD WAR TO BLAME FOR CRIME WAVE

New Los Angeles Chief of Police says Fighting For Country Does Not Make Crooks

Los Angeles.—"All this talk about the world war being responsible for the present crime wave in America is foolishness."

"Fighting for the honor and safety of the nation might well make a real man out of a criminal, but facing the fire of an enemy for one's country never yet has made a crook out of an honest man."

The above are the views of Colonel James W. Everington, new Los Angeles Chief of Police, on whether the horrors of warfare are fundamentally responsible for the deluge of crime which is marking the present period.

A colonel in rank for eighteen years in the army service and one of the fighters who faced the dangers of front-line service overseas, Chief Everington spoke with authority when he emphatically denied the somewhat prevalent theory that the existing spirit of lawlessness is a psychological reaction from the horror of war.

Crooks Simply Lazy.
"There have undoubtedly been a few men able to make quick and easy money during the war who, since peace was declared, have sought to continue their lazy modes of living through various forms of crooked enterprises," said the new chief to an International News Service representative. "But it would be obviously unfair and untrue to blame the war for the creation of this class. They existed before the war was ever declared."

"In Los Angeles, the same as in other very large cities of the nation, we have to contend with quite a large class of criminals and near criminals. This is no way reflects upon the city, however. It is merely that the same sunshine which attracts the millionaire tourist also attracts the desperado. Then, too, the grafters always follow closely upon the heels of the rich traveler."
The new chief is said to have had no backing from any political faction of prominent citizens, but was named solely because of his fine record as an organizer.
