LOCAL MINISTER FLAYS LAWLESS IN SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. V. P. Scoville Delivers Powerful Sermon on Lawlessness as It Prevails Today

DECLARES MOB SPIRIT SHOULD BE DISCOURAGED BY ALL GOOD CITIZENS

Officers of Law and Citizens Should Join Together in an Effort to Do Away With Crime

A timely sermon on the "Menace of Lawlessness" was delivered by Rev. V. P. Scoville, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church last Sunday night.

Mr. Scoville used as his text: "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people."

"One of the essential differences between a civilized people and a barbarous people is that the one is under some form of government whose laws are based upon principles of righteousness and justice between man and man," declared Mr. Scoville.

"To state the difference in a word among all truly civilized peoples, right makes might. While among all other people might makes right."

"A due regard for law and its impartial enforcement is a fundamental principle of good citizenship. The individual who is lawless either in sentiment or deed is a dangerous citizen."

In referring to the mob spirit that is playing an ascendant part in many communities today, and which should (Continued on page 3)

The fire department was saved a mighty uncomfortable trip last night when Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Dixon extinguished a fire discovered on their back porch between three and four o'clock.

Mrs. Dixon smelled something burning when the family retired about 11 o'clock, but failed to find evidence of a fire after thoroughly searching the house.

WILSON CAMPAIGN MAKING PROGRESS IN THIS SECTION

Numbers of People Have Contributed to Woodrow Wilson Foundation Movement

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation campaign is making splendid progress in this county, according to an announcement made this morning by J. C. Gaskins, register of deeds of Pitt county, who was recently appointed head of the local movement by Mrs. Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh.

So far a number of communities have responded in a liberal way, Mr. Gaskins said, but there are yet several towns to be heard from. It is hoped as many of these as possible will report during the next few days, as every effort will be made to bring the campaign to a close the latter part of this week or the first of next.

The great part which former President Wilson played in the interest of civilization should inspire everyone to give liberally to the foundation movement, as it is one of the most direct ways of showing genuine appreciation.

FEDERAL RESERVE IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DEPRESSED CONDITION

(By International News) Washington, Jan. 24.—Partial responsibility for depressed conditions in agriculture were laid at the door of the Federal Reserve board and bankers this afternoon by Wesley Mitchell, New York economist, in addressing the national agricultural conference today. The post war price rise would have been more moderate, he said, if the Federal reserve board had raised rediscount rates earlier.

PRECEDENTS PLAY UNUSUAL PART IN CRIMINAL COURT

Judge Crammer Sets Wheels of Justice Moving by Establishing Two Precedents in Succession

NIGHT SESSIONS TO BE IN ORDER DURING THE REMAINDER OF TERM

Grand Jury Also Ordered to Inspect City Schools During Investigation of County Officers

The criminal term of Pitt county superior court got down to work in earnest yesterday afternoon and established a precedent in this section by continuing with a session last night. The night session will continue the remainder of the term, it is understood, because of the congested condition of the docket, and it is expected that by the end of the week many cases will have been disposed of. Several true bills were returned and a few important cases were disposed of during the two sessions yesterday, and up until the noon hour today work had continued smoothly and without only slight interruption.

It is very evident by the sentences given the two defendants in Negro cases already heard that members of the illicit whiskey traffic are going to fare badly in this term of court. In fact, Judge Crammer left this impression following his charge to the grand jury, and the public is looking forward expectantly to the outcome of the many cases on docket.

Another precedent established by the court this term is in the inspection of public schools to be made by members of the grand jury by order of the presiding judge. This is the first time in history of Pitt county court, so far as known, that influence of the court has been so far-reaching and effective, and it is expected the community will derive great benefit from the action. Judge Crammer believes the court should be used for the good of everything in which the public is interested, and it is with this end in view that members of the grand jury visited public schools today, and will incorporate in their report to Judge Crammer a true statement of conditions as they find them. The same applies to all county officers, and as a result great good should be accomplished.

In the session last night Respass Flowers, charged with selling contraband whiskey, was found guilty and sentenced to 12 months on his county roads. Jacob West, indicted on the same charge, was also found guilty and sentenced to 18 months on the roads. S. D. Hooker, charged with assault with deadly weapon and also disorderly conduct, was found guilty in both issues, and fined $25, with judgment being suspended in the other case on payment of costs.

Yesterday the following true bills were returned: Silas Nobles, assault with deadly weapon; Spurgeon Cannon, larceny; James Atkinson, grand larceny; S. Revilers, peddling without license; Andrew Green, larceny and receiving stolen goods. Anthony Coward, larceny; John Cradle, larceny; Will Brown, larceny; Brown failed to appear whereupon bond was ordered forfeited.

Jack Best was found not guilty of larceny.

Dorcas Ward, charged with assault with deadly weapon and manufacturing whiskey, was required to give $1,000 bond for his appearance in court for trial today.

Walter Tripp, charged with false pretense, pleaded not guilty and was adjourned to next session.

Japan's Refusal to Withdraw Troops From Siberia Accentuates Conditions Exceedingly

American Attitude Toward Siberia to Be Definitely Outlined by Secretary Hughes

(By International News) Washington, Jan. 24.—Japan's refusal to withdraw troops from Siberia from the position expected to bring the Siberian issue up early, it was conceded this morning by conference officials. An effort will be made for some tentative date of evacuation, but this is doubtful, it was stated. American attitude toward Siberia may be outlined today in a secret session by Secretary Hughes. Other issues will be temporarily set aside by the important questions to be considered relative to Siberia, it is understood, and the conference may be prolonged more than at first expected.

(By International News) Rome, Jan. 24.—The traditional nine days funeral ceremonies for the late Pope Benedict began this morning when mass was celebrated by senior members at St. Peter's cathedral.

Burial of the pontiff will not take place until tomorrow, it was stated definitely this morning. The body will remain in state upon the catafalque of St. Peter's until the noon hour.

Mechanical preparations for the conclave were begun when Masons commenced the erection of walls which will seal up the room in which the papal election will be conducted within the next few days.

BRITISH CLAIM HONORS IN MAKING FIRST MOVE FOR WORLD NAVAL CUT

Admiral Halls Says England Quietly Began to Reduce Navy, But With Eye to Safety

By EARL C. REEVES. International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London.—That Britain took the initiative toward a naval holiday, and that she was acting quietly but most effectively is cutting her navy to the minimum consistent with safety long before the Washington conference was thought of, is the claim of Admiral Sir Reginald Hall, who was director of admiralty intelligence during the war.

Britain, in his view, cannot contemplate a warlike state for the world for some time to come, if ever. But he is emphatic in declaring Britain led the world along the path that leads to disarmament.

"No matter how horrible we make war for some time, it does not necessarily follow that we shall succeed in putting an end to it," Admiral Hall added. "Nothing, I am afraid, will stop war or the making of the vicious engines of war, although the last war most certainly did much to make all peo-

DEMOCRATS PLAN FIGHT TO SECURE SEATS IN SENATE

Congressional Campaign to Be Launched With Dinner at Dayton, O., Tomorrow Night

JAMES M. COX WITH SENATOR HARRISON TO BE LEADING FIGURES

Plans to Be Outlined Whereby Republicans May Be Ousted From House and Senate

(By International News) Washington, Jan. 24.—Democratic leaders intend to start a congressional campaign with dinner at Dayton, Ohio, tomorrow night, it was learned today.

James Cox, unsuccessful presidential candidate in the last election, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, will be central figures.

The dinner, while held ostensibly to launch the candidacy of Senator Pomerehne of Ohio for re-election, is expected to result in Democratic leaders to outline some definite issues on which to wrest from Republicans seats in the House and Senate. Democratic National Chairman Cordell Hull, George Whitta, and Joseph P. Tumulty, will be probably speakers, it was stated this morning by those well acquainted with conditions.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN KINSTON CAUSES A LOSS OF $300,000

Wipes Out Modern Office Building With Practically Total Loss to Thirty-Odd Tenants

Fire, which is believed to have started in the elevator shaft of the Hunter Building shortly after 7 o'clock, burned itself out about 13 o'clock last night, leaving the Hunter Building at total loss, with the office of Dr. Hardy a partial loss and the store of Pittman practically a total loss, only the walls standing. Estimated last night the loss at no less than one quarter of a million dollars, with less than one hundred thousand dollars insurance to cover. Although no lives were lost, several firemen were quite badly bruised and one fire fighter, Will Conway, suffered a dislocated hip and other internal injuries. He was knocked off of a roof in the rear of the Hunter Building and was reported from the Parrott Memorial Hospital last night as resting well. His exact injuries were not known last night.

The Rev. Dwight A. Ball, Universalist minister here was also a victim of the fire, suffering a lacerated nose and a cut on the forehead. Last night he was reported as resting well and his injuries only slight. No others were injured to speak of but wonder was that more were not caught in the falling walls.

Burning Brightly. When the fire was discovered the whole elevator shaft was brightly burning and the third story was well lit from the fire in the inside, while the flames were pouring out of the top of the building through the roof in a mass of flames that were seen for miles. The fire demon ate rapidly and by 8 o'clock the whole building was a mass of flames. Nothing was saved from the offices in the building and damage by water was serious to buildings near by.

Alfred Tucker Improving

Alfred Tucker, son of Mr. H. D. Tucker of Winterville, who recently underwent an operation at Richmond, Va., for blood poisoning, is greatly improved, according to a message received by relatives here yesterday.

HENDRIK EZERMAN PLEASES IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE

Noted Musician Thrilled in Brilliant Recital at Teachers College Last Night

PROGRAM REMARKABLY WELL ARRANGED AND OF INTEREST TO EVERYONE

Musician Encores Several Times During the Program and Responded in Happy Vein

The piano recital at East Carolina Teachers College last night by D. Hendrik Ezerman was a brilliant success. His playing was wonderful. As he passed from heavy rich tones, to sparkling, light passages, and then to calm serene moods he carried his audience with him. The world of feeling and the world of tone became one. His interpretations were marvellous, his stage presence very pleasing, and free from all mannerisms, and his technique clean and fine.

In spite of the inclement night there was a fairly good audience and one that was very appreciative. The Poe Society is to be congratulated on the fact that the evening was a success in every way and the public owes them a debt of thanks for bringing so great a musician to Greenville. The cause for which they are working, the Fleming portrait fund is a popular one, and it is to be hoped that the full amount will soon be raised.

The program was remarkably well arranged. It opened with "Rhapsodie in G Minor," by Brahms, and this was followed by "Fantaisie in C Major, first movement," by Schumann a beautiful melody with fine interpretation. Then came a group of modern French compositions two from Debussy, the first of which, was imaginative, light and fantastic, and the other, Mrs. Simpson's "Lullaby Water." The third in the group was "The Lullaby of Focson," by Ravel, a piece in excellent harmonies. Although most of the audience was perhaps unfamiliar with this modern music they seemed to enjoy it, as the novelty first appealed and then they soon caught the spirit.

Mr. Ezerman changed the program in several places. As the fourth number he played instead of Liszt's Sonata his Polonaise. This with its heavy tones and strong, marked rhythm, and its ringing jollity, with the middle section light and clear as a bell, charmed the audience.

Next came one of Chopin's little known nocturnes, which was calm and peaceful and restful. Then came the beautiful arrangement of the Wagner theme of "Isold's Love Death." Next the familiar "Scherzo in B Flat Minor," by Chopin, danced and spritly along.

The pianist announced that the imagination should have full reign in following the last group. Verdi's wonderful theme, with all of Liszt's master mind for ornamentation turned loose in the phrase, was played with finished technique and showed that the musician was the splendid master of it.

The audience called the pianist back and he gave two extra numbers. First, the familiar "Berceuse," one of the most exquisite of all the compositions from the great Chopin, and then the Scherzo from Weber, which was bright and full of life, and Mr. Ezerman's fingers tripped over the keys as if he enjoyed playing it.

Throughout the evening Mr. Ezerman played with such ease and enjoyment that nothing seemed difficult, there was no effort to impress the audience, and he lost himself and all else in his art, carrying his listeners with him into the mood and spirit of the artists.

It was one of the greatest concerts even given in Greenville. Mr. Ezerman seemed to enjoy his visit to the school and the town, and both enjoyed him and his wonderful music.

President Harding is planning to improve farm conditions in the south. This information will be received with pleasure, but won't carry much weight until further developments take place.

An effort is on foot to develop the Philippines for American trade, according to information made public by government officials. That's all right so long as we are not called on the grant further loans.

Greenville's white way is attracting attention from far and near. That the town is to derive great benefit from the project is assured. Such light systems are of great value to every community and denote a spirit of thrift more than any other thing.

The administration evidently means to forget virtually all promises made during campaign days as recent action has shown. While this has been extremely disappointing to job hunters at the pie counter, there are numbers who like to see the disorderly behavior it will strengthen the Democratic party.

People who have not paid up their white way obligations should do so at once and help the committee get position to meet its debts whenever they become due. The system is something everyone will be proud of, and those who have subscribed to it are to be congratulated upon their spirit of loyalty and liberality.

Fertilizer manufacturers have started a war on Henry Ford's plan to lease Muscle Shoals, claiming that it will be impossible for him to produce more favorable conditions. While that may be, most of people are in favor of giving Ford a chance at making good, and that's what everyone deserves.

Virginia women think they are being discriminated against by certain forms of legislation now effective in that State. That's nothing. North Carolina shippers were discriminated against by railroad companies operating in Virginia, so the women should expect to fare any better. The shippers won through amendment of the law, and the women must through the same kind of changes.

Pitt county planters should be careful this year and plant adequate food crops instead of so much cotton and tobacco. With the barn chock full of things to eat prices may hit the top as much as they will and not bankrupt the average grower. Heretofore, food crops have been neglected and had to be purchased from other sections, so it is easily seen why low prices for the last two years played havoc with so many growers.

It looks like Greenville is going to have a building boom during the present year, in which case the house rent profiteer may be prepared to hit the toboggan. It cannot be denied that some people have extorted in rents the past few years. It has been the case everywhere, and certainly applies to this city as others. The situation is unfavorable even yet, but the erection of new homes should bring about a great change.

The triple sale plan as adopted by the Greenville tobacco market should be of great value to the industry next season, and cause this market to grow by leaps and bounds. Congested floors could have been avoided many times in past years if the same plan had been in effect, but it was too ambitious to consider then and was neglected. Farmers may rest assured of receiving every consideration with this improvements and can come to Greenville satisfied of receiving the best the industry has to offer.

Germany will be able to reconstruct her commerce in event the United States credits her to an extent of four billion dollars. While we are very much interested in the recovery of Germany and all other countries for that matter, we are not, however, ready to part with funds which would certainly bring hardship. Serious conditions facing people in some sections now are the result of liberal credits, so it is very evident we can't go much further without loss injury.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The real basis for confidence in the course of business in 1922 is now clear. Notwithstanding the severe depression during the past year, purchases by the American people in terms of physical volume were sufficient to absorb to a large extent accumulated stocks so that a gradual increase in output of many classes of manufactures may be expected. Future needs must be supplied primarily from current production. This means greater business activity and explains the expansion in manufactures which has taken place in recent weeks.

The general tone of business during the first two weeks of January has been encouraging. The total physical volume of retail trade is good. Sales in agricultural districts continue slower than in cities, with trade in the East and Northwest and in southern California cities better than in the remainder of the country. Necessities are selling much better than are luxuries, and this was characteristic of the Christmas trade. Although it is generally recognized that buyers in all lines will wisely continue to be cautious as to future commitments, it seems probable that there will be a moderately well-sustained distribution of goods into wholesale as well as into retail channels.

Unemployment is unquestionably wide-spread, but probably its extent has been somewhat over-estimated. Special measures undertaken to lessen it, particularly public works, are doing much to alleviate its worst features. The major part of the productive energy of the country is absorbed in clothing, feeding and sheltering the population. Farmers certainly will not buy heavily, but they must have such foodstuffs as are not produced on farms, as well as necessary clothing. They must buy some farm implements, for even with the more careful repairing which is increasingly practised, a certain proportion of farm machinery steadily becomes unusable. They will buy some fertilizer, and they will buy articles of convenience and even of luxury to some extent.

Railroads have made notable gains in economy of operation, and improved credit conditions have definitely bettered their outlook, although traffic is at present disappointing in volume. The heavy decline in tonnage, serious as it has been, has mainly been the result of lessened shipments of coal, iron ore and similar heavy commodities. Seasonable buying of rails, cars, locomotives and other equipment may be expected during the current year.

The year opens with promise of active building construction. With gradually declining yields on all classes of investments it may be expected that funds heretofore unavailable to the mortgage market will be turned into construction projects. Labor has not been liquidated and building costs therefore are still far above pre-war levels, and are out of line with prices generally. This condition operates especially against building and construction for production of income, but not so heavily against individual enterprises for personal occupancy, or public buildings and public works.

Consequently the field of residence building and public construction offers the greatest promise. The housing shortage has not yet been met. The entire country needs highway construction, and there is widespread necessity for essential public buildings. It is recognized as good public policy to carry on construction of these classes at times when industrial activity is at a relatively low level. Lower money is making this construction possible. This is unmistakably shown by the volume of state, county and municipal bond issues in the United States in 1921. The total for the entire country is unavailably, but offerings are known to have exceeded $1,000,000,000.

Judge Crammer, who is residing over this session of criminal court, believes in law enforcement, and means that his court will live up to what he believes. His charge to the grand jury yesterday morning was very encouraging, and indicates this session of court will be one of the best in years. Crime will continue just as long as criminals can get by with short sentences, and light fines, but when the law is fully enforced things improve immediately. It's to be hoped many other judges of the kind will visit Pitt county in the near future, as it is through their aid alone can we ever expect to witness any appreciable reduction of crime.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation movement now in progress throughout the nation seems to be meeting with progress in this immediate section of the State, and is destined to be a great success. The general run of people realize what Wilson did for the country and are willing to do their part in perpetuating his ideals. The public subscriptions will be spent in this way entirely, and it is up to everyone to subscribe liberally.

Public utilities are being warned to increase their coal supplies as much as possible before the strike of bituminous coal miners becomes effective. This is good advice, and those who fail to take advantage of it may have cause for regret. The strike promises to be one of the longest and most bitter the country has had in years, and if the public isn't prepared the situation may be of greater seriousness than at the present anticipated.

MESSRS. E. B. AND JAMES FICKLEN ENTERTAIN

Mr. E. B. Ficklen and son, James, delightfully entertained at cards Monday evening at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Freeman, of South Carolina, guests of Mr. R. M. Garrett. Five tables were arranged these being marked with attractive baskets of home-grown pecans and a lively game of progressive bridge ensued. The lucky winners of the table prizes were Miss Ward Moore, Mr. George Powell, Mrs. J. D. James, Mrs. Albion Dunn and Mr. R. M. Garrett. At 11 o'clock a delicious bird supper was served.

MRS. WHITE CONDUCTED SERVICES AT COLLEGE

Mrs. Milton White conducted the Y. W. C. A. vesper service at the Teachers College Sunday evening. Mrs. White's subject was "Seeking Things Worthwhile." "What is your supreme desire?" Was the question asked. Whatever it is, first things should come first in order to attain that desire. The first thing that should be in us in faith in God, and if we have that we will not be easily discouraged. The next thing is love. We must love people and try to make them happy so that we ourselves can be happy. We must watch our speech, for one word spoken unkindly can never be recalled. Happiness is contagious. A good guide to happiness is "Learn to live by the day." Life comes only one day at a time and we should make the most of that day. In connection with this thought Mrs. White read a beautiful poem, "Just One Day." Another thought which she brought out very clearly was that of being yourself. Be yourself and do your work for no one else can do it for you. Do your best happily wherever you are placed. Mrs. White said that the most beautiful thing in the world to her was a young life consecrated to God in service, and the girls were asked to remember that and think about it. Miss Fannie Johnston sang "Jocelyn" and Miss Elsie Wilson sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." Both numbers were greatly enjoyed.

A Correction.

In relating the arrest of John Forbes, Saturday, it was stated that he operated a store on the other side of the river bridge. While this was correct, the store, however, referred to was not at the end of the river bridge, but at the cross roads beyond. This correction is made because some people had the location of the store confused in mind.

Local Minister Flays Lawless in Sunday's Sermon

be discouraged by the courts and public as much as possible, Mr. Scoville asked: "Are we ever justifiable in taking the law into our hands? I do not hesitate to answer this question with the most emphatic negative which I can utter. Never. "I protest against mob law because it is carried out in the spirit of cowardice, and I hate a coward. Men band together and with masked faces under cover of darkness commit crimes of this sort who would never dare come out in the open and let themselves be recognized.

"I protest against the mob spirit because it tends to complicate all the race problems that confront us in the South. As a superior race to whose guardianship, so to speak, the negro has in the providence of God been committed, it is our duty to see to it that he is assured of a square deal before the law and that his inherent rights of person and property are regarded as sacred as those any white man. I protest against mob law, because it is essentially criminal, and you may not commit one crime to avenge another certainly not and call yourself a civilized being. For that is barbarism pure and simple.

criminal instincts of the inferior race, loaded, will be treated the same as any other criminal. "When the men who are so ready to join in with a mob and wreak vengeance, without process of law, upon some supposed criminal, are made to feel that public sentiment does not uphold them, but that on the other hand that they will be diligently sought out and adequately punished for their crime, regardless of their social standing or family connection, then and not until then will our country be freed from this form of lawlessness.

"I call upon all good citizens to rise up and create a sentiment so strong against this form of lawlessness that every man who is tempted to join a mob will be made to realize that he is looked upon as an undesirable citizen and that he, if apprehended, will be treated the same as any other criminal.

"All experience proves that the lynching of a negro by a mob of white men, instead of tending to allay the

Quinn-Miller & Company

Facts you should know when you buy a car

The question of greatest importance is not what you will be allowed for your old car but the price you pay for the new car and the value received. You are money out if allowed $100 more for your old car, yet have to pay a $150 higher list price for a new car when the comparative value is not there. A purchaser's loss is only postponed when trading allowances are made above a used car's real value. The deal that may appear most satisfactory to you in the beginning may prove to be the most expensive in the end.

No one receives anything gratuitously in this world—don't be misled by false allowances. We believe that any sales policy which encourages the giving of fictitious values for used cars is an injustice to the public. We wish to establish definitely the fact that the Buick Motor Company has never followed this policy—rather has always based the price of its product upon actual costs and when costs came down correspondingly reduced the prices of its cars to the public without any camouflage whatsoever.
