TWO POLICEMEN AND DEPUTY SHERIFF RESIGN AS RESULT OF CRITICISM OF CHARGES OF WOMAN OF UNDERWORLD

Gus Stokes and Guy Caton, Policemen, and Amos Jackson Tender Resignations

MAYOR CLARK EXPRESSES KEEN REGRET AT ACTION OF DEPARTMENT MEMBERS

Officers Resign Because of Criticism Resulting From Charges of Lucile Pollock

Guy Caton and Gus Stokes, members of the Greenville police department and Amos Jackson, deputy sheriff today tendered their resignations to heads of city and county government respectively, as result of public criticism following charges launched against them by Lucile Pollock, woman of the underworld, who several days ago was banished from the fifth judicial district by Judge Cramer in criminal court.

The resignation of Deputy Sheriff Jackson becomes effective immediately, according to the short notice presented Sheriff Dudley this morning, while members of the police department will retire immediately. It was stated today. Action of the officers occasioned keen regret of both Mayor D. M. Clark and Sheriff Dudley, who agreed with them that the course was wise in view of criticism created by the woman's charges.

The officers deny the charges in vigorous terms, and declared they resigned merely in fairness to the departments which they serve.

Mayor Clark's Statement. Mayor D. M. Clark when interviewed regarding the resignation of Officers Caton and Stokes made the following statement:

The resignations of Mr. Caton and Mr. Stokes have been accepted by me with reluctance, but I realize that regardless of the truth or falsity of said charges, their efficiency as police officers would be seriously effected and their services to the town under the circumstances handicapped. However I appreciate the fact that both emphatically deny the charges and insist upon a thorough investigation of them, and in due time in justice to them I will make a thorough investigation of every rumor and supposed source of information.

Both men have made excellent police officers and have helped give the town protection, against robbery and other crimes, not enjoyed by other similar towns of this section.

The strange part about the charges made against said officers, is that up to the time of conviction of the woman concerned, there was not only no complaint made, but an absolute denial of any misconduct on the part of the officers by the very party that now accuses them. Not satisfied with this, I have on several occasions in company with Chief Jones privately investigated the conduct of all of the officers by interrogation of both the white and colored residents on First street and in the neighborhood thereof without finding anything that would base a charge against any of them, and upon several occasions I have in company with Chief Jones sat up until after three or four o'clock in the morning observing in secret the conduct of said officers and to see for myself that they were performing their duty, and giving the necessary protection to the town. In addition to this, Chief Jones has informed me from time to time that he stays up from one to two nights every week and unknown to other officers observes their conduct and that in not a single instance has he found them off of duty or committing acts of misconduct in violation of the rules of the police department.

In view of these facts it is only natural that I shall put but little credence in the bare unsupported charges of a disreputable character, whose conviction was obtained by the testimony of the very officers against whom she placed a charge. However, as already stated, I will pursue the investigation until the truth or falsity of said charges are undoubtedly proven to my own satisfaction. My chief regret is that if the woman had charges to make she did not come to me and make them privately, instead of parading the whole dirty mess in the press for the youth of the town to absorb in wonder, and the decent adults in horror. Such a course would have received my prompt and careful attention, and her statement made in such a manner would not have smacked with revenge, malice or political instigation.

Caton's Resignation. Policeman Caton in his resignation said:

Dear Sir: You are aware that the Greenville News on last Wednesday morning published a statement of one Lucile Pollock, a woman of the underworld, in which she charged me together with another police officer and a deputy sheriff of having been guilty of gross misconduct toward her and the violation of your rules governing the police of the town.

I most emphatically deny these charges and brand them as false in every particular, insofar as they concern me and my conduct as a police officer. And I further denounce the charges as having been made in malice because of my activity against the said woman, and her gang of male cohorts who have constituted a nuisance and been a source of disturbance for several months past, and also because of my positive testimony against her during her recent trial and conviction at which time she was banished by the courts. The charges were no doubt instigated from two sources, one of which was political, and was not aimed at me directly, and the other by some of the aforesaid cohorts whom I have had the unpleasant duty of dragging from in and under the said woman's house at late hours of the night.

However, regardless of the source and purpose of said charges, or of what I might say in my defense in denial thereof, there would be nevertheless a certain part of the Greenville public that would give credence to the woman's statement and believe the things said about me to be true, therefore by reason of said fact my efficiency as a police officer of the town of Greenville would be thereby diminished and although I appreciate your stand in declining to believe said woman's statement unless supported by other testimony, I deem it my duty to you and to the town to tender my resignation.

However I wish to couple with my resignation by earnest and urgent request that a full and thorough investigation of these charges be made by you at any time and in any manner that may suggest itself to you and that your findings of same no matter what they might be, in justice to all concerned, be given to the public.

I wish it clearly understood that my resignation is tendered not because of the charges or any fear that I might have of them, purely and solely because of the handicap they have necessarily imposed upon the police department, as well as upon my own future services.

GUY CATON,

Stokes' Resignation

Mayor D. M. Clark, I herewith tender my resignation as a police officer of the town of Greenville. In resigning I wish you to understand that I am by no means running from an investigation or quitting under fire. In fact I welcome a thorough investigation of my official record and my private conduct, and I trust that you will proceed with same at your earliest convenience, and when completed publish the results.

I am resigning because I know there is a certain element in Greenville that is glad to believe any charge made against a police officer, no matter how low or common the party making the charge, or how much the officer deny the same, and for this reason I feel that I would be hampered in the performance of my duty to the public and in my service to the Greenville police department, should I remain on the police force in the face of these charges until they are disproven.

I most emphatically deny the said charges and brand them to be false in every particular, but this is all that I can do for not having been there in person, except my previous record with the police department and my character.

I am handing a copy of this resignation to both of the Greenville papers. Respectfully submitted, GUS STOKES.

GREAT PORTION OF COTTON CROP STILL REMAINS IN FIELDS

Extension Department Offers Services to Farmers in Effort to Get Cotton Graded

FARMERS CAN GET HELP BY APPLYING TO LOCAL GRADER

R. C. Banks Ready to Assist Grower in Getting Help From State Department

There is still a very large amount of this year's crop of cotton remaining in the hands of the producer, unsold. Every bale of this cotton should be graded right now. It is not necessary to wait until it is offered for sale before having it graded, for if it is graded now, you know the true value of it before it reaches the market. You cannot know the value of cotton until graded. Very few people realize that, at the present, difference between grades and staples, there is a price range of $75.00 between two bales of cotton. This difference is caused by the difference in grade and staple. If you stop to consider that there is approximately $5.00 per bale difference in each of the grades, you must realize that you cannot afford to have it undergraded one grade, much less three or four grades as it some times is. The up-to-date, progressive farmers are now and have always taken advantage of this service, and every cotton farmer in the State should do so. It is free to everyone, therefore you have nothing to lose but everything to gain.

The Extension Service of the State of North Carolina, co-operating with the United States department of agriculture, offers the services of its staff of expert cotton graders to grade and staple cotton for North Carolina farmers whether they want to sell, store or solicit loans. This service is free to every one, as are also the supplies for sending samples to the nearest office for classification.

To obtain the benefit of this service write to Mr. R. C. Banks, Greenville, N. C., stating the number of bales you wish graded and you will be furnished supplies and the necessary information for this purpose. Upon receipt of samples at the grading office, they will immediately be graded and a certificate showing the grade and staple of each bale, according to the official United States cotton standards will be promptly returned.

George E. Wintz producer of "Going Up" "Betty be Good," "Cheer Up Mabel" and other high class musical comedies will offer the patrons of White's Theatre on Monday, Feb. 13, his latest and greatest effort "Listen Irene." This production is regarded as the leaders of its kind in the class of stupendous musical shows. The company numbers 35 players comprising such principals as Nyra Brown, John G. Getz, Helen Panis, Bill Barbee, Betty Earl, Seymour Sisters, Tom Moran and the Elks Quartette. From a fashion viewpoint "Listen Irene" is declared to be a real pace maker. In the Fashion Girl number it is said that the models will wear $10,000 worth of gowns. The piece is in 3 acts and 13 scenes staged in a gorgeous manner, characteristic of Geo. E. Wintz offerings in other seasons. A lively chorus of Broadway Blondes, Brunettes and Titian haired beauties in feminine finery dance and prance on a gorgeous illuminated jeweled flirtation walks which extends back 20 rows into the audience.

If automobile drivers would display some common sense there would be more pleasure and less danger in motoring.

TRAINING SCHOOL PAYS TRIBUTE TO PROFESSOR WILSON

Splendid Services Held in the Auditorium Yesterday Afternoon at One O'clock

DR. VANN PAYS GREAT TRIBUTE TO SPLENDID CHARACTER OF DECEASED

Others Also Join in Paying Last Respects to Distinguished Educator

The faculty and student body of the East Carolina Teachers College held service as tribute to Mr. C. W. Wilson at the College auditorium, Friday at 1:00 o'clock. President Robert H. Wright presided over this service.

After that favorite hymn, "He Leadeth Me," sung by the students Dr. Vann beautifully interpreted the First Psalm and applied the principles of life therein to Mr. Wilson, the happy man who walks in the Counsel of God; who lives a prosperous fruitful life, as the tree planted by the rivers of water; whose way is known and approved of God.

Mr. Ayscue said in part. I am glad to be here today just to spend a few moments with you while we think and talk of our departed friend and brother. Yesterday when I received the message to come, I wanted to come, but I said "I hope I will not be asked to say anything because I cannot say anything." My heart is full of praise to God today as I think of my brother and his great heart and life. Whenever I have met a Training School girl, and it has been my privilege to meet a great many, when I ask her "Do you know Mr. Wilson?" her face always brightens, "Oh yes, he is always our friend."

We have lost a great friend, a Christian man, a man great in the school, great in the Sunday school, great in the church, great in the community, but greatest in the bigness of his heart, a man without guile. As I was talking with his wife today I said "He would be distressed today if he were with us and knew any of us were resigning our tasks." His life meant to do more to help the world. I thank God I have heard his voice lifted in prayer. I love to think of him today as being as much interested in us as when he was with us in the flesh.

Great is my sorrow, but deeper than my sorrow is my joy that he lived a Christian life. May God bless every young lady in this institution who knows him today. May his life be an inspiration today to do larger things in Christ whom we serve.

Mr. Underwood spoke in part as follows:

I wish I could bring you today some word of hope, cheer and comfort, because they seem to be the outstanding characteristics of our friend.

We have read "In the midst of life we are in death." For him I would like to reverse that expression. Smiling through this sad occasion is the thought that he is not dead. That kind of life with its far reaching effects lives on through the lives it touches. It reaches up, it reaches down and goes on through all the years. I would love to think of him as working with us, the ideals for which he consecrated his life, the things he tried to do must go on through you and through me. I like to think today of the fine faith of the man. He was optimistic in the highest sense of the word. He had an abiding faith that the right would triumph, because he had faith in people, faith in humanity.

I like to think of him having no children of his own and giving his life to the children of North Carolina. He was one of those rare souls whose motto of life was "This one thing I do." I could speak of a thousand characteristics of the man dear to us. One strong characteristic was his willingness to serve any where, under any conditions. I have been closely associated with him. Our relations have been most intimate. I have never called on him for any service that he did not gladly and cheerfully consent with that fine spirit of optimism of the real kind, faith, hope, courage.

When I heard the news that he had gone I could not do otherwise than come to be with you and lay my tribute at his feet. This was as natural as breathing.

NEW BERN TAKES TWO GAMES FROM GREENVILLE CLUB

Greenville Boys and Girls Lose Out to New Bern Club in Hard Fought Games

BOTH CLUBS SHOW SPLENDID FORM IN ALL PARTS OF GAME

Local Girls to Play Kinston Tonight While Boys Will Play Picked Town Team

The Greenville high school basketball teams lost out to the strong New Bern clubs last night in one of the most stubbornly contested double headers of the season, the boys losing by the score of 34 to 21 and the girls 28 to 16. The two Greenville clubs fought hard for honors, but New Bern played a decidedly superior kind of ball and won out despite constant rallies to overcome the definite lead gained in the first half.

Barber and Brown again played the stellar role for the Greenville boys, and it was mainly through their efforts that the locals rallied in the first half and nearly evened up the score with New Bern. Other members of the club played conservatively, but breaks happened to go in New Bern's favor and helped them maintain the lead.

For Greenville girls Aileen Critcher featured largely, being ably assisted by other members who showed up exceptionally well considering the short time they have been in training.

The Greenville girls play in Kinston tonight, and from all indications their success will be entirely different from last night. Kinston, however, has a fast team, and should be able to furnish one of the hardest fought battles of the season.

The Greenville boys will play a picked team composed of young men of the town tonight at Forbe and Morton's warehouse, the game being for the benefit of the high school club. The game will be called promptly at 7:45 and it is hoped attendance will be as large as possible being to the way the money is to be applied.

NEW SCHEME IS LATELY DEvised CENSOR PICTURES

Producers Would Have Division of Playgoers as Guide to Withdrawals

(By International News.) New York.—Because they believe State censorship of plays would be fatal to dramatic art members of the New York Drama League have launched a campaign for a voluntary censorship of plays by the threatening public.

A plan evolved by Charles Coburn, of the Producing Managers' Association, has been approved by playwrights, managers and actors. It would provide for an agreement between theatre owners, producers of plays and actors to the effect that any play deemed by a competent jury of laymen to be unworthy or unfit for production would be withdrawn without further notice and without legal action.

Upon receipt of sufficient complaints about any play the commissioner of licenses would select from a panel of 500 specially chosen jurors five persons to witness and pass on the play. Their decision would be chosen by the various theatrical organizations.

A committee from the Drama League is preparing an answer to be sent to Albany to reply to the proposed State censorship backers. The new plan would do away with the publicity given such a play as "The Demi-Virgin," once suspended by court action, but later reinstated. It is now playing on Broadway.

Though it is nine months in the future, there are already reminders that there will be an election this year. And the voting is going to be attended by much interest.

as the feeling of a child who wants to go home. As I think of Mr. Wilson my mind instinctively turns to Matthew Arnold's tribute to his father, Thomas Arnold, who was a teacher. In the closing prayer Dr. Vann thanked God for the life of Claude Wilson: for the fullness of his service, for the sweetness of his spirit, for the strength of his life and for the beauty of his holiness and asked for the continued blessing of his infu. The service closed with singing How Firm a Foundation. The faculty and officers and representatives from all the student or-
