OLDYS DELIVERS ADDRESS BEFORE COLLEGE PUPILS

Lecturer of Washington City Graphically Portrayed the Value of Birds Last Night

RECOMMENDED GREATER ATTENTION TO BIRDS IN ALL PARTS COUNTRY

Speaker Declared That Few People Realize What Birds Mean to Our Community

Mr. Henry Olds, distinguished writer, lecturer, and specialist in nature study, from near Washington city, delivered a lecture at the East Carolina Teachers college last night on "Birds, Their Value and Bird Music".

The lecture is unique in that it is both scientific and artistic, or aesthetic. Mr. Olds knows all about the birds from the standpoint of usefulness, and knows first hand the different birds of America and their habits.

He began his talk by making the statement that few people realize our dependence on birds, and he went on to prove that we could scarcely do without them, there would be no gardens, trees, shrubs, lawns and the farmer would be helpless, everything would be laid bare by the insect life.

The building of martin houses has often led to the destruction of bugs and other insects that were destroying the plant life. He gave an instance when mosquitoes were driven away by the building of a martin house.

He told the audience how to establish friendly relations with the birds, giving one example after another of friendship between people and birds.

The talk by Mr. Olds was an inspiration to the people who heard him and many resolved to pay more attention to their feathered friends.

ROAD COMMISSION TO BUILD ROAD IN ARTHUR DISTRICT

Committees Appeared Before Highway Commission Yesterday and Requested Improvements

The Pitt county highway commission was in regular session in the office of J. B. Harding, chief engineer, yesterday and after disposing of a considerable volume of routine business listened to proposals of members of two committees from Arthur relative to the construction of roads from Arthur to Vandiford's store and from Frog Level to Arthur.

The road from Frog Level to Arthur, however, will have to be constructed and will require sometime in completion. Both are of the ordinary type and will not involve any great expense to the county in placing in splendid shape.

CHAMBER BANQUET CREATING GREATER INTEREST IN CITY

N. G. Bartlett of Dublin, Ga., to Be the Principal Speaker at Affair Soon

The Pitt County Chamber of Commerce banquet for Tuesday night, February 14th, looms large. The ladies of the Christian church will not only serve the banquet but will have charge of the sales of tickets.

Every member of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce is given the privilege of taking their wives. As a matter of fact several women belong to the organization. As the meeting will be strictly informal it is highly desired that there be a ready response on the part of the entire membership so as to make this a most successful event.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Mr. N. G. Bartlett of Dublin, Ga., who is recognized as one of the outstanding secretaries of the south. Mr. Bartlett has appeared a number of times at the State, southern and national programs of the secretaries' association. His address before the Southern Commercial Secretaries' association at Charlotte in 1918 made such an impression that he was asked to appear on the program of the national association at Rochester, N. Y., in 1919.

Mr. Bartlett is being considered together with two others for the position of vice president-manager of the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce. It is because of his trip to North Carolina for an interview in regard to this work that the officials of the Pitt county chamber of commerce were successful in getting Mr. Bartlett for this address.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN IS STILL RECEIVING SPLENDID SUPPORT

Greenville People Rallying Behind the Campaign for Jewish Relief in Splendid Way

SUBSCRIPTIONS STILL COMING IN RAPIDLY TO CITY HEADQUARTERS

Believed Apportionment of $1,000 Will Be Raised by the Latter Part of the Week

The Jewish Relief campaign continues to meet with great interest in this city, and committees were still canvassing this morning despite inclement weather. The sum has greatly increased since reports of yesterday afternoon, and from all indications the county's apportionment of $1,000 will be raised by the latter part of the week.

The total amount subscribed up to the noon hour today was in the neighborhood of six hundred dollars, and it is believed that by night the committees will have passed the 7 hundred dollar mark easily.

Dr. A. M. Schultz, chairman of the campaign, is gratified at the splendid manner in which local people are responding to the call for aid from the millions of starving people in eastern Europe, and said he felt sure the country would reach its quota by the last of the week.

Reports of continued progress are coming in from all parts of the State, and it's the purpose of the local committee to reach the thousand dollar mark and go even beyond by the last of the week if possible. This can be easily done if committees continue to canvass as diligently as this morning.

Subscriptions received by the committee up to the noon hour today were given by the following: Greenville Banking & Trust Co. $50; Eddie McKinney $5; Johnston-Foxhall $5; B. B. Sugg, $2.50; F. V. Johnston, $2; J. C. Anderson, $1; J. P. Moss, $1; J. B. Johnson, $1; Bert Green, $1; J. D. Vaughn, $1; E. H. Turner, $1; W. H. Von Eberstein, $1; Edward Moyo, $1; Mat McGowan, $1; C. C. DR. MOSS SPEAKS TO STUDENTS AT ASSEMBLY HOUR

Noted Presbyterian Minister Delivered First Talk at Training School This Morning

Dr. W. D. Moss, pastor of the Presbyterian church of the University of North Carolina, who is in town to give a series of Bible study lessons to the students and faculty of East Carolina Teachers College made his first talk at the assembly hour this morning.

It was an excellent introduction to the series that will follow. He presented in a natural, but effective way, the idea that all of us are dwellers in the Garden of Eden and do just as Eve and Adam did, throw the blame on the other fellow. The Bible is forever repeating itself. He spoke of the fitney driver who almost caused him to be left, and also told the story of a small boy that illustrated well the point. He begged the students not to blame the other fellow when they begin teaching, but to look within and see why they themselves fail.

His first Bible study hour will be this afternoon at four o'clock, with the faculty meet the students. A schedule has been arranged for the other day so that the students will get the most possible good out of Dr. Moss's visit.

FARM DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZED TO BUY PICTURE MACHINE

Commissioners Give Farm Agent Permission to Buy Machine to Combat the Weevil

PICTURES TO BE SHOWN PORTRAYING DIFFERENT STAGES OF THE DRIVES

Farm Department Also Given Permission to Hire Stenographer to Look After Office Work

That the county agricultural department may become of greater service to hundreds of cotton and tobacco growers throughout the county the board of commissioners yesterday authorized W. B. Pace, county agent, to make certain improvements in the department that should be of great benefit to the grower in the future. The department of agriculture is one of the most efficient in the entire State, and it was to make it even more efficient and of greater value to the grower that the commissioners saw fit to authorize these additional improvements.

The first and most important action taken by the commissioners resulted from a suggestion, offered by Mr. Pace that the county purchase a moving picture machine and slides portraying the most direct way of combating the boll weevil, which threatens to invade this section during the season. Besides showing the most advisable means of fighting the pest the pictures present in an interesting way advanced methods for planting substitute crops, how to poison cotton to kill the weevil.

Each scene contained in the pictures is taken from farms where boll weevil flights have been conducted, giving the first stage of the campaign and at the last when the weevils have been successfully overcome. Each picture is of a highly instructive nature, and should prove of great value to the farmer giving attention to what the department is doing in his interest.

In order that Mr. Pace may give more time to the farmer and keep the general public fully informed as to his whereabouts from time to time, the commissioners also granted him permission to employ a stenographer to remain in his office at the court house from nine in the morning until five in the evening.

The county welfare department will also have a reel of pictures to be shown on the moving picture machine of the agricultural department. These pictures will help to improve the home life of the farm, and should be a means of inspiring greater interest of a higher state of civilization.

The commissioners realize the importance of a properly conducted agricultural department, its relation to the farmer, who constitutes the backbone of the country, and are making an effort to improve its work in every way possible.

ADMINISTRATION TO DECIDE WHAT TO DO WITH GENOA CONFAB

Adjournment of Armament Conference Places Issues Squarely Before the Government

(By International News) Washington, Feb. 7.—Adjournment of the armament conference brought the administration squarely against the task of a public decision as to whether the United States will participate in the Genoa conference. Indications at the present time point to no participation, although spokesmen of the administration are less vigorous today in assigning reason for the action.

Sentiment of the cabinet and Senate is well nigh overwhelming against the proposal. Other members at the White House have been subjected to pressure of bankers and foreign trade interests, it was said today.

Conversion into flats which would accommodate 3,000 persons is the suggested fate of the former United States transport Leviathan, now lying at a Hoboken pier.

The county commissioners should reconsider their decision in the court house improvements. This is something in which everyone is interested...

The proposal to widen Dickinson avenue has met with the favorable consideration of every person in town interested in future development...

The successor to the pope seems to have met with the favor of the majority of Italian people, and his future is very bright indeed.

President Harding had the pleasure of calling the armament conference and the privilege of closing it.

The armament conference at last has been brought to a conclusion and there are very few people in this old country who will not be glad to learn that it has.

The whiskey traffic seems to be on a slight decrease in this part of the country at the present time, as very few captures are being made.

Dr. Alfred Schultz has been appointed chairman of the Jewish Relief campaign in Greenville, and for the next several days will be busy collecting funds for this great purpose.

It is gratifying to note the splendid way which Greenville people are responding to the call for funds for suffering Jews.

The farmers are being given some mighty good advice by members of the state agricultural department, and if it is taken advantage of the future will be exceptionally bright.

It would be greatly to the advantage of property owners on Dickinson avenue to pay their part of the expenses incurred in widening the street as that part of town will never be what is should until this improvement has been made.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT.

It is to be regretted that the board of county commissioners yesterday saw fit to decline to lower sidewalks on Third and Evans street and make other improvements to the lawn as requested by the committee of representative citizens who presented the matter.

The proposal to make these improvements received favorable consideration of the board several months ago, but work was delayed from day to day until the committee again found it advisable to remind the board of the promises to do the work.

The court house is one of the greatest investments the county has, and regardless of what other improvements are under way, it should be so kept as to present a pleasing appearance to the hundreds of people visiting the county seat from time to time during the year.

This is an important matter indeed, and it is hoped the commissioners will reconsider it from every angle before definitely refusing to give it the consideration which it so certainly deserves.

The improvement is for the good of the entire county, not Greenville alone, as it will impress the visitors of the true greatness of the county.

OUTLOOK FOR FARM PRODUCTS.

While it is early to make predictions for the coming season there is reason for confidence that prices of farm products will make some recovery in the present year.

The statistical position of wheat is very strong, and common opinion is that we are not likely to have a bumper crop in this country in 1922.

Reports indicate a much improved state of feeling in the cattle country in recent months, the result in part of easier financial conditions and in part of the heavy liquidation that has taken place.

Lions and tigers kept in captivity require one day a week without food to keep them in good health.

Judge Louis G. Cooper continues to deal out justice in an interesting sort of way in county court, and the bad element is being convinced that the law abiding are getting tired of continued impositions such as they have been forced to endure in past years.

Cotton growers will welcome the election of H. V. Stator, of Bethel, as a director of the North Carolina Co-operative marketing association.

Live stock raisers in this county should take advantage of the presence of a representative of the Extension department who is coming to Greenville Wednesday to help the farmer with any problems that may confront him.

Growing Cotton Under the Boll Weevil Conditions

On a recent visit to the cotton boll weevil section of Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, I had opportunity to observe the changes brought about in farming by the boll weevil and the conditions under which cotton is grown in the presence of the boll weevil.

In boll weevil territory cotton is generally planted in rather narrow rows, 3 to 3 1/2 feet, 2 to 4 stalks being left in a hill, 10 to 16 inches apart, as a rule, the planting being done as early as possible with a large amount of seed so that if the first to come up are killed there will be sufficient left to come later for a stand.

Small fields surrounded by wood are difficult to handle because the boll weevils live over winter in the trash in the woods and come out early and attack the cotton nearest the woods.

Poisoning with arsenate of lead is effective but this is, to an extent, expensive and can only be afforded on reasonably good cotton. Good practice requires that just as soon the cotton is gathered in the field, and this should be just as early as it is possible after opening, the stalks should be plowed under, and this custom should be followed universally if the section is to benefit by the practice.

These in general are the methods of growing cotton under boll weevil conditions. Other crops, of which we have a considerable number, must be grown more largely than they have heretofore so as to produce a large quantity of food and feed crops for the farms and for the towns.

poisoning with arsenate of lead; gathering the crop early and plowing under the stalks to destroy the boll weevil food. Gardens for vegetables for year-round use as nearly as possible, and for canning for off seasons, will be more important than ever before, as will also the home orchard for fruits for the home, and fruits and vegetables to spare for the towns should be grown especially by the more experienced and well situated growers.

LISTEN IRENE WAS DELIGHTFUL SHOW

Nyra Brown, Charming Star, and Johnnie Getz, Clever Comedian, With Production

Athens, Ga., — "Listen Irene," which played at the Colonial theatre Friday evening was one of the most delightful and entertaining musical comedies which has ever come to Athens, and the packed house more than once told of its approval of the show through the warm applause given various numbers.

Nyra Brown, that beautiful and talented young star, who has played here before and was as good if not better than in any previous play in Athens, and she captivated the audience with her charming ways. Coming down into the audience several times in tuneful skits, the audience began to feel that they knew her a little better than when she was at a distance on the stage.

Johnnie Getz, he well-known to the audience in such a master-comedian, who has likewise played in Athens before made his debut to the audience in such a masterfully witty way, that he will be remembered for this, if nothing else, as one of the cleverest comedians ever in the city.

The show was filled with tuneful melodies, and a certain informality accompanied it because of the friendly manner in which the members of the company and the chorus played through the audience. The balloon song, the mirror number, and other features made "Listen Irene" different from anything which has played in Athens and the variety added to the delightfulness of the play. The scenery and lighting effects of the show were attractive and the chorus possessed youth beauty and ability to sing. As a whole "Listen Irene" afforded a delightful evening.

"Listen Irene" will be presented in White's Theatre Monday evening, Feb. 13th.

CARING FOR A FAMILY OF TEN IS MADE EASY

Mrs. W. H. Stallings of Norfolk Gains Twenty Pounds Taking Tanlac And Feels Fine And Strong All The Time.

Pain In Side And Indigestion Have Disappeared. She Sleeps Like A Child And Eats Anything On Table.

"Although I have a family of ten I am able to do all my housework now and feel good all the time. I certainly ought to be grateful to Tanlac because when I began taking it I felt so weak and worn out I could hardly drag myself around."

"My troubles started about eighteen months ago with a slight pain in my side which gradually grew worse until it hurt me day and night. I lost my appetite and my stomach became so disordered that everything I ate disagreed with me."

"I feel perfectly well now, eat heartily of anything I want, never have a sign of indigestion and sleep eight or nine hours every night without waking once. The pain in my side has disappeared too, and I have gained twenty pounds in weight. In a short time Tanlac made me feel like an entirely different person."

The above remarkable statement was made by Mrs. W. H. Stallings, 14 Franklin St., South Norfolk, Va. Tanlac is sold in Greenville by the Greenville Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.

Co-operative Marketing Enterprise is Meeting With Success in That State

(News and Observer)

"At a meeting of the National Agricultural conference in Washington last week I had a very interesting interview with Dean Thomas Cooper of the Kentucky State College of Agriculture about the progress of the co-operative marketing association for burley tobacco," says Dr. Clarence Poe in a letter to the News and Observer. "In view of the fact that some persons fighting cooperative marketing in North and South Carolina have been circulating all kinds of reports about the burley growers' organization, and in view of the eager and natural desire of many tobacco farmers to know the exact facts I feel that I should put this fresh, direct, and dependable information before the tobacco farmers who read your paper:

"Said Dean Cooper: 'The organization is in the most satisfactory condition I can well imagine. Fifty five thousand growers have signed up, controlling about 80 percent of the burley crop. Practically every business man, banker, newspaperman, and public man became convinced of the absolute soundness and wisdom of the co-operative marketing idea and all joined together to put Kentucky over by a tremendous majority.

"From the beginning everything has been handled in a very business-like way. The directors elected by the growers are men of outstanding business ability who have the confidence of all interests in the State. Our own bankers and business men have put up over $5,000,000 for advances to growers and the War Finance corporation has lent $10,000,000. Arrangements have been made whereby the cooperative marketing organization has taken over practically all the warehouses in the burley region—118 in all, I believe. I understand that only 7 warehouses remain outside the organization—3 old ones in Lexington, and 1 each at Keaton, Danville, Horse Cave and Maysville.

"Fifty-two grades have been established for tobacco and these grades are made the basis for loans. Not only have experts been employed to do the grading work, but the graders have been put through a school so as to insure their all using the same uniform methods. In fact, the sound business policies adopted from the beginning have strongly impressed all our people and the strongest banks of the State are declaring that they stand ready to back up the organization to the full extent of their ability."
