GREENVILLE MEN ATTEND MEETING AT GOLDSBORO

C. J. Ellen and H. L. Smith of Chamber of Commerce, Attend Eastern Chamber Session

TO ELECT A MANAGER AND VICE PRESIDENT AT MEETING TODAY

H. L. Bartlett of Dublin, Ga., is One of Applicants Under Consideration for the Place

Dr. C. J. Ellen, president, and H. L. Smith, secretary of the Pitt county chamber of commerce, left this morning for Goldsboro to attend a meeting of the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce which is to be held in that place today. The principal purpose of the meeting will be to elect a vice-president manager from three applicants recently considered for the position, and it is probable the session will be completed early in the afternoon. Among the applicants are N. G. Bartlett, of Dublin, Ga., secretary of the Dublin-Laurens chamber of commerce, who spoke at the banquet here last night; J. R. Eddy, of Paradise, Pa., and E. N. Farris, of St. Louis, Mo.

Secretary Smith sent out telegrams to about 75 prominent business men of the state Monday night, and it is expected the meeting will be well attended despite inclemency of the weather. The importance of the meeting was stressed in a letter sent out by W. A. McGirt, of Wilmington, president of the organization, and the response no doubt will be pronounced.

Much interest is centered around the naming of the vice-president manager, as the organization promises to be one of the most powerful of its kind in this part of the country. Each locality will be well represented in every important issue, as the organization embraces a wide area and should have great influence.

AMERICAN LEGION TO BANQUET HERE AT ROTARY CLUB

Interesting Session of Organization to Be Held at the Rotary Club Tonight at 7:30

Members of the Pitt county post of the American Legion will meet at the Rotary club in this city tonight at 7:30 o'clock, enjoy a splendid banquet and dispose of regular business. The meeting was to have been held last week, but was called off on account of inclement weather and impassable condition of the roads. The meeting tonight promises to be one of the most interesting of the year, as numbers of addresses will be made by members well acquainted with organization work, and problems of the future. Dr. Grady G. Dixon, of Ayden, post commander, will preside over the meeting.

The post is making an effort to increase its membership as much as possible, and it is expected the membership committee will be impressed with the importance of this point tonight. Practically all ex-soldiers of the county are members, but there are some probably who haven't joined and who are needed to make the organization complete.

GOVERNMENT TO SELL 2,000 QUARTS LIQUOR AT NEW ORLEANS SOON

WASHINGTON WILL PLAY GREENVILLE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Championship Elimination Series to Begin With Game at Forbes-Morton Warehouse

H. H. Duncan, coach of the Greenville high school basketball team, has returned from Raleigh where he attended a meeting for arranging a schedule of championship games of high school clubs of the state. The schedule provides that Washington will play Greenville at Forbes and Morton's warehouse in this city Friday night, instead of New Bern as first announced.

This information will be received with interest by lovers of the game here, who no doubt will attend in large numbers. If Greenville wins, another game will be in order, and in event that is won also New Bern will play the final game here. That is, if New Bern keeps up its winning streak too. Greenville has been unusually successful against Washington this season, having two games to the good against them already. The Washington Collegiate Institute members, however, are game fighters, and promise something out of the ordinary in the championship contest.

Considerable interest is always centered around the championship elimination series, and the fact that Greenville is participating this season makes it even of greater interest.

Whether the girls will play New Bern here, as announced the early part of the week, has not been definitely determined, but a decision will probably be reached by tomorrow, according to Miss Mial, coach of this club.

Both clubs are in excellent condition for these final games, and those who attended may rest assured of seeing something worth while. The boys are determined to stay in the series until the last and the game with Washington is certain to result in a victory.

Have you ever noticed that the only thing your friends ever give you is the benefit of the doubt.

SPLendid ADDRESSES FEATURE BANQUET TENDERED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH IN CITY LAST NIGHT

N. G. Bartlett of Dublin, Georgia, Pays Tribute to Progress of Pitt County People

OTHER SPEAKERS ALSO MENTION REMARKABLE PROGRESS IN THE PAST

Education and Social Life of Community Set Forth in Interesting Manner During Evening

That sixty odd representative people of Pitt county, including several ladies, occupied the tables at the chamber of commerce banquet in the basement of the Christian church, amid such inclement weather as last night brought, was a striking illustration of the community spirit existing here. No wonder such an assembly on such an occasion inspired the speakers to the highest commendation of the spirit of progress that is being infused among Pitt county's people.

After a song led by Sam Phillips (and the singing broke out several times during the evening) and an invocation by Rev. C. H. Bascom, the banqueters enjoyed a splendid menu prepared by the ladies of the Christian church. Full justice having been paid this delighted feast, Prof. R. H. Wright took charge of the meeting as toast master, and there followed some of the best speeches to which these present have had the pleasure of listening. Mr. Wright in most appropriate reference coupled the speaker with his subject as he presented each to the audience.

The general theme of the evening was "The Pitt County Chamber of Commerce as a Community Builder" and was presented under the divisions, educationally, socially, and the individual members' responsibility.

The first speaker was Prof. J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, who interestingly gave the educational side of the subject. Education means lifting the coming generation higher than the present, he began. The school district idea is now obsolete and there must be an enlargement of opportunity. The Pitt county chamber of commerce can render great help in solving the present need in educational development. The town must (Continued on page 4)

STREET CAR MEN PROTEST AGAINST DISCHARGE ORDER

President of Columbia Union Orders 110 Employees Not to Go to Work Today

(By International News.)
Columbia, Feb. 15.—One hundred and forty employees of the street car company here were ordered not to report for work this morning, in a statement issued by the president of their union.

This action was taken last night at a meeting of protest against the discharge of the twenty-four men yesterday. The outcome of the action is being watched with interest here, as this is the first labor disorder that has occurred in some time.

BRYAN WILL NOT RUN FOR THE SENATE FROM FLORIDA DISTRICTS

Miami, Feb. 15.—William Jennings Bryan today declined to become a candidate for the United States senate from Florida. In the statement issued this morning he said he would "consider the matter from a standpoint of duty." If persons who urge him to run feel he could render the nation service, then he may reconsider. This was taken to mean that he may change his mind and become a candidate in opposition to Senator Trammell, whose term expires next year.

HEBER MUNFORD SLIGHTLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Recently Appointed Postmaster Suffering From Painful Injuries Received Sunday Night

Heber R. Munford, recently appointed postmaster of Greenville, is confined to his home today suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident Sunday night between this city and Ayden, and while his injuries are painful, they are not considered of a serious nature.

The car in which Mr. Munford was riding collided with another driven by Mr. Heber Tripp in this city. It is not known exactly how Mr. Munford was hurt, but his shoulder in some way was injured, although giving very little pain at the time the accident happened. In the car with Mr. Munford was a sister and the driver, but no one else was injured.

Both cars were slightly damaged by the impact. It is considered remarkable how the occupants escaped without more serious injuries. The accident it is said resulted from the bad condition of the roads, which have been almost impassable during the recent inclement weather.

POLITICAL MOVES OF GREAT EXTENT BREWING IN CHINA

Leader of Canton Government Says Aim is to Unify and Modernize Nation

International News Service Staff Correspondent.
Shanghai, China.—Dr. Eugene Chen, private foreign secretary to Dr. San Yat-Sen, President of South China, a noted editor and writer, told the International News Service today that big political developments are expected in China in the coming months, first in the Middle Yangtze and latter in the North. Dr. Chen is one of the first Chinese authorities to give a clear picture of this transient period in the history of kaleidoscopic China.

"We have gone to Canton in order to unify China," said Dr. Chen, "not to divide her. As an unsettled State China has survived the struggles and wounds of history. She can continue to survive only by remaining whole. This truth lies deep in the historic consciousness of the nation.

"China is facing a great problem. We are in the midst of changes and perplexing difficulties. This comes from the inclusion of China within the politico-economic system of Greater Europe with its industrial ruthlessness and material efficiency and worship of force. These are not fine things. We must needs adapt ourselves to that system, taking care so far as we are able, to hold fast to the great truths and memories which have nourished the nation's mind through a vast period of continuous national life.

"Foreign experience teaches that the method of adaptation which has succeeded best is the regime in which rulers are answerable to the governed—to the people—through Parliament. The method is not perfect, but," continued Dr. Chen, "it is the least objectionable of all the ways of running a modern state which the wit of civilized men has yet devised.

"The real alternative is despotism. The Bourbon mind insists on the rule of a strong man—a benevolent despot. We have had ten years of such rule. Today China is well-nigh a wreck. It is time that China tried a more civilized way.

"What does the south stand for? We stand for this civilized way of

COUNTY MEN TO ATTEND POTATO SCHOOL IN NASH

W. B. Pace and H. L. Smith to Leave Tomorrow For Rocky Mount to Attend Two Day Meet

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO DISCUSS QUESTION DURING THE SESSION

O. F. McCarthy, District Farm Agent, to Be One of the Principal Speakers of Day

W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of Pitt county and H. L. Smith, secretary of the Pitt county chamber of commerce, will leave tomorrow morning for Rocky Mount to attend a sweet potato school to open there under direction of the sweet potato association of that county. Many interesting things are on program for the two day meeting, including addresses by men well acquainted with conditions prevailing in all parts of the county.

The sweet potato storage warehouse question is receiving keen interest in every community at the present time, and it will be well advanced at the meeting at Rocky Mount where prominent growers from practically every section of the state will be present. Mr. Pace stated this morning that a large delegation from Bethel is making arrangements to be present, and it is probable other towns of this county may also be inspired to activity.

The principal purpose of the school will be to bring out every fact regarding production, storage and related subjects, development of the industry and the grades produced in North Carolina. Every phase of sweet potato production will be discussed by able speakers, and points of vital interest to growers everywhere will result.

Such agricultural leaders as O. F. McCarthy, district farm demonstration agent, E. W. Gaither, L. H. Nelson, B. F. Brown, F. A. Wolf, W. W. Magill, George Burroughs, Gorrell Shumaker, are on the program and these who attend are assured of something worth while.

Bethel has taken the lead in the erection of sweet potato storage warehouses in Pitt county, and every effort is being made to interest other communities in the question. Thousands of dollars have been wasted in past years because the sweet potato crop was not preserved properly, and prominent growers are determined this shall not occur in years to come. The crop is a paying one if given proper attention, and the school at Rocky Mount should cause the planter to keenly realize the fact.

REVOLT IN IRELAND IS THREATENED BY BRITISH ENEMIES

Enemies of Lloyd George Use Threat in Effort to Overthrow Coalition Government

London, Feb. 15.—Threats of a revolution in Ireland are being used by political enemies of Lloyd George in an effort to overthrow the coalition government, it was learned here today.

"I have every reason to believe the evacuation of British troops in Ireland will be resumed speedily, said Michael Collins, minister of Finance of the Dublin government, after an interview with colonial secretary, Churchill at noon.

"I believe we can cope with the situation," Collins said. "I am going back to Ireland tonight and do my best to quiet things."

GOVERNOR TAYLOR CHAMPIONS FORD OFFER IN HOUSE

Governor of Tennessee Says the Plant Should Be Leased to Ford For the Good of the South

PLAYS ALABAMA POWER COMPANY FOR OPPOSING FORD'S GREAT OFFER

Says Sectional Prejudice Will Be Overcome if Ford Is Given Right to Operate the Plant

(By International News.)
Washington, Feb. 15.—Governor Taylor, of Tennessee, before the house military committee today endorsed Henry Ford's proposal for Muscle Shoals.

He said no man, interest, or corporation could oppose Ford's offer as a friend of the people of the south.

The governor flayed the Alabama Power company for its intention to combat the leasing. "The company should withdraw its contentions, however righteous, for the good of the country, thundered Taylor.

"Adopt this Ford offer pledge—do it for the good not only of the south, but the whole country, and I guarantee you every vestige of sectional prejudice will be completely obliterated."

GOVERNOR ROBERTSON FAVORS RECOGNITION OF OBREGON FACTION

Mexico City, Feb. 15.—Governor Robertson, of Oklahoma, who headed a pilgrimage of 35 business men into Mexico, said today that he favored recognition of the Obregon government. He said if the people of Mexico and the United States understood conditions better there would be partial recognition.

WHO SAYS ADVERTISING DOESN'T PAY?

The Pitt Shoe company, one of the Reflector's advertisers, says that it pays to advertise. You will say the same thing if you read this. A lady in Danville, Va., seeing the very slipper which she wanted advertised in The Reflector, ordered a pair from Pitt Shoe company, stating that she could not find a pair in Danville. Another order came from Raleigh, stating exactly the same thing. The local firm was able to fill both the orders both in style and number.

These are only two instances of the orders received daily by the Shoe company as a result of their advertisement.

Belfast, Feb. 15.—Twenty seven deaths from mob violence have occurred in this city in the last twenty four hours, according to members of the police department. Five persons were shot to death between midnight and five o'clock this morning. Numbers of others are said to have been injured in various fighting reported in different parts of the city during the night.

SOVIETS TO MAKE BID AT GENOA FOR WORLD TRADE AID

Krassin Declares Restoration of the World's Economic Life Possible Without Russia

International News Service Staff Correspondent.
London.—Soviet Russia is entering the Genoa conference with the firm conviction that there can be no economic rehabilitation of Europe except through the rehabilitation of Russia, but at the same time she will resist any effort at "economic and political enslavement," according to M. Leonid Krassin, head of the Russian Trade Delegation in London.

"The problem of the economic regeneration of Russia is not one merely of humanitarian activity and is not confined in its scope to the salvation of Russia alone," M. Krassin declared. "Without it there is no hope for the regeneration of the economic life of Europe and even of the whole world.

"Heavy industry in Russia can be restored only by some form of general measure which shall embrace simultaneously all the enterprises of the given area. It is difficult to outline the mechanism of such an apparatus of reconstruction; but the most effective would appear to be the formation of several large trusts, with the participation, both of the Soviet State and of foreign capital, the Soviet State granting land and existing equipment, and foreign capital giving in return a definite proportion of the output as compensation for the rights it has acquired."

Soviet leaders are wary in entering into negotiations with allied statesmen, Krassin indicated.

"One may anticipate that the financiers and industrialists of Western Europe and the politicians, no less, will undergo a great temptation to utilize their participation in the economic reconstruction of Russia to bring about the economic and political enslavement of our country," M. Krassin said. "If this situation arises an agreement is impossible, and a stubborn and protracted struggle lies before us. For Russia this will mean delay in her economic development and the death of millions. For Europe this will mean a long-drawn-out crisis, ever increasing in extent and gravity; millions of unemployed, and the growth of the sufferings and indignation of the working masses.

MR. E. L. MDANIEL ARRIVES TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE LOCAL TELEPHONE OFFICE

Mr. E. L. McDaniel, of Rocky Mount, has arrived in Greenville to take charge of the local telephone office. Mr. Rives, who was manager before his arrival has been transferred to Rocky Mount.

Mr. McDaniel held a position with the telephone company here several years ago at which time he was connected with the plant department. His family will arrive in a few days and make their home on Fourth street.

That elephant of the G. O. P. seems to be the goat these days.

The proposal to reconsider the Leviathan isn't sailing on smooth waters, by any means.

Now Ireland has been given her freedom she may fight as much as she likes.

By the time the bonus question is settled some of the disabled ex-soldiers will be beyond human aid.

There's one thing certain—those bears on the cotton market don't seem to be troubled by nervousness.

Cotton prices are somewhat stronger these days, indicating that the market hasn't gone to pieces despite belief to the contrary.

It's about time for Senator Lodge to bob up in the Muscle Shoals controversy. Without him the issue will be incomplete.

That old Democratic mule is far more trustworthy than the Republican elephant. At least, he seems to have more soothing effect upon economic conditions.

Those good members of the Republican party who have forgotten promises of campaign should consider the present and see how many have been fulfilled.

If the navy department isn't operating on a paying basis, then it is up to the government to accept contracts usually handled by private concerns as proposed by a member of the senate yesterday. This would give many men employment, and help the department keep busy.

SUBSTITUTE FOR COTTON.

Lespedeza, one of the South's great legumes, is the title of an interesting article prepared for the Lespedeza Seed Growers' Co-operative Assn., Inc., by Dr. R. L. Lewis, Bains, Louisiana, a prominent farmer who is specializing in the growing of this profitable crop.

While the name, Lespedeza, was supposed to have been given this plant by botanists in 1800; it was not until 1880 that it received the attention its merits warranted, as a commercial farm product, under the development of Col. J. B. McGehee, of Laurel Hill, Louisiana, who recognized its value as a feed for farm animals and as a soil builder, and who sang its praises for years. Its place in southern agriculture is due largely to Col. McGehee, says Dr. Lewis.

Lespedeza is an annual, maturing its seed in the fall, which shatter readily and reseed the ground for the coming year. Normally, these seeds which shatter off at maturing time remain dormant until the warmth and moisture germinate them. It is the practice to plant from February 15 to May 1.

The stems and branches of the Lespedeza plant are slender and the leaves small but very numerous. A good crop will grow to the height of 15 to 18 inches, and on fertile soils 30 inches is not unknown. It is estimated that a good stand of Lespedeza will represent a ton of hay for each 6 inches of its growth.

This plant will grow on almost any of the types of soil in the cotton belt, but of course like most other plants does best on a more fertile, well drained soil. It is thought that no plant is more suitable to follow cotton, as Lespedeza brings the soil back to its former state of fertility.

The custom of seeding Lespedeza with oats has become more or less a fixed habit among the producers, as the oats, by virtue of its shade keeps down weeds and grasses and allows the Lespedeza to make rapid growth. However, just as good crops can be produced when the seed is sown alone but seeding with oats has the advantage of giving the planter two crops from the same ground during the year, with but one cost of cultivation. Experience indicates that one bushel of seed (25 lbs.) per acre is about the right amount to be planted. It requires no fertilizer.

Rough little jackets containing the seeds carry enough from the fields from which they are taken to insure perfect inoculation. No special soil preparation is necessary, although it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that soils well supplied with phosphates will produce the greatest growth. The method of harvesting the hay will depend somewhat on the grade of hay desired. In any event, the chief effort should be directed to the preservation of the leaves upon the stem as they constitute a great part of the feeding value. Cutting is not started until the plants are in full bloom, and the hay should not be cut while the dew is on or while wet from rain.

Little need be said in favor of Lespedeza hay as a feed for all kinds of stock after looking at the following comparative analyses: Timothy contains 2.8 percent protein, 28.3 percent carbohydrates and 1.4 percent fats. Lespedeza contains 7.6 percent protein, 31.0 percent carbohydrates and 1.8 percent fats. As compared with other legume hays it has the advantage of being free from woody growth, permitting its entire consumption and is free from the extreme laxative properties which make some legume hays undesirable for work stock.

The Pitt county welfare department is doing great good among the poorer classes and deserves much credit for what it has done the past few months. Every county needs an organization of this kind, as it performs a certain function in society that no other organization can cover. Mr. Futrell is doing everything possible to expand the work and should receive co-operation in every community.

The Reflector is desirous of giving its readers the best news service possible, and will thank them for every news item sent in to us. There are many small happenings it is impossible for our writers to get unless someone tells them of it, and those who want to see the paper filled with plenty of good news daily should help whenever possible. Our service at the time is better than ever before, but can be made even better with assistance of the public.

Greenville has done the big thing by the Jewish relief campaign, and those who contributed may justly feel proud of the great record. Conditions prevailing among the Jews are terrible indeed, and unless the American people improve them the future is somber indeed.

Sharks have been busy in a number of states offering jobs to men and women at Muscle Shoals, as if such jobs really existed. This is a direct violation of state laws, and persons apprehended will be punished. The public should not give credence to such advertisements, as in doing so they merely throw away the good dollar asked in return. The country unfortunately has a number of persons who would rather fleece some poor person out of their hard earnings than do honest labor themselves, and as they are a menace to the nation it is perfectly natural to expect the law to take care of them.

What's the idea of the senate in saving Muscle Shoals for purposes of preparedness when they've just signed a treaty guaranteeing world peace. President Harding certainly can't favor the proposal to keep Muscle Shoals. He is a strong believer in the peace conference.

It used to be said that panics always accompanied Democratic administration. It seems to have been reversed these days, however, if the present can be counted for anything.

It's either widen Dickinson avenue as proposed, or confine traffic to its present proportions. The alternative is entirely with Greenville people, or those residing along that street.

It's strange the way the Republicans opposed the bonus bill and then turned around and favored its passage. Public sentiment, after all, has something to do with politicians, and even Republicans, it seems.

Secretary Denby would reduce naval academy appointments, according to recommendations presented to the senate yesterday. That may be all right, but reducing expenses is what the people want this time.

Banquets and get-together meetings such as the chamber of commerce held last night do much towards establishing a better spirit of co-operation between the public, and should be held more frequently. The addresses and general spirit of cheer and optimism will be long remembered by those in attendance and should have a splendid effect with organization members. The address of Mr. Bartlett was especially of great benefit and contained many facts of interest to everyone.

It is said that Dr. Hubert Work, of Colorado, is certain to receive the appointment as postmaster-general after Hayes retires. If he is "work" all over as the name implies, we are strong for him also.

It is rumored that Lloyd George may retire as prime minister of England and that Arthur J. Balfour will be called to fill his place. The change probably would be all right, but the retirement of Mr. George from English politics would be a blow from which the country would be long in recovering.

The courthouse lawn is as much of an esore today as ever, and it is hoped the county commissioners will reconsider the decision not to make desired improvements. This is one place that should look its best at all times, as the public naturally judges the rest of the county by the appearance of its house of justice.

Reduction of acreage is absolutely necessary if the boll weevil is to be successfully combated in this section. The greater the acreage the more room the pest will have to play. Therefore, it seems advisable to curtail acreage to such extent that the farmer can give every stalk of cotton his personal attention.

The campaign looking to relief of the suffering Jews will be extended through the present week because many people haven't yet subscribed. This will be received with pleasure for although Greenville has oversubscribed its quota we should not stop at that. Huge sums will be required in relieving the suffering people and the more we give, the greater will be relief over there.

The Pitt county chamber of commerce is an active organization as the banquet last night exhibited, and it is the duty of every business man to get behind the body and push to the best of his ability. It is such organizations that help build up the most prosperous communities. They get the people going in one direction and eventually great objects are the outgrowth of their efforts.

Mrs. W. W. Lee Entertains Members of Bridge Club Complimentary to Miss Gladys Bagwell

Mrs. W. W. Lee entertained the members of her bridge club last evening in honor of one of its members, Miss Gladys Bagwell, who will be married in the early spring. The drawing room in which the tables were arranged was artistically decorated with valentines. The score cards were also in keeping with the Valentine season. After several interesting progressions, Miss Dorothy White announced with a great noise at the front door, that she had a Valentine for the honoree. Upon opening the large Valentine Miss Bagwell found a beautiful shower of hand made handkerchiefs. She expressed her appreciation of the gifts and stated that she did not know that Valentine held such a surprise for her.

Miss Emily Little making the top score was presented a gold pencil, and Miss Bagwell a lovely piece of lingerie. Before departing the guests were served a tempting salad course.

MRS. W. C. HARRIS GIVES ENTERTAINMENT AT ARTHUR

(Reported for the Reflector.) The entertainment given at the Arthur school auditorium Friday evening by Mrs. W. C. Harris was a success. The audience was not only large but very appreciative, and Mrs. Harris was at her best. She changed her program in many places, substituting selections of a more humorous nature. Mrs. Harris kept her audience in a roar of laughter throughout the evening.

The program consisted of dramatic, grave and humorous readings, monologues and various impersonations, including child impersonations and negro dialect. There were 25 selections in all and they were all given in a skillful and artful manner so that the audience always saw the represented individual.

During the intermissions Miss Sarah Butt rendered many instrumental selections and Miss Howard sang in a most pleasing manner. Refreshments were sold during the evening.

TARBORO PEOPLE PLEASE WITH CONCERT

The concert given by Mrs. T. J. Farrar, Miss Gattie Cherry, and Mr. Rob Rawls, at the White Theatre on last Friday evening, was one of the most enjoyable musical events, ever presented in Greenville. Mrs. Farrar has a splendidly trained, rich contralto voice, which was especially fine as she sang, "Till I Wake," an Indian Love Lyric from the Garden of Kama. All of her selections were well-chosen and showed careful study and power of interpretation. Miss Cherry sang with her usual ease and brilliancy, and in her singing of "The Star," by Rogers, displayed a soprano voice, of wide range and flexibility. In their duet, "Barcarolle," from the Tales of Hoffmann, these ladies gave evidence of that fine sympathy for each other, which is so necessary to the good singing of a duet, and the blending of their voices was highly pleasing. As an accompanist, Mr. Rawls, was indispensable. His work at the piano was all that any singer could desire, and the only regret that was registered about his part of the program, was that he failed to play a solo and give his audience a chance to applaud his work as a pianist. Eastern North Carolina, has in these three artists a trio to be proud of, and it is to be hoped that they will appear in Greenville again soon.

Round Table Meets.

The ladies of the Round Table were most charmingly entertained by Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was unique in more than one way. It fell on St. Valentine's day and the hostess in memory of the dear saint who did so much to make people happy (specially young people) carried out the Valentine idea in decoration and favors. It was unique again in that it fell on the hostess birthday, and Valentine got in his work again, which caused a good deal of merriment.

The president, Mrs. Winslow brought the business before the club, which was largely State Federation interests. This was handled through the proper channels, after which the treasurer was instructed to pay all outstanding obligations. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee and Mrs. J. R. Moye delighted every one present with a splendid paper on Mathew Arnold, closing with the poem Rugby Chapel. Mrs. Leland Grant then gave a very lucid characterization of Carlyle and Ruskin, which was greatly enjoyed by all, after which she called for quotations from these three great writers and as the different members gave their quotation, each felt that they had a clearer understanding of characters of these men, who served their day and generation so nobly. The musical numbers by Mrs. Louis Gaylord and Mrs. Grant added great-

What Kind of a Battery Would You Sell?

Would it be a cheap battery that the manufacturers wouldn't stand back of? Or a high-priced battery that made no attempt at economy? Or a sound, well built battery that sells at a fair price and that gives the most miles of uninterrupted service per dollar, as does the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery? Experience has proved our wisdom in choosing the Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation. Come in—and we'll tell you how it will save money for you.

Teachers Meet.

Bethel, Feb. 15.—The county district teachers meeting for the northern half of Pitt embracing Carolina, Belvoir and Bethel townships, was held with the Bethel High school yesterday. There were about twenty-five teachers in attendance at this meeting. Owing to the bad conditions of roads others could not be present.

Mr. L. C. Brogden, of the State department of education was present to address the teachers on some better methods of instruction, to which the teachers gave a very attentive hearing. Mr. R. G. Fitzgerald, county superintendent of Pitt, gave a splendid report of the progress of the work in the county.

The first half of the day was given to observation of the work in the rooms and practical demonstrations in teachings, while afternoon session was given over to discussion of problems in teaching and the reading circle work. A matter of wide interest was considered in the work of a field day exercise of general athletic events and a contest in the grade work in reading, writing, phonics and etc. There will be a district elimination contest some time late in March, the field day event for the entire county is set for April 3rd.

Miss Macy Southall, primary supervisor for the county gave a report of the results of the tests given 26 hundred Pitt county grammar grade children, all of these according to her report averaged below the medium for the county and state.

Potato Houses Favored.

Mr. M. O. Blount reports that the proposition put forth by him recently to encourage the growing of more sweet potatoes for the early market has met with the approval of the farmers hereabout to warrant him in perfecting his plans to bed at least one car load of the yellow stem Jerseys to grow slips for his customers. His plan is to try something else now in the place of cotton and not wait until the "boll weevil" has gotten you and then cry out "O what shall I do? I can't grow cotton."

Jewish Relief Success.

Dr. Cecil Garrenton, chairman of the local committee on Jewish relief reports that the allotment of Bethel and community has been over subscribed by at least thirty-three and a third percent.

May Increase Tobacco Average

The indications now are that the tobacco farmers will plant a large acreage of the weed this year. The sale of plant bed cloth will probably be double that of any previous year according to the reports of the merchants. It is to be hoped that the farmers will profit by the experience of the past and go slow in increasing the acreage of their money crops. If the bright leaf tobacco belt plants an unusually large crop this year it means low prices regardless of any benefit that might have been derived from co-operative marketing.

"NO DEFENSE" IS THRILLING TALE OF OPEN COUNTRY

Action Is Blending of Mining Life, Society and Political Intrigue.

"No Defense," which will be shown at White's Theatre tonight deals with the dramatic experience of John Manning, a young engineer, whose affection for a beautiful young woman is returned but whose mother objects on the grounds that Manning is a poor financial possibility.

North, through the perfidy of a partner, Hulst, Manning is accused of a murder. Instead of returning to his home on a scheduled boat he becomes a hunted man. Previous to leaving for the northwest, Manning secretly married his sweetheart. Passenger lists of the ill-fated steamer on which Manning was supposed to be making his way home, leads his wife to believe he has perished.

Urged by her mother, she finally marries the district attorney who long had sought her hand. Manning's partner, Hulst, who had committed the crime for which Manning has been charged in the north, returns home.

Manning, desperate, hunted and ill, manages to make his escape and returns in time to catch Hulst threatening to expose his wife to her second husband. It is then that Manning learns his wife had remarried, under impression that she was a widow.

Manning's wife had not told her new husband of the marriage with Manning. When Manning interferes between Hulst and his wife, the former endeavors to kill Manning. His wife, while going to his rescue accidental steps on the gun trigger, which goes off and kills Hulst, Manning induces his wife to leave before the servants arrive and then calmly confesses to the crime. Despite efforts of his wife to save her first husband, the district attorney fails to interfere. Manning is convicted and sentenced to death.

His wife threatens to kill herself and leave a confession implicating her second husband in guilty knowledge; as she has informed him of how Hulst was killed. A pardon is granted.

The second husband agrees to a quiet separation and Manning and his west that they love.

"DRUNKARD DADDY" SAYS HIS EXAMPLE EFFECTIVE

(By International News) Attleboro, Mass.—When asked by Judge Haggerty in the district court, what kind of an example he thought he was to his family of four children, Francis McCarthy of North Attleboro, answering to a charge of drunkenness for the sixteenth time, replied that he considered himself a good example.

He claimed that, inasmuch as he had a long record and that not one of his sons was a drunkard, he thought he provided an example of the curse of drink. McCarthy declared that his sons had grown up to be total abstainers.

Judge Haggerty placed McCarthy on probation.

help the children of the entire community secure an education. The township school is the solution, for the children of the whole community should have equal opportunity with those of the town. If we can lead the people outside to realize the advantages of a unity of educational interests, we will accomplish much. In bringing this idea to the minds of the people there is an open door of opportunity to this organization.

Mr. Rose here referred to the discussion in recent months of another bond issue to provide Greenville with larger school facilities to meet the increasing need, and told of a meeting of the local board of school directors held yesterday afternoon. The board realized that the time has passed to plan for Greenville alone, but that the whole community must be considered. With this view it was decided best to first ascertain how large a territory can be brought together in a cooperation of interests, and then make plans to increase the facilities commensurate with the needs of the territory embraced.

The social activities of the chamber of commerce was given by Mr. F. C. Harding. He began by declaring the broadest and widest field of activity for the chamber of commerce is in developing the social life of the county. The social side is a great power in the community. What do we mean by the chamber of commerce being a builder socially? Man is a social being and wants comradeship. It is comradeship that changed this world from a howling wilderness to a land of civilization and opportunity. When a man finds himself touching elbows with his fellows that is comradeship. This is found in the lodge room, in the home, in the churches, in the women's clubs. It is comradeship that brings us all together in recognizing the individual. Take the link of half surfaced road, he said, that has united two of the best towns in the east—Greenville and Farmville—in real comradeship. Look at Farmville's magnificent school building as one of the results. Every town in the county should be thus joined. Haywood Dall's idea to establish a country club about midway on this fine thoroughfare between Greenville and Farmville will be another advance in comradeship and cause the towns in neighboring counties to be building good roads in our direction. Schools and churches will come and thrive when the Pitt county chamber of commerce infuses among the people of the county the real spirit of comradeship.

The toastmaster here expressed regret that Mr. J. W. Holmes of Farmville, who was to speak on the subject agriculturally, was prevented from being present, and then introduced Mr. E. G. Flanagan to speak of the individual member's responsibility. It is the biggest subject of all, said Mr. Flanagan, to get in your mind what is your responsibility as a member of the chamber of commerce. If you rely on the officers of the organization to do all the work you will not see much progress. You may ask what can I do? One thing is pay your dues promptly. Then take all the load possible from the shoulders of your officers by doing your part as an individual. Do what you can and we will have an organization the county will be proud of. We have a God favored community, and it is possible to make this the greatest county in the world.

Dr. Ellen, president of the chamber, was asked to make announcement of the district meeting in Goldsboro today to select a district vice president and secretary. He told of the 39 eastern counties coming together in a district organization, that they proposed to also have a local organization in every county and to make this section of North Carolina the foremost spot in the world. Secretary H. L. Smith expressed his gratification at the fine attendance at the banquet under such unfavorable weather conditions. It shows the interest and loyalty of the members, a spirit that will carry influence. He told how the reputation of the Pitt county chamber of commerce has already gone broadcast and that letters of inquiry from all parts of the county are coming to him.

The gem of the evening then came in the address of Mr. N. G. Bartlett of Dublin, Ga., secretary of the chamber of commerce of his home county, who was the honor guest at the banquet. Mr. Bartlett told of the wonderful development that had come to his county through the influence of their chamber of commerce. It had been the largest cotton producing county in Georgia and about the largest purchaser of grain, hay and meat from other States. To get the farmer to break away from this one crop idea and make the county self supporting was the construction program of the chamber of commerce and it wrought a wonderful change in a few years. Make a community wealthier and you make it happier. That is what we set out to do and succeeded in the effort. The greatest opportunity of the chamber of commerce is to bring the city and county together. It means more than can be estimated in value to the community where such an organization is loyally supported. Get the individual to see his responsibility to the community. We all have a common interest and should link up to push the program for community progress. The town is dependent upon the country and our greatest interest lies in agricultural development.

Mr. Bartlett said he had heard much of North Carolina and the Tar Heel spirit and was greatly impressed with the magnitude of this fine spirit found during his few hours stay in Greenville. He hoped that good fortune would bring him this way again. He also expressed pleasure at seeing the ladies participating with the men in these activities for community welfare.

Mr. Wright reminded the speaker at the close that Greenville had the best slogan in the world—"Our Greenville, Yours If You Come," and that some day we will show him that Greenville is the best town and Pitt the best county in the world.

On motion of Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse the chamber adopted a resolution endorsing the district chamber.

BRITAIN GRABS OIL FIELDS IN FRANCE

Frenchman Shows How San Remo Pact Will Tax America Billions

By F. A. WILAY International News Service Staff Correspondent

London, Feb. 14.—How British diplomacy persuaded France to deliver up to Great Britain all her actual potential oil fields is told by Monsieur Francis Delais in his book entitled "Oil—Its Influence on Politics."

Mr. Delais described how under the treaty of Versailles, all the booty, immediately realizable went to Britain, while France received advantages realizable in a more or less distant future. The United States stood outside the negotiations and thus left the field free for Britain.

At the time of the treaty of San Remo, he recounts, French prestige was at a low ebb in the Near East because the Emir Feisal was pushing the Senegalese battalions of General Gouraud towards the Syrian coast. The moment was dangerous for France. And the strangest part of it all was—and everybody knew it—that the power of Emir Feisal depended upon the arms, the money and the support of the British.

"Then Lord Curzon said: 'Sign the agreement with the Royal Dutch and you shall have Syria.' M. Millerand accepted. Immediately, Feisal was left to himself. Thus the triumphal entry of General Gouraud into Damascus was paid for by the abandonment of all of our resources."

The San Remo agreement relates to Rumania, Asia Minor, the territories of the old Russian Empire, French colonies and British Crown colonies, and it may be extended to other countries by mutual consent.

"It is therefore, not only the oil fields of Mesopotamia, says M. Delais, which are abandoned to the British trust, but in fact the whole of our oil interests, present and future, whether in the colonies or abroad."

Furthermore, he points out, as the British trust, thanks to its personnel and to its special equipment, is alone in a position to begin exploitation, the part of our business men will be limited, as usual, to finding capital. The Americans are thus rigidly excluded from that part of the Rumanian oil fields which may fall to the share of France.

The San Remo agreement also lays down that the oil is to be exploited by a private company which shall be under British control.
