FREMONT TO PLAY BELHAVEN CLUB IN THIS CITY FRIDAY

Champions of Two Groups to Play Next to Final Game of Series at Warehouse Here

A game that promises to outclass anything seen here this season will be staged at Forbes & Morton's warehouse tomorrow night at eight o'clock when Fremont and Belhaven, champions of their particular groups, clash for championship honors.

Both Fremont and Belhaven have played in Greenville before this season, and Greenville people are already aware of the splendid brand of ball they are capable of putting up.

Representatives of each club met in Raleigh several days ago to decide where the championship games should be played, and Fremont and Belhaven unanimously agreed on Greenville, because of the splendid quarters afforded by the warehouse and excellent support given by the public.

Coach Duncan, of the Greenville team, stated this morning that Greenville people should appreciate the attitude of the two clubs towards the city, and attended the game in large numbers.

BUS COMPETITION CAUSES STIR WITH SURFACE CAR MEN

Utilities Convention Hears Pleas For High Earnings and "No Jitters"

(By International News.) Indianapolis.—There is no indication that the cost of operating electric railways will reach the pre-war level for several years at least, and higher earnings must be maintained according to J. W. McCardle, chairman of the Indiana public service commission, declared today.

Continuous advertising of the public utility situation through newspapers and other mediums was endorsed by Mr. McCardle.

"There is reliable authority for believing that the new price level—one that will be sustained for many years—will be very much higher than the pre-war price level," he believing that it will be fifty per cent higher than the pre-war price level.

"Whether it is fifty per cent or forty per cent or thirty per cent higher than the pre-war price level regulatory bodies may use average unit prices as much higher than pre-war prices as the new level is found to be higher than the old."

How trackless transportation—either bus, truck or trackless carriers run on trolley wires—may be co-ordinated with regular electric railway service will be discussed thoroughly by the association here. Representatives of more than eight hundred electric railways will participate.

This is the first time in the history of the electric railway association that the question of trackless transportation has been made a major subject on the program of its annual meetings.

Mr. B. S. Sumrell of Ayden was in Greenville this morning on business.

BASEBALL FANS TO HOLD A MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT

Manager Guy Smith Urges Everybody Interested in Our League to Attend Meeting

The first step looking toward Greenville's participation in the Eastern Carolina league this season will be taken at a meeting to be held in rooms of the Carolina club tomorrow night at eight o'clock, according to information made public this morning by G. V. Smith, manager of the Greenville club last season.

Ladies as well as men are invited to attend this meeting, Mr. Smith stated, as everyone is interested in what action Greenville is going to take in the matter. Other towns have already held meetings of the kind and agreed to enter the league, and if Greenville doesn't act quickly she will be late in getting down to business.

Farmville at the present time is soliciting subscriptions for purpose of entering the league, and with both these Pitt county towns in the game the summer months will be filled with greater interest than ever before. Kinston, New Bern and Washington also have definitely decided to seek another berth in the organization, while there is strong probability of Goldsboro's entrance.

Mr. Smith urges that the attendance tomorrow night be as large as possible, as to what is to be done must be at once, as it will soon be time to begin hiring players and other matters looking to perfecting of the club. Greenville made a splendid showing last season after getting a late start, and it is believed we will do even better this year if we get things moving earlier.

DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING DEPT. IS ADDED TO LAUNDRY

Greenville Laundry Adds New Department Under Supervision of R. F. McLenore

The Greenville Laundry, owned and managed by J. P. Rowlett, yesterday afternoon announced the opening of a dry cleaning, pressing and repairing department in connection with his regular laundry business. The new department is in charge of Mr. B. F. McLenore, an experienced tailor who was located in Greenville several years ago.

The department is one of the most complete and up-to-date in Eastern Carolina, and places the establishment in position to turn out large volumes of work in a quick, satisfactory manner. The machinery was purchased by the laundry sometime ago, but has been idle because of the inability of Mr. Rowlett to secure experienced help.

Patrons of the laundry are invited to visit the new department and see for themselves the class of work it is capable of turning out.

An advertisement, giving reasons why the public should patronize the department, is carried in today's issue of this paper.

CLASS OF SUNDAY SCHOOL HUSTLERS

(Reported for Reflector.) It is doubtful if there is an organized class of men in Greenville that has gone forward in numbers and activities as has the Baraca class of the town, which meets at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Two years ago this class had an enrollment of forty members and an average attendance of twenty-five. Today they have an enrollment of one hundred and twenty with an average attendance of eighty.

35,000 MINERS' FAMILIES ARE IN HUNGER TODAY

Union Men Tell of Conditions Bordering on Starvation, Due to the Labor War

(By International News.) New York.—Thirty five thousand families of miners in West Virginia are in danger of starvation because of the wide unemployment in that State, according to Fred Moore, secretary of District 17 of the United Mine Workers of America.

Mooney came to New York with Frank L. Snyder, editor of the West Virginia Federalist, and W. T. Harris, president of the West Virginia State Federation of Labor, raising funds for the destitute miners.

There are 70,000 miners in West Virginia out of work today, Mooney said. Among them are many who have not worked more than three months since the armistice was signed in 1918. They are from the Kanawha fields and the Grafton fields in northern West Virginia.

"Miners in the Kanawha field have been operating less than 10 percent in the last four months. In the Grafton field, out of 121 mines seventeen are operating part time, which is generally about two or three days a week.

A few days ago I talked to miners at Michigan and Elmo, W. Va., who had not a bite to eat for three days. At Beach Glenn, W. Va., in Fayette county, they have only worked fourteen days in 1920 and 1921. In Mount Clare there are 600 miners who have worked but thirty days in the last two years.

It was said the hearings could not be concluded this week, as three bids have been presented the government by Ford and the Alabama Power company.

COMMUNITY SING TO BE STAGED IN AYDEN ON FRIDAY

Interesting Event Planned at Free Will Baptist Church by Red Cross Chapter

Miss Louise Hubbard, who has been busy conducting a Red Cross survey in the town of Ayden, has made arrangements for holding a community sing at the Free Will Baptist auditorium in Ayden Friday night, according to information received here this morning.

The sing was to have been held the latter part of last year, but was postponed because of revival services which were in progress in the town at the time. The community, however, has been planning for the event in a vigorous manner, and it is expected it will be one of the most auspicious and interesting held in the county in many months.

The community sing idea has received favorable attention in many parts of the county, but so far only a few have been able to arrange for them on a large scale. Ayden, however, plans to pull off one of the greatest yet staged, and if plans work out as desired, it will be everything planned.

The county Red Cross chapter has been very active in advancing the spirit engendered by community sings, and that in Ayden Friday night in all probability will be the first of a series to be held during spring and summer months. Great co-operation is produced through such meetings, and Ayden no doubt will derive great benefit from the experience.

ALABAMA LAWYERS TO SUPPORT FORD AT MUSCLE SHOALS

State Legislature Plans to Hold a Meeting and Take Action to Support Ford

(By International News.) Washington, March 2.—If opponents of Henry Ford seem to be gaining in strength and his chances of getting Muscle Shoals seem in jeopardy a special session of the Alabama legislature may be called to take whatever action may be considered practicable in an effort to assist the manufacturer.

This fact was well authenticated at the capital today. Declarations of prominent legislators indicated there is a depth of feeling in the matter and indicated belief that a special session could devise ways and means for helping Ford to get the project.

The public believes Ford would be better able to develop the project than the company now holding the property, as they have had a chance of improving it and failed. Feeling over the issue is stronger today than ever before and concerted action in Ford's behalf is expected momentarily.

SWAMP CHURCH TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION MARCH 9

Extensive Advertising Campaign Under Way For Sale of House Station Property

The Great Swamp church property, located at House Station near this city, will be sold at public auction Thursday, March 9th, according to advertising matter being distributed in this section today. The sale will occur promptly at 11 o'clock on the property, and from all indications, will be largely attended.

This property consists of one good frame dwelling, which can be used as church, lodge or dwelling property, and about six acres of land. It is situated about a half mile north of House Station, just off the proposed hard surfaced road from Greenville to Bethel. This sale is being made by trustees of the church to secure funds with which to erect a new building.

The sale was scheduled to have taken place sometime ago, but was postponed because of inclement weather. Those having disposition of the property in charge are making an effort to have a large crowd present at the sale, and an extensive advertising campaign is in progress with this end in view.

EASTERN CAROLINA CHAMBER OFFICERS ASK FOR SUPPORT

President and Secretary of Recently Organized Body Write Letters Outlining Activity

The following letter from Dr. C. J. Ellen, president and H. L. Smith temporary secretary of the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce, was today mailed out to members of the body and will be of interest to those desiring to know exactly what the organization means to accomplish:

This letter, though in circular form, is intended to be a personal note from your President and Temporary Secretary. This letter is to announce the creation of an Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, comprising the Coastal Plain region of North Carolina and all of the thirty-nine counties east of the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line.

The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, which was definitely launched at Goldsboro on February 15th, was organized to promote, develop and protect every interest included in the Coastal region of North Carolina; to employ every means possible to combat the pestiferous little bug known as the boll weevil; to wage an intensive campaign for raising cotton and tobacco only after our children can drink plenty of wholesome milk; have access to a variety of fresh vegetables, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, chickens, turkeys, eggs, to raise cotton and tobacco only after we have made our farms self-sustaining by producing every pound of meat, every bushel of corn, every gallon of syrup, every bundle of hay, that is needed for man and beast; to advertise Eastern Carolina resources to Eastern Carolina folk and to the outside world.

The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce is not a State Chamber of Commerce, and is organized for the purpose of dealing with problems common only to this Coastal Plain region, and unknown to other sections of the State.

May we hear the clarion call of eastern North Carolina and unite our every constituency toward the realization of our dreams for this section. May every resource, moral and financial, be marshalled so that the boll weevil will not cause depression to stalk through our streets and highways. May we hear the cry of the drummer boy, who ordered by Napoleon to beat a retreat, answered: "Sir, I have never learned to beat a retreat. But I can beat a march that will wake the dead and make them live and fight again."

Yours for a greater Eastern North Carolina,

DR. C. J. ELLEN, President Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce.

H. L. SMITH, Temporary Secretary Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce.

Member Chamber Commerce of the United States.

If the senate continues to discuss the bonus question they will have to raise another sum to support the senate controversy.

Inaugurating an ambitious program of government and making it effective are entirely different matters as most any Republican by this time will reluctantly admit.

Even President Harding will admit that it is much easier to talk about doing a thing than to "do it." The past several months have taught him many lessons he will be long forgetting.

Senator Lodge gave congress hell in a recent speech, according to his own version, but congress didn't mind that as the senator is too stingy to give much of anything—hell, or otherwise.

President Harding says the influence of the United States will be measured by the number of merchant ships sailing the high seas. Mistakes. American participation in the league of nations would mean more to preserving the country than all the ships in the world.

The Greenville high school basketball team made a pretty good record this year despite occasional handicaps and prospects for next season are very bright indeed. The training received this year will enable the boys to put out a much faster team next season, and it is up to the public to support them as much as possible.

The people who kick most about excessive taxation are generally the ones to propose something to increase it. We have all the taxes we want in Pitt county, but improvement of the public school system is going to keep us stretching the strings of our wallets sometime to come.

While it is certain construction work in widening Dickinson avenue will not be possible in several months, it is hoped the committee having the work in charge will continue to boost the issue. This is something in which everyone is interested as the city can never grow and expand as desired until this important thoroughfare has been widened to give traffic more space.

Pitt county farmers shouldn't forget the importance of reducing cotton and tobacco acreage, as the future of the industry is to be largely determined by action in this matter. The tobacco market has been glutted hopelessly several months and to plant another large crop on top of it would mean nothing more than ruin. The fact should be carefully considered by every planter, and so each may govern himself accordingly.

People in Montgomery, Alabama, are all wrought up over Muscle Shoals proposition, fearing that the government isn't going to favor the proposal of Henry Ford. As a result, a mass meeting has been held urging the acceptance of the Ford offer. The government should consider the request from the people of this state, as it is up to them to decide whether the presence of Mr. Ford or officials of the Alabama Power Company is most desirable. They will be the ones to have to mix with them, and certainly should have a say so in the matter.

Greenville people can't afford not to participate in the Eastern Carolina league this season, and sooner fans get busy and make our club a surety the better everyone will like it. Farmville, our neighboring town, is busy now trying to raise a large sum of money for its club, and this should inspire local people to activity immediately. With these two towns in the league our people would have an opportunity of witnessing something well worth seeing during the dull summer months, and no one would have any regret. To be sure a ball club costs money, but considering the pleasure derived from the game, this is a mighty small matter. Everybody is in favor of good baseball, and it is hoped they will get busy and see how soon our club can be made possible.

It is gratifying to note that the federal government is going to take action to prevent the impending coal strike, as such an unfortunate event at the present time would prove disastrous. The miners should be easily persuaded to accept a reduction of wages. They have enjoyed great prosperity in the past, and can't expect the same conditions to prevail always. Strikes of the kind must be averted if the country is to recover from deflation of the present and workmen in every branch of industry should put their shoulders to the wheel and do their part to make this possible.

Government officials say now that it isn't necessary to reduce acreage to combat the boll weevil menace this year. This is contrary to all good advice received from regions where the pest has visited, and it seems to us they should know more about what to do than officials of the government. The wisdom of reduced acreage can be easily seen, and the farmer who goes ahead and plants more cotton than he can carefully look after will be subject to conditions more serious than anticipated. The proposal to plant the same kind of cotton may be advisable, but usual acreage will mean ruin to even the most prosperous.

The value of live stock in the United States experienced a noticeable decrease the past year. The fact is to be regretted, as stock raising is an industry that means prosperity in every section that has given it proper consideration. The future demands more attention to the industry than ever, as lack of demand for the most important crops makes it imperative for the farmer to turn his attention to something equally as lucrative. Stock raising may be risky, but not any more than crop production, and the grower who takes the risk will make money out of it, there's no question about that.

To Members of the Woman Exchange
 This is to notify all members of the Woman's Exchange that their membership for the past year has expired and those who wish to renew their membership or those who intend to join for this year are requested to do so at an early date so they can have advantage of the exchange's services for the entire year.

Truisms From Dr. Truett.

The church is not an ethical club; the church is the body of Christ. It is not reformation that we need primarily; it is regeneration.

There are no substitutes for prayer.

The greatest dignity that God has conferred upon man is the dignity of choice, and at the same time it is his greatest peril.

The best argument for Christianity is the right kind of a Christian, and the poorest argument for Christianity is a careless believer.

The greatest sociological problem in this country is idleness. Even John The Baptist when shut up in idleness sent out to inquire if Christ were genuine.

You might ask God to give you a million dollars, and he would love you too much to give it to you.

We can't play any tricks with God.

EXPLOSION WRECKED BANK OF FAIRMONT

Yeggmen Got Away With Over $1,000; Much Damage to Bank Building.

Fairmont, March 2.—Yeggmen this morning wrecked the Bank of Fairmont and escaped with $1,345 in silver and some pennies. A large quantity of explosives were used in an effort to break the time lock of the vault but to no avail. The robbers finally entering the vault by mastering the combination. The total loss has not been estimated, and will not be known until the debris has been cleared away.

The explosion in the bank occurred about 4:30 o'clock this morning. One eye-witness told of seeing a man leave the bank building without his hat before the blast was heard. The hat was later found in the structure. The explosion caused a fire in the vault which resulted in damage to bank books and important documents, the extent of which has not yet been determined.

The president and cashier state that the loss is fully covered by insurance and that no losses will be sustained by customers. Bank officials and the police are working on several clues that may lead to developments as to the identity of the yeggmen.

Much damage was caused by the explosion, which partially wrecked the bank building.

SCIENCE TO TRANSFORM MENTAL NONENTITY INTO A NORMAL PERSON

Fairmont, W. Va.—Science is going to transform Columbus W. Heltzel, thirty-seven, of Philippi, Barbour county, from a mental nonentity to a normal-minded person.

When Heltzel was nine years old he was kicked by a horse. At nineteen he was struck on the head with a stone crusher and a deep gash inflicted. This his health failed and he lost his memory.

Several months ago he was brought to Cook hospital and an X-ray picture revealed some foreign substance back of the ear on his head. An operation was performed and a piece of scissors blade about an inch in length which was imbedded in the brain was removed. He soon left the hospital. He was taken to the home of his brother, L. O. Heltzel at Philippi and is recovering his memory. He knows those about him and is able to perform tasks about the house.

For eighteen months prior to the operation Heltzel wandered about in a "twilight zone". With the body of a man he had the mind of a child. He is now improving rapidly in his mental and physical condition. Doctors believe he will soon be normal.

MOVE MADE TO BUILD UP GREATER INDUSTRIES HERE

War Time Trades Are Dying Out, So the Government Aims to Create Others

(By International News.) Washington.—Facing the loss of various industries which sprang up during the war, and are now dying out in this country, various government agencies are at work in an effort to build up the more valuable ones.

Among these defunct activities is the manufacture of optical glass in the United States. Most of this material came from foreign sources, especially Germany, prior to the war. When war interrupted the sources of supply an impetus was given manufacturing genius in the United States, which has since gradually disappeared.

The optical industry is of value to the country not only for economic reasons, it is pointed out today by a naval official, but also for war purposes, without which supply our military and naval manufactures would be greatly hampered.

According to the navy particularly, is engaged in stimulating as much as possible the manufacture of optical glass in this country, in an endeavor to keep it alive.

The same applies to aircraft facories of private control. In an effort to encourage the invaluable source of defensive power the navy, as well as the Army and other agencies, is lending every possible aid. The navy itself has refrained from building its own planes in a desire to furnish occupation for an infant industry which has suffered seriously since the war robbed it of its market.

GOVERNOR MORRISON GRANTS WRIGHT ROUSE THIRTY DAYS RESPIRE

Wright Rouse, aged negro waiting death sentence at the State prison for the murder of William Whitley, Greene county farmer, received his third respite at the hands of Governor Morrison Tuesday, according to information made public at the governor's office yesterday. Governor Morrison was in New York at the time, and wired Secretary Richardson to make out papers granting an additional thirty day respite to the colored man. Many appeals have been made to the governor in behalf of the old negro, each contending he should receive punishment similar to that of Tom Hays and Mrs. Whitley who hired him to commit the awful crime. Governor Morrison will probably take action immediately after he returns from New York.
