SEVERAL KILLED IN TERRIFIC FIGHTING IN CITY OF BELFAST

Nine Persons Killed and Several Wounded in Reign of Terror in City Last Night.

HEAVY FIRING REPORTED IN MANY PARTS OF CITY DURING LAST FEW HOURS

Rebels and Soldiers of Provisions Government Face Each Other Ready For Battle.

(By International News.) Belfast, March 7.—Nine persons were reported dead today as result of Belfast's latest reign of terror. Forty or more persons were wounded in terrific street fighting occurring during the night. Heavy firing occurred throughout the city during the night. The arm of a newbomb was blown off by an exploding bomb.

This city is an armed camp with heavily armed forces of loyal Irish army troops and between five and six hundred rebels facing each other in readiness for battle.

At noon mutinous battalions of Lincoln and Tipperary troops failed to obey the ultimatum of the Irish provisional government to withdraw forces and fighting is expected momentarily.

Stores in the business section of the city are closed today, and many persons have left the city fearing violence of street fighting.

A message from Dublin stated that a battle between loyal troops of the regular Irish army and revolting Limerick and Tipperary battalions is expected hourly. The provisional government served an ultimatum ordering the rebels to vacate barracks. Mediators today were trying to get rebels to lay down arms and become peaceful.

FARMVILLE ROAD TO BE OPENED TO PUBLIC TOMORROW

Construction Work Completed and Everything in Readiness for Opening Connecting Link

Construction work on the connecting link of hard surfaced road from Greenville to Farmville has been completed and will be opened to traffic tomorrow, according to information issued by the highway commission today.

Traffic between Farmville and Greenville has been conducted by a detour on the outskirts of this city the past few weeks, but after today the new road will be opened and the direct route to Farmville may be traveled.

This information will be received with interest in both Greenville and Farmville communities as the little stretch of road has been a matter of considerable controversy several months, or since completion of the main road system.

The detour has been made under considerable difficulty because of the heavy rainfall of late, and traffic has been greatly reduced. With opening of the road and better weather it is expected that business between Greenville and Farmville will be revived to no little extent.

SIX KILLED AND FORTY INJURED IN TERRIFIC CYCLONE

Augusta, Ga., March 7.—Six persons are known to have been killed and forty injured as result of a cyclone which swept through Warrenville, South Carolina early this morning. Scores of houses were demolished by the terrific windstorm. Many of the dead are white people. Medical assistance was rushed to the scene immediately.

Postmasters in every section of the United States are working in close harmony with the newspaper editors in their communities in keeping the New Issue Treasury Savings Certificates constantly before the investing public.

FAREWELL CASES TRIED BY JUDGE LANDIS

Keneaw Mountain Landis no longer is a Federal Judge. He has tried his last case, pronounced his farewell sentence from the bench, laid down his gavel and entered into his duties as dictator of organized baseball. The famous erstwhile jurist here is shown in a characteristic pose as he pronounced sentence on his last day in court on a man who had fleeced his partner in a business deal. A fine of $5,000 was imposed.

STIRRING SERMON DELIVERED BEFORE THE PRESBYTERIANS

Mr. Mathis Speaks on "Sowing and Reaping" at Presbyterian Revival Services.

Mr. Mathis sermon last evening at the Presbyterian church was a masterpiece of eloquence and logic. His theme was "Sowing and Reaping." He began by calling the attention of his hearers to the much overlooked fact, that death is nothing as compared with life, that life is the momentous thing because it fixes our destiny to which we pass through the little wicket-gate called death. He then developed the truth that life is our sowing time, and that all sow seed day by day, just as truly as God is upon His throne. We sow by our example; we sow by our influence; we sow by our words; we sow by the power of mind over matter; there is no living human being without influence, and influence means a harvest someday.

He then developed the certainty of the sowing; the certainty of the reaping; the fact that the reaping is always greater than the sowing. He exposed the falseness of the philosophy that God in forgiving a man's sin, also removes the price he has to pay for sin. He did this in an absolutely unanswerable way, as he called witness after witness to the stand, and wrong their confessions from them. He closed with an appeal for the Christ-life as the only way for men to pass safely through the little wicket-gate into the destiny which eternity holds for them. Those who sat beneath the sermon will never forget what they heard and saw.

Mr. Mathis will preach again tonight, and Mr. Phillips announced that the song service would begin at 7:45 instead of eight. Don't let the weather keep you away from the service tonight. Come yourself and bring a friend. The entire public is cordially invited.

GREENVILLE DECIDES TO PARTICIPATE IN THE EASTERN CAROLINA LEAGUE TO ORGANIZE AT KINSTON WEDNESDAY

Committee Appointed at Meeting Last Night to Attend Kinston Meeting.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DRAFT CONTRACT FOR PARK AT FAIR GROUNDS

Definite Action to be Taken at Meeting Here After Kinston Organization Meeting.

Greenville will have a baseball team this season if the Eastern Carolina league becomes an actuality.

This decision was reached at an enthusiastic meeting of fans held in rooms of the chamber of commerce here last night, when every matter pertaining to our participation in the league was considered and discussed at length.

One of the most important things done at the meeting was to appoint a committee to attend a meeting of eastern cities to be conducted at Kinston Wednesday night of this week. The committee to attend this meeting is composed of G. V. Smith, former manager of the Greenville team, J. C. Lanier, W. Z. Morton, W. S. Moye, H. A. Bost and Raymond Moore.

The Kinston meeting will determine whether the league will be an actuality, and the committee has been assured that delegations from Goldsboro, New Bern, Washington and Farmville will be present to take part in the organization work.

The class of ball to be played this season was taken up, and sentiment favored unorganized ball, with the local team to be supported entirely by public contributions as last year.

Grounds for the coming season was also discussed, some proposing a park owned by the club and others the fair grounds. The fair grounds was decided upon and a committee appointed to draw up the contract and designate the price the team is to pay owners of this property.

The meeting was probably one of the most enthusiastic held here in many years, and indicated the town is to have splendid support.

BASEBALL CONFAB WILL BE HELD IN CITY OF KINSTON

Meeting of Eastern Towns to Organize League Scheduled for Wednesday Night

Kinston, March 7.—The big baseball confab for the organization of the Eastern Carolina League, set several days ago for Wednesday at Kinston, although reported by the New Bern Sun-Journal to be changed to Goldsboro is to be held in Kinston. Letters mailed from here, by Will Harvey, to interested parties in Greenville, New Bern, Tarboro, Goldsboro and Farmville, and possibly to other towns, have been replied to in several cases, the writers stating that they will be in Kinston on Wednesday for the meeting and are ready to sign for base ball.

Greenville, in a big pep meeting last night, practically put their assent, in large letters, on their entrance into the league again for this season. Tarboro has answered the letter sent from here and will be strong. Goldsboro is talking baseball and will send a delegation. In fact, every city approached is ready and wants base ball this summer. The outcome of the meeting will show how far these towns are willing to go.

As far as Kinston is concerned, the guarantee fund is assured and the $5,000 fund can be completely raised over night. This sum is almost complete at this time.

PITT COUNTY FAIR TO BE HELD LAST PART OF OCTOBER

Attraction This Year to be Bigger and Better, Secretary Price Stated Today.

ORGANIZED COUNTRY DEPARTMENT TO BE HELD AT FAIR

Running Race at Night With Greatly Enlarged Showers Display To be Evidence.

The Pitt county fair will be held during the fourth week in October, according to an announcement made this morning by Dr. W. M. Price, secretary.

The fair will contain many additional features this year, Dr. Price said. There will be an organized poultry department under the direction of Dr. J. J. Jones, of Falkland and Mr. J. J. Jones, of Greenville. This department will be one of the chief attractions of the fair, as every kind of fowl produced in the county will be on display.

Another feature that will have a tendency of drawing thousands of people to the grounds every night the fair is in progress will be a series of running races in which some of the fastest horses and some known jockeys of the county will participate. A string of electric lights will be placed around the race track so that spectators can watch the races. This will be in addition to the regular race program occurring during the afternoons.

The fire works display that created fair is in progress will be a series of such favorable attention last week will be staged this year on a much larger scale and persons who spent the evening on the grounds to see this feature will be more than amply rewarded this year.

These features, Dr. Price stated, are just a few of the many to be in evidence during Pitt county's great gala week, and people who attended from far and near may be assured of seeing something well worth time and money expended.

FERTILIZER PLANT SOLD AT RECEIVER SALE HERE MONDAY

G. E. Harris Highest Bidder for Plant of Carolina Phosphate Company Here Yesterday.

The plant of the Carolina Phosphate Company located on the outskirts of this city, which went into hands of receivers several months ago, was offered for sale under order of the court here yesterday, the highest bidder being Mr. G. E. Harris, local representative of Virginia-Carolina-Chemical Co. The price paid for the plant by Mr. Harris was $12,500.

The fertilizer plant was organized as a stock company in Greenville some three years ago, being valued at approximately $28,000 at the time of construction. During the period of deflation it went into hands of receivers, some time later being offered at public sale under order of the court.

JIM PERKINS BUYS PERKINS & EDWARDS

The firm of Perkins and Edwards, dealers in farm implements and hardware, which was offered for sale here yesterday, was purchased by Mr. Jim Perkins, a member of the firm, who hereafter will operate the business himself.

HARDING'S PLANS FOR REORGANIZING CABINET DELAYED

Sweeping Plans Affecting Governmental Departments Delayed if Not Smashed Entirely.

BROWN COMMITTEE RECOMMENDED MANY UNDESIRED CHANGES

Plans When Laid Before the Cabinet Provoked Determined Opposition From All Sides.

(By International News.) Washington, March 7.—President Harding's sweeping plans for reorganization of governmental departments have been delayed indefinitely, if not smashed entirely, by strenuous opposition in and out of the cabinet.

The Brown re-organization committee recommended changes which in the main were approved at the White House. They were laid before the cabinet and provoked such opposition that it was found advisable to delay indefinitely.

The president's plans, it was said, would disturb harmony of the cabinet considerably. Some officers wanted to drop bureaus entirely, while others wanted to acquire and retain organization. Some objected to additional duties imposed by the plan, and raised such disturbance that the president was forced to hold up.

(By International News.) Kansas City, March 7.—Four persons are known to be dead, another dying and twelve injured as result of the explosion of an air tank at barns of a street railway here this morning.

BEGIN TENTATIVE WORK IN WIDENING DICKINSON AVENUE

Survey of Street Under Way; Telephone Poles and Fire Hydrants Are Ordered Removed.

First work in connection with widening Dickinson avenue was started yesterday when surveyors spent practically the entire day in establishing a line for the four feet to be taken from the sidewalks. After the survey and other preliminary work is completed large forces of workmen will engage in actual construction work.

The water and light commission has been ordered to remove all hydrants along the streets. The Telephone company has also been notified to remove all poles in line of operations. Some time will be required to complete this work, and it is hardly probable that actual work in widening the street will begin until every obstacle is moved from the line of operations.

A petition signed by property owners has been in circulation along Dickinson avenue several weeks. It was presented at the meeting of the board of aldermen last Friday night, when final action was taken.

Announcement that the street is to be widened will be received with general interest throughout the city, as it is one of the most important thoroughfares and bears a greater part of the traffic from tobacco town. Traffic is always seriously congested during tobacco season in this section of town, because of the narrow outlet afforded by the street. The four additional feet to be taken from the sidewalks will relieve the congestion considerably, it is believed, and greatly increase the value of property.

WORK, NEW POSTAL HEAD, SMILES AT WORK

Dr. Hubert Work, First Assistant Postmaster-General, in President Harding's Cabinet who succeeded W. H. Hays as Postmaster-General, smiles broadly at his work. Here is the first photograph taken of the new postal chief following his taking over the office, March 4th. Dr. Work began his career as a practicing physician at Pueblo, Col., and served as a Major in the Medical corps of the army during the war.

DRINKING CUPS TO GO OUT OF USE IN THIS CITY TODAY

Board of Health Rescinded Ordinance Requiring Use of Sanitary Cup at Meeting Yesterday

NEW ORDINANCE TO REQUIRE PROPERLY STERILIZED GLASSES

Process of Sterilization Must be Adopted by Each Drug Store and Fountain in County.

The old ordinance requiring soda fountains and soft drink stands to use sanitary drinking cups, adopted as an emergency measure during the flu epidemic several years ago, was rescinded and a new measure permitting the use of properly sterilized glasses was drafted at meeting of members of the county board of health held at the office of Mayor D. M. Clark yesterday afternoon.

As result of this action patrons of soda fountains in Pitt county who have been clamoring for the old style way of serving drinks will have the pleasure of seeing the new ordinance become effective this afternoon. The legislation requiring the use of sanitary drinking cups was purely a local matter and affected only drug stores and cold drink stands in Pitt county.

The board of health was presented with petitions signed by prominent citizens of the city, requesting that the old law be set aside, and it was after every angle of the situation had been discussed that a decision was rendered.

The new ordinance provides that a process of sterilization must be adopted at each fountain, and that every glass in which drinks are served must go through this cleansing system before being used. A copy of the ordinance will be sent to every soda fountain owner and cold drink stand in the county, with provisions under which the old legislation was rescinded.

The public has been clamoring for cheaper drinking since everything else hit the toboggan, and while many druggists reduced prices in an effort to meet the demand, the cost of the sanitary cups prevented them from realizing any profit from the sale of soft drinks.

It was to improve this situation that petitions were drawn up and presented to those desiring to see dispensers of drinks meet the demand for reduced prices and at the same time realize some profit from the action.

STATE COLLEGE BAND PLEASURES IN APPEARANCE HERE

Interesting Program Rendered at the Training School Auditorium Last Night.

PRESIDENT RIDDICK INTRODUCED THE BAND TO THE AUDIENCE

Colonel Fred Olds Speaks Interestingly of Himself Several Years Ago.

The visit of the State College Band to East Carolina Teachers College is an event to which the students, especially the Seniors, look forward year after year, not because of the concert but because of the social features connected with their visit.

They gave a high class program last night, and played well. The new instruments added greatly, but the boys know well how to handle the instruments. They played heavy overtures, beautiful melodies, and gave just enough jazz to show that they knew how to play it.

Pres. Riddick who came with the boys, was introduced to the audience by President Wright and spoke a few words of appreciation between the two parts of the program. When he spoke directly to the young ladies of the "Training School" a protest went up from the gallery and the girls shouted "college." He said that if the president expected to make school teachers out of these girls, he was afraid it would be a failure, because for every girl turned out from this school there was a boy turned out from the State College, and attractive girls would not remain long in the school rooms.

Col. Olds, who spoke of himself as a young gentleman of seventy years, had a few words of happy greeting for the audience. He referred to the co-ed in State College as one rose bud among a thicket of green weeds, and called attention to the rose bud gallery of girls in the audience.

After the concert the Senior class gave a reception in the parlors of the dormitory, to the visitors and to some other friends. They had a delightful time.

President and Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Beckwith with Dr. Riddick, assisted by members of the Junior class, received the guests. Music and jolly stunts in true college boy and girl style were the order of the evening. The refreshments were served in a unique manner. Thirty young ladies wearing caps and aprons of the State College red and white marched in and handed out the plates of cream and cakes, mints and salted peanuts, and then the thirty members of the band were lined up and the caps and aprons presented to these. They were (Continued on page four)

If Mr. Work, the new postmaster general, is anything like "old hard work" he ought to be a paying proposition to the country.

Herbert Hoover says business is on an upward trend at the present time. As he is in position to know about the only thing the public can do is to get along and hope Mr. Hoover is right.

Pressure of other business prevented the president from addressing manufacturers in annual convention at Washington. With so much business, it looks like the country might see better results.

The Republican party is still proving a disappointment to the public, and doesn't seem to be able to make good. If such state of affairs should continue for any great length of time they are going to go out of office much faster than they came in.

The "Messenger of Peace" rum runner recently taken in custody by prohibition officers on the coast of North Carolina has been released under bond. After this the captain and crew will try to live up to the ship's name.

President Harding has a curious notion of what the country needs, if past action counts for anything. The fact is, he has done so little that maybe he hasn't had an opportunity of giving the public a chance of judging him.

Professing seems to be in evidence in some sections of the country at the present time, but before the summer is over the professor like many other business men will be glad to get what he can. Business is due to undergo a revival, but this cannot be expected to take place at once.

The Republican haven't any sympathy for the little man, as recent measures have shown, and the little man in return shouldn't have any sympathy at the polls next election. The party promised to accomplish wonderful things, but about the only thing they have done is to place negroes in office.

Greenville can't have the right kind of summer without baseball, so it is up to the people to get busy and raise funds for the organization. Other towns are going to do so and we can't afford to remain in the background while they are enjoying the sport everyone is interested in.

The soldiers bonus has been greatly reduced by the Republican members of the administration, who believe the boys will be satisfied with anything they can get—just so they get it. Seems they are again forgetting the power of the American legion in politics of the nation.

Muscle Shoals must have several features the public has not yet learned judging by the number of proposals before the committee. Yes, despite all propositions, the best man will win, and the best man looks like Henry Ford, according to the public viewpoint.

Property owners on Evans and Fifth street who subscribed to the white way are urged to get busy and make good their obligations. Material for the system has already arrived and as soon as funds are in hands of the committee construction work will get under way. If you are a subscriber, pay up at once and let the improvement be rushed to a state of completion.

Governor Morrison has hinted that the fight to bring Matthew Bullock back to North Carolina from Canada is not over. He is right. Canada has no right to hold a criminal and ask this state to send witnesses that distance to prove the man's guilt. The very fact that he is under indictment should be enough to affect extradition, and despite any ruling to the contrary, Canadian officials should let the law take its course. It's a mighty had thing for one country to try and retard justice in another. In fact, such action engenders criminality and should be discouraged instead of supported by high officials.

ROCKEFELLER AND WEALTH.

That wealth brings great responsibility was the burden of an address John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made recently before the Young Men's Bible Class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church in New York. It was the first appearance of Mr. Rockefeller since his return from China before his class, which he founded 25 years ago and of which he is still honorary president.

Rockefeller's topic was "A Man's Ideals," and in his sermon he said: "Wealth honestly acquired is a great possession because it enables one to render great service, but remember that wealth brings great responsibilities. I have many men come into my office and tell me all the great things they would do if they had $100,000. Well, the way a man uses what money he has is an indication of how he would use it if he had more. I can sit down and in five minutes show a man how much harm he can do with $500,000. Enterprises are frequently weakened by the unwise giving of money.

"Money has value only as it is converted into useful service. When my father was paying $1 a week for lodging he gave 5 cents a week to the poor. The one employer he had used to say of him, 'Rockefeller was the best clerk and bookkeeper I ever had; I know if he had signed a voucher that the goods had been delivered.

"Success consists of doing the common things of life uncommonly well. Men, do the task that is presented to you just as well as it can be done. A man climbs a ladder only one rung at a time. Only as that duty is faithfully performed is he ready for the next step higher.

"The only real justification of power is service. I can think of no man so unhappy as that man who is only seeking pleasure. Pleasure is like the sugar icing on a cake. If you sit down to a meal that is made up altogether of frosted cake the pleasure is all gone. Education, wealth, power, and pleasure are like two-edged swords. If rightly used they bring great happiness to the world. If wrongly used they bring great misery."

Judging by the number of tobacco beds in evidence from Greenville to Farmville it is evident farmers are planning to produce a large crop of bright leaf this season. This is serious, in fact, more serious than the ordinary grower seems to realize. The world market is congested beyond hope of relief in the near future, and if another large crop is raised the industry will be temporarily paralyzed. This will result in prices even lower than the past season, and the farmer now in comfortable circumstances will find himself in the hole. It would be much better to raise a small crop of good tobacco and receive good prices than to have a large one and get low prices. The alternative is entirely in hands of the grower, and he must act accordingly.

Things are becoming serious when Richmond banks fail to honor checks from North Carolina, and the fight North Carolina bankers are waging to prevent further action of the kind should be continued until they meet with success. Business certainly must suffer as result of such poor principle and when Virginia banks realize they must eventually suffer also maybe they will do the right thing by North Carolina institutions.

The fight against the boll weevil is going to be a strenuous one, and the farmer that goes ahead and plants usual acreage is going to find himself in a hole he can't easily get out of. The pest proved destructive in the communities visited several months ago and it is foolish indeed to think he is going to be partial to this prosperous section. The best thing to do is to plant small acreage and be in position to fight the pest to a finish.

Mayors in some cities of the state have stopped the sale of obscene literature such as issued in great volume throughout the country, and it is probable they have blazed a trail others may find advisable to follow. Such literature should not be permitted to reach young men and women, and when it is ruled out entirely the communities will be greatly improved.

Following are two original stories which were developed from a picture study in a language lesson.

The Foolish Children. By Raymond Smith. One day Billy, Minnie and Dare asked their mother to let them go into the woods to play. They made a playhouse and they did not know it was getting dark. Billy looked out and saw it was getting dark and said, "It is dark." They went out to go home and they saw something and ran from it. It was a tree that had knots on it for eyes. His nose was a piece of a branch that was cut off. His feet were roots and he looked so much like a man, the children ran from it. They told their mother that something was after them, so their father got a light. They went out to see the strange creature and saw it was only a tree. The father said, "You foolish children," but he never let them go into the woods to play again.

The Frightened Children. By Leona Morgan. Once there were three children. Their names were Frances, Lizzie, Mae and John. It was a cold day and Frances said, "Mother may we go to see Mary?" The mother said they could go. They went and when they got ready to come home, they had a woods to go through. It was getting dark, for it was about 6:30. When they came to the woods they saw something. It looked just like a man. He had two hands, two eyes, one month, two feet and one nose, and ten fingers. The children were afraid. They ran home as fast as they could and told their mother and father about what they saw. The father took the lantern and they went back. They found it was only a tree with some dead branches on it. The children were all ashamed of themselves for being afraid.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM TO APPEAR IN "THE SIN THAT WAS HIS"

New Selznick Picture Written by Frank L. Packard Coming to the White's Theatre.

That the man who tries to do the right thing is frequently misunderstood and very wrongfully misjudged is shown in "The Sin That Was His," the big Selznick Picture starring William Faversham, which will be shown at White's theatre tonight, when Faversham is seen gambling with a drunken boy and taking his money away. He is censured by men who do not know that his real motive is to scare the boy, show him the evil results of drinking and gambling and then give his money back. Later on, while on an errand of good, he is taken for a burglar and then accused of murder. How he is won back to a better life with faith in his heart for mankind, makes a story that vies with the best of the season's offerings in the matter of sustained interest and suspense.

Hobart Henley directed "The Sin That Was His," and Lucy Cotton and Lulu Warrenton have the leading feminine roles.

GOVERNMENT'S FINANCES FOR YEAR ARE REVIEWED BY STATESMEN

By W. H. ATKINS,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

Washington.—The United States treasury finished the first year of the Republican administration today a little better off than it started.

When President Harding entered office the public debt was $24,000,000,000. Since then there has been a reduction of almost $1,000,000,000 in the debt. Treasury plans for rapid retirement of outstanding indebtedness, in the form of Victory notes and short time certificates of indebtedness, contemplate an even larger reduction in the nation's debt within the next administration year.

The treasury cash status has been helped by the operations of the budget system. Officials declare it has proved the most effective weapon for curbing loose extravagance and waste.

In a large measure the cut in government expenditures down to a basis slightly below $4,000,000,000 a year, for the present fiscal year, has resulted from restrictions put on government requirements and spending. Another factor has been the liquidation plans of the administration. Liquidating boards have realized about $500,000,000 from sales of surplus war stocks.

What about the division in the leader class in China? I asked.

True, the leader class in China is today divided, answered Mr. Chen. And this division is important. One section of it believes in the Chinese republic: (a) as a deliverance of the Chinese people from the Manchu conquest and as a constitutional guarantee against the Manchus or other imperial restoration, and (b) as an instrument which can secure the modernization of China in terms of western political and economic thought, without injury to the foundation of the State as the historical product of Chinese culture.

Within fourteen months more than $6,000,000,000 in outstanding Victory notes and certificates of indebtedness reach maturity. The maturity of such a huge portion of the debt in such a short period has dominated the treasury's position for many months.

All of the fiscal plans have contemplated the refunding operations, in order that there shall be a better distribution of the early maturities. The effect of the refunding operations by which both Victory notes and certificates have been greatly reduced has been to improve the market value of Liberty bonds.

Gradual increase in the value of the Liberties is forecast by the much larger refunding operations yet to come.

SUN YAT-SEN AIMS MODERNIZE CHINA

Secretary of Canton President Says Nation May Have Disorder Epoch

By EDNA LEE BOOKER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

Shanghai.—President Sun Yat-sen and his co-workers who founded the Chinese Republic have never had a chance of rolling China as a Republic State and showing what the progressive section of the nation could do in the work of modern government, Dr. Eugene Chen, secretary to the president of the Canton government, told the International News Service in discussing why the government of the south was fighting for control of all China.

"Unless this fact is realized and deeply borne in mind, you—the friends of China in America—will see nothing but disorder and futility and incapacity in a phase of the nation's life which, I assert, exceeds in promise and potency the richest age of European history.

The republic, on its cultural side, marks the beginning of a real renaissance in China, which might even rival—in the sphere of the mind and morals—the achievement of the great epoch in Europe covering the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries.

And as the west could not be what it is today if the Greek mind had not fed it, so is there the promise of a Chinese assimilation of the same cultural food through the republic as an American mind and, ultimately as a Hellenic thought.

We were an original mind, with a civilization and culture of our own. In the past we gave—we hardly ever received. Today—through the republic—we are receiving for the first time in our long history. But, we shall pay back in ample measure, he said.

What about the division in the leader class in China? I asked.

True, the leader class in China is today divided, answered Mr. Chen. And this division is important. One section of it believes in the Chinese republic: (a) as a deliverance of the Chinese people from the Manchu conquest and as a constitutional guarantee against the Manchus or other imperial restoration, and (b) as an instrument which can secure the modernization of China in terms of western political and economic thought, without injury to the foundation of the State as the historical product of Chinese culture.

SAVINGS IN WAR BUREAU CLAIMED BY MEMBERS OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

By HARRY L. ROGERS,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent.

Washington.—The War Department is back upon a pre-war basis. Under direction of John W. Weeks called "the business man of the Cabinet," the organization inherited from the Wilson administration has during the year just closed been gradually diminished with great savings to the government, it is claimed by Republican leaders.

The department has been occupied the year with a variety of important matters. Outstanding among these were the adjustment incident to reduction of the regular army to 150,000 men, inauguration of the provisions of the national defense act and the carrying out of obligations and duties remaining from the world war, such as the interment of fallen soldiers in their final resting places, disposal of surplus property and equipment, and the adjustment of a great mass of claims left over from the previous year.

The major portion of the work of particularly valuable and much of the construction work has little commercial use. As the cantonments would nevertheless constitute a decided asset in case of emergency, the Department expects to retain such as can be utilized for public service without undue expense for maintenance and caretaking.

MORE THAN MILLION JOIN CHURCHES IN UNITED STATES DURING ONE YEAR

Washington, March 7.—More than one million persons in the United States became church members last year, according to the Federal Council of churches.

That America is becoming more and more a nation of churchgoers is revealed by statistics compiled by the Council, which show that every day during the last five years an average of 2,173 persons became church members, an acreage of three congregations have been organized daily and an average of four and one-half persons per day have joined the ministry. The total church membership of the United States is placed at 45,997,199, an increase of 4,070,345 over the figures of 1916.

There are 233,104 congregations, manned by 200,090 ministers, in the country, according to the Council's figures, which is an increase of 5,617 congregations and 8,204 clergy over the government figures for 1916. Commenting on reports that a ministerial shortage prevails, the Council pointed out that the increase in clergy has been approximately 50 per cent more than the increase in the congregations, explaining that the difference of 33,014 between ministers and congregations does not indicate a corresponding shortage of pastors, as many ministers, especially in the rural districts, have charge of two or more churches.

Catholics Show Gain.

Roman Catholics made a membership and adherents gain in the last five years of 2,163,831, and have 17,885,646 of the 45,997,199 persons in the United States listed officially as church members. There are 16,583 Roman Catholic churches, manned by 21,643 priests, in this country.

The total religious constituency of the United States, including all members and adherents, is estimated by the Council at 95,858,096 persons, of which 74,795,226 are Protestants, 17,885,646 Roman Catholics, 1,120,000 Jews, 411,054 Eastern Orthodox (Greek and Russian) and 1,646,170 Latter Day Saints, generally known as Mormons.

For the first time on record, according to the Council's figures, the Baptists have passed the Methodists in total membership, the former's membership being placed at 7,835,250 persons and the latter's at 7,797,991 persons. The Lutherans, with a membership of 2,466,645, and the Presbyterians, with 2,384,683 members, stand third and fourth, respectively.

The Methodist Episcopal church Church North, the largest single Protestant communion, has a membership of 3,938,655, gain in the last year of 62,595 persons and an increase of 220,870 over the 1916 figures. The Methodist Episcopal church South, with a membership of 2,340,067, gained 231,588 members since the 1916 census was taken, 93,315 of which came within its folds last year. The Protestant Episcopal church, apparently recovering from its war loss, gained 11,208 members in the last five years, and now has a membership of 1,104,029 persons, an increase of 7,134 since last year. An interesting fact noted by the Council is the apparent stagnation of the Salvation Army, whose reported membership of 35,969 is an increase of only 65 persons over the figures of five years ago.

States to Get Camps.

As a number of States in the South and West have no suitable areas for field training for National Guard units, the War Department expects to make available to as many of these States as possible old cantonment areas no longer required for the use of the regular army, such as Camp Lee, Va.; Camp Jackson, S. C.; Camp Dodge, Iowa; Camp Pike, Arkansas, and Camp Grant, Ill. Camp Upton, N. Y., has been completely salvaged and the real estate will be leased if not desired by New York State for training purposes. Regular army posts no longer required are being made available to States desiring the areas for training purposes.
