TIMELY ADDRESSES FEATURE FIRST DAY COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH OF CITY

Prof. Locker and D. W. Simms Deliver First Addresses of Opening Session

DR. SIMMS TELLS OF THE REQUIREMENTS OF MODERN TEACHER

Representative Crowd Present At Both Afternoon And Night Sessions

Instructive addresses were delivered at the opening sessions of the Pitt County Sunday School convention at the Memorial Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon and night.

Prof. A. M. Locker, of the International Sunday school association and Mr. D. W. Simms, general superintendent of the North Carolina Sunday School association were the speakers for the first of the three day meeting. Sessions will be held Thursday afternoon and night, and Friday afternoon and night.

"The teacher before the class" was the subject of the lecture by Mr. Sims who quickly captivated his hearers with his witty remarks. Yet he came with a message of real importance to Sunday school teachers, and he drove home the telling points with a punch that meant the retention of the facts. The passage from Genesis 4:1-7—"And he (Joseph) shaved himself and changed his raiment before going before the king..." ran throughout the speaker's discourse. The important fact of the text was that Joseph prepared himself before going into the king, said Mr. Sims who declared the superintendent, teachers and department heads know they are to appear before the king and schools on Sunday and they must be prepared if the church and school are to grow and physically. He continued—"Get 8 hours of sleep Saturday nights. Don't go to the movies on Saturday night. Be prepared to greet your class Sunday in a rested condition. You will never do your best work unless you are fresh.

"Then the teacher must be prepared mentally. Don't appear before your class as if you had tumbled into a pickle jar and become sour. Be cheery and pleasant, don't air your personal feelings before the class. Spread sunshine, and not gloom. Smile.

"The lesson must be prepared before the teacher attempts to come before the class. The lesson cannot be taught out unless it is first taught in.

Teachers must be prepared spiritually. Prayer should run throughout all preparation. Prayer is the electric current which will light up the entire structure, he said.

After preparation comes the actual appearance before the class. Mr. Sims said that the teacher who arrived at 9:45 a. m., the time of the school opening, is exactly fifteen minutes late. The teacher should get to school before time.

The teacher must get attention. He told how the mind of a teacher must stack up against the mind of a young boy who is thinking of everything from a fire engine to a lemon custard. The attention must be held. This may be done by asking questions. Through all Christ must be taught clearly. Unless Christ runs throughout the teaching it is counterfeit.

The Weak Link in the Sunday School.

Mr. Sims' address on "The Weak Link in the Sunday School" was said to be one of the most interesting addresses heard by the workers of the city in some time. He showed that training of the young people in the teens was most important job for the Sunday school. The children from birth to thirteen, and also the adults are receiving a great deal more consideration in our religious educational program, both as to material for instruction and equipment for work. The Children's Division and the Adult Division, he called the strong links in the Sunday school, while the teen-age, or Young People's Division including pupils from 13 to 20 years, is the weak link. He gave facts and figures to show the weakness of the link and also the importance of making it as strong if not stronger than the other two. It is on this weak link that the devil generally makes his attack, said the speaker, and this is the place where the average Sunday school gives the least help. Statistics he said showed that 69 per cent of all criminals committed their first crime during this period, 84 per cent of all conversions occur during the same period; 91 per cent of the decisions for life are made before the boy or girls are 20 years of age, and 97 per cent of all missionaries make their decision during that period.

The children's division is guided by others, the adult by reason. The young people are not guided by either. They are guided by the gang. The average boy in his teens pays more attention to the opinion of the gang than he does to his father and mother.

You might as well quit trying to drive them. He is as shy of parental authority as he was shy of girls five years before. If a boy is not in Sunday school here are generally three reasons. In the first place, some woman is trying to teach that class of boys from 13 to 20. I am not criticizing women who are teachers for when it gets down to technical teaching women are apt to do it better than men. But that isn't all a boy needs. He needs comradeship and leadership. The second reason, there is liable to be an over-pious man teaching that class. By over-pious, I mean too much piety on Sunday as compared with what he has the rest of the week. A boy of that age can look through you and tell how pious you are better than any grown person. Be natural. The third reason for not attending the class is that some man or woman is lecturing the class. The average boy in his-teen age will have a conversational class inside, or a conversational class on the outside, and the one on the outside will not be a Bible class.

Mr. Sims stated that if he were a preacher he would take as his text: Luke 2:52, "And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." Jesus developed four ways, and if you think you can develop one side, two sides or three sides of a boy or girl and build a great character, you are mistaken. You have got to save the whole boy or the whole girls. The weak link Mr. Sims described as the Sunday school pitfall, and said that three

STREET CAR OWNERS STOP SERVICE OVER ARGUMENT WITH CITY

Augusta, March 16.—The lengthy controversy between officials of the Augusta-Aiken railway and electric corporation and city officials over street car fares ended in the company withdrawing of all cars and leaving the city without service. Refusal of the city to order jitneys off streets where cars operate and subsequent refusal of the company to reduce fares to seven cents from ten were among the issues bringing about radical action of the car company.

LEAGUE TO FORM FINAL PLANS IN THIS CITY FRIDAY

Towns to Meet Here Tomorrow Afternoon to Elect Officers For the Year

PRACTICALLY ALL OF TOWNS READY FOR ORGANIZATION WORK

Farmville and Kinston To Be Represented by Exceptionally Big Delegations

Election of officers and other important matters necessary to success of the Eastern Carolina League will be taken up at a meeting of promoters of the various towns, to be held in rooms of the chamber of commerce tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock, instead of eight o'clock at night as first proposed. Other towns were yesterday notified of the change of hour, and it is expected the noon hour will see representatives rolling in from all towns that last year comprised the league, and others too.

Directors of the Greenville club will meet at ten o'clock for the purpose of electing officers of the local club.

Kinston promoters are planning to send a large delegation, according to advices received from that place this morning, while it is certain Washington, Farmville, Tarboro and possibly New Bern will be represented. The first matter to be considered will be that of organized or independent ball, and when this has been definitely disposed of election of officers will take place. The opposition to independent ball so far advanced has come from New Bern, but fans here are hopeful they will yield to the demand for the kind of sport enjoyed last season and come in and join the league.

The raising of funds and other things necessary to the success of the club will be taken up by the towns immediately after the meeting here, and by time the first ball is tossed on the diamond everything will be in readiness. Farmville and Kinston have raised considerable money already, it is understood, and it is probable they will be the first to get clubs on the diamond ready for training season.

Kinston Rearing to Go.

The following clipping taken from this morning's edition of the Kinston News will be read with interest here.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Kinston baseball enthusiasts for the sport this summer, which was held in the Kinoca Club last night at 8 o'clock, five delegates were chosen to attend the Greenville meeting Friday afternoon, when the Eastern Carolina League will be put on its feet for the second season of the National pastime in this section. The attendance at the meeting last night was most enthusiastic.

Plato Collins acted as chairman for the meeting and called on the canvassing committees to make their reports of funds raised. It was found that practically every man so far approached by the canvassers had shown he was "hot for baseball" by putting up his share. The committees, it was decided would go out today and get the rest of the fund, although enough has been obtained to show that Kinston is financially certain of the game.

The time of the Greenville meeting was changed from a night hour to 4:30 in the afternoon, due to the address of Josephus Daniels that night to the American Legion. Every town has been notified of the change and has agreed to be there with a good delegation. Conrad Lanier, of Greenville, arranged the new time by telephone with all of the interested towns. He stated to Mr. Collins that Tarboro would be on hand and that Washington, he thought was warming to the subject and would send a number of fans. Of course Farmville and New Bern will be there. This makes five towns represented, certain to send delegations.

Besides the committee that will represent Kinston, all others who can are urged to go to the big meeting of moguls. The Kinston delegation is composed of Plato Collins, chairman; Walter LaRoue, Clarence Oettinger, Geo. Suggs and Sam Spence.

Mr. D. D. Taylor, of Tarboro, spent the day in Greenville.

Josephus Daniels, has been secured to speak to the people of the county, at the court house Friday night March 17th, at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Daniels is one of the world's best informed men today on subjects of warfare and naval armament especially, and he is a speaker worth listening to at any time and worth traveling miles to hear, for it is once in a life time that the majority of us have the pleasure of hearing such a distinguished man as he.

For the benefit of those that are not able to attend the night meeting, the Chamber of Commerce of Pitt county have arranged the services of Mr. Daniels to speak especially on farm subjects at the court house at 11 A. M. the same day, those hearing him in the morning are urged to tell their neighbors of the night speaking and to come back and hear him again.

In addition to Mr. Daniels the Legion has been able to get Mr. C. A. Stone of Oteen, to give us a few minutes talk on the government caring for the sick, Oteen hospital near Asheville, N. C. Mr. Stone is editor of the Oteen Echo, a publication at Asheville, N. C. and one who has been in the front line of the world war are being cared for.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting also. My only request is that you don't blame me if you come late and fail to get a seat, as the court house only seats so many and at this time there will be no reserved seats.

Members of the Legion will be asked to remain a few minutes after the speaking to decide when and where we meet again.

MAMMOTH PARADE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN TO FEATURE TRACK MEET TO BE STAGED AT FAIR GROUNDS MONDAY, APRIL 3RD

FINAL SERMON TO BE DELIVERED AT REVIVAL TONIGHT

Dr. Matthias to Make Final Appeal to Presbyterian Congregation

Those who were kept away from the Presbyterian church last evening by other engagements, or remained away just simply from indifference, truly missed one of the greatest messages ever heard in this city. Dr. Matthias preached from the text, "When I see the Blood I will pass over you." He first of all showed why God has always since the entrance of sin into the world, insisted upon the Blood for Atonement, and as he traced the scarlet line from the day of the first murder to the summit of Calvary, he held his hearers almost breathless. He next showed why the blood of Christ had to be shed, and then in a wonderful appeal, filled with tenderness and yet with powerful argument, he showed the necessity for the applied blood, and the hopelessness of daring to face God without the safety of the blood of Christ God's Lamb.

He will deliver his last message tonight at 8:00 o'clock, and the song service will begin promptly at 7:45 p. m. It is expected that the church will be seated to its capacity, and those desiring seats had better come early. Come and bring a friend with you.

SOCIAL FOR EPWORTH LEAGUE OF METHODIST CHURCH

All members of the Senior Epworth League of the Methodist church are invited to attend a social at the home of Miss Hortense Higgs Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Boys Work Committee of Rotary Club Completes Program for Occasion

LITERARY CONTESTS AND ATHLETIC EVENTS TO FEATURE THE DAY

Practically the Entire Day Will Be Consumed by Lengthy Program Planned

The following order of events in connection with the Athletic Meet for the School Children of Pitt county, to be held in Greenville on Monday, April 3rd, was agreed upon by the Boys Work Committee of the Rotary Club Monday afternoon, and is hereby published for the information of the teachers, pupils and all those interested in this great program.

It is suggested that all those coming to Greenville for that day, which will be known as county commencement day, bring their dinner in baskets, and partake of same in the woods at the Teachers College, which has been tendered them by President Wright for this picnic purpose.

Promptly at 1:00 o'clock the children of the county schools are requested to form in parade on the College campus. They will be escorted by marshals on horseback under the command of Rotarian Ralph Garrett. Preceding the parade will be a Rotary automobile, decorated for the occasion. At the high school, the county children will be joined by the Greenville Boy Scouts and the pupils of this institution. At Five Points the parade will be joined by the pupils by the pupils of the Model and Evan Street schools. The entire parade will then march to the fair grounds by easy stages, and find good comfortable seats in the grandstand and some there, some which they will be able to see all the contests. All the athletes who will take part, both boys and girls, will be excused from the parade, and are requested to meet Mr. Phillips and the judges at the fair grounds by 1:30 p. m., where they will receive their final instructions.

The contests will be scheduled to begin promptly at 2:00 o'clock and will proceed as rapidly as possible until completed. At the completion of the winners will be awarded their prizes and ribbons and cups, by Mrs. W. L. Hall, who has been selected as sponsor for the occasion, and this will take place directly in front of the grandstand.

No spectators will be allowed upon the field of contest, at any point which might obstruct the vision of those who wish to see.

The morning hours will be taken the Teachers College, for which the Kivianis Club have offered a handsome loving cup to the school winning the greatest number of points.

The entire day has been planned for the children of Pitt, and the grown-ups of the county are expected to be present in full force to cheer them on to victory and show their appreciation of the training they are receiving for the duties of life.

Mr. Dail will see to it that the fair grounds are in a number one order, and that everything is provided for the comfort and happiness of those present.

In a few days a list of all prizes will be published, with a detailed program of the entire order of events, both for morning and afternoon.

Begin now to give that boy and girl of yours, a big time on Monday, April 3rd. They deserve it.

Harding is doing a little fishing in Florida, although it is certain he isn't catching any suckers. They bit during campaign days, but never again.

North Carolina Republicans have decided to attack the Democrats on high taxes. In which event, the Democrats can come back with some of the vain promises made by the party in campaign days.

Fordney plans to jam the bonus bill through congress despite the opposition of President Harding in Florida. If he succeeds, as he no doubt will, ex-service men have him to thank for their success.

The Federal Reserve thinks the farmer is in need of greater credits, and lower rates. If the board will arrange the matter it will have the thanks of every farmer in the country.

The United States may be represented at the Genoa conference by an unofficial observer. They might as well make it an official observer as any, as representation is representation any way you look at it.

Greenville people want baseball, but they don't want it bad enough to decide with New Bern that organized ball is necessary. In fact, we had the best kind of sport last year with college men, and don't see where it can be improved by a bunch of rough professionals.

The chamber of commerce committee having the union depot proposition in charge is working quietly in this important matter, and has a favorable report to make in the near future. No one can dispute Greenville's need of an union station, and the railroad companies will be doing the right thing by using their influence in this interest.

Tobacco growers shouldn't forget that reduction of acreage is very necessary this year if they desire to enjoy a certain measure of prosperity. The market is already glutted beyond hope of relief, and another large crop would prove disastrous.
It is hoped every farmer will realize the seriousness of the situation and nor mar his own pleasure and prosperity by unwise action.

Poultry and live stock raising would make the prosperity of Pitt county growers more certain this year, and the man that gives it a trial will be the one to come out at the big end of the horn. Diversification in farming is absolutely imperative, and those who confine their attention to the cultivation of one or two crops are destined to fail. Conditions are different from a year or two ago, and the grower that fails to realize the fact will suffer the consequences.

"Live at home" will be preached in every part of the county by members of the chamber of commerce, and before the campaign is completed the farmer will be ready to believe he is living in the best part of the world, as he surely is. Advantages of this part of the country are unlimited, the man that packs his bag and moves to another community to find better conditions will be subject to disappointment. The person that can't live prosperously and happily here can't do so anywhere.

The political upheaval in England is to be regretted, as the country has had too many troubles in past years for its own good. Statesmen should do everything possible to pull together, regardless of political affiliations, as in this way alone can they save themselves from the impending disaster. The resignation of Lloyd George had a disquieting effect on the entire country, but it is hoped this will wear off and that things may brighten up. Every country must suffer more or less from effects of war, but it is evident England will pay a greater price than any of them before it is all over.

The strike of coal miners is inevitable, according to latest reports received from Washington. This news will be received with regret in all branches of industry as it was hoped government intervention at least might delay the strike until operators and operative could reach an agreement. It is difficult to determine who is to blame, the workers or mine owners, but whoever is certainly hasn't best interests of the country at heart. A strike of any long duration will disrupt virtually all branches of industry, and ill effect of the coal shortage will be long in overcoming. There can be no excuse for strikes and other labor disorders, despite principles involved, as the nation's interests are at stake and should be considered first of all.
Miners should realize the price of labor must decline with the price of coal. They can't expect prices in proportion to those paid two years ago, as this would be nothing more than a direct imposition. There are many things involved in the strike, and before it becomes an actuality all parties concerned should give it the true consideration which it is so deserving.

It is gratifying to note that members of the chamber of commerce are preparing a campaign in interest of potato storage warehouses, as the future of the industry is to be largely determined by the number of warehouses erected in the county. The loss of each community is enormous every year, and the storage warehouse system is the only way of saving the farmer. Each community is in need of a warehouse, and money spent on them is placed in one of the best causes possible.

FEATURES FIRST DAY COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

out of every four who left the Sunday school left during this period. The way to meet the situation is by the organization of Young People's classes in the Sunday school. You have to give them religious, mental, social and physical training, if you save them while in their teens. If you can hold them until they are 20 you will keep them for they will have made their decisions.

Prof. A. M. Locker spoke yesterday afternoon, on "Teaching, A Fourfold Process." In discussing the subject, he said:

"The educational processes of the past reveal a tradition that educational institutions, as well as individual teachers have majored largely in developing only the mental side of the childhood and youth. Some of our public schools and other educational institutions of today are beginning to emphasize other lines of developments, and it is hoped that in the near future the standards of requirements in the educational world will be radically changed so as to include, not only a test of the memory and intellect—but that we shall require a four-fold test, namely, physical, mental, spiritual and social. Some people are very religious spiritually, but are woefully lacking in a religious attitude socially. If all our church members of today were religious socially the problem of labor and capital would be settled at once. We have not yet learned to live together. Our educational institutions are not emphasizing sufficiently the social side of the student body. We know of a lot of folks who are quite religious spiritually, but who fail utterly in being religious physically. Since our bodies constitute the temples for the indwelling of the spiritual nature it is out of harmony to be religious spiritually, and to neglect the religious side of our bodies.

The same thing may be said of the intellectual side of our lives. The International Sunday school association, through its camp conferences and training schools for young people, between 16-22 years of age, is majoring on the proper development religiously of the four-fold life. We are hoping that through the leadership of these training schools we may be able to arouse the religious educational leaders of the Continent to change the standard of requirement for a complete education in the no distant future."

Intensely interesting was the address by Prof. Locker last night on "Relationship of Pupil and subject Matter."

"In all my experience, said Prof. Locker" both as a pupil and teacher in the public school and college, subject matter, or teaching material was always emphasized above that of the pupil in the process of teaching. We were taught subject matter for years. Of course we were given some lessons in child study, but there was not much relationship between our study theoretically and the practical application of the teaching material. While this is true of the secular schools, it is even more true of the school of religion. It has always been said that no teacher can teach in Sunday school unless he knows his lesson or the Bible. I have never had anyone yet say to me as a Sunday school teacher that I could not teach successfully unless I knew both the lesson material and the Bible. Religious leaders and enthusiasts have majored on a knowledge of the Bible as a foundation for their work. Very little attention has been given to, a study of the principle involved in the development of the character of the pupil as a result of the teaching.

"However in recent years our religious educators have been giving attention to the development of the fundamental principles of childhood study as a basis for giving instruction. We are recognizing today as never before that teachers must know their child and the laws by which he is developed, as well as the teaching material. We must know the pupil as well as the lesson. A lack of this knowledge explains very easily by the graded lessons have had a hard time in becoming established in many of our Sunday schools. In order to teach a graded lesson successfully you must also understand the graded child. Any one can teach subject matter to pupils even though he doesn't understand it, and cannot apply it, but he cannot teach the pupil and provided the necessary nurture for Christian character without knowing the laws by which the child is developed. We must be able to practically apply the truths of the lesson to the growing and developing child in such a way that he may be able to receive them and so apply them that he may be able to adjust his life in harmony with the standards of Christian living."

FARMVILLE NEWS.

(Special Correspondent.)
Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Newton returned Tuesday from a visit to relatives and friends in Durham.

Mr. Glenn Cobb, who holds a position with the city National Bank of New York, is here visiting relatives.

Mr. Judson Walker spent Sunday in Columbia.

Messrs. R. E. Belcher, J. T. Harris, R. T. Martin, R. H. Knott, and Ray Smith were Wilson visitors Monday.

Mr. K. M. Greer spent Sunday in Rocky Mount.

After a delightful visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Horton, Mrs. Jerry Stockwell returned to her home in Raleigh, Tuesday.

At a mass meeting held in the town hall Monday night the following officers were elected for the Farmville baseball club, Dr. W. M. Willis, President, J. T. Dixon, vice-president, A. E. James, secretary and treasurer, J. M. Hobgood, business manager. The committee that was appointed two weeks ago to sell stock reported nearly three thousand dollars already sold and there are several others that have not been seen yet. This committee is confident that they can sell at least four thousand dollars worth of stock when the town is thoroughly canvassed. With the above enthusiastic and capable men at the head of the club every body is optimistic over the prospects for the success of the club for the approaching season.

The real Rotary spirit was in evidence at the regular meeting of the Farmville Rotary Club Tuesday evening. President Paul Jones presided in a most efficient manner, calling the various members for several unusual stunts, which afforded much merriment. Immediately preceding the fun from the various stunts, short talks from some of our Greenville visitors were greatly enjoyed, and so stimulated many of the members to the extent that when the time came for a roll call as to how many would attend the district convention in Winston-Salem on March 21st and 22nd not a dissenting member was noted, and checks poured into Secretary A. Rouse as fast as same could be registered, which showed the real Rotary spirit of the entire membership of the Farmville Rotary Club.

The Republican party promised to reduce taxes, but instead, cut wages.

BETHEL NEWS

(Special Correspondent.)
Bethel, N. C., March 16. — The teachers and pupils of the High school are planning for the district meet of all the schools in Bethel, Carolina and Belvoir townships Saturday March 18th, to select representatives to go to the county athletic meet in Greenville.

At an enthusiastic meeting of men at the Baptist church last night a live and wide awake Men's Club was organized. Dr. J. D. Hemmingway was elected President. Mr. E. L. Mayo vice president and Mr. J. B. Corey, Secretary and treasurer. This club will meet monthly and will have as its object to give the men a social hour and instruction on some of the vital subjects of church life.

Mrs. C. S. Whichard left yesterday to spend a while with friends in her former home town Vandemere.

Miss Everett, daughter of Mr. Everett was carried to Park View hospital, Rocky Mount, this morning for an operation for appendicitis.

In some of the outlying districts that have had the benefit of the excellent school here for the past few months by sending their children in on the best trucks in the county, have the question before them of voting a special tax to put their part of the financial support of the school the same as the main district. It is learned from several sources that there is quite a little opposition to the special tax. For my little I can't see how any man can vote against giving his children a better school. We all know that Bethel school is one of the best in the county and we are proud of it. We are glad to have the children of all the near by districts to get the advantage of the school and by this method of co-operation help each other. However we can't see how these good people could expect the special tax district to carry the load of special tax for their children and they not carry any and get the same benefit. A community is known by the sign board of progress erected and maintained in the community, the greatest of these are the churches and schools. There is no mistake that the day of the one teacher schools is largely a thing of the past and we are thankful of it. The Bethel school has clearly demonstrated this year the practical side of transportation. We know that the children can't get the better advantages in the small schools, and since they can be transported in a practical way we hate to hear of this opposition to a progressive movement.

"Safety First" the play to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Bethel M. E. Church for the benefit of the new church building on Friday night March 17th, is a comedy full of action with a unique plot teeming with unexpected turns and twists that will make the audience wonder what on earth is coming next, and Marry Ann O' Finnigan, the Behind the fun and movement links Irish cook. The antics of the terror a great moral. Always tell the truth stricken husband, the policeman, the to your wife. The cast includes dude and the Irish cook starts the these young men, a funny policeman, audience smiling at 8:15 and sends a terrible Turk, two young ladies, them home with aching sides at 10:30 a society matron, a Turkish maiden, Admission 25 and 35 cents.

3 more land cleared per dollar

FOR the cost of the dynamite which cleared an acre of your stump land in 1921, you can now buy enough to clear an acre and a third.

Dumomite, the new Du Pont dynamite, makes this possible. Stick for stick, under ordinary conditions, Dumomite will do approximately the work of regular 40% dynamite. But you get over 1/3 more sticks of Dumomite for your dollar.

Dumomite is packed in boxes of 135 to 140 1 1/4 x 8 sticks; 40% dynamite comes in boxes of 100 sticks of the same size. Box for box, Dumomite and 40% dynamite cost the same.

Dumomite is non-freezing even in below-zero weather; and you won't get a headache from using it.

Take advantage of this Du Pont achievement. Clear more land in 1922 at materially less expense per acre.

Stop in at our store and let us explain how we can reduce your blasting costs nearly one-third.

What's behind the fertilizers you buy?

The rule for getting the most for your fertilizer money is simple and sensible: Buy the goods backed by the widest experience, the greatest manufacturing facilities, the best materials the world's markets can offer.

A A C Quality Fertilizers measure up to this rule in every respect. Behind them are the discoveries, not of one man, but of a whole group of the foremost authorities in the history of the fertilizer industry.

Bradley, Bowker, Stockbridge, Liebig, Coe, Wheeler, Lister, Crocker, Detrick, Zell, Hess — think what these pioneers have contributed to the world's knowledge of plant foods, soil fertility, crop requirements!

All the names that have helped to build A A C. All the vast experience they represent is at the command of those who today make fertilizers bearing the A A C brand—or the brand of any of the subsidiaries in this great organization.

Why take chances when with A A C Fertilizers you know you are right?

An important part of this organization is its Agricultural Service Bureau, conducted by Dr. H. J. Wheeler, formerly Director R. I. Agricultural Experiment Station. This Bureau carries on practical experimental work in all sections of the country, to determine just what fertilizers are best adapted to each crop and locality. planned to the farmer. In each township prominent local men will be asked to join the committee and help place before the farmer the things necessary to his success in the future. K. T. Futrell, of the county welfare department, will also be a member of the party, and will outline such things as his department is trying to get before the rural communities.

The "Live at Home" campaign was introduced by the State agricultural department with view of improving conditions of the farm, and if the various communities follow the advice given by the committee during the two days the drive is in progress conditions will be much improved. The idea is to get the farmer to diversify his crops, and be in position to offer the best the market has to offer when marketing seasons rolls around.

Both Mr. Daniels and Dr. Kilgore are well acquainted with conditions prevailing in this state and will bring a heart message to the people. They know what the future demands of the farmer and will be able to present the issue in plain, comprehensive manner.
