TEXTILE WORKERS BEGIN STRIKE IN MASS. DISTRICTS

Several Thousand Men Idle in Great Mills Throughout The State MORE THAN SEVEN THOUSAND STRIKE AGAINST WAGE CUT

Lawrence, Mass., March 28.—Seven thousand, five hundred textile operatives in seven cotton mills here left their work without disorder today in protest against a wage reduction amounting to 20 per cent. An additional 7,000 workers were idle as the result of a shut-down of the Arlington Mills. The strike marked the spread to this textile center of the controversies that have tied up the cotton industry in Rhode Island and New Hampshire for several weeks.

Organizers of the United Textile Workers of America, who took charge of the situation today, said 80 per cent of the workers were out and that the result had been far beyond their expectations in view of the fact that a week ago the operatives were only loosely organized. Leaders of the One Big Union, which also is interested in the strike, claimed that their organization had gained strength.

The mill owners also expressed satisfaction with the situation and said they had expected the walkout to assume larger proportions. Officials of the Pacific Mills, the largest of the plants affected, said the mills would re-open tomorrow. The Everett Mills will also open, it was announced. Only one plant was forced to close today. The Methuen Company, at Methuen, just over the Lawrence line, suspended operations when no workers reported. At the other six plants the looms were run with reduced forces.

Union leaders announced that a program of active picketing would be put into effect tomorrow. Many pickets were out today but they seemed to take their duties in holiday spirit and contented themselves with shouting at workers to leave the mills rather than accosting them as they entered.

The Pacific Mills lost large numbers of operatives this morning. Other walkouts were numerous in all the mills throughout the day. Four hundred employees of the Andover Mills met this afternoon and organized the Cotton Workers' Union. Their leaders said they would apply for a charter in the United Textile Workers.

BANK ROBBER AND JEWELRY THIEF IS HELD IN ALABAMA

Roy Dickerson to be Returned to Penitentiary After a Speedy Hearing Today

(By International News.) Birmingham, March 28.—Roy Dickerson, alleged bank robber and jewelry thief, was returned to Russell county immediately after trial at Seale, Alabama, on a charge of robbing the Phoenix Girard bank. Governor Kilby revoked parole granted Dickerson in nineteen fifteen, which eliminated the eleven months sentence for attempted highway robbery at Montgomery. The state is now preparing to return him to the penitentiary to complete his sentence following the Montgomery case. It is alleged he robbed a jewelry salesman at New Orleans of twenty thousand dollars worth of jewelry where he also perpetrated the bank robbery. Dickerson is also charged with robbing a store at Selma and escaping with two thousand dollars worth of diamonds. He was arrested, but always managed to escape in each case. Jail breaking is a cinch, he is said to have confided to members of the police department here.

SECOND WEEK OF SUPERIOR COURT WELL UNDER WAY

Judge J. H. Daniels, of Goldsboro, Presiding in Place Of Judge Cranmer WILLARD & SMITH CASE TO CONSUME TODAY'S SESSIONS

Several Other Actions To Be Considered During Remainder of Session

The second week session of the civil term of Pitt county superior court got well under way yesterday morning with Judge F. A. Daniels, of Wilson, presiding. Judge E. H. Cranmer, who is supposed to be riding this circuit at the present time exchanged with Judge Daniels who was holding court in Wilmington, but will return to Greenville for the next term. Practically the entire afternoon yesterday was consumed by argument in the case against Willard & Smith Company of this city. The case involves argument as to whether the concern shall continue business under direction of the creditors' committee as heretofore or if a receiver is to be appointed to look after the business.

The issue is one of the most hotly contested taken up during the entire session and will not likely be completed until a late hour this afternoon. Argument was continued by attorneys this morning, and this in all probability will continue through the noon hour. There are several matters to be brought up for consideration during the remainder of the week, and from all indications the majority will be definitely disposed of. Judge Daniels is well known in this section, and should be able to make excellent progress. He has seen long service on the bench and is conceded to be one of the ablest jurists in the state. His work this week will be watched with considerable interest in this city.

SUES NEWSPAPER AT FAYETTEVILLE ON LIBEL CHARGE

Henry E. Williams Begins Action Against John A. Park And Others

Fayetteville, March 28.—The $100,000 libel suit brought by Henry E. Williams, former mayor of Fayetteville, against the Park Publishing Company, former publishers of the Fayetteville Observer, and others, was taken up in the Superior court here today and had reached the stage of the introduction of testimony before adjournment this afternoon. The suit names as defendants, John A. Park, the Park Publishing Company, Carey B. Taylor, former managing editor of The Observer, E. T. Hedrick, former business manager, and David B. Lindsay, present publisher of the paper. The plaintiff in his complaint alleges that in three separate issues of the Observer he was accused of embezzlement of city funds, allowing indecent and immoral conduct in circus sidings within the city limits, permitting open gambling by boys, and illegally collecting taxes, from jitney drivers. The defendant's answer to the complaint denied the allegation as to charging the then mayor with misappropriation of funds and declared that any criticisms of Williams' administration appearing in The Observer were not actuated by malice, but were made in the capacity of public journalism for what was deemed the public good.

LOCAL ROTARIANS OPPOSE PLANS TO CUT UP DISTRICT

To Send Resolutions to National Committee, Protesting Against Proposal

POULTRY FANCIERS TO BE ENTERTAINED BY W. H. DAIL SOON

Club Room to be Used For Purpose of Entertaining The Poultry People Here

The regular meeting of the Greenville Rotary club was held at the club building on Rotary avenue last night. Many interesting matters were considered during the evening, including the nomination of a board of directors for the coming year and regular business session. The committee on arrangements for the speaking of Dr. Charles M. Barker, noted lecturer who is to speak here April 7th, reported plans practically completed. Dr. Barker, who is one of the best known lecturers in the country will speak before the high school students body at 10:30 in the morning. At four o'clock in the afternoon he will address ladies of the city at the high school auditorium. At eight o'clock p. m. he will again speak at the high school auditorium to men only. Members of the Rotary club consider themselves fortunate in being able to secure the services of such a distinguished speaker, and hope the public will take advantage of his lectures. The matter of redistricting the Seventh district, as proposed by International headquarters was brought up and strongly opposed. A committee was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions and communicate with the International committee, protesting against the plan of cutting up the district. The plan was negated recently at the Winston-Salem convention, and it is expected other clubs will join Greenville in opposition.

Several members of the club spoke of the recent convention in Winston-Salem, declaring it on the most enjoyable and profitable affairs held in years. Such conferences have a tendency of drawing the various clubs closer together, it was said, and every member should make it a point to attend every year. Mr. W. H. Dail announced that a Pitt county Poultry Club was being organized. He was granted use of the club room for noon luncheon, at which time he will entertain poultry fanciers of the section. Dr. Wilson, of Port Washington, Long Island, a guest of Dr. A. M. Schultz, made an interesting talk, lauding the spirit behind Rotary. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic in sometime, and featured in many interesting matters.

JOHN E. HUGHES DIES FOLLOWING LENGTHY ILLNESS

Prominent Tobacco Dealer of Danville Died Last Night From Paralysis

Mr. John E. Hughes, of Danville, Va., one of the best known independent tobacco dealers in this country, died at his home last night at 8:30 o'clock following illness extending over two years. The deceased was well known in Greenville having visited here several times looking after business connected with the Hughes-Thomas plant here. He operated plants in Wilson, Kingston, Winston-Salem and Danville the latter place being headquarters of the concern. The deceased was about fifty years of age. He suffered a stroke of paralysis about two years ago, from which he never completely recovered. The tobacco industry has suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Hughes, who was one of its oldest members. Growers and buyers everywhere will regret to learn of his passing.

BETHEL NEWS

By Special Correspondent. Bethel, N. C., March 28.—At a meeting of growers of Bethel Sweet Potato Growers Association here this afternoon the following were elected directors of the association. S. M. Jones, President, E. L. Mayo, vice president, J. B. Corey, secretary and treasurer, Eason James, W. O. Manning, T. R. Andrews and Dr. C. J. Ellis. After election of officers there was a unanimous vote that the association federate with the other potato growers associations in the state. Mr. A. H. Jones was elected as the "grower" from the Bethel Association to attend the next federation meeting at Goldsboro. Mr. G. Dowell Burroughs, potato expert of Rocky Mount was here and addressed the meeting in a practical way by presenting facts about growing, grading and storing potatoes. Mr. W. B. Pace, county demonstration agent, attended the potato meeting and later in the evening gave the people the benefit of the splendid exhibit of agricultural pictures. Two of the reels shown were "Good by Boll Weevil" one Sweet Potato Growing and Storage, one "Milk as Nature's Food" another valuable reel was "Making Mothers Work Easier." The last two reels were brought to the county by the influence of Mr. K. T. Futrell, county welfare worker. They report that in the county where they have made the test less than half, even of the rural children drink milk as a part of their daily diet. It is alarming how few rural homes have their own milk and butter. Jess'e Bell, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lewis, who lives on the Tarboro road happened to a very painful accident yesterday morning. While playing in the yard with one of the neighbor's children who was about five years old, they found a sharp ax, the older child in trying to use the ax cut off all four fingers on the left hand, cutting off the tip end of the little finger and severing the other three between the first and second joints. Miss Ethel Everett, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at Park View hospital in Rocky Mount, returned home Saturday. Mr. J. B. Corey, spent the weekend in Rocky Mount with friends and relatives. Prof. S. J. Husketh, who was called to the bed side of his father who died at his home near Durham the later part of last week returned home last night. Our people are glad to know that the Oxford Orphanage Singing class will give a concert here in the graded school auditorium Thursday night April 6th. These children always get a good hearing from our people. HEAVY RAINFALL DOES DAMAGE AT MOBILE, ALA.

MISS FAHNESTOCK PLEAS IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE

Noted Reader Captivated Audience in Recital at Teachers College

MISS MARY BERTOLET ALSO RENDERED MANY SPLENDID SELECTIONS

Reader and Pianist Completely Captivated Audience Throughout Program

Miss Katherine V. Fahnestock, the reader and impersonator, captivated her audience last night in her recital at East Carolina Teachers College, and Miss Mary Bertolet never played more beautifully. Miss Fahnestock's program opened with scenes from Monica O'Shea's "The Rushlight," an intensely dramatic and touching Irish play. She gave three scenes from the play sketching in the situation, giving a description of the characters taking parts, and then giving the lines, changing from one character to the other with wonderful skill and ease. The program ranged from these heavy scenes from tragedy to delicate, dainty poems, and humorous sketches, and charming child impersonations. The "quarrel scenes" between Lord and Lady Teale in Sheridan's "School for Scandal," were delightfully rendered. The two poems from Tagore's "Citanjali," "Credo," and "The Sleep that Flits on Baby's Eyes," were interpreted in a truly poetic manner. The former of these was translated by Tagore from the Chinese. With this group she gave an original poem by Mrs. Esther J. Rusky. "Fulfillment." This had intense religious feeling. The poem has never been printed. The humorous selection. When men Progress seemed to please the audience. "The Land of Beginning Again" by Louise Tarkington, was the pleasing number that preceded the scenes from "As You Like It." She gave the scene between Orlando and Rosalind in which Rosalind disguised as a shepherd showed Orlando how to cure his love. She made such a whimsical, capricious, witty Rosalind that it made one wish to see her take the part throughout the play. Miss Bertolet played a group of three piano selections. The Gavotte in A, by Boyle, Chopin's "Waltz, op. 64, No. 2," and Rachinoff's "Polichinelle." These made an excellent group, each representing a different mood.

DECIDE TO FORM NEW ALLIANCE IN POLITICAL ISSUE

State Federation and Farmers Union Join Hands in Future Plans

LEADERS OF THREE BIG ORGANIZATIONS TO PULL TOGETHER

Plans to Cement Friendship One Of The Biggest Issues Discussed

Greensboro, March 28.—Getting together here late this afternoon after forming a triple political alliance earlier in the day, representatives of the North Carolina Farmers' Union, the North Carolina Federation of Labor and the North Carolina branch of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen got into rough shape a questionnaire to be submitted to every candidate in the State and prepared an outline of legislative aims. The plan who cemented the three organizations into shape for a political alliance will sleep over the matter tonight and meet again tomorrow night at Charlotte to put the finishing touches on the questionnaire and make plans for campaign. Going into Politics. The executive committee of the Farmers' Union and a leader of the railroad men's Brotherhood were in session practically all day. They decided to adopt a common aim to stick together and despite adjustments required by one from many members of their organizations, to plunge deep into politics. It is the only way to get anywhere, they asserted. While the questionnaire could not be made public because of its not being finished, it is known that candidates will be quizzed closely as to their position on taxes. One of the leaders in the movement stated tonight that the triple alliance will be opposed to the sale of the North Carolina Railroad, in favor of the Australian ballot, against changes in textbooks and will demand that all proposed legislation touching local matters be published a sufficient time before hand to enable the voters to study it. The attitude toward the proposed consolidation of the University, the State College and the North Carolina College for Women will be decided tomorrow night. The leaders of the three organizations who highly elated tonight over the number in which they had got together. They promise that the state will be the force of the new political alliance.

The bonus bill is subject to radical changes before it becomes an actuality, according to Republican members of the administration. These changes very naturally will not be of any benefit to the ex-service man. In other words they will mean the slicing of appropriations as much as possible. This is the way the Republicans do things for the soldiers, and the fact should be remembered by the boys at the next election.

The Greenville Kiwanis club plans to attend the Winston Salem convention one hundred percent strong. The Kiwanis club, like the Rotarians, are doing everything possible to place Greenville to the forefront, and by sending such large delegations to the convention are doing it too. Such institutions are great assets to thriving cities, and should receive the hearty co-operation and approbation of the public.

The track meet to be staged in Greenville in April should attract attention of people from all parts of the county. High schools will derive great benefit from the competition created by the meeting, and one or possibly two will have loving cups to remember the occasion by. The Rotary club has the boys and girls of the community at heart, and deserves to be commended for promoting the event.

STRIKE OR CONSPIRACY-WHICH?

The country is again threatened with one of the worst coal strikes in history because of the conspiracy of mine operators to prevent prices from keeping pace with the general decline in the cost of living. The fault is not altogether the miners. In fact their position is nothing compared to that of the operators, and the government should compel them to avert the strike the same way miners were some months ago.

The men who go down into the very bowels of the earth to dig out the coal receive about a dollar and ninety cents a ton. The operators and dealers sell it for something over ten dollars a ton, leaving slightly over eight dollars in profit. Where does this enormous profit go, everyone very naturally asks. The reply is very simple. The operators get it, or if they do not somebody closely allied to the trade does.

The situation is serious. It is similar to others which have prevailed in this country since the war, and it is up to the public to so strongly recent action of the operators that they will do something to remedy the situation. It is very natural for the miners to demand an increase of wages knowing the operators are earning excessive profits. And if this increase isn't granted, it is up to the operators to reduce prices until the miners are satisfied they are not working for a combination of profiteers and gougers.

The public should not condemn the miners too severely for the course they have taken. They have opened up a way for an expose of the unfair dealings of the operator, and really deserve credit whether they strike or not. It seems unfair for workmen to demand increased wages at this time when everything else is declining. But it isn't when considering the huge profits gouged from the pockets of an unsuspecting public.

Sentiment has taken a decided turn against the operators, and if they permit the strike to come off the industry will suffer more than anyone at the time suspects. The strike can be averted by reducing prices or meeting demands of the miners. And the alternative is entirely with the operators.
