SEVERAL THOUSAND PERSONS ATTEND COUNTY SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT DAY EXERCISES STAGED IN THE CITY TODAY

Governor Morrison Delivered Principal Address at Teachers College

LITERARY CONTESTS AND FIELD DAY EVENTS PROVE BIG FEATURES

Event Ushered in This Morning With Mammoth Parade Over City Streets

Several thousand people attended the county school commencement day exercises held at the East Carolina Teachers College and the fair grounds here today. The event was one of the most unique and inspiring held in this city in many years, and thousands of school children representing various parts of the county joined in making the day truly the greatest in the county's history.

Exercises were ushered in with a mammoth parade shortly after nine o'clock this morning. In line of the parade could be seen thousands of school children led by marshalls made up of members of the Rotary Club and led by Ralph Garrett, chairman of this committee. Boy scouts, girl scouts, students of the Teachers College, city and county schools, and a gaily decorated automobile containing J. E. Winslow, president of the Greenville Rotary Club practically made up the parade.

A tremendous crowd had gathered on the campus prior to arrival of the parade to be the first to greet Governor Morrison, scheduled to make the principal address.

Governor Morrison was made an honorary tender foot scout by members of the Greenville organization following his arrival at the campus.

Immediately after this feature Scoutmaster J. H. Rose led the Boy Scouts in practice in front of the Administration building of the college, where they awaited the governor who stepped in their midst a short time later. Mr. Rose announced that first class Scout Richard Williams would confer the honor on the governor. Then John Scoville gave him the Scout oath. This was given in a clear ringing voice, and as the governor accepted it the great crowd cheered as a crowd probably never cheered before.

A splendid orchestra made up of people from the town, the schools and the surrounding community furnished music before and during the exercises. Miss Mott rendered excellent services in arranging the music for the singing which was led by J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools.

Governor Morrison was introduced by Col. F. G. James, who recalled the history of Governor Morrison. Prior to the introduction, however, R. H. Wright, president of the Teachers College, welcomed the large crowd and assured them the college was glad to have them as guests.

While Governor Morrison was speaking the literary contests were in progress in class rooms of the school. About five hundred children registered for the contests. The loving cup offered by the Kiwanis club was won by Farmville with 62 points. Pountain and Winterville tied with nineteen points. Bethel came third with sixteen points. Thirty seven schools were represented, with eighteen of them winning one or more points.

Immediately after the exercises at the college the large crowd went to the fair grounds where athletic contests, under direction of S. K. Phillips, director of athletics of the Rotary club, were in charge. Many schools of county had entrants in these features, promised to be among the most important of the day's exercises.

Governor Morrison, in his address at the Teachers' College said in part: The governor made a great speech reviewing the great resources of this wonderful state, showing wherein we are a great people, calling attention to the manufacturing, and farming industries of the state, and then proceeding to show wherein the reason for our lack of wealth, lack of power to keep for ourselves that which we produce, and made a powerful appeal to the people of Pitt County to get-together and work in co-operation with those from other sections to make a stronger, better government, with better schools, better advantages of all kinds and to help carry the state forward into the front ranks along all lines.

The resources that he presented as needing development is the water power, first of the un-navigable rivers in the western and central parts of the state, which would greatly increase the wealth by aiding the manufacturing interests; then he gave the development of the navigable water-power in the eastern part of the State, both by developing the fish and oyster industries and by making the streams navigable, so that the products manufactured in the central parts of the state can be carried out of the state by these rivers, thus making ours a state that would rank high in industry.

Farming, or agricultural development he gave as one of the greatest needs of the State. He commended the people of Pitt county for the high rank they held in the world of agriculture, ranging among the first in the nation. He gave the keynote to the trouble, the fact that there are not enough food stuffs raised in any county in the State to feed the animals in that county. In the state farming ranks high, but the farmers are not rich. There is obliged to be some trouble somewhere. Some have blamed poor legislation for the fact, but the real trouble lies in the fact that what is paid in for money crops goes to Nebraska and Illinois and other states for what we eat.

The administration has the four departments of the state government the department of health, of education, of agriculture and teachers college, working for four things especially on the farms: These are to get the people to raise more hogs, to raise more poultry, to raise more vegetables, and to have milk cows. We can raise good tobacco and cotton but we are poor gardeners, letting the Belgians and the French eat us.

"Raising hogs is genuine patriotism," he said. "A state cannot have a great government, with good schools, good institutions, and care for all who need caring for without money, and the true patriot is he who toils to raise sufficient money so that there will be a surplus for taxation."

To study about how we can raise better food and more of it is worthy of any one.

He praised the statesman. He called the roll of North Carolina's great men and at the head of the list put Jarvis, and praised them for the great things these statesmen had done, but he said that the ones who had made the state, who had given it better schools, and better things had been the people who worked and made the money for these things.

Taxation was the theme of the last part of his speech. He showed plainly that wise taxation where the money was wisely spent for the advantages the people wanted, was an investment and should be desired rather than feared. The money that has been made possible the appropriations for the state institutions, the State College of engineers, the college for women at Greensboro, for this school, has been the taxes paid by the people of the state. He assured President Wright that there would be more money for this school in the near future, more nearly what it needed.

He contrasted the needs of the government in the past with that of today, showing that the needs were few then and many now. He took a strong stand for good salaries for teachers, saying that he would fight against any effort to cut them down. He said he was ready to battle for the rights of the 17,000 school teachers and the 750,000 school children of the state. He closed with an eloquent, impassioned appeal to the people to get together to work in co-operation for the advancement of the state, the greatest state in possibility; and resources in the union.

ORDER INQUIRY IN FREIGHT RATES OF SOUTHERN DISTRICT

Interstate Commerce Commission Order Immediate Investigation

PLAN TO ESTABLISH GREATER HARMONY IN OPERATION OF ROADS

Southern Districts to Have The Same Rate in Every Respect

Washington, Apr. 3.—Investigation of southern merchandise freight rates ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing at Atlanta, May 22 will be followed by another hearing in Asheville, N. C., New Orleans, Chicago, New York, the dates to be fixed by the commission.

The commission desires the investigation for the purpose of establishing greater harmony between interstate and intrastate rates within the southern territory. If this is accomplished, it will be necessary for the commission to fix interstate class rates to serve as proper guide to state commissions in adjustment of intrastate class rates in the future.

BRITISH PROPOSE MOVE TO REDUCE EXPENSE OF NAVY

Admiral, in Parliament, Says Great Fleet of Ships Are No Longer Needed

By DAVID M. CHURCH, London, April 3.—The time has come when Great Britain's great navy should be reduced, according to Rear-Admiral Suetter, M. P.

Great fleets of battleships, fully manned, are no longer necessary to the security of the Empire, and the taxpayer should have the advantage of savings brought about by naval reductions. Rear-Admiral Suetter states:

"If the money is spent in the right way in the development of submarines and aircraft the security of our Empire can be maintained with far less expenditure than hitherto," the Rear-Admiral said.

This position is taken in opposition to a prolonged and growing protest which has gone up from many quarters in England since the Washington Conference and since the Geddes Economy Committee recommended great naval reductions. There are many in England who are fearful lest economic and disarmament treaties will result in Britannia no longer ruling the waves, and there is an active campaign on foot to keep the British Navy at the maximum strength possible under existing conventions.

Peace for ten Years. "For the next ten years, so the government declares, it is unlikely that Britain will be called upon to fight any great Power," according to Rear-Admiral Suetter.

"We are now informed that only two of our capital ships are to be proceeded with as a result of the decisions of the Washington conference. Before the great part of this decade of promised peace has passed scientific research may have brought about many changes in the prosecution of naval warfare. Indeed, many naval experts today cavil at building capital ships at all and would prefer to pin their faith to submarines and aircraft. To delay the building of these ships for several years would surely be judicious, far, apart from the enormous savings to the taxpayer now, it may be that in ten years these ships would be obsolete.

MR. ADAM GASKINS DIES AT BLACK JACK

Mr. Adam Gaskins, 71 years of age, prosperous farmer of Black Jack section, died this morning at 2 o'clock following short illness. Interment will be made at the family burying ground tomorrow afternoon. The deceased is survived by a wife, two daughters, Mrs. J. B. Hardest and J. A. Elks and a son F. L. Gaskins.

ROAD SENTENCES TAKE PROMINENT PLACE IN COURT

Man and Women Draw Sentences Ranging From One To Two Years Today

Only a small number of cases faced Judge L. G. Cooper in this morning's session of county court, and adjournment was possible long before the noon hour. Two of the defendants drew road sentences ranging from twelve months to two years the remaining getting off with slight fines.

Nellie Nelson, colored woman of the county charged with assault with deadly weapon, was sentenced to the county jail for a period of two years, to be assigned to work by the county commissioners.

Overster Turnage, colored charged with larceny, drew a period of 12 months on the road to be assigned to work by the commissioners.

Matthew Chase, charged with gambling, was fined $10 and costs of action. Over Morton, also charged with gambling, was released upon payment of $10 and cost of action.

The session this morning was one of the shortest in sometime, owing to the small number of cases on the calendar. By next Monday, however, the situation may be entirely different, and instead of adjourning long before noon court officials may be required to stay on the job several hours.

WARFARE AGAINST THE MOSQUITO IS AGAIN UNDER WAY

Anti-Malaria Campaign Started Today Under J. G. Bowling's Supervision

The Anti-Malaria campaign which has been waged in this city with such great success the past two years began again this morning under the direction of J. G. Bowling who has had charge of work since the first year it was started under government supervision.

The prime purpose of the campaign is to do away with the mosquito. Practically every ditch and breeding place of the mosquito will be cleaned out and properly oiled. And by the summer months very few mosquitoes will be in evidence.

The government provided an appropriation for the work the first year, and left it up to the city and county the second and third years. Last year an appropriation of about $3,500 was provided by the town and county, and a similar amount will be available this year.

City officials realize the campaign is necessary if health of the city is to be properly preserved, and in all probability will continue the work until the mosquito is completely exterminated. By beginning early in the season workmen are enabled to kill the mosquito in his infancy, and in many instances, prevent breeding. They find many places around buildings where the pest is bred without the knowledge of anyone, and render great aid in preserving the health of the community.

NEGRO CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER AUTOMOBILE TRUCK

A negro by the name of White, employed on the Heber Jackson farm near Ayden, was instantly killed Saturday in a wreck of a large automobile truck which he was driving. Reports of the accident reaching this city were meager, but it seems the truck turned over, caught the negro under it and crushed him to death.

AID SOCIETY MEETING POSTPONED UNTIL TUESDAY

The Aid Society of the Immanuel Baptist church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church parlor. The meeting was to have been held today but was postponed until tomorrow. Every member is urged to be present.

LEWIS PREDICTS HIGHER PRICE OF COAL IN FUTURE

President of Miners Says Non-Union Production is Exaggerated

CLAIM OPERATORS FORCED TO STRIKE TO RAISE THE PRICES

Sees Little Hope of Settlement By Interference of The Government

Washington, April 3.—The National coal strike is 100 per cent effective in the unionized bituminous and anthracite mines of the county, and is getting support in non-union territory, John L. Lewis, president of the miners' unions declared today on his arrival here to attend congressional hearings tomorrow.

There are 600,000 miners ready to stay out of the mines "indefinitely, until the operators are ready to discuss with us the question of new wage agreements in the general competitive fields," Mr. Lewis declared, adding that while the union "courted investigation for itself and the bituminous industry, it seeks no government intervention, but does ask for the support of public opinion in forcing the operators to continue collective bargaining with miners over wages and working conditions."

Predicts Higher Prices.

Discussing coal reserves and the effect of the strike on the interest of consumers, Mr. Lewis strongly advanced his opinion that a pinch would come earlier than expected. He declared non-union mine production had been "greatly exaggerated" and that operators had been more or less following tactics "that forced a strike so that they could get higher prices and scarcity which means greater profits."

"There will not be a single man return to work this week," Mr. Lewis said "from the 600,000 men who went out. It takes a little longer in the non-union fields to get the reports. In West Virginia pan-handle, for instance, right along the Ohio line there are about five or six thousand meetings are being held today. They probably will be out tomorrow. There are meetings held and there is no-union territory all over the United States today. We will get the returns later. In the union territory we know what happened. The operators are not even going to try and run mines."

ELIZABETH CITY WANTS JOIN SIX CITY BALL CLUB

If Tarboro Fails to Take the Sixth Place Other City Will Get Berth Offer

Washington, April 3.—Information was received here this morning that Elizabeth City will in all probability be offered the sixth place in the Eastern Carolina League should Tarboro fail to become a member. Tarboro it is expected will arrive at some definite conclusion before the meeting to be held here next Monday.

If Tarboro does fail to come into the league and Elizabeth City does, this will mean that Washington will see baseball again this season. Washington will be unable to be part of the league unless some other town enters in order to make a circuit of six instead of four as it is now constituted. The league at present is composed of Greenville, Kinston, armville and New Bern with Washington knocking at the door for admittance. If Tarboro or 'Betsy Town' enters then the door will be opened for a six circuit league. The local fans will learn their fate at the meeting to be held here Monday next.

END OF CENTURY CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The End of the Century Club will meet with Mrs. J. L. Hassell, Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

FIRST REAL TEST IN MINERS STRIKE REPORTED TODAY

Coal Miners Supporting Strike Order to the Man Everywhere Today

TWO GREAT DANGERS CONFRONT NATION IN MENACING SITUATION

Menace of Bolshevism Seen in Speeches of Professional Agitators

(By International News)

Wilkesboro, April 3.—The coal suspension order is under way and the first real test of strength showed here today that the hard coal miners are supporting the order to a man.

Even colliers in three districts remained idle and not a man reported for work except those allowed work by decree of international officers.

There are two grave dangers to the anthracite situation. First is the excess and second the menace of bolshevism preached by professional agitators.

Confident that the mine strike would continue a hundred per cent effective attaches at Indianapolis headquarters of the United Mine Workers today turned their eyes towards Washington where John Lewis, president of the Union, is to appear before the House Labor Committee to present the miners' case.

SOLICITOR SEEKS FOURTH PARTY IN WHITLEY MURDER

Solicitor Dennis Seeks Fourth Party in Whitley Murder Case

Kinston, April 3.—Zebulon V. Whitley, former manager of a barber shop here, is sought by the sheriff of Greene county on a charge of accessory before and after the fact in connection with the murder of William Whitley last year. Warrant for his arrest was issued Saturday by District Solicitor Jesse L. Davis following another confession by Wright. Wright, aged negro, under death sentence for the actual slaying of Whitley while he lay asleep on a taxicab truck one night in July, 1921. For the crime, Mrs. Whitley, the dead man's wife, and William Hays, a young white planter are now serving life sentences for complicity.

It is alleged that Zeb Whitley drove the automobile in which Wright, Hays returned to his home a short distance from Snow Hill, seven or eight miles from the scene of the crime, on the night of the murder, and that he knew of the plot to take Whitley's life.

Zeb Whitley is known to have been in Greene county until two weeks ago, but is now known that he had gone away. Although nothing definite is given out by the solicitor relative to his whereabouts, it was said last night that he was in Virginia and that he will be arrested without a doubt today or tomorrow.

WOMAN HELD CHARGED WITH KILLING FATHER

Merideth, Miss., Apr. 3.—Charged with the murder of her step-father, Mrs. Lottie Maxwell, twenty years of age, was jailed here today without bond. According to the police she confessed shooting her step-father in the back with a shot gun as he was about to leave and take her young daughter with him. A brother of the girl was released.

COTTON PRODUCTION INCREASES IN PITT

According to a government report issued today Pitt county produced 25,485 bales of cotton during the year of 1921 and 23,587 bales during the year of 1920. The increase will be received with general interest throughout the county, especially by those who have been closely connected with the industry in past years.

Fixing Up For Spring.

These are the days when everybody's fixing up the bus for spring. It seems sort of "peoples" after having carried you through the winter. Although you have ainted it all up so it looks like a million, it just naturally don't seem to have the necessary "vim and vigor."

Of course about the first thing you think of when this sad state of affairs is revealed is that important part of its works—the battery. Come to think of it, it is about time this organ was receiving a little attention.

At once you hasten to the battery station that you believe is best equipped to look it over and prescribe the necessary remedies. The expert battery man that you find there doesn't take long to re-charge it and give it the attention necessary—he seems to realize that these fine spring days everybody is anxious to "get going" so you are soon on your way. The bus takes on his wife, and feeling the call of the road, you're off.

they are "all set" for an unusual spring business. The new Willard all-rubber battery has performed so satisfactorily since it was introduced to the motoring public that it has been established as the logical battery to install when spring replacements are necessary. People seem to know that when their car is equipped with an all-rubber they can enjoy the scenery when they go rambling this spring, with no disturbing thoughts about whether their battery will function or not.

SPLENDID CROWDS ATTEND CHRIST CHURCH LAST NIGHT

(Continued from page one.) He was born a bigoted and exclusive Jew. He came forth not a bigoted Jew, but the Universal Son of man and brother of the human race.

The immediate effect of His ministry were extraordinary. Men came to Jesus singly; and in multitudes; they sought Him out in His retreat, and in public places. They thronged to the temple and the synagogue to hear Him. They crossed the sea in boats, and spent whole days in desert places. They stood on the mountain-side, and on the seashore. While He taught them out of the ship, Nicodemus, the ruler, came, and Mary Magdalene, Zaccheus, and the Syro-Phoenician woman, all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth.

Jesus had a character all His own. He was unconventional and original as nature itself. He had something in common however with every individual he met.

Jesus was the first teacher and preacher of the Christian Church, but no section of that church has preserved, or could have preserved His external type. He was not more unique in His subject-matter than in the forms and methods of teaching.

He stood at the confluence of three and Roman—and yet was untainted by either of these. Like the stars above He is at home in every sky.

Jesus was the One Contemporary of Every Age.

With men this is not true, for even, great men like Savonarola and Wesley are still the products of their time. You cannot think of a man apart from the century in which he lived.

You cannot date the mind of Jesus. His colossal intellect spans the centuries and he is at ease in all of the ages. He is the one and only contemporary of the human race.

The world has been influenced by a great personality. That personality is Jesus. His very presence was a blessing and benediction to the people.

His personality was not Jewish or Roman, but truly human. He was not Jewish enough for the Jew, nor sufficiently Latin for the Roman; He belonged to mankind.

In Jesus the local and the temporary elements are not found, but we see in Him the lineaments of the universal and the eternal.

John declares (John 2:17) that the doing of the Will of God is the condition of permanence amid the perishing and passing of the world. We are conscious that all around us is perishing; yes, and we ourselves, as bodily powers, pass away. We are conscious of a passionate desire for permanence. The possessive pronouns are at once a revelation of that desire, and a confession of weakness. "My House," and it is gone; "My Child" and it is dead! There is permanence only in the Will of God, and there only can we fully use the possessive pronoun, "My Lord and my God." He is the same, yesterday, today and forever. Everlasting, yet ever new.

The doctrine of Jesus has passed into human thought and absolutely bankrupted it, so that we can think of nothing higher than the fatherhood of God, nothing wider than the brotherhood of man, and nothing deeper than the possibility of holiness through Jesus Christ. The world has always been interested in His doctrine concerning sin. Concerning God the Father and concerning eternal life.

The great miracle of Christ is not the miraculous conception, on the resurrection from the grave, but now he came out from Judea

IT'S SATISFACTORY

"Bread is the staff of life," said Dean Swift. And good old Matthew Henry told why, for, said he: "Here is bread, which strengthens man's heart, and therefore is called the staff of life." Bread is WHAT LIFE LEANS ON. And if the staff be unsound and weak, life shall fall. Get GOOD bread. Get BLUE RIBBON BREAD, for it is good. And your life shall have a stout, sound staff.
