LOCAL MEN LEAVE FOR BIG MEET OF COMMERCE BODY

H. L. Smith and N. G. Bartlett Off For Wilmington Meeting Today

IMPORTANT ISSUES TO BE CONSIDERED DURING SESSIONS

Permanently Locating Vice-President and Manager To Be Considered

H. L. Smith, secretary of the Pitt county chamber of commerce and N. G. Bartlett, recently elected vice-president manager of the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce, who has been spending the past few days in Greenville, left this morning for Wilmington to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Eastern Carolina chamber.

The purpose of the meeting is to map out general plans of activity, determine a budget and to decide upon headquarters, the vice-president and manager, constitution and by-laws of the chamber will also be decided upon together with several other matters vital to directing the future of the body.

The program will probably be one of the most ambitious ever before attempted in this state, and the sections embraced by the organization should derive great benefit from it.

Permanently locating the vice-president and general manager will be one of the liveliest subjects to be considered, as several towns are desirous of having headquarters located within their borders. That Greenville stands good chance of winning is generally conceded because the president and other officials of the organization are located here.

H. L. Smith has acted as temporary secretary for sometime, but these duties were turned over to Mr. Bartlett during his visit here this week.

The outcome of the meeting will be watched with great interest in this and other cities in Eastern North Carolina.

WHITE DELIVERS TIMELY ADDRESS AT THE COLLEGE

Washington Physician Speaks To Students at Teachers College Today

Dr. William A. White, who is superintendent of Elizabeth Hospital in which there are 4000 patients and 1200 employees, and who is professor of nervous and mental diseases in Georgetown University Washington, D. C., made a strong, and exceedingly helpful talk this morning to the students of East Carolina Teachers College on the problem of causes and correction of the troubles that bring about social failures.

Dr. White urged the young women to study the cases of the children who are bad in school, and when unable to deal with the problems themselves to refer it to those who can handle it. The department of welfare is at hand, and the health department is ready to help, the state will do its part if the demand is made upon it. "Make a noise about the problems you cannot solve yourself." He showed that the boy who causes trouble in school is frequently the one who

PLAN TO PROMOTE GREAT COMMERCE IN UNITED STATES

Merchant Marine Bill Would Insure Cargoes For American Ships

Washington, April 12.—Incentive would be given importers and exporters through passage of the administration merchant marine bill, to have their goods carried in American vessels, with the result that ship owners would be assured full cargoes, Norman B. Beecher, counsel for the Shipping Board, declared at today's session of the joint congressional hearing on the measure.

While no direct benefit would accrue to the ship owner under this provision, Mr. Beecher said, it was hoped by proponents of the legislation that the section would prove of more benefit to the owner than the receipt of an equal amount money.

"If the American ship owner can be assured of full cargoes, his problem is largely solved. Whatever may be the ultimate effect of this provision, its tendencies certainly will be in this direction," he said.

The income tax deduction provision, the Senate commerce and House merchant marine committees were informed, is in a measure a substitute for section 34 of the Jones Shipping act of 1920, never put into effect, which provides preferential tariffs on products imported in American ships. Explaining that Section 34 would have applied only to dutiable imports which, he said, comprise not more than one-third of the total volume of imports, Mr. Beecher said this action would have had no application to exports and no tendency to secure cargoes for American vessels outward bound.

"DRY" AGENT CHECKS UP ON PREACHER AND FINDS MINISTER GOOD PROPHECY

New Bern, April 12.—"I have been told that within the hearing of my voice there are three monishine stills in active operation" was the remark at the Sunday morning services yesterday by a preacher at Old Ford, Beaufort county.

A deputy sheriff was a member of the congregation and after the services proceeded to test out the accuracy of the preacher's information. In less than an hour Thomas and two other deputies captured one one-hundred gallon still and discovered traces where two others had been in operation.

EVANGELIST SAYS NEGLECT OF GOD IS GREATEST SIN

Dr. Edwards Brings out Several Points About Salvation at Revival

SINGING ANOTHER GREAT FEATURE OF EVENING SERVICES

Salvation Can Come Only Through Attention to the Demands of God

Neglect to do the will of God is one of the greatest sins of the present day, Dr. Edwards told a large crowd in last night's sermon in the series of revival services now in progress at the Christian church. To be saved, a man must do as God directs, Dr. Edwards declared, and it is up to him to decide his fate.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollock again delighted their hearers with several splendid song selections. Their singing is one of the outstanding features of the services every night, and is greatly enjoyed.

Dr. Edwards took his text from a portion of the second chapter of Hebrews, which reads "How Shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation."

Dr. Edwards at the outset said neglect is one of the greatest of all sins. The great trouble with people of the day is they do not heed the call of the Master. While many of them believe in God, they become neglectful and drift away from the fundamentals of life.

Neglect in doing the will of God is found among the churches as a body as well as the individual. The sin of unbelief is back of every sin known to mankind. People neglect doing their duty and continue unbelievers when the great love of God is manifested each day with all.

A man that is a believer and who hears the word of God preached to him, and still neglects salvation is worse than the unbeliever or infidel. So many people do not keep in mind the greatness of God because they have so many interests in the world.

Dr. Edwards declared a man can only receive salvation through the love and mercy of God, who gave his only begotten son that we all should be saved. He closed his sermon with the earnest plea that the Christian world should become more mindful of God and turn from the wicked ways.

URGES IMPROVEMENTS ON TENNESSEE RIVER

Washington, April 12.—Development of the Tennessee river as the main transportation artery was urged before the senate agricultural committee by Colonel Barden, army engineer in charge of Muscle Shoals nitrate project. He declared completion of the dam would open up three hundred and forty miles of waterway having a minimum of six feet. Senator Norris also urged further development of the river around Chattanooga. These improvements, it was stated, will extend available navigation to four hundred and sixty four miles.

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS DISARMAMENT IN SPITE OF FRANCE

Genoa, April 12.—Delegates of neutral powers at the economic conference are preparing to urge limitation of land armament despite objections of France, it was reported authoritatively today. It was also suggested that trade should be immediately re-opened with Russia.

OXFORD ORPHANS GIVE CONCERT HERE

A concert class of the Oxford Orphanage gave a delightful entertainment at the high school building in this city last night. The concert was fairly well attended and the program proved of great interest. The splendid training received by children at the Oxford orphanage was very much in evidence last night, and the audience was impressed by the spirit behind the great institution.

SOUTHERN TARIFF CONGRESS FAVORS REPUBLICAN BLOC

Southern Body to Join Forces In Effort to Increase Rates

SENATOR GOODING OF IDAHO PUSHING HIGHER RATE PLAN

Declares Ninety Per Cent of Southern People Favor Proposals

(By International News). Washington, April 12.—The Southern Tariff association joined forces today with the Republican agricultural tariff "bloc" to obtain higher rates on the number of agricultural products than provided by the Republican majority in control of the senate finance committee and the new tariff bill.

Senator Gooding, Republican of Idaho, declared he is convinced that ninety percent of the people of the south favor a protective tariff on agricultural products and that southern Democratic senators didn't represent the tariff to senate constituents.

The southern association is said to have favored proposals to increase the tariff off rice, peanuts, soy beans and other products produced in the southern states.

SELMA TEAM WINS FROM GREENVILLE HIGH SCHOOL CLUB

Visitors Defeat Locals by Score of 12 to 1 in Very Disagreeable Game

A baseball club from Selma defeated the high school club of Greenville at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon by the score of 12 to 1. The Selma team was supposed to have represented the high school of that place, but they were the largest bunch of high school players ever seen in this place. In fact, many of them looked as if they might have children in the high school, and one or two were recognized as men who have been playing the game many years.

The Greenville club played in splendid form, but could not compete with their hefty opponents, Satterthwaite started out on the mound for Greenville, but proved ineffective and was relieved by Zeno, Brown who pitched a remarkably fine brand of ball.

Heavy wind dust storm made playing disagreeable throughout the game, and caused the players to misjudge the course of the ball in many cases. A home run by Selma and triple by West of Greenville were principal features of the game.

THE MERCHANT GENTLEMEN TO BE PRESENTED HERE

The play that is to be presented by the Seniors of East Carolina Teachers College on the evening of April 21 is a splendid French comedy, "The Merchant Gentleman," which is a translation of Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," one of the finest most amusing comedies ever written. The fun is such that it can be appreciated as much by the citizens of Greenville, or by any American, as by the French of a past time. The songs give life and spirit to the play, and the stately dances add beauty and variety.

The tickets will be placed on sale the last of this week so that those from a distance will have time to secure their tickets.

MEN'S CLASS OF BAPTIST CHURCH IN FINE MEETING

Splendid Supper Served During Interesting Program Last Night

BARTLETT DELIVERS SPLENDID ADDRESS ON A MAN'S DUTY

Other Speakers of the Evening Make Inspirational Addresses

The Men's class of the Memorial Baptist church met in the banquet hall of the Sunday school rooms last night and enjoyed delightful supper and one of the most interesting programs of the year. The meeting was presided over by C. J. Ellen, president of the class, who at the outset explained the nature of the meeting and called on C. S. Forbes for the first talk of the evening.

Mr. Forbes spoke on the "Cannibal's Feast," and brought out many points of interest to the class. H. L. Smith, secretary of the Pitt county chamber of commerce spoke on the subject of "Loyalty" bringing out many points showing what a spirit of loyalty can do for a Sunday school class or any other organization.

N. G. Bartlett, vice-president and manager of the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce talked on "A Man's Duty to His Church." He showed the importance of giving men of the church something to do to keep them interested and not to leave church management entirely to the ladies and the board of deacons. The talk was one of the most inspiring of the evening, and brought out many points vitally affecting the church.

While supper was being served music was furnished by Edmond's orchestra and Imperial Quartette.

The class has made considerable progress since organizations a few months ago, and the meeting last night indicated it is to become one of the most powerful influences of the church. The young men are taking active interest in work before them, and the future is very bright indeed.

TESTIFIES TO COLD BLOODED KILLING OF AMERICANS IN RUSSIA

Washington, April 12.—The cold blooded killing of American soldiers and Russian prisoners by Anti-Bolshevik forces in Siberia was described before the senate education and labor committee today by General Graves, who commanded American troops over there. The action of General Semenov, bolshevist general, was described as brutal and deliberate murder.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT GETS GOOD LAUGH

William Howard Taft, former President, now Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, is enjoying things immensely. He didn't let the camera man in on the joke, but from the looks of this remarkable close-up, it must have been a choice morsel of cleverness. The picture was snapped just after Taft had become a life member of the new Congressional Country Club.

PAPER MAKERS TO PUSH WORK OF REFORESTING

Urge Congress to Start New Growth of Timber on 81,000,000 Acres

(By International News). New York.—"Distinct gains have been achieved in the last year in the industry of the American paper in favor of forestry legislation which will help to provide a continuous supply of the raw material which this and other industries require if they are to continue in operation," George W. Sisson, Jr., of Potsdam, N. Y., chairman of the Forestry Committee of the American Paper and Pulp Association, said this afternoon in making his report to the annual convention of the association.

"A committee of congress devoted a week to intensive study of the forestry problem of the nation, and such organizations as the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, the American Forestry Association and other national organizations, as well as technical foresters, stood with the American paper and pulp association in asking for legislation which will aid in starting a new growth of timber on the 81,000,000 acres of land which ought to be growing trees, but which are now growing nothing.

"This industry takes pride in the fact that its program for co-operation between federal, state and private agencies in the maintenance of the forest growth, first adopted in 1919, is now recognized as the one possible forestry program now before the country.

Presented Our Arguments. "We have presented our arguments and made our case before congress. If nothing is done the bill embodying our ideas will be introduced in the next congress, and will continue to be pressed until congress acts.

SECRETARY HUGHES DIRECTLY OPPOSES NAVAL REDUCTIONS

Declares House Bill Will Put Nation Below the Proper Ratio

DIRECT OPPOSITION FROM OTHER SOURCES IS ALSO PROBABLE

Democratic Leader Says Congress Isn't Bound to Keep Up Navy as Usual

Washington, April 12.—Leaders of the movement seeking to defeat in the House the naval bill proposal cutting the enlisted personnel to $5,000, presented today a letter from Secretary Hughes setting forth the view that it would reduce the American navy below the 5-5-3 ratio, as fixed by the arms conference, and prove "most injurious" to the nation's interests.

The moment the Secretary's letter was read, Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, "challenged the doctrine as laid down in the first official utterance before us" that congress was bound to keep the navy up to the mark stipulated by the treaty.

In a letter to Representative Rogers, Republican of Massachusetts, who had asked his opinion because of his work as chairman of the conference, Mr. Hughes said he had been advised by the naval experts that the enlisted strength, as provided in the bill, was far below the number required to maintain the navy on the basis contemplated by the treaty.

Taking issue with the Secretary, Mr. Garrett declared he did not believe congress was bound to keep the navy up to the conference agreement.

While the debate on the bill continued all day, varied at times by discussion of other subjects opponents of the 55,000 enlisted provision were at work formulating up proposals to support an amendment making the total 80,000, the number claimed to have been urged by the President. There will be another full day of activity tomorrow before the House begins the consideration of times.

Representative Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, one of the active leaders for an increase, put friends and foes in good humor by attacking what he described as an effort to scrap the real navy to make room for a prohibition navy. There was a roar from members when Mr. Gallivan pictured the man running outfit with prohibition commissioner as "Admiral Haynes, washed to the mast, and giving the command to go ahead and d— the run runners and their explosive beverages."

NEGRO RECEIVES DEATH SENTENCE WITHOUT MOTION

Joe Dixon Taken to Raleigh After Trial at New Bern For Burglary

New Bern, April 12.—Facing Judge Daniels with a stolid and set expression on his face and without the slightest change of expression, Joe Dixon, who late last night was found guilty of burglary in the first degree today heard the words which will cause his life to be snuffed out on Tuesday, June 13th, at the state penitentiary.

A large crowd was in the court room to hear the sentence read. The words of Judge Daniels, although spoken in a low tone, were heard distinctly in all parts of the large room. No interruption occurred until the Judge came to the sentence which told of the prisoner's fate. Then there was a heart-rendering cry of anguish from Dixon's aunt, who was sitting close to the front. She had to be led from the room. Joe uttered never a word. When Judge Gaskins mentioned for him to rise, he walked from the court room without a tremor.

ADVOCATES MORE MILK FOR YOUNG FOLK OF COUNTY

Mrs. J. Arthur Jones Writes Interesting Article on The Value of Milk

(By MRS. J. ARTHUR JONES)
 I have just finished reading in Tuesday's News and Observer a prize essay written by a Raleigh pupil during the Milk for Health Campaign recently launched in that city.

I wish every mother could read it. Allow me to express a few thoughts on the subject. Anything that concerns children is interesting to me. Every mother wants her child to be well and strong but all mothers do not make a study of their needs and so that their children get the proper nourishment. So many children eat anything like instead of the things that are best for them.

For eleven years I have read everything I could find on the subject of children and their needs. So far my three have escaped most of the so-called inevitable diseases of childhood which I attribute to careful diet, and plenty of milk, fresh air and the proper amount of sleep.

Every child needs milk. Most physicians say a quart a day either cooked in food or as a beverage. How many children in Greenville schools get a quart a day? I'll venture to say not a fourth of them. Why? One reason the price is so high if these are several children in the family, the average family feels that they can't afford it. Leave off something less important. Another reason children are allowed to drink tea and coffee instead.

The thinking class of people should do all they can to help promote a healthy and happy childhood and beg parents to give their children less soft drinks and trashy sweets and more milk and nourishing food.

It makes me shiver to see the things some mothers allow their children to put into their young stomachs. A well child is less trouble than a sick one and it is easier to keep one well than it is to cure a sick one and much less expensive.

I wish we could have a Milk for Health Campaign here and have milk sold at the fifteen minute recess at a reasonable price.

Every child could study better (if they could have even a half pint of milk at recess) and would give the teacher less trouble.

As a teacher first and since as an observer of my own children, I have learned that a normal, well child is restful, nervous and irritable is so because he is hungry. He may not realize it himself but he is nevertheless.

I am sure the teachers and health officers will help us launch a Milk for Health Campaign. My dairyman has already told me he was going to reduce the price of milk. Other towns have already reduced the price to normal, which should be done, as the price of feed is fifty per cent cheaper than it was in 1920 and labor is also cheaper.

Raleigh people have noticed considerable improvement in the gain and looks of the school children there since they had the Milk for Health Campaign. Statistics say that one half the children of North Carolina are underweight and suffer from malnutrition.

We should appreciate the efforts of the teachers here in behalf of the Health Crusade for the school children here, by helping them to form good habits that may follow them through life. Let us bear from some one else on the subject.

NOTICE OF SALE UNDER MORTGAGE.

By virtue of authority contained in that certain mortgage deed, dated the 18th day of November, 1914 and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Pitt county in book A-11 at page 508, executed by Robert Peel to R. # WOULD MORTGAGE VALUABLE REALTY TO MAKE GERMANY PAY HER DEBTS

France Makes Proposal in Fear That Their Indemnity May Be Slipping

By FRANK E. MASON
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, April 7.—Compulsory mortgaging of all real property in Germany to pay the reparations is the solution proposed by Paul Reynaud, Member of the Chamber of Deputies. Not only would M. Reynaud put a 20 per cent mortgage on houses, but he would also increase the capital stock of every German corporation by one-fifth and present the stock certificates to the commission of reparations.

This is an adaptation of the German proposal of the German Minister Hirsch to the French point of view. Minister Hirsch suggested the drastic program of mortgaging German property and giving the mortgages to the German State. M. Reynaud would present the mortgages to the Allies. He believes that this would represent a capitalization of 40,000,000,000 gold marks on a pre-war valuation.

M. Reynaud's proposal is an indication that the hypnotic slogan of M. Klotz that "The Germans will pay," which was pronounced on every occasion when any question arose regarding the French budget, is gradually being forgotten. France is beginning to realize that there are limitations to the amounts she can collect.

"The French editors of the reparations clauses of the Treaty of Versailles promised in the chamber, in 1919, that Germany would pay us from her revenues."

thirteen to eighteen billion gold marks a year. Last May, at London, this sum shrunk to three billion for this year plus 26 per cent of Germany's exportations. At Cannes it was proposed to reduce this of 720,000,000 gold marks, plus a few hundred millions payments in goods to France.

Pyramid of Expenses Rising.
Thus from eighteen billions we see the German payments approaching zero. This is the inverted pyramid of our illusions, the point of which weights cruelly on us. However, the pyramid of expenses is rising. Eighty billion francs have been spent, in return for which we haven't secured one franc. This year we are spending twenty billion francs; and instead of securing from Germany seven billion to offset this as M. Doumer, calculated, we will receive at the most $50,000,000, which is to say zero.

"The treaty of Versailles didn't specify how Germany was to pay nor how much. The mistake was to wish to make her pay on a basis of her revenue. The French public believes that Germany is prospering beyond a screen of fraudulent bankruptcy. This is the cause of the difference of opinion between France and Europe.

"There can be payments between two countries only in goods and in services. Germany exports less than she imports. Her exportations were ten billion gold marks before the war. This figure has fallen to three billion and seven hundred million gold marks, according to the official figures of the International Guaranteed commission. Therefore Germany can't pay us in currency based on her revenues."

Petroleum Expert Declares 60 Per Cent of Reservoirs May Be Left

By W. K. NOLAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington.—Great quantities of oil, perhaps as much as 60 or 80 per cent of the original reservoirs, are left underground in the United States when wells are abandoned because no means have been determined whereby it is possible to recover more than a small percentage of the oil, according to A. W. Ambrose, chief petroleum technologist of the bureau of mines. This failure to effect a greater recovery of the underground oil, said Ambrose, is due to the exhaustion of the subterranean gas flow.

"The manner in which gas serves as an expulsive medium was recently shown by an experiment at the petroleum experiment station of the bureau of mines," Ambrose asserted. "A steel container about three feet long and three inches in diameter was filled with sand which was then thoroughly saturated with oil. The amount of oil introduced was known by weight and measurement. After the sand had been saturated, gas was forced into the container under a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch. Then a valve at one end was opened and the gas allowed to escape, bringing with it perhaps 18 per cent of the oil put into the container.

"In other experiments," Ambrose continued, "the amount of oil recovered varied from 15 to 25 per cent, depending on the pressure and other conditions. After the gas had forced out 18 per cent of the oil, the container was held in a vertical position for the purpose of determining how much oil would drain out, but the capillary force exerted on the oil was so great that only a negligible quantity of oil drained from the sand.

THE SOUTH OF TOMORROW.

The South has nearly of third of the total area of the United States.

It has a greater combination of natural advantages than any other equal area in the world.

It has three-fifths of the coast line of the continental United States.

It produces over 60 percent of the world's cotton.

It has the greatest natural gas fields known in the world.

It has the largest sulphur deposits known in the world, producing three-fourths of the world's sulphur supply.

It has practically all of the aluminum industry of the United States based on Southern raw materials.

It has three-fourths of the coking coal area of the country.

Its coal area is twice as great as that of all Europe including Russia, and five times as great as that of all Europe excluding Russia.

It has, according to government reports, an estimated oil reserve of 55 percent of the entire supply in this country.

It has 40 per cent of the country's forest area.

It has 55,000,000 acres of reclaimable wet land, which, when drained can be made to produce crops worth from $2,500,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 a year.

It can raise the cotton and the wool with which to clothe the country and much of the world, and the livestock with which to feed the country.

It is already annually shipping several hundred thousand carloads of early vegetables and fruits to northern and western markets.

It has nearly 600 percent of the cotton consumption of American mills.

The exports from Southern ports in 1921 were $1,867,000,000, compared with $356,000,000 from the entire Pacific Coast.

These and a thousand and one other facts of equal interest will be found in the Blue Book of Southern Progress issued by the Manufacturers Record, Baltimore.

GREAT RUSSIAN FAMINE PLIGHT IS TOLD BY A LITTLE QUAKER GIRL

Worker's Diary Shows Pitiable Condition in the Stricken Nation

(By International News.)

Philadelphia, April 3.—"But worse even than the dead bodies left some times for days frozen in the snow are walking skeletons who totter about from house to house, hoping to find enough to live on for another day."

That is one of the sights seen by Buelah A. Hurley, Quaker relief worker, of New Hope, Pa., now in the famine district of Russia. Her impressions of conditions affecting 15,000,000 starving and scourge-affected people are jotted down in a diary presented herewith for the first time. Miss Hurley reached the famine area in the Volga in mid-December and is in charge of distribution of Quaker relief in one of the sections of the Buzuluk district. Her diary follows:

"We were pulled into Buzuluk in the small hours of the morning one week ago, our car hitched to the tail of a freight, and we are still here in our houseboat on rails. Our last move was only a yard away to get onto the lead of a warehouse, and we had frozen so fast to the rails in even those few hours that a locomotive couldn't move us, and it had to back off and give us a kick. Even then we coasted, as the wheels didn't move at all.

"This business of cooking, living, receiving callers, running an office and housekeeping for a unit of fifteen in a square boxcar, wherein five or six sleep, is close work, and we have earned much. The kick from the engine upset the boxcar, but it hit nothing but one seat and the side of a car; but presently the teatower was also upset, and it washed the top off the fur hat, and so we are a tidy again.

"On Sunday Miriam West and I moved out in the night and slept up rooms in the town, which the Mission has taken for its headquarters. We slept in real home-goodness beds. How is that for record of the last three weeks? I am warning, all y who come into Asia and bring along all the beds and bedding you hope to use. Also some magic powder to law a ring all round camp on the prairie, and say an incantation over it before you retire or else you may find that you are a host in yourself."

"The reason we moved from the car for those two nights was that a doctor found that Nancy Babb, who lived on the first bottom shell of our tiny closet, had more than the flu. It is typhus, and as there is no hospital in Buzuluk we planned to take this car to a westbound train to have her in Samara the next night. Therefore our sudden move in the night, with the baggage of all ter-of us and the food-stuffs for Buzuluk and the household equipment for the five units about to open. Once at the house we had to open the foods and pack a supply of them to send up with Nancy Babb and a nurse to support themselves at the hospital.

Adele Gutman Nathan Arrives To Begin Coaching The Young Women

April 21 is the date for the Senior Play of East Carolina Teachers' College. This is the Friday after Easter, the very best time that could be chosen.

Adele Gutman Nathan, the manager of the play, arrived this morning to take complete charge of the production. The rehearsals have been going on under the direction of others, and the play is far enough advanced for every bit of her time to count well. The plan this year is to have swift work concentrating on the play, making that of primary importance for the time being to those taking leading parts.

Adele Gutman Nathan is the manager of the Little Lyric Theatre, the Children's Theatre of Baltimore. She has had extensive and exceedingly successful experience in producing plays. Baltimore for managing amateur plays. This is her third time in putting on a production in East Carolina Teachers' College. Each time she has taken her Eastern vacation for this work. The young women of the Senior Class are fortunate indeed in securing her services.

land causes trouble in society, and in prisons or the asylums. He spoke of the tendencies that are natural and right in children that go astray and later become criminal instincts. He gave lying and stealing as examples. "A child has a vivid imagination and gets fact and dream confused, but later deliberately passes into lying. Until a child knows 'no' and 'no' he naturally takes whatever he wants, but if the constraints to take it he becomes a thief.

The world honors criminals about the same when it has been indulgent to the child; it holds the man or woman responsible for his deeds, regardless of his training.

Dr. White showed that social failure are on the increase in America; He admitted that the machinery for finding out about delinquents and getting statistics is far greater and more effective than heretofore and that it is difficult to a just evaluation, but it is easy to see, however, that there is a falling off in the birth rate in American families of the better class and the great increase in the foreign birthrate and among the very poor classes, those who cannot take care of themselves and from whom come the defectives.

The need is for far more than numerical increase, he said, and the future of the race depends on the increase in mental health and in the power of people to use their minds effectively. The struggle has been shifted from the physical to the mental, the psychological; from bodily to mental regions, physicians have learned well how to cope with many of the physical problems, preventative measures are taken that control disease and make people better physically. Now psychologists are working to discover the mental problem and cure them as physicians to the hygienic troubles. He spoke of the industrial concerns that pay big salaries to psychologists, and psychiatrists, for helping to solve industrial troubles. Business men are finding out study of the inefficient worker is a good investment.

At the close of the talk Dr. White summed up the responsibility the teacher has in studying the child and calling in efficient, intelligent aid in helping to find causes and prevention for the social troubles.

among them "Outlines of Psychiatry," "Diseases of the Nervous System," "Mental Mechanics," "Modern Treatment of Nervous and Mental Diseases," "Mechanisms of Character Formation," "The Principles of Mental Hygiene," "The Mental Hygiene of Childhood," "Thoughts of a Psychiatrist on War and After."

Dr. A. B. Anderson, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, in Raleigh, was with Dr. White and was introduced to the students. Dr. Laughinghouse was on the rostrum with the distinguished guests.

MENACE TO WILD DUCKS REMOVED

Because there was a needless destruction of thousands of game birds every season at Las Vegas, Nevada, in allowing oil and oil waste from the shops of the Union Pacific railway system to be deposited on a pool of water covering five acres, which the birds were in the habit of resorting to, especially at night, reports were made to county and state game officials and finally to the Biological Survey of the United States department of agriculture.

The birds, alighting on the oil-covered water, got their feathers so matted by the sticky fluid that it was impossible for them to fly. Though some reached land then eventually died from exposure and slow starvation, while as many as 98, mostly ducks, were found dead on the pool at one time.

Dr. E. W. Nelson, chief of the Biological Survey, suggested that practical measures could be taken to prevent a further discharge of oil where it would be a menace to migratory wild fowl, and W. H. Comstock, general manager in charge of railroad operations in the area, replied that acting on his suggestion the company had authorized an expenditure of $1,800 for the installation of an oil recovery plant which would remedy the situation.

Commenting on this action, Dr. Nelson stated that such prompt cooperation of railway officials with conservationists is an excellent example which it is predicted will be followed by companies and individuals in other parts of the country, who are responsible for similar waste. Several bills, also, have been introduced in congress designed to prevent water pollution by oil and oil waste, especially where it is a menace not only to wild birds, but fish

THE RAILWAY WAGES AND LIVING COSTS

The increase in the average annual compensation of railroad employees, excluding officers, in December, 1921, compared with 1915, according to tabulations based on official reports just made by the department of labor and the interstate commerce commission, was much greater than the increase in the cost of living.

On the basis of compensation received by railroad employees in December last, the annual rate was $1,514.87 per cent, above what it was in 1915. The average rate per hour was 61.15 cents, compared with 26.1-10 cents in 1915, or an increase of 135 per cent.

Statistics compiled by the department of labor show that the cost of living in December, 1921, was only 69.7 per cent, above the average in December, 1914.

In view of the fact that there was only an increase of 2 per cent in the cost of December, 1915, compared with the same month the year before, a reasonably fair comparison can be made in the increases in the cost of living and the average annual pay of railroad employees during the period covered from 1915 to December, 1921.

PROHIBITION PLANS TOO AMBITIOUS TODAY

Washington, April 12.—Plans of prohibition enforcement officers to make New York and the Canadian border a widespread battle front for battling armored cars and machine guns to prevent liquor smuggling are threatened by cancellation. It was learned that the state department is much concerned over dry plans and fears serious international complications may follow promiscuous shooting along the border states. The department was not consulted when orders were issued.

Wednesday, April 12th, 1922

President Harding favors six years as a term for president of the United States. It might be to his advantage to get the change made while he is in office. After his first four years he won't be interested in the presidency any longer.

The miners seem to think they are gaining strength through the strike. That may be, but it is very evident they aren't gaining any money. And that's what counts when it comes to paying rents and food bills, as many will learn to their sorrow before the strike comes to a conclusion.

The Republicans are claiming great things in view of approaching congressional elections, but they can not live up to their contentions to save their lives. In fact they have claimed many things since election, but the only thing they have accomplished so far is to increase tariff rates.

If the government can't complete Muscle Shoals within six years, then they had better give it up as a bad job. In that length of time they can bankrupt the nation, judging by the first appropriations. If Henry Ford had the project he would be furnishing the money. And right here is where the government should pause for a moment and consider.

The Genoa conference may have good intentions, but we'd like to see them accomplish anything in an economic way without assistance of the American government. While every one hopes the conference will accomplish something of benefit to Europe very few have faith in it. If they impress upon the powers the importance of accepting the league of nations they will have accomplished something at least.

Greenville at the present time is experiencing one of the most gratifying building booms in years. Homes are under construction in every part of the city, and before the summer comes to a close living conditions will be better than since the war. This should also have a tendency of reducing rents, and causing the working man to believe he isn't spending half what he earns for the roof over his head. Persons spending money in home building may rest assured of doing the right thing. It's the best investment on earth, and gives the average man a spirit of confidence which he never felt before.

Greenville today had an opportunity of gauging the difference between big league baseball and the kind they have been used to the past two seasons. The Syracuse club represents the fastest company in the country, while Norfolk may be considered similar to what we have been used to, although possibly slightly faster. The college men the Eastern Carolina league have been playing the last two years are due to go up in faster company when they finish school. In fact, a good many youngsters are the kind of material the big leagues are hunting, and when they get ready for the faster pace it is certain they won't be disappointed.

Lloyd George is trying to convince the economic conference that a society of nations is necessary if the league isn't accepted by the countries at it should be. He is one of the many great statesmen realizing exactly what the league means to the future peace and tranquility of the world, and if he had his way principles of the covenant would have been accepted long ago. It is a pity America can't get her statesmen to realize the truth of the situation more than they do. The league is the greatest medium for world peace ever conceived by the human mind, and the sooner it is accepted by all the powers the earlier disorders will come to an end.

The Greenville tobacco market will open a month earlier this year, and the farmer will be able to dispose of his crop and settle up his debts better than ever. This is an advantage every grower should appreciate. In fact, the increased facilities of the Greenville market will be a direct benefit to farmers everywhere who sell their tobacco here. Triple sales and increased capacities of redrying plants mean greater expedition in handling large volumes of bright leaf. Congestion will be a thing of the past and farmers will be able to sell their load, be paid off and return home the same day. This is a great improvement, and one in which growers in all sections should be interested.

First organization of the Eastern Carolina league will be received with much interest hereabouts, as there were some who feared the six club institution would not materialize. The admission of Tarboro and Washington at the Tarboro meeting, however, sets aside the probability of further disappointment, and those who have been in doubt may look forward hopefully to the future. The season will open June 5th, and continue until seventy games have been played. Then the championship games will begin, and people who follow the games closely will have the pleasure of witnessing the most exciting part of the entire season. Baseball does much towards livening up the summer months, and no one realizes it more than those who have lived here when we didn't have baseball.

SUGAR AS AN EXAMPLE

The character of the tariff projects that are now under consideration at Washington is nowhere more clearly exemplified than in connection with the proposed duties on sugar. No one knows exactly what rate will be imposed. The emergency tariff marked up the old duties about 60 per cent, and the bill soon to be reported will presumably make an advance of about 60 per cent as a permanency.

The result, according to the estimates of sugar producers, would impose an additional burden upon the taxpaying public equal in one way and another to about $102,000,000 per annum. Since consumers are unrecognized no one would probably worry much about this situation were it not for the effect of the tax upon Cuba and the interests dependent on the use of Cuban sugar.

The fact that these are organized and are presenting their case in a forcible way gives rise to a very pretty struggle in Congress.

Cuba is undoubtedly in a depressed and financially disorganized condition. Her banking and industrial system has passed through a period of extremity. Things are somewhat better today, but she has a long and hard road back to normal conditions still to be travelled. How long it shall be will depend much upon her access to our market.

In these circumstances members of Congress, speaking in a sense for the domestic sugar growers, ask her to limit her annual output to 2,500,000 tons. This is out of the question, both because of the condition of the sugar industry which have already determined the output, making it impossible to limit the size of the current crop, as well as because of the loss thereby involved to many planters.

Cuba proposes to limit the export of her sugar to the United States to an amount of 2,500,000 tons, but the proposal is unsatisfactory to the domestic sugar barons and their representatives in Congress.

They want to see the Cuban crop limited seemingly because thereby the world price will be raised and the enormity of prices in this country will be more or less masked and more or less apparently warranted.

WILSON'S POSITION.

To the Editor: Wilson, North Carolina, is only doing what any town in any state in the Union would do under the circumstances. For the past 31 years, ever since this town was in its swaddling clothes, tobacco warehousemen, backed up by our numerous banking institutions and business men generally, have worked to, and have made this "the largest bright loose leaf tobacco market in the world."

And, now that this distinction has been accomplished is it anything but natural when the warehousemen are backed up by 93 per cent of the planters of the county and the citizens generally—that they should go slow in surrendering their life work to a plan yet untried in these parts?

It is true that tobacco has put Wilson in the front ranks of Eastern Carolina, warehousemen have made much money and farmers generally have been prosperous and were satisfied until the new plan of marketing their crop was suggested.

From the Wilson town and county viewpoint it looks like Richmond is leaving no stone unturned to make that city headquarters for the Eastern Carolina crops and take from Wilson the millions of dollars that are paid out here annually for the golden weed, which causes farmers to pause and ask: "Why feed your cow in North Carolina and have her milked in Richmond? And this is why the warehousemen here have concluded to sell tobacco at auction as they have been doing in the past to give the planters who prefer the "tried" plan to the untried proposed co-operative plan.

Parked in front of the chamber of commerce this morning there were thirty automobiles ready to cover every section of Eastern Carolina carrying a crew on each car who will invite farmers who prefer to sell at auction to come to Wilson for the high dollar. Each car carries a large banner inviting the planters to the opening sale which is set for August 8th.

Birmingham, April 12.—Twenty masked men in four automobiles flogged E. Johnson, negro merchant and medicine man, twenty miles from Ensley, warning him to give up alleged medical practice under penalty of death Monday night. The police said today that the negro had been fined recently in court for not having license to practice medicine.

PARENT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION HOLDS MEETING

The April meeting of the Evan's street school Parent-Teachers' Association was well attended. Mr. E. W. Harvey, the president, presided.

Mrs. H. L. Rivers, chairman of the finance committee, gave a very interesting report of "The Fashion Show," which was recently presented under the auspices of the association. Since the show proved to be such a success, it was decided that a similar one should be given each year.

Mr. Rose was present and made a short interesting talk.

The meeting adjourned so that every one might go to hear Dr. Barker.

LANDRU'S AMAZING DEATH DOCUMENT IS MADE PUBLIC

French Bluebeard Flays the Prosecutor in Sarcastic, Bitter Words

(By International News).

Paris.—Documents reputed to have been left by Henri Landru, French Bluebeard, in his cell on the day of his execution for the murder of ten women have just been revealed. One of them, and undoubtedly the most extraordinary, was written the evening before Bluebeard was guillotined, at a time when Landru knew that he had but a few hours to live. It was addressed to Monsieur Godefroy, public prosecutor during Landru's trial and who asked that sentence of death should be passed on him. The document is written in a clear and firm hand. It covers seven pages of foolscap paper and is here given in part:

"It is now three months since we first met. In a few hours I shall be no more. I can now surely ask you to look back on that trial wherein I met death.

"You came there marvellously prepared, armed with the most formidable documents ever constituted against one man. You knew the latter perfectly. You had most detailed and secret notes about me. I did not know you. I was alone, shut away in a cell. I had no documents. A study of the document drawn up against me revealed to you the indictment against me. It did not reveal the accused to you. Your first duty was a study of the prisoner.

"Used All Your Powers."

"You used all your powers against me. You tried persuasion, you threatened penal law, you tried emotion, fear. You watched my every movement, the slightest sign of fear. I did the same regarding you. Excuse me for this, but I think I had some sort of right to do so. I watched you not day by day, but hour by hour.

"Astounded at first (a rare thing usually for a public prosecutor) on account of my precise replies, a doubt came into your mind, a terrible doubt for you whose duties obliged you to support the accusation. I noticed this doubt creep into your mind and you forever watching me knew that I had understood.

"As you, at that time, were trying to obtain an avowal you became troubled seeking in those interminable depositions of witnesses, of which beforehand you knew the insignificance, something which would reassure you.

"The trial dragged on. I followed your thoughts and I was not the only object of your preoccupation. Witnesses, poor and valueless objects which could not explain the alleged crimes, called your attention. You were waiting for the second part of the trial. Your hopes were based on the famous cooking range. You expected some feverish gesture, a faltering. You had prepared strong and terrible phrases. But when you saw me, calm and more adaptable to children's fun of cooking, then you realized that there could not have been and had not been perpetrated in it those abominable atrocities of which you accused me. Isn't it true that my cooking range frightened you?

WAR BY GAS IS NOT TO BE DROPPED BY GOVERNMENT OF GREAT BRITAIN

England Busy Preparing New Deadly Vapors, Despite Arms Treaty

By HARRY L. ROGERS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington.—Great Britain is going ahead with the development of chemical warfare regardless of the sweeping condemnation of poison gas and the treaty prohibiting its use agreed upon at the Arms Conference, it was learned in official quarters recently.

A commission of British army and navy experts now in the United States is under instructions to make a thorough study of American methods of making poison gases, with a view of adopting into the British service any improvements which may be discovered.

This commission, which is headed by Colonel M. L. Wilkinson, of the British army, has just been granted permission by the American war department to visit the main plant of the Chemical Warfare Service at Edgewood, Md., and will be allowed to make a thorough inspection. According to American army officers, nothing will be kept secret from the commission.

British on Inspection.

The Britishers will also visit the proving grounds at Aberdeen, Mr. the army infantry school at camp Benning, Ga., and the army establishment at Fort Sill, Okla.

One of the members of the commission is Captain J. D. Pratt, of the famous Gordon Highlanders, who is a specialist in chemical warfare and has done much to increase the efficiency of the British gas service.

A third member of the commission is Dr. Charles Rotter, of the Admiralty. The British make no secret of the fact that their government places little dependence upon the resolution against the use of gas adopted at the Arms Conference. They believe it would be foolish for them to place themselves at the mercy of any nation which might in a pinch look upon the poison-gas treaty as a mere scrap of paper. They also point to the fact that there are many more or less powerful nations which have never subscribed to the gas resolution.

FARM AGENT SAYS NOW IS THE TIME TO SPRAY PEACHES

W. B. Pace Also Gives a Few Facts Regarding Sweet Potato Seeds

(By W. B. Pace)

It is now time to spray peaches to keep out worms. A wormy peach is absolutely no good and there is nothing better than good nice peaches free from worms. Spray this week with the following mixture to keep out the worms. Every tree should be sprayed three times as follows:

- 1. First spraying April 5th to 8th.
- 2. Second spraying April 17th to 22nd.
- 3. Third spraying one month before fruit is due to ripen.

What to Use.

The self-boiled lime-sulphur with arsenate of lead is the best thing to use according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The slaking lime does the boiling. No fire is used at all, though hot water is used to slake the lime. Use the following:

- Stone lime (unslaked) 8 pounds.
- Sulphur 8 pounds.
- Water to make 50 gallons.
- Arsenate of lead 3 pounds if paste is used, and only one and one-half pounds if in powdered form is used.

Place lime in tub or barrel and pour over it enough hot water to cover it. Pour in all the sulphur and add another bucket of hot water. As the mass boils from the slaking of the lime stir it and add more hot water as needed to make a thick paste, and then gradually add hot water and stir until you have a thin paste. When the boiling is all over add more hot water to make 50 gallons in all. Stir thoroughly and strain it.

Adding the Poison

If arsenate of lead paste is used take 3 pounds and dissolve it in enough of the solution to make a liquid, and stir it in the whole mixture. If powdered arsenate of lead is used take 1-1/2 pounds and dissolve it in enough of the mixture to make a liquid, and thoroughly mix it with the whole mixture, and you are ready to spray. You may use either the paste or powdered form of the lead, either one will do; but use only half as much of the powdered as you would of the paste.

Treat Sweet Potato Seed

To keep off the various diseases that affect our sweet potatoes in this county, every farmer should be careful not to bed any diseased potatoes. In addition to this precaution, every farmer should treat his bedding stock before bedding. It should be done as follows:

Dissolve two ounces of bichloride of mercury (or corrosive sublimate) in 16 gallons of water. Put this in a wooden barrel, put your potatoes in a basket or crate and immerse them in this solution for six or eight minutes.

This bichloride of mercury is a deadly poison and much care should be exercised in using it. See that this water is thoroughly soaked into the ground after treating the potatoes. Use clean soil or sand to bed the potatoes in, and do not bed them where they have been bedded before. Do not place stable manure next to the potatoes.

Select a field where potatoes have not been grown for at least five years, and plant your entire crop there. The spores of disease germs live several years in the soil, so rotation is very essential. Put all your fertilizer under the potatoes before they are transplanted and plant and cultivate them on very slight ridges, gradually increasing the ridge with cultivation. Finally dig the potatoes BEFORE frost. Sometimes, before digging build a storage house. A five hundred bushel capacity house is only sixteen feet square, and can be built for less than three hundred dollars. See your county agent for plans and build one of these houses before your next crop of potatoes come off.

MOVE MADE TO PREVENT A GREATER JUMP IN BUILDING COST OF NATION

Home Construction May Send Prices Up or Force New Buyer's Strike

By LUTHER A. HUSTON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Chicago.—Steps to ward off an increase in building material prices and construction costs which might precipitate another "buyers' strike" are expected to be taken at a national conference of construction interests which opened here today for a three days' session.

Delegates to the conference, it was stated today, realize that building activities are increasing, and that there is danger of a corresponding increase in building material prices. The conference, it was announced, will emphasize the necessity of keeping down building costs in order to encourage maximum construction during 1922.

The conference is sponsored by the National Federation of construction industries. Several departments of the United States government will co-operate in the work of the conference. The conference will have three phases:

Where Construction Stands.

1. It will endeavor to show by exhibits just where the construction industry stands today in such work as research simplification and standardization of designs, distribution, production and utilization of materials.

2. It will endeavor to show just what is being done by the various national organizations in the construction industry, pointing out the duplication of effort and expense and the economic waste resulting.

3. It will endeavor to determine upon a future policy for the industry as a national unit.

The important feature of that phase relating to a national policy will be the devising of ways and means of keeping down the cost of construction and reducing below the prevailing figure the cost of home building, especially the cost of the more moderately priced homes essential for working people.

Who Will Attend.

Among the prominent men who are expected to attend the conference and participate in the deliberations are Herbert Hoover, Secretary of the U. S. Department of Commerce; Senator Medill McCormick, Ernest T. Trigg, Philadelphia, president National Federation of Construction Industries; John H. Kirby, president National Lumber Manufacturers' Association; Irving B. Hiett, president National Association of Real Estate Boards; Henry K. Kendall, president American Institute of Architects; Walter Stabler, controller Metropolitan Life Insurance Company; Robt. D. Kohn, vice-president American Institute of Architects and a leading factor in the Building Congress movement in New York City; Alexander M. Linnett, president U. S. League of Local Building and Loan Association; Walter Klie, Cleveland, president National Building Trades Employers' Association; Guy C. Mills, president the National Association of Builders' Exchanges; Mr. Wilson Compton, general manager National Lumber Manufacturers' Association; General R. C. Marshal, Jr., general manager of the Associated General Contractors of America; Ralph P. Stoddard, secretary common Brick Manufacturers' Association; L. D. ## GREENVILLE FANS SORE AT REACH GUIDE WRITER

Greenville, S. C., April 10.—The Reach Baseball Guide was being widely circulated in Greenville yesterday being a few days delayed in its scheduled arrival time of April 1. While the averages were being eaten up, so to speak, by hundreds of fans and fans, one thing caught the eyes of nearly every Green person.

For the second time in as many years the same mistake was made—a mistake which does not concern averages, either hitting or fielding. But for the second consecutive year the brief sketch at the top of the Sally League page read something like this: "The league is composed of Augusta, in Georgia; Charleston, Columbia and Spartanburg, in South Carolina; and Charlotte and Greenville, in North Carolina."

Shades of Bill Timmons—Is there anyone in the United States today who doesn't know that the largest, as well as the most progressive Greenville in these United States, is in South Carolina? Let the chamber of commerce see that our Sp'ners are not again made victims of Tar Heelia when the 1923 Guide comes off the press.

Ed. Note.—The mistake is readily accounted for, but the Greenville, South Carolina, doesn't happen to be more progressive than the town of the same name in North Carolina. In fact there's not a town in the whole county more rogressive than our Greenville.

RADIO BATTERY ORDERS WIRELESSED TO FACTORY

Spectacular deliveries by airplane of a year or two ago have nothing on the part that radio service is destined to play in business affairs in the near future. Such equipment is already being used with satisfactory results by the Millerburg Auto-Electric Co., of Minneapolis and St. Paul to transmit business messages between their branch offices.

This company sent what is undoubtedly one of the first wireless orders received by a Cleveland manufacturer, it being forwarded through the American Radio Relay League to the Willard Storage Battery Company a few days ago. A great many of the service stations of this Company throughout the country are equipped with wireless receiving outfits and quite a few with transmitting sets as well.

An order for ten new Willard Radio batteries was sent from Minneapolis at 6 p. m. and first picked up in Cleveland about 8:30 by Station A. U. X. The operator there passed it to Station 8 B. B. Y. which is nearer the Willard offices where the message was copied and delivered. An acknowledgement of the order was "wireless" from the Willard Company's radio laboratory (Station 8 C. J. S.) at six the next evening, through Station 8 A. U. X. and thence westward by way of Toledo. The men in the order department at the Willard offices say a radio order looks just like any other order on their books. They expect a great many more of the same kind before long.

Why the $10.90 USCO is better than just a $10.00 tire

On November 10, 1921, the 30 x 3 1/2 "Usco" was marked to sell for $10.90.

This odd and closely figured price was the lowest quotation ever made on any tire of known standards.

A genuine pioneering step by the makers of U. S. Tires.

Now comes a lot of different $10.90 tires being rushed into the market. "Special" tires. "New" treads.

Unfamiliar to look at—with perhaps an atmosphere of having been made to meet the price.

But the "Usco" still occupies a place by itself. A good old standby on millions of cars for years. Better than it ever was.

Still putting the emphasis on honest quality, even if it does sell for only ten dollars and ninety cents.

The $10.90 tire with the record of a proven product.

The tire that people still buy for the dignity of its quality regardless of the low amount they pay.

WRESTLING HAS A SUDDEN DROP WITH FANS OF NATION

Rolling Falls Shorten Bouts And Make no Hit With Sportive Folk

By DAVIS J. WALSH, chmfwy cthedbeWer.cit,w International News Service Spots Editor.
New York.—The noble art of catch-as-catch-can, largely participated in by retired piano-movers, is dying a lingering death within the confines of the sovereign State of New York. The demise has not been proclaimed with official finality, yet the end is ordained and predestined.
If a coroner's report were rendered, the verdict would be death by an overdose of legislation. The state Boxing commission, vested with the power to control wrestling, foisted the system of flying and rolling fall upon the game, and they have eaten into its vitals like a cancerous sore.

Right at the moment wrestling is permitted by law, but you couldn't prove it by the number of show that are held. It is worth a promoter's financial life to put on a series of bouts nowadays, so abortive to public taste have the flying and rolling falls become.

Matchmaker is Hopeful.
Until recently one Bill Wellman held down the dual role of matchmaker and promoter of wrestling matches at Madison Square Garden. Just now he is neither.
Bill is a hopeful soul, but he does not carry optimism beyond the elastic limit of plain common sense. He was a modern Atlas, but finding the burden irksome stepped from under. Thus far there has been no crash, for the simple reason that interest in the wrestling game is so trivial the sport can float in midair through its own lack of weight.
In all, Wellman promoted two shows. The first was a harvest, the second a blight. In the former Stanislaus Zbyszko defended his world's heavyweight championship against Earl Caddock, and although some $25,000 was taken in at the gate it would have been worth many times that amount to wrestling had the bout never been held.

Caesar's Sickness and Other Chronic Ailments

(Wednesday Health Talk No. 15)
(By J. B. Ball, D. C., Ph. C.)

Julius Caesar's ailment, epilepsy, or the falling sickness, as it was known in Caesar's day, and a number of other chronic ailments are of a character and quality to clearly indicate that if chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) spinal adjustments are tried, there is an even chance the victim may get well.

There are but three methods of healing—the mental, the medical and the mechanical—and in every disease that has become chronic it may be assumed that the mental and the medical have been pretty thoroughly tested out. Chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) spinal adjustments are mechanical corrections of the alignment of spinal joints. The other methods have not touched this mechanical condition in any way, because not directed in any way to its correction. Of course when the spinal bones are realigned the cause of the ailment is removed, and the victim gets well.

No Return of Epilepsy in Three Years

"I am thirty-eight years old and I suffered from epileptic attacks beginning about the age of thirty. In July 1919 I turned to chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik). The night before my first chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) spinal adjustment I had a severe attack.
