ORDER OF SHRINE IS CONFERRED TO THREE COUNTY CANDIDATES

Team Drills Under Direction of Grand Commander of the State

A Greenville-Pitt Shrine club was organized at a meeting and banquet of the Bethlehem Commandary, Knights Templar, held at the Rotary home in this city last night, after which officers and directors for the present year were elected.

Officers elected were C. L. Porter, president; J. W. Holmes, Farmville, vice-president; E. B. Ferguson, treasurer; W. K. Blount, secretary.

The board of directors is composed of J. C. Galloway, of Grimesland, chairman, H. V. Staton, Bethel, W. J. Manning, of Greenville, C. R. Townsend, of Farmville, J. N. Hart, Greenville, J. E. Taylor, of Grimesland and J. B. Galloway, of Pactolus.

Before the meeting at the Rotary club, degrees of order of the Temple were conferred on three candidates at the Commandary building by R. C. Dana, of Enfield, grand commander of Knights Templar of North Carolina, assisted by R. D. Gorham, of Rocky Mount, grand captain general of the order. These ceremonies were of a most impressive nature and were witnessed by many members of the order gathered for the event.

The meeting was called to order yesterday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock and was adjourned about six-thirty as members could attend the banquet at the Rotary club. Several matters of importance were taken up during the afternoon session, but conferring of degrees was of the most important nature.

After organization of the Shrine club, Knights Templars, returned to the Commandary building and began drilling for the meeting to be held at Winston-Salem at an early date. The grand commander took part in the drill as he will have charge of the team to open the grand commandary at the Winston-Salem conclave.

MCADOO EXPECTS TO BE CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY

Removal to California Merely Beginning of Fight For Nomination

CONTRIBUTING CAUSE OF WILSON'S SPLIT WITH JOSEPH TUMULTY

Wilson Will Support His Son-in-law in Campaign, it is Believed

(By International News.)
Washington, April 15.—William G. McAdoo expects to be a candidate for Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1924.

Back of that simple fact lies one of the contributing causes for Woodrow Wilson's spectacular break with Joseph Tumulty, according to "neutral" Democrats.

It is gossip here that McAdoo's sudden removal of his official residence to California is closely connected with presidential aspirations, and two years hence will have the support of his father in law, President Wilson, who refused to support him two years ago because he feared the cry of "crown prince."

CLEAN UP WEEK TO BE INAUGURATED IN CITY NEXT MONDAY

Chamber of Commerce to Push Campaign For Cleaner Community

Now is the time for all forces to unite and make Greenville a clean, attractive and healthful town. Get that can of paint, the rake, and the wheel barrow and let's clean up, paint, rake up and keep it up throughout the year.

Visitors are easily impressed with the general appearance of the town. Unsanitary streets, weed-covered sidewalks, ill-kept alleys, rubbish-strewn backyards—these things do not call forth the admiration of the visitors and prospective home seekers, but oftentimes does call forth the skilled physician.

This clean up campaign, which is being waged by the chamber of commerce, is for the safety, beauty, health and happiness of Greenville and Pitt county citizens.

Let every man and woman, every boy and girl, every organization, civic, social, business and municipal unite their efforts to make this clean-up campaign the most successful in our history.

BILL HOLDEN WILL MANAGE FARMVILLE

Bill Holden, manager of the Wake Forest baseball team this year and a former first sacker on the Raleigh Capitals in 1920, is slated to manage the Farmville club of the East Carolina League. Holden was with Oxford, of the Central Carolina League in last year's season. It is understood that no players have been signed by Farmville yet, however, other than the manager.

AGRICULTURAL CONDITIONS IMPROVE IN MIDDLE WEST

Washington, April 15.—Agricultural conditions in the west and middle west have improved a hundred percent in the last six months. Eugene Meyer, managing director of the war finance corporation declared today on his return from a ten thousand mile trip through the territory. He reported that the farmers had greater buying power, producing crops cheaper. Money is also easier to obtain and prospects for a good crop are better. Labor is cheaper and banks in splendid condition.

RALLY IN NINTH TIES UP BATTLE WITH PITT BOYS

Kinston Highs Slug Satterthwaite For 6 Runs Before They Were Stopped

Kinston, April 15.—Kinston Highs came from behind yesterday afternoon on the High school field here and tied up the score in the ninth inning and would have won had not the game been called on account of darkness with only two men down and Kinston batsmen hitting like fields and garnering hits after hits off of the delivery of Satterthwaite. The game was a slow one till near the end with poor pitching and many free passes by both starting pitchers bringing forth runs and added with errors of both teams making the game uninteresting.

Greenville drew first blood in the first inning with a brace of runs and added two more in the fourth. Kinston two in the fifth and matched Greenville in the sixth, when both teams added a brace. Ellington being relieved at the end of the sixth by Aldridge. Greenville added two in the seventh, however, on a throw over second by Aldridge and another brace in the eighth, while Kinston went out in 1-2-3 order in both innings, with Satterthwaite relieving Brown. This made the score 4 to 10 at the end of the eighth. Greenville failed to score in the first half of the ninth and then the fire works started.

When the clouds passed by, Kinston had added 6 runs on clean hits and was about to take the game. Raspberry, while Greenville's catcher and pitcher were in consultation, without calling off play, scored for a 11-10 score but the argument that resulted was quelled by leaving the score at a tie and calling the game, on account of darkness.

The line-up follows:
Kinston: Sutton, 3b; Oettinger, cf; Wooten, B. ss; Brinkley, c; Williams, rf; Ashford, 1b; Wooten, M. 2b; Burrell, 2b; Raspberry, lf; Ellington, p; Aldridge, p.
Greenville: Harrington, c; West, D. 2b; Satterthwaite, F. 3b; Barber, 1b; West, G. B. cf; Jenkins, lf; Forbes, ss; Williams, rf; Brown, p; Satterthwaite, p.

DR. R. H. WRIGHT PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT KINSTON SCHOOL

Teachers College Head Addressed Students Yesterday Morning

Kinston, April 15.—"The need or necessity for a college education" was the subject of an interesting and helpful talk delivered by President Robert H. Wright, of the Greenville Training College, to the high school students Friday morning. President Wright made it plain that he was not speaking in behalf of any one particular college or institution, but that each individual should select that college which could best fit and equip him or her for life's work. To often a boy or girl selects a certain college because of some friend who has attended that institution and not because of special advantages offered.

During the past war the boys and girls of this country proved to the world that they could be depended upon, President Wright emphasized. But today we are facing a far greater crisis, a period of reconstruction. The world is crying for constructive leadership, and the other nations are looking to America for this needed leadership, but without trained leaders the situation will be hopeless, Mr. Wright continued.

Statistics prove that only about one out of every hundred individuals has a college education; in other words, there are only about one million college trained men and women in this country and over 99 million untrained. Records further show that over 70 per cent of the real leaders of today are recruited from this one million college trained men and women. In view of this truth, Mr. Wright continued, it is imperative that each boy and each girl should strive to come within this limited class and thereby have his or her chances for leadership and service greatly enhanced.

Dr. R. H. Wright, principal of the Greenville Training College, addressed the students of the Kinston High School yesterday morning.

Dr. Wright's address was on the subject of "The Need for a College Education." He emphasized the importance of education in the current crisis and urged students to choose their colleges wisely.

LONG FIGHT ON THE RAILWAYS IS OPENED BY HOUSE

Bill is Directed at Repair Work of Lines Done in Private Shops

By A. O. HAYWARD,
International News Services Staff
Washington.—The long fight against the railroads by the Midwest group of statesmen, led by Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin, was reopened in the House by Representative J. D. Beck, of Wisconsin, with a bill requiring the railroads to secure the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission before they can have repair or construction work done at leased or privately-owned car shops.

Backed by the LaFollette influence, Beck defeated for re-election to congress John J. Each, one of the framers of the Transportation act of 1920 which gave guarantees to the railroads of rates to meet expenditures and insure some profit on operation. Beck made this law an issue in the election campaign, fighting it and its author, and won. Each has become since his defeat a member of the Interstate commerce commission.

In discussing his bill to prevent railroads from farming out their repair work, Beck says:
"Robbing the People."
The railroads are robbing the people of this country of hundreds of millions of dollars a year in excessive rates to pay the huge profits made by private contractors in doing repair and construction work for the railroad companies. These profits amount to over $300,000,000 a year on locomotives alone. What the profits amount to on the other classes of work no doubt runs into hundreds of millions.

"The safety of the traveling public, of freight in transit and of trains operating the trains demands that the railroads themselves do their own repair work, as well as the construction work. The war has taught us that the chief end of man with many contractors is to make money. They accomplish this by securing the highest price possible for the work by using an inferior grade of materials and by cheap workmanship. Human life is at stake in railroad operation, and there is no place in this industry for either cheap materials or cheap workmanship."

"Widows and orphans are large investors in railroad securities. That is what railroad officials tell us when they are seeking legislation that will be of greater protection to these investors than to end this private contract system recently inaugurated by the railroads."

Beck's bill is expected to pass the House and will be sent to the Senate. It is a significant move in the long struggle for public ownership and control of the railroads.

BIG DAY EXPECTED AT CHRIST CHURCH IN CITY TOMORROW

Sunday Services Will Be Best Of All, Dr. Edwards Said Last Night

SPLENDID SERVICE TO BE HELD DURING TOMORROW MORNING

Revival to Continue Through April the 25th or Possibly The 26th.

Dr. Ben M. Edwards announced last night that Sunday's services would be best of all and asked for the cooperation and support of the entire membership and the friends of the church. There will be a splendid morning service at 11 o'clock hour in the morning with the glad Easter time, but the main message will be delivered by the pastor at the night service. Special music, under the leadership of Mr. Pollock, will be a special feature of both services.

Doubtless a great many people here thought that the revival services would run through the winter months, but arrangements have been made for the services in Greenville for longer than Tuesday or Wednesday night April 25th or 26th. A very important message will be given at this time of revival and all those who have not yet accepted the Christian message will be invited to do so.

Dr. Edwards said that the revival services would be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. He said that the services would be a special feature of both services.

Saturday, April 15th, 1922

Improvements under way on Dickinson avenue show to what extent they were needed. Widening the street four feet will mean much towards relieving congestion during the tobacco market season when thousands of vehicles pass over the street in a day's time. The city did a wise thing in providing funds for the project, as possibilities of that section of the town are greatly increased.

KEEPING TIMBER GROWING.

The farmer uses wood in many ways—building cordwood, fencing, implements, barrels, boxes and a multitude of minor requirements. It is estimated that on the average he needs 2,000 board feet every twelve months for his farm. In fact, the business of felling could not be carried on in its present state of development without a liberal wood supply.

Continued prosperity in our rural districts and life upon its present high scale, depend upon an abundance of growing timber. How to keep up the supply of lumber and make it available at a reasonable price is the problem. It is largely one of idle acres. If we are going to continue as wood users we must become wood producers. The farmers of the country, taken as a whole, are our greatest owners of timber land. A large percentage of such acres are idle, and, as Ben Franklin would say, "Idle lands make idle hands."

Ground best suited to raise a crop of trees should be put to work. The farmer does not have to wait for them to grow. Trees will grow whether he waits for them or not! Taken as a whole, the farming industry is independent so far as food stuffs are concerned. It can likewise become self-sufficient as to wood requirements if the 31,000,000 acres of woodland owned by farmers are put to work. Many farmers are already watching their woodlots and cutting up the crop with the same care used in calculating the annual harvest of grain. The years which are coming, the farm with the woodlot will bring a higher price on the market than the place which does not have one.

HUBERT MORTON REPLIES TO GORMAN'S ARTICLE

Dear Editor:
 I read in your yesterday's issue of a letter signed J. N. Gorman regarding the sale of his tobacco warehouse in Greenville, N. C., to the Co-operative Marketing Association and am indeed glad to learn Mr. Gorman had the good fortune to dispose of his property, as I am sure he received a very satisfactory price. I have also learned from an authoritative source that Mr. Gorman was handed a nice juicy slice of pie in the shape of jobs for himself and entire force, consisting of his son and several other employees, and am sure they are to be amply compensated, another hurrah for Mr. Gorman! Now, we know that self-preservation is the first law of nature and we are bound to commend Mr. Gorman in his effort to take care of himself and those others who depend on him, but who is to pay for Mr. Gorman's warehouse and pay the salaries to him and his employees? There are lots of us who cannot see the advantages in this so called Co-operative Marketing association, and as Mr. Gorman stated in his letter we have to base our judgment on what we hear others say and our own brains and experience. Mr. Gorman stated that he had made several trips to Richmond, Va., (when all the money received for our tobacco is to be deposited) and one trip to New York, and that he had learned several facts which had convinced him of the great advantages of marketing co-operatively, and that he had heard Judge Bingham (who is lawyer and quite a convincing talker on any subject) and he had learned further convincing facts, but he did not give us in his letter a single one of those facts; but asked us to take his word for it, just when he had told us at the beginning of his letter not to believe hear-say. We hope that Mr. Gorman will give us the facts in figures that he learned so that if this plan is really the economical and suitable way of selling our tobacco then we most assuredly want to know it and we will put our shoulders to the wheel and spend our every effort in putting it over. I have been to Kentucky twice this winter, and the facts as I learned there were far from convincing that the Co-operative plan was a success, numbers and numbers of farmers who signed the Co-operative contract were selling their tobacco on the warehouse floors under the old and tried auction system, but were having to do it in various secret ways, that was proof to my mind that the plan was not working very smoothly. I for one, thoroughly and conscientiously believe that the Co-operative Marketing plan which was drawn up by a foreign lawyer and is being advocated here is one of the most hideous attempts to swindle our farmers that a master mind can conceive. If I am wrong I hope Mr. Gorman or some one will put me right for surely I do not want to use my little influence against a good cause for the farmers and community, for as I see it now I expect to use every ounce of my influence against this enormous bubble.

H. H. MORTON.

MR. GORMAN AMUSED AT SPRUILL'S ADDRESS

Mr. Editor:
 I was much amused at the synopsis of the speech of Hon. F. S. Spruill the attorney who addressed the meeting in Rocky Mount which was called to throttle the Co-operative Marketing which appeared in your paper Friday.

The speaker started off by acknowledging he did not know enough about Co-operative Marketing to give concrete opinion. That is generally the case where the movement is being fought but the opponents have not the courage to acknowledge the fact, for invariably the antagonism is from a selfish motive. I will dare say, as he is an attorney and his talents are for sale, that for a fee he would take the opposite side at which time he would take the time and pains to inform himself of the workings of the Co-operative Marketing system. He would then learn that it is no makeshift; has been working successful for years and on the identical lines that the tobacco association is formed and further that it has made the country and members a success where operated, because it has taken the "Chance of a Profit" out of these lines, putting in a sure profit each year.

Before the speaker had put in any of his valued time to study the matter, he would have you believe it is a monstrosity and would have you believe its contract was unfair and that the association has no capital, etc. I gainsay, he will tell you also that the farmers will not stick together but if he had informed himself he would have learned that under contracts like this the farmers have struck together and it has been their salvation. The farmers own the tobacco and with the large number signed up, or pledged to the association under this contract, any one will tell you the association has millions of assets and this will get capital. There is to be an advance made on delivery of the tobacco by the planter and under this contract the association will be able to raise the cash for these advances and under this contract the tobacco is under one selling department, and this department will say at what price it shall be sold. Does the farmer have anything to say as to price under the auction system? Will he ever have unless he co-operates?

Is the farmer committing a crime or doing himself harm when he signs a contract which is as binding on one member as another, a contract which insures—all sticking to it and success?
 J. N. GORMAN.

Knockers and Boosters.

When the creator had made all the good things, there was still some other work to do, so He made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects, and when He had finished, there were scraps too bad to put into the rattlesnake, the Hyena, the Scorpion and the Skunk. So He put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak, and called it KNOCKER.

This product was so fearful to contemplate that He had to make something to counteract it, so He took a Sunbeam and put it in the heart of a child, the brain of a man, the strength of an athlete, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a touch of velvet and a grasp of steel and called it a BOOSTER, made him a lover of fields and flowers, and manly sports, safe, sane and healthful recreation.

Ever since, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates and making himself a buddy to either the Booster or the Knocker. Every community and every enterprise depends upon the booster and knocker for support. Amuzu Park is no exception, it depends upon both boosters and knockers for its patronage. Buy a season ticket and exercise your privilege to boost or knock without further expense. Otherwise withhold your verdict, until you know the evidence. Hear say and they say are poor sources of information. Get your ticket from some boy or girl and help them earn one or phone 125. 15 St.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF GEORGE EDWARD HARRIS

(By HIS PASTOR). At the recent session of the North Carolina conference the writer was assigned as pastor of the Jarvis Memorial church in Greenville. He arrived in the city on the evening of the first day of December. The next morning he had his first meeting with Ed. Harris. The gentleman who made the introduction remarked as brother Harris passed on "Mr. Scoville, you have no better man in your church than he" and then, turning to another man from the country who had joined the little group with whom we were standing, he asked "Isn't that so?" This brother replied with a good deal of feeling "He certainly is one good man. Whenever any of us poor farmers get in trouble we always know who to go to for help."

Several times have I heard from as many different sources in the past few days the same splendid tribute to his character, "He was the poor man's friend." The constant hearing of these words of praise have reminded me of certain sayings of the Holy Scriptures, among which might be mentioned the following: "Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble. He that oppresseth the poor reproacheth his Maker, but he that honoreth him hath mercy on the poor. The righteous considereth the cause of the poor: but the wicked regardeth not to know it. He judged the cause of the poor and needy, then it was well with him: was not this to know me saith the Lord. He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath give will he pay him again. No one who knew brother Harris could read these scriptures without thinking of the man. All these years he has been laying up treasure in heaven and now he has gone to enter into the rich enjoyment of the treasures laid up where moth and rust cannot corrupt, nor thieves break through and steal.

It was my privilege to be brother Harris' pastor for only a short while, and yet I feel that my life is richer because of having known him. During the few months that I was associated with him I learned to esteem him most highly for his work's sake and to love him for his own sake, for during a ministry extending over a quarter century I have never known a finer character. He was not a scholar, in the usual sense of the word, but he was one of God's noblemen. His conception of Christian manhood, his loyalty to duty, his love for his church, his devotion to his family and to his God, his generous support in time and means of every worthy cause, won him a place in the esteem and affection of his brethren and neighbors that is seldom accorded to men as imperfect as most of us are. His life was an inspiration to all who knew him and now that he has gone from earth to heaven, his memory will linger with us like precious ointment poured forth.

Let us thank God that we ever knew Ed. Harris and that it was our privilege to live in the same community with him and to call him friend and brother. Those who were dearest to him, wife, son, daughter, brothers and sisters, we commend to the comforting grace of the same Heavenly Father who was so real and so precious to him.

BRENON DIRECTS NORMA IN "SIGN ON THE DOOR"

Herbert Brenon, who has achieved the reputation of being one of the most capable directors of the silent drama, directed Norma Talmadge in her latest Associated First National starring vehicle, "The Sign on the Door," which comes to White's Theatre on Monday, matinee and night.

This is the second Norma Talmadge production directed by Brenon since his return from Europe. The first was "The Passion Flower," a highly successful and most artistic photoplay.

Mr. Brenon selected a cast of exceptional talent for "The Sign on the Door" to support Norma Talmadge, having engaged, besides Lew Cody as Frank Devereaux and Charles Richman as Lafa Regan, the following well known players: Helen Weir as Helen Regan, Paul McAllister as the District Attorney, and Robert Agnew as Alan Churchill.

The continuity for "The Sign on the Door," Channing Pollock's popular play, in which Marjorie Rambeau was seen in New York, was written by Mary Murillo. Miss Murillo also wrote the continuity for "The Passion Flower," which was previously released.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS IS SHOWING GREATER PROGRESS

Jarvis Memorial Comes Near Hanging Up a New Record

The Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday school on last Sunday came very near hanging up another record. There were 578 present while the record attendance so far has been 579. Without a doubt last Sunday's sessions was about the best the school has ever had in a lot of ways. For instance there were seven classes with every member present and on time. There were about five classes with only one member absent.

The Baraca class by Mr. Wright had ninety-one present out of an enrollment of a little over a hundred. The other mens' class. The young mens' class as it is known, had forty seven present out of an enrollment of forty-six. In other words this class had every member present and some new scholars and visitors also. At the conclusion of the work of this class the fellows had their picture made, and this will be on exhibition next Sunday.

The Philathea class taught by Mrs. Herring had a very wonderful attendance. The Little Tots class taught by Mrs. Wiley Brown had 39 present out of an enrollment of 40. The Sunday school under the leadership of Mrs. Marvin Blount was on the job with some special music. This feature of the service is noteworthy. For next Sunday the orchestra will have some special music prepared. In fact next Sunday's services will be inspiring. In addition to the special music by the orchestra there will be some special vocal music. A chorus from the college will render an Easter anthem, and there will also be a solo from a member of the college student body. A male quartette from the young mens' class will be on hand with one selection also. At the conclusion of last Sunday's services it was voted unanimously to overshoot the six hundred mark Easter Sunday. The music will begin Sunday at nine-thirty, and the services will come to an end at 10:45.
