EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA TOBACCO WAREHOUSEMEN ELECT OFFICERS AND DISCUSS PREVAILING CONDITIONS

Meeting and Barbecue Dinner Staged at Amuzu Park Here Yesterday

J. F. BRINKLEY ELECTED PRESIDENT SUCCEEDING J. N. GORMAN RETIRED

Three States Represented by Men Who Speak Interestingly of Situation

Members of the Eastern North Carolina Tobacco Warehousemen association met in annual session at Amuzu Park here yesterday as guest of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, elected officers for the ensuing year and heard several men closely allied with the tobacco industry discuss conditions as they actually exist today. Tobaccoists representing the states of Virginia, South Carolina and eastern North Carolina attended the meeting and succeeded in throwing much light on conditions as they prevail in each state. A barbecue dinner was served at the noon hour.

In election of officers J. F. Brinkley of Greenville was chosen as president, succeeding J. N. Gorman, whose resignation was read and accepted; George Fleming of Kinston was elected vice president and B. B. Sugg of Greenville secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was opened by Mr. Jim Stator, of Williamston, in the absence of J. N. Gorman, after which J. F. Brinkley took the chair and outlined in an interesting way conditions in this section of the state. He spoke in an interesting way of the plan of tobaccoists to keep the markets open this year for the sale of tobacco at auction and urged the hearty co-operation of everyone in making this possible.

Among the speakers of the occasion were representatives from Danville, Lynchburg, South Boston and other Virginia markets. Lake City, Manning, and other South Carolina markets were well represented also, as well as a number of the large markets of Eastern Carolina.

Mr. Edmundson, of South Boston, Va, the first speaker of the day, briefly discussed conditions of his section, and said the majority of tobacco would be sold on the open market.

Mr. G. R. Bowen, of Lake City, S. C., said he joined the new marketing movement in its early stages and turned over his warehouse interest to them, but later withdrew because of fraudulent means of the association in dealing with the public. He said the majority of farmers in South Carolina were in favor of the open market plan, and felt as he did about the association.

Mr. Bowen declared that from thirty to forty warehouses of his state would be open this season for the sale of tobacco at auction, and that tobaccoists were anticipating the most successful season in years.

Mr. George Fleming of Kinston, quoting a Mr. Crisp who has been on the Mayesville tobacco market, said he had found conditions deplorable. He said a virtual state of bankruptcy prevailed and that of the 7,000,000 pounds of tobacco which farmers had pooled they had only received seven cents a pound. He declared he believed there would be no more pooling in the future as the farmers were satisfied of the impracticability of the plan in that state.

Dinner was served at this juncture, and after it was over Mr. Cathran of South Carolina, stated that in his section there would be as much tobacco raised outside of the pool as heretofore produced in the entire state.

Mr. Roberson of Lynchburg, said tobaccoists of that section were standing together as one man, and were looking forward to a season as successful as could be expected.

Mr. W. E. Fenner of Rocky Mount, talked on conditions existing in the state of Kentucky at the present time. He said he had been in the warehouse business in that state and that the plan of pooling tobacco would not be a go. He explained how the farmers felt about the issue, and predicted the warehouse would

NURSE FACES TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE AT MONTROSS, VA.

Jury Will Decide Fate of Alleged Slayer of Roger Eastlake's Wife

(By International News)

Montross, Va., April 25.—The curtain was lifted today on another act of an "eternal triangle" drama when Miss Sarah E. Knox, Baltimore nurse, went on trial in the little vine-covered courthouse here charged with the murder last September of Mrs. Roger D. Eastlake, of Philadelphia, wife of a chief petty naval officer.

The husband of the slain woman is attached to the Navy Department in Washington and last Summer, with his wife and two children, lived at Colonial Beach, Va., a Potomac River resort.

Early on the morning of September 30 Miss Knox, according to her story, went to the Eastlake home to pay a visit and found Mrs. Eastlake dead on the floor of the kitchen, her body horribly mutilated and bearing twenty-nine gashes inflicted by a hatchet found in a nearby pool of blood.

Dissatisfied with the story the nurse related, the authorities took her into custody, together with Eastlake. Murders of violence were heard in the community, which became aroused to a high pitch over the crime. So intense did the feeling become that authorities deemed it advisable to remove the prisoners to Fredericksburg from where they were taken to Richmond for safe keeping.

Mr. McFarland, of the Wilson market, made one of the most lengthy talks of the day, taking Judge Bingham to account and bringing out some of the misstatements, which he said, the exponents of Co-operative marketing had made from time to time during his campaign in this and other states.

Several other talks were made by men well informed concerning conditions as they actually exist in this and other states, and reiterated that the markets would still be open under the open market plan, with exception of the few of the smaller places.

After election of a board of directors the meeting adjourned, the representatives voting the meeting one of the most enjoyable and satisfactory in years.

WHISKEY MAKER FOUND GUILTY IN CRIMINAL COURT

George Washington, Colored, To be Sentenced Sometime This Week

BONNIE ANDREWS TO FACE COURT HERE IN NEW TRIAL TOMORROW

Stokes Man to Plead Guilty of Abduction and Receive Reduction Sentence

George Washington, colored man of this county, charged with manufacturing contraband whiskey, was found guilty in the opening session of the second week of Pitt County Superior Court here yesterday afternoon. Court was late in getting down to business yesterday morning, but the wheels of justice revolved rapidly after preliminaries had been disposed of.

While Washington was found guilty of the charge against him Judge Daniels failed to pronounce sentence, withholding his decision until later this week.

The most important case to be taken up during the week will be that against Bonnie Andrews, young white man of Stokes, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Raleigh last December for alleged criminal assault on Estelle Briley, twelve year-old school girl of the Stokes community. The grand jury returned new bills against Andrews last week, and when he faces the court sometime tomorrow, instead of being tried for his life he will plead guilty of abduction and assault. Sentence will then be reduced from electrocution to a term of imprisonment.

M. K. Blount was appointed by the court to represent Andrews at the beginning of the trial, maintained that he was not given ample time to present all evidence in behalf of his client. In fact he received certain information of a valuable nature after Andrews had been sentenced, and immediately took steps to stay execution and reduce the sentence.

The trial of the young fellow was one of the most sensational held here in years. He was captured and placed on the stand within a few hours after the crime was committed, and his attorney was forced to work with what little information he could gain during the short time.

The jury before returning the verdict that apparently sent the young fellow to his doom, asked if sentence could not be changed, but its members were informed that the sentence for criminal assault was death.

It is said some of the jurors recommended reduction of sentence after Andrews had been duly sentenced and this coupled with other evidence resulted in staying execution and the new trial.

GREENVILLE DEFEATS AYDEN HIGH SCHOOL

The Greenville high school baseball team yesterday afternoon defeated the Ayden high to the tune of 10 to 2. The game was featured by the pitching of Satterthwaite for Greenville who allowed the visitors only two hits in the entire five innings which the game constituted. Prescott featured with the stick for Ayden, slashing out a triple.

Greenville will play in Ayden tomorrow and at Washington Friday. These two games are looked forward to with great interest and large crowds are expected.

REVIVAL SERVICES BROUGHT TO CLOSE HERE LAST NIGHT

Reception Tendered to Members Who Joined During The Revival

The series of revival services which have been in progress at the Eighth Street Christian church the past three weeks were brought to a close last night with a reception to new members. The occasion was a most happy one and the large crowd in attendance enjoyed the program to the fullest extent.

The first part of the evening was devoted to prayer and song, after which the new members were asked to come forward and be welcomed into the church. While this was in progress three others joined, two by letter and one by confession.

Light luncheon was served in the basement of the church after these exercises.

The revival party left this morning for Danville, Va., where they will begin a revival tomorrow.

The series of services have been largely attended every night and the community has derived great benefit from the forceful sermons by Dr. Edwards. He is an evangelist of exceptional power, and as this was his second visit to Greenville within the last two years he proved even of greater interest to members of the congregation and the public as well.

SEARCH FOR KIDD'S GOLD ABANDONED BY INDIANA MAN

Indianapolis Man, After Long Search, Returns Home Empty-Handed

(By International News.) Indianapolis, April 25.—Pursuing the trail of Captain Kidd is a fruitless pastime, in the opinion of J. P. Dunn, who has just returned to Indianapolis after a romantic quest of buried treasure in Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Backed by a group of hard-headed Hoosier business men, Dunn, who formerly was City Controller of Indianapolis, set out more than three months ago to seek the traditional "lost" Spanish gold mine and, incidentally, to investigate mineral deposits of the West Indies.

Now he is back, bronzed by the tropical sun and smiling, but of the opinion that it is "not worth while" to seek Captain Kidd's gold.

Dunn visited the old monastery at San Almuero De Macoris and delved into ancient manuscripts setting forth the legend of the lost treasure. In looking over the time-worn records, Dunn said, he was assisted by Padre Hueros Pasatros, who is in charge of the archives.

The documents inspected related the story as told by a native woman, Almacera, said to have been a passenger of the galleon Isabel La Catolica, which was captured by Captain Kidd. The pirate chief, according to the record, was believed to have looted the "lost" mine and to have transferred the gold from the La Catolica to another vessel, in which he set out to find a safe hiding place for the treasure. Some treasure-seekers, Dunn recalled, have traced this voyage to a point on the New Jersey coast.

Notwithstanding that, so far as uncovering any buried treasure was concerned, Dunn's quest was without result, and that the traces of manganese he found in the islands were not sufficient to warrant exploitation, Dunn reports he "thoroughly enjoyed" the expedition.

DOKIE CEREMONIAL IS TO BE HELD HERE THURSDAY, MAY 4

City to be Gaily Decorated for Greatest Fraternal Gathering Ever Held Here

PROMINENT DOKIES TO BE PRESENT TO TAKE PART IN EVENT

Ambitious Program to be Presented at Park and Gorman's Warehouse

Preparations are virtually complete for the D. O. K. K. ceremonial to be staged in this city May 4th, according to an announcement made this morning by members of the committee, and the occasion promises to be the greatest of its kind in history of the state. Seven hundred or more Dokies are expected to be in attendance, and one hundred candidates will be initiated into mysteries of the organization during the day.

The program will begin with registration of Dokies and candidates at the Pythian hall. A mammoth parade, headed by the Dokie band and degree team from Charlotte, candidates and Dokies will form at the Pythian hall and pass on to the Atlantic Coast Line depot where they will be picked up by automobiles and taken to Amuzu Park. A barbecue dinner will be served at the park from twelve to one o'clock.

Presentation of twenty-five year veteran jewels to all Pythians who have seen 25 years service one to two o'clock. The jewels will be presented by R. C. Flanagan, past chancellor commander of the Tar River lodge of this city. Other entertainments will be furnished for the benefit of visitors while at the park.

At five o'clock all candidates and Dokies will meet at Gorman's warehouse where they will form in a body, headed by the band, degree and brigand team, and march to the Eastern Carolina Teachers College where a banquet will be served promptly at six-thirty.

After the banquet the Dokies will return to Gorman's warehouse where the ceremonial will get under way in real earnest.

Practically all prominent business houses of the city have agreed to decorate profusely for the occasion, and when the first visitors arrive the city will be gaily attired in gala day apparel.

Greenville is the smallest town that has ever attempted to stage a ceremonial of this kind, and from all indications it will turn out to be the greatest ever put on in the state. This is the intention of members of the program committee, who have been busy the past several days working out the ambitious program.

Many notable members of the fraternity will be in attendance and Greenville will have the pleasure of entertaining the largest gathering of any single order in its history. First visitors in all probability will begin to arrive on the day before the celebration, and the committee has made preparations to receive them the minute they get in town.

HEARING ON PLANS FOR MERGING THE RAILROADS OPENED

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Consider Vast Amount of Data

By HARRY L. WARD International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 25.—The first step in carrying out the plan for consolidating the railroads of the United States into a limited number of systems, as provided for by the Transportation Act, was taken today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission began a series of hearings that are expected to have a far-reaching effect upon the railroad properties of the country. A vast amount of data bearing on railroad ownership, operation, etc., will be presented during these hearings, which are expected to extend over a period of several months, and it may be a year before the commission makes its report to congress on the subject.

The hearings which began today will be confined to the railway properties in what is known as the southeastern region of the United States. The roads in various other regions will be considered later, the commission announced at the opening session today.

Under the authority of the Transportation act the commission prepared a tentative plan for the proposed consolidation and commissioned Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard University, to prepare a report on the subject. In some respects the commission's tentative plan does not follow Ripley's recommendations, but present alternative suggestions.

Classification of Roads. The roads included in the commission's tentative plan of consolidation comprise most of the class one steam railroads, but few of those in classes two and three. Those not included, whether industrial common carriers, terminal carriers, interurban electric railways operated as a this morning.

Sentence will then be reduced from electrocution to a term of imprisonment.

M. K. Blount was appointed by the court to represent Andrews at the beginning of the trial, maintaining that he was not given ample time to present all evidence in behalf of his client. In fact he received certain information of a valuable nature after Andrews had been sentenced, and immediately took steps to stay execution and reduce the sentence.

The trial of the young fellow was one of the most sensational held here in years. He was captured and placed on the stand within a few hours after the crime was committed, and his attorney was forced to work with what little information he could gain during the short time.

The jury before returning the verdict that apparently sent the young fellow to his doom, asked if sentence could not be changed, but its members were informed that the sentence for criminal assault was death.

It is said some of the jurors recommended reduction of sentence after Andrews had been duly sentenced and this coupled with other evidence resulted in staying execution and the new trial.

GREENVILLE DEFEATS AYDEN HIGH SCHOOL

The Greenville high school baseball team yesterday afternoon defeated the Ayden highs to the tune of 10 to 2. The game was featured by the pitching of Satterthwaite for Greenville who allowed the visitors only two hits in the entire five innings which the game constituted. Prescott featured with the stick for Ayden, slashing out a triple.

Greenville will play in Ayden tomorrow and at Washington Friday. These two games are looked forward to with great interest and large crowds are expected.

REVIVAL SERVICES BROUGHT TO CLOSE HERE LAST NIGHT

Reception Tendered to Members Who Joined During The Revival

The series of revival services which have been in progress at the Eighth Street Christian church the past three weeks were brought to a close last night with a reception to new members. The occasion was a most happy one and the large crowd in attendance enjoyed the program to the fullest extent.

The first part of the evening was devoted to prayer and song, after which the new members were asked to come forward and be welcomed into the church. While this was in progress three others joined, two by letter and one by confession.

Light luncheon was served in the basement of the church after these exercises.

The revival party left this morning for Danville, Va., where they will begin a revival tomorrow.

The series of services have been largely attended every night and the community has derived great benefit from the forceful sermons by Dr. Edwards. He is an evangelist of exceptional power, and as this was his second visit to Greenville within the last two years he proved even of greater interest to members of the congregation and the public as well.

SEARCH FOR KIDD'S GOLD ABANDONED BY INDIANA MAN

Indianapolis Man, After Long Search, Returns Home Empty-Handed

(By International News.)
Indianapolis, April 25.—Pursuing the trail of Captain Kidd is a fruitless pastime, in the opinion of J. P. Dunn, who has just returned to Indianapolis after a romantic quest of buried treasure in Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Backed by a group of hard-headed Hoosier business men, Dunn, who formerly was City Controller of Indianapolis, set out more than three months ago to seek the traditional "lost" Spanish gold mine and, incidentally, to investigate mineral deposits of the West Indies.

Now he is back, bronzed by the tropical sun and smiling, but of the opinion that it is "not worth while" to seek Captain Kidd's gold.

Dunn visited the old monastery at San Almeruza De Macoris and delved into ancient manuscripts setting forth the legend of the lost treasure. In looking over the time-worn records, Dunn said, he was assisted by Padre Huervos Pasatros, who is in charge of the archives.

The documents inspected related the story as told by a native woman, Almaceresa, said to have been a passenger of the galleon Isabel La Catolica, which was captured by Captain Kidd. The pirate chief, according to the record, was believed to have looted the "lost" mine and to have transferred the gold from the La Catolica to another vessel, in which he set out to find a safe hiding place for the treasure. Some treasure-seekers, Dunn recalled, have traced this voyage to a point on the New Jersey coast.

Notwithstanding that, so far as uncovering any buried treasure was concerned, Dunn's quest was without result, and that the traces of manganese he found in the islands were not sufficient to warrant exploitation, Dunn reports he "thoroughly enjoyed" the expedition.

DOKIE CEREMONIAL IS TO BE HELD HERE, THURSDAY, MAY 4

City to be Gaily Decorated for Greatest Fraternal Gathering Ever Held Here

PROMINENT DOKIES TO BE PRESENT TO TAKE PART IN EVENT

Ambitious Program to be Presented at Park and Gorman's Warehouse

Preparations are virtually complete for the D. O. K. K. ceremonial to be staged in this city May 4th, according to an announcement made this morning by members of the committee, and the occasion promises to be the greatest of its kind in history of the state. Seven hundred or more Dokies are expected to be in attendance, and one hundred candidates will be initiated into mysteries of the organization during the day.

The program will begin with registration of Dokies and candidates at the Pythian hall. A mammoth parade, headed by the Dokie band and degree team from Charlotte, candidates and Dokies will form at the Pythian hall and pass on to the Atlantic Coast Line depot where they will be picked up by automobiles and taken to Amuzu Park. A barbecue dinner will be served at the park from twelve to one o'clock.

Presentation of twenty-five year veteran jewels to all Pythians who have seen 25 years service one to two o'clock. The jewels will be presented by R. C. Flanagan, past chancellor commander of the Tar River lodge of this city. Other entertainments will be furnished for the benefit of visitors while at the park.

At five o'clock all candidates and Dokies will meet at Gorman's warehouse where they will form in a body, headed by the band, degree and brigand team, and march to the Eastern Carolina Teachers College where a banquet will be served promptly at six-thirty.

After the banquet the Dokies will return to Gorman's warehouse where the ceremonial will get under way in real earnest.

Practically all prominent business houses of the city have agreed to decorate profusely for the occasion, and when the first visitors arrive the city will be gaily attired in gala day apparel.

Greenville is the smallest town that has ever attempted to stage a ceremonial of this kind, and from all indications it will turn out to be the greatest ever put on in the state. This is the intention of members of the program committee, who have been busy the past several days working out the ambitious program.

Many notable members of the fraternity will be in attendance and Greenville will have the pleasure of entertaining the largest gathering of any single order in its history. First visitors in all probability will begin to arrive on the day before the celebration, and the committee has made preparations to receive them the minute they get in town.

OFFICIAL TEXT OF SOVIET DEMAND OF ALLIES REVEALED

Russia Demands Five Billion Gold Ruble Loan and a Thirty Year Moratorium

EXPERTS WRANGLE OVER DOCUMENTS FOR MANY HOURS

Soviets Agree to Pay Pre-War Debts to Foreign Governments and Individuals

(International News.)
Genoa, April 25.—Russia has demanded from the allies a five million gold ruble loan and thirty year moratorium.

These facts were obtained from the official text of the tentative draft of the treaty submitted by Russian delegates to the Genoa conference committee of experts on Russian affairs last night.

The demand for the five million gold ruble loan was verbal. It accompanied the documents and is believed to be a tentative figure over which the soviet is ready to negotiate.

The document was obtained exclusively by the International News Service and was subject to hours of wrangling by experts last night, resulting finally in such divergence of opinion that experts abandoned reaching a decision and adjourned.

The soviet government agreed to pay the pre-war debts to the foreign governments and individuals. The soviets are to receive in return recognition as government of Russia and interest on debts to be annulled.

The draft contained no mention of war time debts, which it is claimed, do not exist and have been written off.

HEARING ON PLANS FOR MERGING THE RAILROADS OPENED

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Consider Vast Amount of Data

By HARRY L. WARD
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 25.—The first step in carrying out the plan for consolidating the railroads of the United States into a limited number of systems, as provided for by the Transportation Act, was taken today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission began a series of hearings that are expected to have a far-reaching effect upon the railroad properties of the country. A vast amount of data bearing on railroad ownership, operation, etc., will be presented during these hearings, which are expected to extend over a period of several months, and it may be a year before the commission makes its report to congress on the subject.

The hearings which began today will be confined to the railway properties in what is known as the southeastern region of the United States. The roads in various other regions will be considered later, the commission announced at the opening session day.

Under the authority of the Transportation act the commission prepared a tentative plan for the proposed consolidation and commissioned Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard University, to prepare a report on the subject. In some respects the commission's tentative plan does not follow Ripley's recommendations, but present alternative suggestions.

Classification of Roads.

The roads included in the commission's tentative plan of consolidation comprise most of the class one steam railroads, but few of those in classes two and three. Those not so included, whether industrial common carriers, terminal carriers, interurban electric railways operated on a (Continued on page three.)

BURNED FORESTS BUILD NO HOMES.

Every year forest fires in the United States destroy or damage sufficient timber to build houses for the entire population of a city the size of Washington, D. C., New Orleans, La., Denver, Colo.; or San Francisco, Calif., according to statement just issued by the Forest Service, United States department of agriculture, through "Safeguarding America Against Fire," the official bulletin of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The area burned over each year. It is said, is equal to a strip ten miles wide reaching from New York City to Denver, Colo.

The publication directs attention to the fact that fifteen years ago the bulk of public sentiment against forest fires was in the East. Today it is in the west, where 61 per cent of the remaining timber supply of the country is located. Over 81,000,000 acres of forest land that were formerly covered with timber are logged off or burned and completely denuded of tree growth. The solution of forestry problems, experts say, lies largely in fire prevention and reforestation.

The National Forests, which contain 498 billion board feet of merchantable timber, or 23 per cent of the remaining timber in the country, are said to bear an important relation to an adequate future wood supply for the nation. These forests are today receiving protection from forest fires and are being cut to a limited extent so as to maintain a continuous production of new forests.

The fire loss in the National Forests was limited in 1921 to 76,208 acres. A total of 5,851 fires occurred; 75 per cent of which were due to human agencies and could have been prevented by care on the part of forest users. The direct loss amounted to $212,182 worth of timber and forage destroyed, and $512,106 was spent by the Forest Service in fire fighting.

Fires in the National Forests of Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California numbered 3,843 or 65 per cent of the total. In the National Forests of Arkansas and Florida, 354 fires burned over 118,500 acres.

MORE ADVERTISING FOR THAT LIZZIE

as it is still with us, and I have let Theron Cox have this space for YALE Tires and he sold so many that I find it pays to advertise something else and not this Ford, but we must sell it. Dave Whichard's advertising seems to reach every other kind of buyer except one for this Can of Squeaks.

I would tell the folks about Buick Fours but we sold all of our last shipment as soon as they came in, tomorrow I hope to sell this Gasoline Can, and use this space to advertise Roller and Ball Bearings, also Connecting Rod and Main Bearings for all make automobiles, Trucks, and Tractors, any we are carrying a big complete stock of real Ford parts bought from Ford Motor Co., and those good Star-K-Piston rings, all sizes. We traded this Ford from Tom Timberlake and he said he didn't know the model, but it was a good one, as we were not interested in the model as we usually sell used cars as fast as we can get them.

This particular Ford we believe is the best Tin Lizzie in Greenville, because Tom said so. It hasn't a self-starter and of course it doesn't start unless you start it. The motor, to our best knowledge and belief, contains four cylinders, every one of which is in fine condition (so the other fellow says). The imitation leather upholstery is torn in several places and the imitation hair is sticking out, which gives this otherwise City Broke of real Ford parts bought from Ford ance. The wind shield is broken, so is the glass in one lamp, it needs paint badly, and one of the fenders looks as if it had been worked on with a can opener, otherwise so far as we can ascertain, the car is all right. We guarantee this Ford to have as many squeaks and rattles and jolts as any Ford of equal age, and as we have cut thirty one cents on the price, we expect it to sell for even money. Do not waste our time or yours by trying to pay the war tax, just ask for a demonstration.

We want to use this space tomorrow to advertise a complete line of Starter and Generator Brushes, also Platinum Points.

they will be considered as being included tentatively in the systems in which the controlling rail carriers has been included.

Suppurative Tonsilitis or Quinsy

(Tuesday Health Talk, No. 18) (By J. B. Ball D. C.)

In this form of tonsilitis the entire tonsil is transformed into an abscess. The tonsil, usually one becomes congested and swollen because of the excessive heat.

UNCLE BEN SAYS: "No matter how hard you work if you're always leaning on somebody else you won't get very far. If you must lean, lean on your brain."

The onset of this condition is marked by general malaise, sore throat, headache, backache, poor appetite fever and general indisposition.

Under Chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) adjustments this condition may never reach the abscess stage because of the absorption and elimination through other channels. If an abscess does form it will break at an earlier period, when under adjustments. Under adjustments the fever is always slight and may be entirely absent.

In considering your health and the quickest way to get well it should be noted that ninety per cent of the patients who turn to Chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) for relief are those who have failed to get results by other methods.

The sick get well if Chiropractic (Ki-ro-prak-tik) is given a fair trial.
