MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED TODAY IN PEKING, CHINA

General Chang Declares Martial Law Following Serious Clash.

GENERAL LIN VICTOR IN INITIAL SKIRMISH OF THE TWO FACTIONS

President Chang Issues Three Proclamations Calling Attention.

Peking, May 1.—Martial law was declared in Peking today.

The armies of General Chang Eo-Lin and General Wu Pei Fu fought continuously throughout Sunday. The fight centered around Changsin'len, 12 miles distant. A government communique says Chang Tso-Lin's forces were victorious.

President H. Su Shih Chang, in consequence of the hostilities, today issued three proclamations calling attention to the serious consequences to China which might result from the jeopardizing of foreign interests.

The first proclamation said the Chinese people were terrified, that merchants were suffering losses and the industries of the nation were demoralized.

The second declared that as Peking was the capital of the nation, peace and order must prevail.

Emphasis was laid in the third on the necessity for protecting the lives and property of foreigners and for compliance with treaties with the powers.

It was added that the Chinese railroad administration had sent a protest to the Chinese governments asserting that the railroads of the country face bankruptcy in consequence of the suspension of traffic, and this fact involves foreign obligation.

The fighting Sunday was sporadic throughout the war area. There were no signal gains by either side. The most persistent conflict appeared to be centered around Changsin'len, southwest of the Peking wall, where Wu Pei-Fu is concentrating for a drive in an attempt to turn Chang Eo-Lin's western front toward Tientsin.

VESPER SERVICES AT COLLEGE HELD BY YOUNG WOMEN

Interesting Program Rendered by Members of College Class Yesterday.

The Y. W. C. A. vesper service was conducted at East Carolina Teachers' College on Sunday evening by members of the college I Class.

Miss Annie Blanche Herring, the class president, read the scripture lesson from the Book of St. Matthew. The theme of the program was that the best and most beautiful things can be found at home if one is only able to see them. Miss Clara Lewis told a story "The Golden Windows" very beautifully and brought out in a pleasing manner the theme as did the poem "The Quest" read by Miss Mary Shelton McArthur. Miss Pearl Wright also told a story, "The Hunt for the Beautiful" which brought out with great force the thought that the most beautiful things can be found at home. Miss Wright played a piano solo at the beginning of the program.

The service was much enjoyed by those present and it is hoped that the college I class will give another program soon.

CONTROVERSY MATTER TO BE CHARGED FOR AT REGULAR RATE

Beginning with today's issue The Reflector will charge regular advertising rate for matter pertaining to the controversy between members of the tobacco industry and the Co-operative Marketing association. Both sides have been allowed liberal space in which to explain their position in the past, and as both are legitimate industries we must refrain from printing, as news matter further articles in a fight which has narrowed down to personalities. It has been the purpose of the paper to present both sides of every question in all issues. Space has been given liberally to both sides in this issue and in declining to publish further matter only at regular paid rates, we feel it is for the best interest of everyone involved. The articles of recent date can do nothing more than breed strife and discontent among those involved. Therefore, it seems wise to discourage them as much as possible.

HIGH SCHOOL TO PLAY IN WILSON THIS AFTERNOON

Washington Collegiate Institute to Play Here Wednesday Afternoon.

Members of the Greenville high school baseball club accompanied by Coach Duncan left at the noon hour today for Wilson where they will play to high school club of that place this afternoon. This game promises to be one of the most interesting of the season, as it is the first time the two clubs have come in contact. Greenville will play the Washington Collegiate Institute here Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock instead of Monday as contained in the schedule.

The Wilson club is said to be one of the strongest high school aggregations in the state, and if Greenville wins they will be forced to put up an exceptionally stubborn battle. Coach Duncan stated that his boys were in prime condition from the game shortly before departing for the Nash county capital, and declared they stood fine chance of nosing out with another victory.

The game here Wednesday promises to be decidedly more interesting than that Saturday when Greenville played the high school in Washington. The Collegiate Institute is even a stronger club than the high school and the locals are expecting one of the hardest battles of the season.

Coach Duncan said he hoped the public would turn out in large numbers to the game Wednesday, and in this way encourage the boys in establishing a record they will be proud of. The games heretofore poorly attended, and the team is likely to weaken unless more interest is exhibited by the public.

TRUCK PLACED IN SERVICE AT THE LOCAL POSTOFFICE

The Greenville postoffice has received a large parcel post truck, which is now in service. This is the first time such a large machine has been placed in service here and shows to what extent business has increased in the past several months. This improvement will greatly facilitate delivery of parcels, and increase efficiency of the service to no little extent.

GOVERNMENT VOCATIONAL OFFICER VISITS GREENVILLE

Mr. W. S. Goodwin, of Raleigh, government vocational officer, spent Saturday in Greenville at office of the American Red Cross, and conferred with men injured during the war. He signed up several who will take advantage of the vocational service of the government. This was Mr. Goodwin's last visit to Greenville in service of the government, as he retires at an early date. He made many friends during his visits here who will regret to learn of his retirement.

STATE SECRETARY OF MERCHANTS TO VISIT GREENVILLE

J. Paul Leonard to Attend Meeting of Association Here Wednesday Night.

A meeting of the Greenville Merchants' Association will be held in rooms of the chamber of commerce Wednesday night at eight o'clock, according to an announcement made this morning by Miss Ella Renner, secretary.

Mr. J. Paul Leonard, of Statesville, secretary of the North Carolina Merchants' association, secretary of the Merchant's Mutual Fire Insurance company, director of the National Merchants' association and also a director of the Retail Dry Goods association, will be the principal guest of the meeting. Mr. Leonard is one of the best known business men in the state, and what he will have to say regarding the business outlook should be of vital interest to every business man in Greenville.

An interesting program has been arranged for the occasion, Miss Renner stated, and every business and professional man is urged to be present. Ladies are also cordially invited, and while there will be no banquet, everyone is assured of an intensely interesting program. There will be plenty of smokes for the men, and no one need be in suspense regarding this fact, Miss Renner said.

Mr. Leonard is making a tour of eastern North Carolina for the purpose of reviewing the work of the various associations, and his visit to Greenville is of more than ordinary significance. The state secretary brought a gripping message to the merchants on his last visit here, and that he will do the same this time is not to be doubted in the least.

LA FOLLETTE FACES STORMY BARRAGE OF ADMINISTRATION

Wisconsin Senate Race Seethes With Unrivalled Political Fury

By J. BART CAMPBELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington.—Political forces now at work in Washington appear to mark Wisconsin as the "dark and bloody battle ground" of this year's primary and general elections.

Co-operating with its local supporters in Wisconsin, the administration is ready to invade the "Badger State" primaries on September 5 to give battle to Senator Robert M. La Follette, the most outspoken critic of the Harding policies in the Republican ranks. LaFollette's uncompromising "insurgency" against the party chiefs dates from his election as Governor of Wisconsin twenty-two years ago.

Roy F. Wilcox, of Eau Claire, former member of the State Senate, appears to be the most likely candidate against Governor Blaine. He ran in 1918 and 1920 and came within a few thousand votes of the nomination, but in addition to having the progressive against him, he will be bitterly opposed by a "Stalwart" faction led by former Governor Phillips.

Attorney-General Survives.

Attorney-General William J. Morgan, the only Stalwart on the State ticket to survive the LaFollette landslide in the 1920 primaries, will be renominated for his present office. He will have a strong opponent in Herman L. Ekers, former State Insurance Commissioner and ex-Speaker of the assembly.

The issues of the Wisconsin campaign differ from those of any other State in the country. Through nearly forty years of campaigning "Bob" LaFollette has interested the people in economic issues, and the Wisconsin folk this year will be tussling with state and Federal taxes, the railroad question and the tariff. Governor Blaine recently called Memphis, May 1.—A political alliance amalgamating ninety thousand union workmen, thirty-five thousand railway brotherhood members of Tennessee was in the making here today when legislative committees of various affiliated organs went into executive conference.

Today's session of the Tennessee Federation of labor which is being held in connection with the legislative conference is expected to result in formation of a central political campaign committee for the purpose of securing a concerted labor ballot in the legislative and congressional election during this year.

Supporters declared the organization will control approximately two hundred and fifty thousand voters of the state of Tennessee.

PARENT TEACHERS TO MEET ON MAY 3rd

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers association will be held at the Model school May 3rd at 3 o'clock.

The legislature into special session to enact laws removing the secrecy restriction on income tax returns, similar to the amendment which LaFollette put through the Senate with the revenue bill last year. The LaFollette amendment died in conference and Blaine's bills were beaten by the legislature, but the senator and the governor will take the issue to the people in the September primaries.

MRS. J. B. CHERRY ADDRESSES PUPILS OF AYDEN SCHOOL

Local Woman Speaks Before Vocational Guidance Class of Red Cross

Mrs. J. B. Cherry of Greenville addressed members of the vocational guidance course of the American Red Cross at the Ayden high school the latter part of last week, using as her subject "Train Nursing as a Profession." The address was timely and conveyed in an interesting way the useful life of the trained nurse.

Mrs. Cherry stressed the importance of proper training of nurses, and said it is to the advantage of every young nurse to gain as much knowledge of her work as possible. The profession is of value not only in family life, but to the community as well. The two main requisites of the nurse are gentleness and education.

She also spoke of the extensive growth of nursing, showing the broad scope it has assumed in the last few years. Competent nurses are in demand in hospitals, public health work and industrial training. They are of inestimable value to a community, and perform a service that at times is filled with sacrifice and the greatest endurance.

Mrs. Cherry was accompanied to Ayden by Mrs. Levy Holliday, member of the motor corps of the county chapter of the Red Cross. Although the weather was unfavorable the trip was made by automobile and thoroughly enjoyed.

DEMOCRATS JOIN IN PARTY PRAISE AT RECENT RALLY

Candidates Entertained Voters at Farmville Saturday, Much Speaking.

Democratic candidates for offices in Pitt county, of which there is a small army, entertained a large crowd of voters at a rally Saturday afternoon. Although the weather was rather inclement for such a gathering, this failed to detract from the spirit of the candidates who lifted their voices in praise of the county and its citizenship.

Each candidate was allowed five minutes in which to explain his platform and ideas of public service, and the way they did it attracted considerable interest. Candidates for the state senate were allowed fifteen minutes, with exception of Capt. J. J. Laughinghouse, who was given thirty-five minutes, and made every one of them good.

The meeting was presided over by W. H. Moore, prominent Democrat and citizen of the Farmville community, who at the outset explained the nature of the meeting and told the candidates to go to it when speaking terms came. Refreshments in the way of cold drink were served during the afternoon.

The keynote address of the afternoon was delivered by Judge J. L. Horton, of Farmville, who extended greetings to staunch supporters of the party who braved the inclement weather to be with the office seekers. He was very happy in his remarks, and assured his hearers of the progress the party is making, despite defeat in the last election. He lauded the spirit of Democracy and said the time is not far away when its followers will be in ascendancy again.

An Error in Ball Game.

EARLY BUSINESS BOOM IN AMERICA IS NOT EXPECTED

Europe's Tardy Recovery Holding American Progress in Check Somewhat.

FUNDAMENTAL CHANGE IS NOTED, HOWEVER IN ALL PARTS OF NATION

Officials of Department of Commerce Extremely Hopeful of the Future.

Washington, May 1.—Immediate business boom in the United States is unlikely because of Europe's tardy economic reconstruction, but fundamental conditions are much better and there is every reason to believe they will continue to steadily improve through slowly.

This opinion was expressed today by officials of the department of commerce who based their optimistic predictions on reports of increased production and more stable prices because of larger exports.

REQUEST INQUIRY INTO PORTO RICAN RECENT ACTIVITIES

By H. K. SEYNOLDS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 26.—While President Harding continues to insist that Governor E. Mont Reily, of Porto Rico, is a fearless and capable executive who has the confidence of the administration, Felix Cordova-Davila, the Porto Rican resident commissioner, is going ahead with his campaign in the House of Representatives to secure a rigid congressional investigation of Reily's activities since he assumed office. Davila declares that there will be no let up in his attacks upon the Porto Rican Governor until Reily either quits of his own accord or is compelled to resign.

The charges of the Porto Rican Council sponsor a demand Reily extend from "trafficking" in public offices to "entering into political alliance with men who have boasted of their Bolshevik ideas and their affiliation in Moscow."

Reily's troubles in Porto Rico started simultaneously with his arrival in San Juan. One of his difficulties was that he was not familiar with the Spanish language, which led to some serious complications. After a series of disturbances, some of them of little importance, he sailed back to the United States to talk it over with President Harding and Secretary of War Weeks.

During the trip from San Juan to the Pacific Coast the ship caught fire and the charge was made subsequently that the blaze was started by political enemies of the Governor. Reily remained in Washington for a time, and as no formal charges were filed against him at the War Department he returned to Porto Rico with the Administration's official approval of his activities in the island.

Shortly after he reached San Juan, however, other troubles arose, this time because the Porto Rican Senate refused to confirm nominations made by Reily for executive offices of the territorial government.

At the same time this request was brewing in San Juan Commissioner Davila got busy in Washington. Resolutions now are pending in the House proposing an investigation of Reily's administration of Porto Rican affairs and seeking his removal from office.

Monday, May 1st, 1922.

Japan is fortifying the coast of Siberia against attack. They had better fortify against starvation, and get a good lesson from Russia's plight.

A new kind of blockade still has been found in the extreme portion of the state. The kind of liquor manufactured is the same, however, and will remain so until many of the insistent followers of John Barleycorn find death staring them in the face.

The action of Greenville in establishing a white way has attracted considerable attention from other towns of this size, and the majority are following in the pathway blazed by the light commission. The white way is an invaluable asset to every thriving town, and Greenville has been a great help to the state by inspiring others to follow in her footsteps.

Business in the southeast is rounding the corner towards better things and in the course of a few months we will be back to normalcy. This will be received with gratification on all sides, as conditions have been so uncertain in past months that very few persons have known hardly which way to turn. When business becomes firmer, however, everyone will feel more confident and capable of doing their part by all branches of industry.

The Greenville police department is to me congratulated in rounding up the gang of robbers so easily here last week. Crime has been greatly reduced because of vigilance of the police. They have watched the great number of unemployed, and jailed all those of a suspicious character. Other towns might have profited by pursuing similar action. Chief Jones is to be depended upon in an emergency as shown in the series of robberies last week, and he should receive public co-operation hereafter.

Pitt county planters should be encouraged in more intensive cultivation this year, as this alone is going to mean their success. Diversification of crops is probably needed worse in this immediate section than anywhere else, and not until the farmers learn this can they expect to succeed. Planting only one kind of crop gives the money one source to draw from. By diversifying they stand a chance of catching the market favorable on at least one product if no more.

There may not be much change in the price of tobacco the first part of the coming season, but it's a safe bet conditions will change before the season is over. The friction between the old and new selling systems is going to have something to do with this, and farmers may rest assured of receiving top notch figures regardless of what anyone may say. Competition may have meant little or nothing in the past but it's going to prove the life of trade in the tobacco industry this season, that's already an assured fact.

The impending breach between England and France would indeed be a calamity and it is hoped such may be avoided. These two countries must mould the destiny of Europe, and conflict between them would mean demoralization of other countries. Right here is where America will be able to serve the world. We can't afford to stand on the outside and witness such a state of affairs without doing something to prevent the old world from sagging, as she certainly will if two such great powers go wrong.

Tarboro evidently is planning to enjoy participation in the Eastern Carolina league this season, as they are at the present time making preparations for building a new ball park, and perfecting other plans necessary to successful club work. The remainder of the club should follow Tarboro closely, and do everything possible to keep pace with the progressive folk of that place. They believe in spending money wherever it is needed. The erection of a ball park should receive consideration in all other towns of the league with exception of New Bern. The league is a permanency now, and fans should not be afraid to spend their money freely in its success.

Sunday schools of Greenville are vieing with each other in an effort to win out from the standpoint of attendance, and from now on greater enthusiasm will be in evidence at all churches. This fact is very gratifying. There are many young men of every city in need of the influences of the Sunday school, and when they are thus occupied there is no thought of indulging in usual Sunday pastimes, such as gabbling and hanging around street corners. Sunday schools should put on special membership contacts every month or so, and see if they can't surpass any attendance record so far established.

Dear Editor:

I read with pleasure the mayor's proclamation of clean up weeks in your issue of the 18th and also noted your cartoon in Saturday's issue which I think was very good for I feel that it is the duty of every person to lend a hand to try to keep our city clean and every one should take great pride in so doing.

However, if you will give me the space I want to protest against what I think to be the worst enemy of busy housekeeper when it comes to trying to keep a lawn clean and presentable, that is the promiscuous strewing of circulars and printed matter all over our city. It is indeed provoking to hire labor to clean up your premises and then a few hours later go out and find circulars romping up and down your front lawn at every gust of the wind which necessitates your joining in the game and chasing after all these pieces of paper in order to keep passers by later from thinking that your lawn littered with paper is a disgrace to the community.

Of course we have no right to protest against legitimate means of advertising provided same can be carried out without being a nuisance to everybody and a disgrace to the town. If it is absolutely necessary that these circulars be sent out it seems to me that there should be some means to compel same to be mailed or else delivered to persons at each house for I am sure that the majority of housewives would prefer to answer the door bell and receive this advertising matter than to have to chase all over creation to get it up before it can be burned. I hope that our honorable city fathers will see fit to take action along this line or if there happens already to be such a law on the statutes that they will have same rigidly enforced.

Yours for a cleaner city,

A HOUSEWIFE.

OPPOSITION TO BURLEY MARKET PLAN EXPLAINED

President Stone Says Interest Circulating Propaganda Seeking to Continue Living Off Grower as Under Old Dumping System of Eelling.

In reading the Western Tobacco Journal published in Cincinnati, of April 24th, I am impressed with the activity of the cooperative Marketing movement in the whole tobacco growing section, in the states of Wisconsin, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Conn, Virginia and the two Carolinas, which comprise practically the most important and largest tobacco growing Sections of the United States covering all classes and grades of tobacco.

The Western Tobacco Journal is the oldest, ablest and most reliable of the tobacco papers published in the United States. It is neutral and gives the news of the tobacco World from week to week publishing the statistics of the Worlds holdings of leaf and reports of same.

Wherever tobacco is being planted in the United States the Cooperative Marketing plan is being agitated, and as I have heretofore stated a movement across, and I feel confident will meet of such magnitude is bound to prove a success.

I believe that in the Burley section many of the Farmers who were not in the Cooperative Movement the past Season are now signaling.

We are told by those fighting the Cooperative movement in this section that those who were in the Kentucky Pool the past season were dissatisfied.

Does it look reasonable for the Cooperative Association to add new contracts numbering 115 covering 300,000 pounds of tobacco in one week, if those in the pool were dissatisfied?

This number of contracts were signed the past week right in the heart of the pool section, and contraverted and contradicted the propaganda used by those against the Cooperative movement. I attach below copy of statement which I have taken from the western Tobacco Journal which will be of interest to many of your readers.

J. N. GORMAN

"If tobacco growers will keep in mind the fact that those who are asking them not to join the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association are persons who expect to make money off the grower, we shall have no trouble in making our organization 100 per cent strong," said President James C. Stone, of the Burley association, in response to an inquiry as to the propaganda being circulated quietly by mail among tobacco growers of the district.

"These men have lived, just as the rest of us who were in warehouse business used to live," said Mr. Stone, "off the business brought to us by the grower. They are hardly to be blamed for desiring to continue to live off the work of the growers, but it is only fair to the grower that he should understand exactly what is involved in his staying out of the Association.

"There can be little doubt that the formation of the Burley association was a factor in the better prices paid kets. This fact is generally recognized now even by those who remaining out of the association, profited by its organization.

"Supply and demand, indeed, do regulate tobacco prices, or would regulate prices but for the system of every farmer competing with every other farmer. In case of the production of a surplus of tobacco this year under the old system of marketing, the surplus which would be thrown on the market would break the price of every pound of tobacco sold, and under of course, with the actual needs of man the old system there is no way of preventing this. Under the co-operative marketing system, on the other hand, the manufacturers are offered only what they need and at the time they need it. There is no expense of auctioneers, in fact, it is my belief that the selling expense will be cut in half by the new system, if not more. Of course the tobacco grower pays this expense. It is taken out of his crop when he sells it. If he does not rush his crop to market, but delivers it to the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association to be sold for him, he does not pay these warehouse charges. He pays nothing except the expense of conducting the association, and that, in my opinion, will be very much less than the expense of conducting the warehouses under the old system, in which the profit of the warehouse business went into the pockets of the warehousemen.

"I have no fear that the growers, once they understand the facts in this matter, will fail to take advantage of this opportunity to free themselves from the shackles of a marketing system that has demonstrated that it can set aside the law of supply and demand as it did last year. Tobacco interests at Lexington and Central Kentucky, it considerable expense made a careful survey of the situation in the winter of 1920, a few weeks before the market opened. We proved, not only to our satisfaction but to the satisfaction of government experts, that the crop of 1920 was considerably lighter than that of 1919, which averaged 38 1/2 cents a pound. In the face of this fact, and in the face of the further fact that the demand for tobacco products passed all previous records, the crop was literally taken from the growers at prices but little more than a third of those of the previous year.

"If tobacco growers will need the advice of those who are interested in their welfare, those whose prosperity depends upon the prosperity of the tobacco growers, the bankers, the merchants, the lawyers, the doctors, the preachers—their communities, we haven't a doubt they will come with us in the Burley association. If they are honestly in doubt as to what they should do in regard to joining or staying out of the association, we urge them to ask any of their neighbors who have delivered their crops to the association as to their experience and as to whether they are satisfied with results.

"It is my firm conviction that the new system of selling tobacco has come to stay, that the growers will never go back to the old way of 'dumping,' every man for himself and every grower in competition with every other selling their crops without regard to market or financial conditions and without any regard for the needs of the manufacturer or the cost of producing the crop. In words of the funny page in the papers: 'Them days are gone forever,' I am convinced.

"Under the system of marketing tobacco co-operatively, the grower receives every cent his crop brings, after the expense of operating his own association is paid. No profit is made off him by any member or officer of his association, not only is that true but if any officer of this association, or any employee, attempts to profit by dealing in certificates issued to growers he immediately loses his position with this association.

"Before growers allow themselves to be influenced by propaganda of interests seeking to exploit them to profit from their work, they should study the situation ask their neighbors in the association and consult their banker and their merchants as to the wisdom of coming in or staying out. We are perfectly willing to abide by the result of such inquiry." Adv.

STAR WORKED AT GLOVE COUNTER TO GET SALES GIRL ANGLE

Katherine MacDonald Sells Gloves in Los Angeles Store Before Filming "Her Social Value."

An elderly woman, who recently purchased two pairs of gloves at a well-known Los Angeles department store, would prize those articles highly if she were aware that the "sales-girl" who sold them to her was Katherine MacDonald, otherwise known as the "American Beauty" of the screen.

During the filming of her latest production, "Her Social Value," for Associated First National Pictures, Inc., the star spent a day in the department store because the script, which was written by J. A. Barry and B. P. Fineman, called for her to act in the capacity of a saleswoman at a glove counter.

Wishing to get first-hand experience, Miss MacDonald asked for and obtained the permission of the manager of the store to wait on customers at the women's glove counter, and under the instruction of an experienced saleswoman she learned just how one should handle a real customer.

After an hour of observation the "American Beauty," whose salary for the day would buy out the entire glove department, was permitted to sell a pair of gloves. She did it so accurately that the customer purchased a second pair, and went away highly pleased. But she didn't know that the beautiful clerk was Miss MacDonald, getting local color for a new production.

Incidentally, the manager of that Seventh Street store will not grant such privileges hereafter with a liberal hand, for with such a beautiful star behind the counter and the cynosure of all eyes, it was next to impossible to keep the attention of the other clerks, the floorwalkers and the rest of the employees on their tasks.

OFFICER HAYNES GAINS 28 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC

Stomach Troubles of Ten Years Standing Overcome and Old Friends Are Surprised to See Him So Well And Strong.

Policeman G. W. Haynes, for 20 years a member of the Richmond police department, and now on special duty at the capitol, makes a statement regarding Tanlac that will be read with interest throughout the state:

"For ten years" he says "stomach trouble had been pulling me down. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and I bloated so with gas it nearly killed me to take a deep breath. I would have pains all through my stomach and up around my heart and lungs. I felt all fagged out and unequal to my work and at night what little sleep I could get was never sound. Of mornings I was almost too weak to get out of bed and it took all the grit I had to keep from giving up altogether.

"Finally I decided to try Tanlac and to make a long story short I have gained twenty-eight pounds in weight, sleep like a top, eat what I want, and feel fine all the time, no matter how hard the day's work. Tanlac beats any medicine I have ever heard of."

Tanlac is sold by Greenville Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK IS OBSERVED

May 1 Sees Inaugurated First General Campaign of Kind in Service.

Without the Postal Service, business would languish in a day, and be at a standstill in a week. Public opinion would die of dry rot. Sectional hatred or prejudice only would flourish, and narrow-mindedness thrive.

It is the biggest distinctive business in the world and it comes nearer to the innermost interests of a greater number of men and women than any other institution on earth. No private business, however widespread, touches so many lives so often or sharply; no church reaches into so many souls, flutters so many pulses, has so many human beings dependent on its ministrations.

"Postal Improvement Week" has been set for May 1, by the Postmaster General. This is the first general campaign of its kind in the Postal Service for several decades. Business men and their organizations, large users of the mail, newspapers, motion pictures, advertisers, and the entire organization of 326,000 postal workers are to be enlisted in this country-wide campaign of interest in postal improvements. Your help is vital. Address your letters plainly with pen or typewriter. Give street address. Spell out name of State, don't abbreviate. Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of envelope (not on the back) and always look at your letter before dropping in the mail to see if it is properly addressed. This care in the use of the mails is for your benefit and speeds up the dispatch and delivery of mail matter.

If you have any complaints of poor service make them to your postmaster. He has instructions to investigate them and report to the department.

COURTESY

It sticks in human relations like postage stamps on letters. The POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT expects it to be used by its postmasters and employees in dealing with the public.

Help them in its use beginning with POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK, May 1-6, 1922.

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office has been in existence ever since Ben Franklin started our postal service. Even then people addressed mail to Mr. Ezekiel Smithers, "Atlantic Coast," and expected Ben to know just where Zeke lived.

Perhaps they had Zeke's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeke. Today people are addressing letters to John Smith, New York, N. Y., or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is just as incomplete as was Zeke's address of yore. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address. It helps you.

Trinidad Cal.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk to know whether you mean Trinidad, California, or Trinidad, Colorado?
ALWAYS SPELL OUT THE NAME OF THE STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

"MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT"

This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress and applies particularly in postal management where postmasters are being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!

Let's make our post office look neat. Mr. Postmaster, Straighten up the rural letter box, Mr. Farmer. Tidy up some, Mr. Rural Carrier. First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr. Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back bringing you benefits. Start these with "POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1-6.

HUMANIZING THE POSTAL SERVICE

"There is no unimportant person or part of our service. It is a total of human units and their co-operation is the key to its success. In its last analysis, postal duties are accommodations performed for our neighbors and friends and should be so regarded, rather than as a hired service performed for an absentee employer." Postmaster General Hubert Work.

:Price Reductions: Effective Immediately EMPIRE TIRES

Notwithstanding the fact that a great many Agents and Manufacturers have constantly talked of an increased price of Automobile Tires within the next thirty days, the EMPIRE TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY have deemed it proper to make drastic reductions in the price of their tires, particularly CORDS.

We are not cutting the price of EMPIRE TIRES, but are simply saving the consumer the usual Agent's commission and Jobbers' handling charges, or a saving of nearly one third on your tire bills. These prices are only possible on account of the EMPIRE system of distribution—DIRECT FROM THE FACTORY TO USER—THROUGH THE DISTRIBUTOR.

REGARDLESS OF PRICE, THERE IS NO TIRE ON THE MARKET THAT IS MORE HONESTLY BUILT AND MORE CARE TAKEN IN ITS CONSTRUCTION.

While any Automobile tire is liable to be defective in the event you get one, or fail to get satisfactory mileage, adjustments are promptly made in our store, without any red tape for our decision on adjustments are made on the basis of 8,000 miles for CORDS and 6,000 miles for FABRICS.

ANSWERS WOMAN'S QUESTION AS TO DUTY OF THE CANDIDATE

Dear Sir: Kindly allow me space in which to answer as best I can, the question of the lady voter. The duties of the sheriff of our county are too numerous to mention them all. My idea of doing your duty to the public is to enforce the laws and to attend to each case as it presents itself. The sheriff maybe called on in the morning to investigate a violation of the prohibition law, and in the evening to investigate a murder, robbery, fight or some other violation of the law. The duties pertaining to the sheriff's office are very numerous. They embrace the enforcement of all the criminal laws and attention to the civil laws. I am a candidate for sheriff and if I am nominated I will serve all the people and enforce each and every law as best I can.

VACANT LOTS AND CLEAN UP WEEK

Vacant lots Vacant lot! My, what sad, unsightly spots. If they could sing. If they could sing; Oh, how they'd make the welkin ring. "I am proud of my town." Is my town proud of me? Is just the little dirty they would chirp and shout with glee. Of course its not the thing; for waste places to sing. But I am sure they would be ashamed; if their owner's fair good name; were published in the paper. As for him he'd cut a caper; and prance around and round; and get a great big butcher knife and carve up half the town. So, Mr. Man, if you'd avoid, good citizens' abuses, just get right busy Tuesday morn, and make no fake excuses. On Wednesday calls the trash man; now buy your hoe and rake. And lire you to that vacant lot, some exercise to take, and after just a little work; Oh, say a few short hours; right there will be the time we think to just "say it with flowers." Plant a few cheap reed, in the corner where the weed, was wont to lire and grow; hiding much filth below. And soon each vacant lot will bloom just like a rose. And passers-by will pause and crp "your nose knows." Sentiments of the Sans Souci Book Club by their representative, J. L. H.

Don't stand on the street corners and talk about the progress "Our Greenville" is making without feeling that you are at least partially responsible.

Every citizen is proud of the community and its ability to "Come Back." The question is are you helping the movement.

Talk about forming "Housing Corporations" sounds very good, but the practical way to develop your community is through its Building and Loan Associations.

We are putting on an intensive campaign this week for new shares. Don't rest on your oars and drift, buy shares and practice thrift. It will help you—it will help some other individual—it will help your town.

Building and Loan shares yield around 6 per cent, are non-taxable and the safest investment on earth.
