MEMBER COUNTY HIGHWAY COMMISSION PRESENTS KIWANIS CLUB WITH MANY FACTS REGARDING HIGHWAY PROGRAM

J. B. Harding Gives Actual Cost of Highway Construction of County.

DR. SKINNER AROUSES INTENSE INTEREST IN MILK PASTEURIZATION

Many Other Matters of Interest Presented by Members Last Night.

The total valuation of all real and personal property on the books for the last fiscal year in Pitt county amounted to $66,997,012 from which was received as taxes by the county as a whole about $550,000.

The bonded indebtedness of the county which covers its liabilities for the Training school, court house, jail, county home, bridges and roads, and all other public improvements, amount, there has been spent for hard surfaced roads, $500,000.00 and another $500,000.00 is being loaned to the State Highway commission for the construction of hard surfaced roads in this county and must be returned to the county in the next two years.

The meeting last night was presided over by President J. B. James, who started the program off in an interesting way. Divine blessing was invoked by J. F. Harrington, after which Jack Kilgore was appointed sheriff.

Following the introduction of visitors of which there were a number, the meeting was turned over to Kiwanian B. W. Moseley, who had arranged a most interesting program.

The first speaker of the evening was Dr. L. C. Skinner, who spoke on the importance of pasteurizing milk. He made a strong appeal in behalf of the subject and said Greenville had reached that size when children should be protected from possible tubercular milk.

This suggestion produced considerable discussion and everybody agreed with Dr. Skinner that the town was in need of such a plant. A committee composed of H. A. White, Prof. Sache and Dr. Skinner was named to appear before the city aldermen with view of interesting them in the installation of such a plant.

Following the address by Mr. Harding, H. A. White briefly outlined the route of the Kiwanian Toronto Special and said at least one pullman would go from Greenville to the convention.

R. G. Fitzgerald, superintendent of county schools, spokesmen for the delegates who attended the Columbia convention, related a few incidents in connection with the trip and said the people of Columbia entertained them in grand style. Reports was of a gratifying nature and showed the convention to have been one of the greatest in years.

The attendance prize which was awarded by R. L. Moore was won by Dr. L. C. Skinner who had the best record. The silent boost was furnished by C. S. Forbes.

President James read a challenge from the Rotary club for a baseball game at an early date. This was immediately accepted and M. K. Blount was named as manager of the club and J. B. James captain. Every Kiwanian was requested to be at the fair grounds at four o'clock Monday afternoon for a tryout. The team will be selected at this time.

A minstrel committee composed of E. E. Williams, Ed. Joyner and Luther Herring was named to select talent for the minstrel to be presented by the club at an early date. They were asked to have the talent in readiness by time of the director's arrival, which will be in a few days.

Music was furnished by a quartette after which a brief session of the board of directors was held. The address of Mr. Harding's was so informative and contained so much information regarding the road building campaign now in progress that it is quoted in part as follows:

Statistics tell you that Pitt county is the second richest county in North Carolina, and ranks with the first fifty in the entire United States in the value of its agricultural products.

A year ago, the county ranked fifth in the State of North Carolina in the number of automobiles. The total valuation of all real and personal property on the tax books for last fiscal year, in Pitt county amounted to $66,997,012 from which was received as taxes by the county as a whole about $550,000.

The bonded indebtedness of the county which covers its liabilities for the Training College, court house, jail, county home, bridges and roads, and all other public improvements, amount, there has been spent for hard surfaced roads, $500,000.00 and another $500,000.00 is being loaned to the State Highway commission for the construction of hard surfaced roads in this county, and must be returned by the State to the county during a period of two years.

Pitt county prated part of the fifty million dollar bond issue of the state, and being spent by the state Highway commission, should be about $1,200,000.00 and expended as anticipated should pave the roads from Greenville to Grifton. From Greenville to Edgecombe county line, and from Greenville to the Beaufort county line, making about 50 miles and with the 14 miles from Greenville to Farmville, would give 64 miles of state paved roads in this county.

Sand Clay and Dirt Roads. There are about 2400 miles of sand clay and dirt roads in the county under the direction of the county highway commission, requiring maintenance for the traffic that is going over them. We have our largest mileage in Greenville township of about 350 miles and the smallest in Beaver Dam township of about 55 miles to be maintained.

Welfare Department Worker Delivers Interesting Address About His Work

Welfare and social work as a "Progression" was the subject of the talk given to the Junior Red Cross in Farmville High school auditorium yesterday morning by Mr. K. T. Futrell. The children were much interested in this talk and especially because Mr. Futrell interestingly showed the breadth of the field in social and welfare work at the present time and explained the working of the health and welfare departments in North Carolina today.

He told the boys and girls that the demand for trained workers far exceeded the supply, but above all other things to remember that it was most necessary to educate ones self for the work and if one makes good—be or she is assured of a position. The salaries, Mr. Futrell explained, in social work are never large in comparison with other vocations but to any one truly interested there was unquestioned joy and satisfaction.

CHINESE PRESIDENT ISSUES APPEAL FOR PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Lengthy Message Asks People to Take Control of Parliament

By EDNA LEE BOOKER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Shanghai, China, May 6.—With the students of China declaring that Peking officialdom does not represent the people of China; with Dr. Sun Yat Sen leading the forces of Canton against the armies of Peking, and the bankrupt government unable to meet its loans, Hsu Shih-Chang, President, has issued an appeal to the people of China to take control of the government through Parliament and by an expression of public opinion.

The appeal has been sent out in a lengthy circular telegram addressed to the military and civil authorities of the various provinces.

"Then years have elapsed since the establishment of the Chinese Republic, and more than three years since my election to the Presidency," says President Hsu. "The events which took place during this period are all of such a difficulty and complicated nature that it is painful for me to recount them.

"With age and feebleness falling upon me, what other motive did I really have by shouldering the serious and difficult tasks of state at a time of turmoil and disorder than my mere illusion that I might do something for the people and country that has impelled me to do my duty without hesitation? It is, however, contrary to my wish and hope that the years have gone by while I am still unable to achieve my object, and the condition of the country is growing more and more chaotic and precarious.

"In the past ten years the losses to the country and the sufferings of the people have been exceedingly great and innumerable. For instance, the repeated fightings which have taken place during recent years have certainly caused tremendous military expenses; the excessive borrowing of foreign loans has proved highly detrimental to the nation's finance and economy; and the stagnation of commerce and industry and the neglect of education of the country's youths have simply deprived the country of its industrial and educational development and fruitful results.

NEGRO ROBBERS PLEAD GUILTY OF ACTIVITIES HERE

Three Men Bound Over to Superior Court in Connection With Firing Laundry.

THREE OTHERS ARE WANTED BY POLICE FOR COMPLICITY

Considerable Amount of Goods Recovered and Turned Over to Owners.

Three negroes recently arrested for complicity in the series of robberies occurring here last week when the Greenville Laundry was set afire were given preliminary hearing before Magistrate J. A. Harrington this morning and bound over to the next session of superior court under bond of $1,000 each.

Those appearing in the hearing were Southern Midgett, Washington Simmons and Arthur Kelley, who were arrested within a few hours after the robbery was committed. Midgett, the first arrested, confessed his part in the robberies and divulged the identity of several others whom the police are seeking at the present time.

A considerable amount of goods said to have been stolen from Grifton, Winterville and Bethel was recovered by the police and returned to the merchants after being properly identified. That the same bunch have been connected with an epidemic of robberies reported from other sections of the state seems to be absolutely certain.

Each of the defendants this morning entered plea of guilty, and presented the authorities with certain facts which will prove of great value in rounding up other members of the gang. Those wanted at the present time are Dave Cradle, low yellow negro who is believed to be in this immediate territory; Peter Carr, tall black darkey about eighteen years of age and Jethro Grice, tall, broad shouldered, about five feet tall with high cheek bones and narrow chin.

The resolution has received favorable report giving privileged status and can be called up at any time the chairman of the rules committee desires. Pressure has been brought to bear on Chairman Cambell because of delay of action. House Republican leaders have told their colleagues that the administration does not want an investigation, although Daugherty and Secretary of War Weeks have notified the rules committee that they are indifferent.

BALL GAME HERE WITH FREMONT IS POSTPONED TODAY

Greenville Will However Clash With Kinston here Wednesday Afternoon.

The baseball game scheduled at the fair grounds here Monday afternoon between high school teams of Fremont and Greenville has been indefinitely postponed on account of the girls' field day event at the Training College Monday. The Kinston high school, however, will appear here Wednesday and Wilson Friday. The schedule contains a game or so with Wilson following that Friday after which the season will probably be brought to a close.

The public is urged to turn out in large numbers to the game Wednesday and in this way show the high school their efforts to put out a winning team have been appreciated. This is the first season the high school has attempted to put a team in the field, and it is believed the year will be most successful if proper support is given.

The club has shown remarkable strength considering the experience of the players, and Coach Duggan believes the final games will feature some of the best playing of the season. Satterthwaite and Brown, the only two hurlers of the club, have shown gratifying ability and their success the next season or so seems assured.

The remainder of the team, and especially the infield, is an strong and fast as any other high school aggregation of first season experience in this section of the state. They have exhibited ability both at the bat and in the field, and Coach Duggan is gratified at the past showing.

Saturday, May 6th, 1922.

The Atlanta Constitution speaking of automobile accidents says the waste of life should be stopped. We agree that it should be stopped, but finding an effective way of stopping it is where the rub comes in.

Harding forces are said to be discouraged by results of the election in Indiana. If they let a small thing like that discourage them, what in the world will they do when several other states follow the pathway blazed by the Hoosier state.

It is estimated the senate will pass the tariff bill by an overwhelming majority, but then estimates can't be made for anything like actualities. The Republicans estimated they would win in Indiana, but look how they missed the mark.

Republican members of the senate are not disposed to pass the farm bill, but Senator Simmons of North Carolina is using every force against them. His fight will be watched with interest from the south, as the success will largely determine the future of the southern farmer.

"Postal Improvement Week" should receive the consideration of every person in the United States, as the department is one in which every citizen is more or less directly interested. A campaign can be made a great success by proper co-operation, and it is hoped this will be given as freely as possible.

We are glad the bad place at the South Carolina crossing on Dickson Avenue has been improved, but regret that so much delay has been occasioned. This work, it appears, should have been completed long ago. Keeping the street closed to traffic is a great handicap, and the sooner the street is re-opened the better everyone will like it.

Highway appropriations by congress mean that North Carolina will get about one and three-quarter million dollars. This information will be received with genuine pleasure, as there is nothing in which the public is more directly interested at the time. Congressman Doughton and Ward are doing good work for the state at the moment and the more they use their influence for improved roads the better everyone will like it.

South Carolina club women recently in session at Greensboro outlined a ambitious program for the future, and evidently mean to stand by it judging by the enthusiasm in evidence. One of the things given attention was political participation. The women were urged to use their influence at the polls in protection of their homes, and urged to begin in the coming primary. The suggestion is a good one, and it is hoped the women will abide by it.

Senator Dial, of South Carolina, states it is alarming because congress continues its attention largely to the passage of legislation protecting those who make ninety-nine percent of what they produce. He says the discovery of such evidence is enough to shake the nerves of any man. The gentleman from South Carolina should remember however, that congress isn't necessarily permanent. In fact, it may be changed by public vote at the next election, and instead of the rich man farming better, the farmer or other people who have suffered adversely may be on the side where favors are being dished out.

The white way system sometime ago proposed in Ayden has become an actuality, according to an announcement made this week. Ayden is one of the most progressive towns in state considering its size, and the white way system will place it in line with much larger places. In fact, it will be among the first to establish white way systems as Greenville, New Bern, Kinston and other places just recently decided upon them.

A home owning nation is considerably happier than one forced to pay high rents as the past has proven. The public should remember this fact and use every spare cent in the purchase of building and loan stock. By investing a small amount of money in a systematic way the investor eventually will find himself the owner of a comfortable home. This is something everyone is to consider, and it is hoped more Greenville people will do so.

The proposal to extend the sewer system in Greenville should be more extensively advocated by these interested in sanitation. Adequate sewerage lines should extend over every principal street of the city, and the public health record can't possibly be what it should unless they do. Money spent in this way is invested wisely, and it is hoped the aldermen will give the proposition the consideration which it so surely deserved.

Prohibition officials have decided that rum smuggling has gained such proportions along the Atlantic coast that they can't possibly cope with them. They should not become discouraged because of this fact, however. This should produce greater determination to check the evil at all cost instead of causing them to wait for a change. If any change occurs it will be for the worse and not the better. The whiskey traffic is an evil which every section should help the officials to fight, and the sooner the fact is realized and everybody decided to help the earlier civilization will improve.

Greenville is undergoing one of the greatest building booms in years, and in the course of several months many families will have the pleasure of being comfortably situated in homes they may call their own. This should be mighty consoling to those who have suffered from the effects of high rents in the past and cause them to use every influence for a continuance of building operations. The boom may be continued by more persons investing in building and loans and it is the duty of everyone to put more of their earnings in investments such as the building and loan affords. Greenville has two of the best institutions of the kind in the state, and persons who fail to invest in them have no one to blame but themselves.

The Unsuspecting Farmer.

It is rather an odd circumstance that among some of the opponents of co-operative marketing are men who in former years posed as leaders for the farmers—and who yet want to be understood as such. The opposition in this state seems to be centered around the tobacco proposition and some farmers do not appear sensible to the fact that it is the warehousemen who are leading this fight and that they are following behind what Colonel Eryan would be sure to call "the monied interests." The cotton farmers are manifesting a larger degree of sanity, however, and there is good prospect that when the new crop comes on it will be marketed under newer and better conditions—for the farmer—than previously known. It is a little strange that the tobacco farmers cannot see the light. That the co-operative marketing system is being assailed by the warehousemen's association should be in itself all the evidence the farmer would want. As the Statesville Daily expressed it, the warehousemen through their activities in opposition, have "given their case away." The reason why they have not looked upon this proposed departure with favor is because, as The Daily sees it, "they see their craft in danger; they are likely to be put out of business." It is for that reason they are making war on the co-operative marketing scheme, "and doing their best to undermine the confidence of the farmer in it."

The Daily thinks their denunciation of the co-operative marketing plan and the violence with which they asail its promoters, "should strengthen the object of their attack with the fair-minded." The farmer is usually a mighty suspicious man and his lack of suspicion in this instance passes understanding.—Charlotte Observer.

Former Kinston Man Says To Keep Out Of Weed Pool

Leon Oettinger, Well-Known Here, Writes Letter in Answer to Inquiry From Here and Advises All Against Cooperative Plan—States Various Reasons.

The following letter from Leon Oettinger, a former resident of Kinston and well-known and related here, on the failure of the co-operative marketing pool for the sale of tobacco in the Kentucky Burley district, will be of interest here. The letter follows, comes from Lexington, dated April 23rd.

"In answer to your letter asking for information regarding the pool here.

"Personally I think the pool is one of the worst things that has ever happened to the farmer. In the first place the men who organized the pool promised the man who signed it that they would not declare it formed until 75 per cent of the tobacco had been signed up. They had men who had not raised tobacco for two years signed.

"With all their signing they had a little over 100,000,000 while the independents sold 60,000,000. So they really had only 60 per cent.

"The pool here has been formed on broken promises. The men in charge of the drive told the farmers every warehouse in Kentucky was promised them and if the farmers did not sign they would have no place to sell it. In this way they forced a great many farmers to join that wanted to stay out.

"In my opinion the salary list out here will amount to more than it cost to handle the entire crop in former years. This is outside the common labor. Then the interest on the money they borrow and warehouses they buy will all come out of the farmers pocket. In other words it will cost the farmer about three to five times as much to sell his tobacco through the pool as it cost him to sell at auction.

"The third reason when the farmer sells his tobacco over the loose leaf floors he gets his money and has the privilege of rejecting any that the price does not suit him. In the pool he has only the privilege of bringing it to the receiving station after that it is entirely in the hand of the association. When they formed the pool here they claimed that the companies would have to take the tobacco as it was graded in by the association. I have seen the buyers reduce the grading as much as five points. If they did not want the tobacco the way it was they would tell the pool representative they would take it at a lower grade. After the farmers bring it in to the pool they have to wait about a week for the money they are advanced, and that is not over a third of what the tobacco would sell for. Farmers here who brought their tobacco have only had the one advantage of it. I understand that there will be another distribution soon but no one knows just when.

"As you know this year's crop was the shortest that has been raised for a good many years, and it is the consensus of opinion among tobacco men who really know the conditions that the pool instead of raising prices actually caused the tobacco to sell for much less than it would have if there had been no pool. The buyers seemed to know that the officers of the pool were extremely anxious to sell this tobacco. The business men here are very much down on the pool now as they claim it has hurt business very much.

"I know of several instances here where crops were divided, one-half in pool the other half being sold on the floor. Invariably the crop on the floor sold from three to four times higher than the farmer was advanced. The farmers here are very much dissatisfied over the way things were run. For every satisfied farmer in the pool I can show you a dozen who would like to get out.

"The tobacco here this year averaged twenty one cents over the breaks and the pool advances were only around seven. AND THE TOBACCO IN THE POOL WAS OF MUCH BETTER QUALITY THAN THAT OF THE INDEPENDENTS.

"I do not know if I have made my reasons as clear as I wish but if there is any thing else you desire to know let me hear from you and I will try to give you the desired information. Yours very truly,
LEON OETTINGER.

You can advise all my friends that I say "Keep Out."

BLACK-DRAUGHT OVER 30 YEARS

"Saved Me Many a Sick Spell," Says Texas Farmer, Who Has Long Known Usefulness of Black-Draught

Naples, Texas.—"I have used Theford's Black-Draught for years—I can safely say for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out on Route 3 from here.

"I am 43 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny and my folks gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it.

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble.

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes that he is "never out of Black-Draught," and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs.

Black-Draught helps to keep the liver in trim, helping to prevent or relieve such troubles as constipation, biliousness, indigestion, sick headache.

Be sure to get the genuine.—A.C.

Where shall I sell my tobacco?— How shall I sell my tobacco?— When shall I sell my tobacco?—

These are natural questions for tobacco farmers to ask and certainly they are entitled to all the information that we can give them. Tobacco farmers work hard all the year in their tobacco, from the time they prepare their plant beds to the time they get their tobacco ready for sale. Each and every tobacco grower needs all the money he can get for his crop. It costs him time, hard work and money to produce his tobacco and he, of course, wants every cent that he can possibly get.

In the first place, we are not going to advise the farmer as to how and where he shall sell his tobacco, but we are showing him in this issue the superior tobacco market that Greenville offers, and is the place to sell leaf tobacco. We desire to impress upon all farmers the fact that the Greenville market justly claims to be as strong loose-leaf market in the world.

Greenville has five large, well arranged, well lighted warehouses that are controlled and run by up-to-date, live men, who know their business. There is not a farmer in all this section that does not know that when he places his tobacco in the hands of the Greenville warehousemen he will receive the very best personal attention from the men who run the sales. All farmers know that it is the interest of warehousemen to get all they can for tobacco. They know that the more the farmer gets the more the warehouse men get, and that is one reason why warehousemen are all the time trying and forcing buyers to pay all they possibly can.

We do not hesitate to say that Greenville has as well posted a set of warehousemen as can be found in the U. S. Hundreds, yes, thousands of farmers have watched Guy Smith, Bruce Sugg, Simon Moye, Gentry, Seth Hooker, Willie Morton, Gus Forbes, Frank Brinkley, Bud Spain, Frank Foxhall, Biggs Cannon and Madison McGowan as they stand by every pile of tobacco and work and bid from start to finish. And as to buyers the market will be well supplied the coming season. All of the big concerns will be represented by their very best tobacco men, each concern having buyers. There will also be several concerns besides the big five that will be prepared to bid on tobacco to the limit. As has been announced heretofore, it has been decided to run three sales daily in order to prevent any congestion, and by this arrangement farmers will be able to sell their tobacco when they bring it in.

We congratulate the tobacco farmers of this section on having such a great tobacco market as Greenville, a market where the very highest market prices will be paid, a market where a set of men will be found to make the farmers feel at home at all times, a market where all conveniences and accommodations will be found and we are sure that the thousands of good tobacco producers will agree with us when we say that they are fortunate in having at their convenience such a great tobacco market. Five of the big warehouses will be ready to receive and sell tobacco at the beginning of the next season.

In this connection we hope and trust that all farmers will make good crops and that they will handle it well and place it on the warehouse floors in good marketable condition. We feel that with the following companies represented with three sets of buyers you will profit by selling your tobacco in Greenville. E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Co., John E. Hughes Tobacco Co., Person-Garrett Tobacco Co., Laurelrod & Co., J. P. Taylor & Co., Dibrrell Bros., R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Export Leaf Tobacco Co., American Tobacco Co., Imperial Tobacco Co., Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Greenville market opens August 8th for the sale of tobacco at auction.

Here's the stage where love is fatal,
When a round of steepless nights
Filled with thoughts of cunning rivals,
All your hopes and laughter blights

Listens to your rival's guff
Boys get busy—make things whizzy—
Be a caveman, treat her rough!

GEORGE ELIOT wrote "As our thought follows close in the slow wake of the dawn, we are impressed with the unusual sameness of the human lot which never alters in the main headings of its history—labor and hunger, seed time and harvest, love and death."

It is entirely fitting that a profession should have developed to care for every detail that perplexes and disturbs the family when the end comes to one of its members.

There is a funeral director in your community who merits your confidence and who has dedicated his life to a sympathetic and efficient service to his fellow beings. He realizes fully the desire of people in time of sorrow to be relieved of all necessary details, and their further desire for a character and quality of service that will leave the family with the assurance that everything humanly possible was done for the departed.

You can wash your hands in HYDRO Solution; try the Electrolyte Solution and see the difference—you will find out which is the most injurious.

Some people claim that HYDRO will not charge a Battery in five minutes. Excuse them, for they don't know—BECAUSE—When the automobile was invented, some people said it would not run; when the airplane was invented, there were people who claimed it would not fly. When the submarine came into being, there were still some people who termed it "an impossibility." Rumor has it that Henry Ford was considered crazy at one time. We want to go crazy just like Henry did. MORAL: DON'T LISTEN TO "BUNK"—BRING YOUR BATTERY TO

THE HYDRO STATION And get it charged in five minutes.

FACTS CONCERNING CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING PLAN The inconsistency and unfair methods being used by the opponents of co-operative movement is amazing and shows conclusively that those fighting the movement have not investigated same, do not want to be informed and have selfish motives. Talk to one and he tells you the farmers will not stick, has never been known to stick, etc. Then he tells the farmer he is a fool to sign the contract because it is binding and takes his rights away from him, etc. I say anyone is a fool to go into a contract that will not bind each and every one. This contract is what insures success, for without a binding contract, no man of business sagacity, no Bank or Trust Co., would want to tie to the association or finance it. Any one knows that if one company or individual owns or controls the bulk of any commodity they can name the selling price, and the opponents only hope is to frighten the planter and keep his tobacco out of the association. They know the association can get the money to handle it; also that they have secured competent and able men to handle the affairs of the association and that the manufacturers are not fighting the new method of selling. There has never before in the history of the United States been a time when the officials and financial interests realized the necessity of and were so willing to help the farmer financially. They realize that the farmer was hit first and hardest by the deflation and that it is necessary to get the farmer back on his feet before the country can again have prosperity. What helps the farmer is bound to help the town and all of its industries. I have seen letter after letter from farmers who pooled their tobacco and letters from the banks in the pool section of Kentucky and they are all in high praise of the new method of selling tobacco, showing conclusively that much of the propaganda against the movement is false. With a large crop the farmers only salvation is to pool. The association will then only sell what the trade wants and will carry the balance until it is needed. Under the present method the buyers for all the companies have instructions to buy a certain percentage of his grades each day, when the buyer buys this per cent he is either dilatory in his bidding or does not bid at all, and this is one of the reasons we have had such differences in prices on auction sales. Under the new method the manager of the Co-operative leaf department sells to the head buyer of the manufacturers so much of any grade he may figure his factory will need, at a stipulated price, up to a certain grade, represented by a sample. When the planter brings his tobacco to the co-operative warehouse, it is weighed and graded to one of the grades set by the leaf department, corresponding to samples shown to the manufacturers' buyers. This tobacco is then delivered to the local factory. What tobacco has not been so contracted for will be redried, packed and stored, and sold later when it is wanted by the American manufacturer or is sold to the foreign manufacturers. Neither the grader for the association nor the representative of the local factory has a word to say about price, this having been agreed upon as stated above. Can you improve on this or get a fairer method of selling any commodity? At the time of delivery the farmer gets a check as an advance and a receipt showing he has so many pounds of such a grade in the pool. The Kentucky banks write they have found these receipts to be the best of collateral and have loaned extensively to the farmers on same. I will admit as the opponents state "that a farmer can not pay his debts on half of what his crop is worth" and that is what has placed many in the financial conditions they are in at the present time, for many have sold their tobacco at auction and did not get the half. Under the association method he has more coming to him and has a receipt which is collateral and can be borrowed on, should he need to do so. The farmer is no better posted on the new methods than many of those who are opposing it. Therefore I feel it the duty of every business man in this section to get the acts and all information available about the movement before throwing his influence against the movement. I believe if same is investigated by the business men that they will throw their influence with and help the co-operative movement, for what will help the farmers of Pitt county will help Greenville and every one in Pitt county. HIGHWAY COMMISSION PRESENTS MANY FACTS ABOUT HIGHWAY COM. (Continued from page one.) townships in the county, voted upon themselves a bond issue of $50,000 each for the purpose of constructing sand clay roads. These townships were Greenville, Ayden, Falkland, Farmville, Chicod, and Winterville, representing today, 296,000.00 of the entire bonded indebtedness to the county. The present county highway commission, has the problem upon its hands of maintaining for traffic the 2400 miles of dirt roads, of the county, with funds so inadequate that proper maintenance is impossible. The funds derived for this purpose are from taxation, and a levy of six cents on the hundred dollar valuation and a special poll tax in 10 of the 13 townships, places in the hands of the county highway commission, $63,614.00 to maintain the 2400 miles of road, representing $26.50 per mile of road per year, or $2.20 per mile of road per month, and no more. To maintain the road from Greenville to Falkland, a distance of ten miles, there must not be spent in any one month more than $22.00 or else some road in the county gets no maintenance at all. You can understand, Fellow Kiwanians, that with $22.00 per month for each ten mile section of road, there can be no system of well maintaining roads, keeping them in fair pass able condition the entire year, with the present traffic of 4000 automobiles in the county. That is a problem of the county highway commission, but let us look at the other side of it, and see if you get your moneys worth. Assuming there is present here tonight some Kiwanian whose valuation on the tax books is $1,000. His tax for road maintenance for a year will be sixty cents. If he be so fortunate as to have a valuation ten thousand dollars his road maintenance tax will be $6 and those of you worth $100,000 will pay $60 tax for maintaining the entire 2400 miles of roads, for one year, giving to you the privilege of the entire 2400 miles, and without them, as bad as they may some time get, you would soon go out of business. Now let us look at the data of your automobile license tax, payable to the state Highway commission, for maintaining its 80 miles of roads in this county. A year ago as I said Pitt county ranked fifth in the state in number of automobiles, paying in license tax to the state about $70,000 per year, for maintaining its 80 miles of roads, and while they only spent about $2,880 in this county, the remainder being prorated over the other counties in the state. You will note that we pay to the state highway commission, over $850 per year per mile of road, as against $26.50 per mile per year to the county highway commission for maintaining the roads in its charge. You can understand, Fellow Kiwanians, why your dirt roads are improperly maintained, why you get stuck, break your springs and frequently have to be pulled out. Every one will tell you your taxes are high, many will tell you they are too high, but with an expenditure of only $22 on each ten mile section of road, once a month, there is no hope, in my opinion of a well maintained system of dirt roads. This year the total valuation on the tax books have been reduced from $66,917,612 to $52,628,434, a reduction of $14,368,578 and the rate was not increased for road maintenance, therefore you have an actual reduction in your taxes for road maintenance this year of $8,621.14 less than the figures given you for maintenance last year.
