TWO DEFENDANTS DENY ANY PART IN NEEDLEMAN ATTACK

Henry D. Griffin and Julian Bullock, Barbers, Deny Alleged Participation in Affair

Williamston, May 7.—The defense had its inning in Martin County Superior Court here this morning in the trial of four defendants charged with the mutilation of Joseph Needleman on March 28.

Julian Bullock, first of the defendants to take the stand, said that he was a barber, and that on the night in question business was good. The witness denied any knowledge of the crime upon Needleman, and declared that he remained at his barber shop until after one o'clock in the company of Henry Dennis Griffin, who is also charged with being one of the principals and who was named by Needleman as the man who performed the operation. Bullock further testified that he and Griffin went to a neighbor's home where there was a sick baby, and remained there until 3:15 o'clock, after which they went to their homes. Bullock was vigorously cross examined by Solicitor Gilliam, and denied all connection with the mob or with their actions. He declared that the only reason he saw why others should have testified against him, was that they were "hired to."

Henry D. Griffin was the next to take the witness stand, and also denied his alleged participation in the affair. He testified that he was a barber and that his last customer left him at 12:30 o'clock in the night in question, and he then went with Bullock to the home of a neighbor with a sick child. He admitted that he had been invited to join the mob by John Gurkin, and that he refused.

Griffin admitted however, that he had borrowed some bolt clippers from neighbors on March 28, but denied that he wanted them for the purpose of getting into the jail. He afterward admitted to cross examination that he had a conversation about the borrowed clippers following receipt of information that "something was going to be done with Needleman." Griffin testified to having told Bullock about the mob which was being formed, but that Bullock made no comment on the subject. During Griffin's cross examination, the witness became very much confused and contradicted his previous statements several times. At midday the state was still hammering away at Griffin, whose answers became more and more tangled as cross examination advanced.

MEXICO INCREASES POSTAGE TO FIGHT PLAGUE OF LOCUSTS

Mexico City.—New sources of revenue are constantly being uncovered by the Calles administration in prosecuting its campaign for the fiscal rehabilitation of the government. A 10 percent increase in domestic postage rates has been decreed by the president to raise funds for the checking of a plague of locusts which is sweeping north and west from the Tehuantepec states. The proceeds from a 1-2 cent surtax on each liter on gasoline will be employed in building roads.

With new sources of income to meet extraordinary demands on the federal treasury, increasing returns from the income and corporation profits taxes, the budget balanced theoretically if not effectively, railway and telegraph deficits wiped out by the abolition of passes and franks, government officials are confident that the president's efforts to secure a surplus of $37,500,000 before Sept. 1, to establish a single bank of issue will be successful.

Official quarters are silent, however, on the administration's attitude toward the resumption of service on the foreign debt, under the Lamont-De la Huerta agreement, suspended for more than a year. It is known that negotiations are being carried on with representatives of the international bankers committee for a revision of the agreement in favor of Mexico.

"Chair-Widow"

The woman pictured above threw a new and confusing aspect into the already puzzling mystery of the electrocutions of the Diamond brothers with John Farina for the murder of two bank messengers in Brooklyn, when, in Buffalo, she made an affidavit to police declaring that she was the secret wife of Joe Diamond and that she had knowledge that the Diamond brothers were innocent of the crime for which they were executed. Fear of "Cheeks" Luciano, who made the weird confession that he perjured against the Diamonds for revenge, kept her silent before, she averred, adding that Luciano knows and can name the true murderer.

MR. F. M. CRAWFORD DIED LAST NIGHT AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Funeral Services Were Conducted This Afternoon

Mr. F. M. Crawford, 66, died in the local hospital last night after a four week's illness from pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor, from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Cox, Winterville, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, with interment following in the family burying ground near Winterville.

Mr. Crawford was well known throughout this county and was held in high esteem by a host of friends. For several years he made his home in Greenville with his daughter, Mrs. F. A. Edmundson, during which time he held a position with the Atlantic Coast Line. He has a large number of friends here who will regret to learn of his death.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Cox, of Winterville and Mrs. F. A. Edmundson of this city.

Mr. Claude Edwards Died Last Night

Mr. Claude Edwards of Chicod Township died last night after an illness of several weeks. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Edwards was held in high esteem by people throughout his community and was well known in Greenville.

The deceased is survived by his wife and three small children.

Young Stribling Knocks Out Romero In Fourth Round

Boston, May 8.—Young Stribling, of Atlanta, now is a recognized heavy weight. He made his triumphant entry into the class by scoring a technical knockout in the fourth round over Quinton Romero, heavy weight champion of Chilly. The Southerner now has won his way upward through each boxing class, from that of hantom weight.

The Chilian was outclassed from the start, and his blows in the first round were not effective. He was badly bruised in the next round, suffering two knockouts in the third, and fought blindly in the fourth round after going to the mat for the third time, and until the referee stopped the bout, and gave Stribling the decision.

GREAT THIRST HAS DEVELOPED FROM BLOCKADE R. ROW

Four New Crafts, Including One German, Arrive on Rum Row; Any Retreats Not Yet Substantiated

New York, May 8.—A great thirst at shore and at sea seems to have been developed from Uncle Sam's blockade of rum row off the Northern and Mid Atlantic coast.

On land the supply of liquor is rapidly diminishing, newspapers report, and the prices are going up. Meanwhile with water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink, some of the rum fleet are believed to have given up the campaign and headed for home ports in other lands, either to replenish their supplies of food and water, or to conclude that the dry navy is too strong for them. Any retreats that have taken place on rum row, however, have not yet been substantiated so far as indications from reports from the scene of war fare 30 to 40 miles off shore. In fact four new crafts, including one German, have arrived on rum row.

PISTOL DUEL TAKES PLACE IN SOUTH CAROLINA CAPITAL

Clerk of State Supreme Court Killed in Capital Building by State House Policeman

Columbia, S. C., May 8.—Harry McCaw, clerk of the State Supreme Court, is dead and Joseph H. Lucas, State House Policeman, is held by county authorities as the result of a pistol duel early this morning in the Capital building. There were no eye witnesses at the shooting, but Lucas, who informed officers of the tragedy, declared he was forced to shoot in self defense. A pistol with three exploded shells was found near the body of McCaw, who died from a wound through the heart. Physicians said. There had been some trouble between the two men previous, Lucas said. An inquest will be held today.

Children Who Enter School First Time Next Year to Register Sat.

All children who are, or will be, six years of age on or before December 31, 1925 will report to Evans Street School Saturday morning between the hours of nine and twelve for the purpose of registration. It is very important that all children who expect to enter school for the first time in September, 1925 report tomorrow morning and it is earnestly hoped that parents will see that they register.

WOULD SPARE COYOTES TO KEEP DOWN RABBITS

Calgary, Alberta.—W. H. Fletcher of Brant, Alberta, has written the department of agriculture of the province that far from encouraging slaughter of coyotes, which has long been a provincial policy, the killing of one of these animals should be made a crime. He explained that Jack-rabbits, by consuming crops and damaging trees, had become a scourge to farmers. He expressed belief that coyotes had formerly kept down the number of rabbits. Fletcher predicted that if coyotes were not permitted to prey upon rabbits, the latter would become such an evil as they did in Australia.

Tough Currency for Greenland. Copenhagen.—Greenland, which hitherto has used the coinage of her mother country, Denmark, is shortly to have a coinage of her own. The coins will carry on one side the figure of a polar bear. The bills will be on especially strong paper to withstand the rough handling they will receive in circulation through the Eskimo colonies.

BILL ASKING LIKENESSES GRANT AND COMRADES ON STONE MOUNTAIN KILLED

Tallahassee, Florida, May 8.—Representative Byrd introduced in the House of Representatives, a resolution calling upon the directors of the Stone Mountain Memorial Association to carve likenesses of General Ulysses S. Grant and his comrades along side those of General Robert E. Lee and his comrades on the Confederate memorial now being chiseled on Stone Mountain.

After considerable debate on the matter the House killed the bill almost unanimously and then by a similar vote expunged all reference of the matter from the records. Regret that the matter had ever been introduced was expressed by many speakers on the subject. Many of them stated to make such a request would be an affront to the mothers, sisters, and daughters of the man who fought and died in the cause of the Confederacy.

WANTS HAWAIIAN ISLANDS STRONGEST MILITARY OUT POST

Chairman Butler Will Urge That Congress Make This Point the Strongest in the World

Washington, May 8.—Chairman Butler of the House Naval Committee, said today he would urge legislation at the next session of Congress to make the Hawaiian Islands the strongest military outpost in the world.

Members of the House Naval Committee, he said, would leave early in June for the island to obtain first hand information on what would be required to accomplish this purpose. Chairman of the Naval Committee, Mr. Butler has asked Secretary Wilbur, in writing, to arrange for the trip, which the chairman said would be entirely official work. Mr. Butler revealed his intention in a reply to a question asked by the Associated Press as to whether he desired to make any statement regarding the recent joint Army and Navy maneuvers at the Hawaiian Islands.

MR. CLYDE HOEY TO SPEAK HERE

Will Deliver the Annual Memorial Day Address in High School Saturday A. M.

Mr. Clyde Hoey, of Shelby, one of the state's most gifted speakers will deliver the Annual Confederate Memorial Day address in the high school auditorium, Saturday morning.

Memorial Day falling on Sunday this year, Saturday, May 9, will be observed. The exercises will be held in the high school building beginning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. Hoey will bring a splendid message and the public is extended a cordial invitation to hear him.

DECLARES PRESENT INTERSTATE RATES ARE REASONABLE

Second Portion of Controversy Over Freight Rates N. C. and Va., Reached Today

Richmond, Va., May 8.—The second portion of the triangular controversy over the freight rate in Virginia and North Carolina territory was reached here today when witnesses for the carriers offered testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing to the effect that the prevailing interstate rates were reasonable. Counsel announced no carriers would contend that any change is made in the rate levels, and interstate level in North Carolina, should be increased.

Fifty carriers were sighted in the complaint of the Virginia Corporation Commission that interstate rates, in the prescribed territory were unjust, excessive, and discriminatory, when compared with the rate level in North Carolina. Louis L. Crave, assistant to vice president of the Southern Railway, occupied the stand all of forenoon, and presented more than 100 exhibits. He sought by these to justify the claim that the rates between Virginia and North Carolina were reasonable. The witness made comparison of the rate under quest, and those prevailing throughout the Southern system. "Is there any reason why there should be a difference between the rates between Virginia and North Carolina on one hand, and Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina on the other?" the witness was asked by W. N. McGhee, counsel for the Southern Railway. "No," Mr. Crave replied.

WOULD BRIGHTEN UP LONDON WITH WOMEN'S GAY CLOTHES

London.—London skirts, although they have not shrunk as rapidly as in Paris, are much shorter this spring and furthermore shoes are worn in all the colors of the rainbow, all this being part of a campaign of modistes cafe proprietors and top owners, for a "brighter London." The rainbow effect for shoes is not to be confined to the hall room, but is designed for street wear, and especially for afternoon teas and other social events before night fall sets in.

The rainbow coloring is brought about by the use of a highly glossed surface on patent leather, a kind of imitation of a beetle's wing. The surface is iridescent and filled with touches of the greens, blues and suggestions of pink. The beetle wing shoe is designed to outset the white buckskin slipper for the summer, but the modistes are not so sure about its success because of the uncomfortable of patent leather during hot weather.

BRITISH PROPOSAL CONFUSES MEMBERS ARMS CONFERENCE

Wants War Ships Omitted From the List of Armaments Subjected to Control

Geneva, May 8.—"We are confused," was the comment of one delegate to the International Conference on control of traffic in arms today regarding the British proposal that war ships be omitted from the list of armaments subject to control.

This feeling of confusion apparently was shared by many of the other delegates, who learned only this morning of the sensational development at last night's secret session of the conference committee on military naval and air affairs. Rear Admiral Aubrey Smith told the committee that his country favored taking the war vessels out of their category of armament, which would be subjected under the present draft convention to a system of license when sold by one country to another.

The conference, he argued, had been called not to reduce armaments, but to prevent illicit trade in them, and especially to throw the light of publicity upon the sale. It was impossible to conceal the sale of war ships, and therefore inclusion of these vessels among the articles to be supervised was unnecessary. The British view was supported by Japan and Italy, and in fact the representatives of no nation present opposed it, but the French said later they desired to think it over. The American export took no part in the discussion.

Ocular Demonstration of Weevil Control Conducted in County

Attention is called to a cotton demonstration farm of 5 acres for the best cultural and weevil control methods developed to date on the farm of Mr. J. E. Winslow, Greenville, N. C., of this county.

This is one of the many hundreds of ocular cotton demonstration farms operated under the general supervision and co-operative support of the American Cotton Association. The Association is furnishing free to the operator full instructions for planting and culture, diary to keep a record of the test and poison and machine to apply the same.

These demonstrations conducted all over the cotton belt for the past few years have proven to be very successful in weevil control and profitable yields of cotton have resulted. The purpose of the campaign is to render substantial and effective aid in combatting the weevil menace.

Every cotton grower in the county is invited to visit and watch the methods of culture and weevil control employed and the results obtained at the end of the season.

EUROPE PLANNING TO MAKE MOTOR TOURING LESS IRKSOME

Geneva.—Promoters of tourists trade in Europe are going out of their way to make easier the movements of parties traveling in automobiles. Free spending Americans are particularly invited to take notice, and to come and bring their cars and their money.

An international road traffic conference will be held in Paris next fall. It will then be proposed to issue double certificates, one for the driver and one for the car, so the driver can change to another motor without trouble. There are to be international driving certificates for 12 months, facilitating entering and leaving a country as often as desired. Standard road signs will be adopted, and explained to drivers, and interstate touring will otherwise be made safer and more agreeable.

CONDITION OF NAVAL AVIATORS TESTED BY USE OF PSYCHOLOGY

San Pedro, Cal. — Flight psychoanalysis, practiced to prevent aerial accidents, rather than mend broken bones or patch up luckless pilots and observers after a crash, if they survive, has increased the efficiency of United States naval aviators to a large degree, statistics aboard the U. S. S. Aroostook, naval aircraft tender, indicate.

Medical officers aboard the tender declare that 90 per cent of aerial accidents during the World War were due to physical and psychological defects of the flying personnel. Acting upon this percentage compiled from fatalities, the medical staff of the Aroostook has established a careful examination, scientific in every detail, over the 150 pilots and observers, who take-off in heavy bombers or light scout planes from the long, flat deck of the tender.

The flight surgeons observe the fliers each time before a flight is begun.

"I can tell by talking with a pilot in the morning," declared Dr. Robert G. Davis, senior flight surgeon, whether he is able to go aloft that day. If his psychological condition seems shaky he has to stay aboard.

"We will not permit a man to fly who has domestic difficulties, or if his family objects to his going aloft. At the critical moment a pilot's mind wanders to what his wife said at breakfast and he ends in a fatal crash."

When an ensign is assigned to the Aroostook for flight duty, he first must be in 100 per cent physical condition; then he is subjected to a most searching psychological examination. Dr. Davis explained. Visual balance, visual muscle balance and tests of depth perception form the basis of the applicant's examination. He is awarded wings.

Then there is the low pressure chamber to climax the examination. The applicant is placed in the chamber and subjected to atmospheric changes that he would encounter above the clouds.

The air in the chamber is rarified until the aspirant to wings is near collapse. A chart then shows exactly what altitudes the man could operate in most effectively.

Many men, Dr. Davis said, are excellent fliers below 12000 feet while

The fleet's flight surgeon has also taken control over all pilots in the air craft squadrons. He declares them fit to fly if he thinks their physical condition demands. Constant flying, the surgeons say, produces a condition of staleness requiring frequent rests. Without these short vacations breaks would occur in the efficiency and men and machines would be lost.

SYNOPSIS

Malone, a young London newspaper reporter, rejected by the girl he loves on the ground that he has no heroic accomplishments to his credit, goes in search of adventure. An appeal to his editor, McArdle, for a particularly dangerous assignment, results in his being sent to interview Professor Challenger, a scientist, who had recently returned from a solitary expedition to South America, with an amazing story of adventure which had been skeptically received by his brother scientists. Challenger, angered, had since refused to talk, and would assault anyone, particularly reporters, who dared to question him. Malone, professing to be a student of science, writes to Challenger asking for an appointment.

CHAPTER III

"He is a Perfectly Impossible Person"

My friend's fear or hope was not destined to be realized. When I called on Wednesday there was a letter with the West Kensington postmark upon it, and my name scrawled across the envelope in a handwriting which looked like a barbed-wire railing. The contents were as follows:—

"Enmore Park, W. "Sir—I have duly received your note, in which you claim to endorse my views, although I am not aware that they are dependent upon endorsement either from you or anyone else. You have ventured to use the word 'speculation' with regard to my statement upon the subject of Darwinism, and I would call your attention to the fact that such a word in such a connection is offensive to a degree. The context convinces me, however, that you have sinned rather through ignorance and tactlessness than through malice, so I am content to pass the matter by. You quote an isolated sentence from my lecture, and appear to have some difficulty in understanding it. I should have thought that only a sub-human intelligence could have failed to grasp the point, but if it really needs amplification I shall consent to see you at the hour named, though visits and visitors of every sort are exceeding distasteful to me. As to your suggestion that I may modify my opinion, I would have you know that it is not my habit to do so after a deliberate expression of my mature views. You will kindly show the envelope of this letter to my man, Austin, when you call, as he has to take every precaution to shield me from the intrusive rascals who call themselves 'journalists.' "Yours faithfully, "GEORGE EDWARD CHALLENGER."

This was the letter that I read aloud to Tarp Henry, who had come down early to hear the result of my venture. His only remark was, "There's some new stuff, cuticura or something, which is better than arnica." Some people have such extraordinary notions of humor.

It was nearly half-past ten before I had received my message, but a taxicab took me round in good time for my appointment. It was an imposing porticoed house at which we stopped, and the heavily-curtained windows gave every indication of wealth upon the part of this formidable Professor. The door was opened by an odd, swarthy, dried-up person of uncertain age, with a dark pilot jacket and brown leather gaiters. I found afterwards that he was the chauffeur, who filled the gaps left by a succession of fugitive butlers. He looked me up and down with a searching light blue eye.

"Expected?" he asked. "An appointment." "Got your letter?" I produced the envelope. "Right!" He seemed to be a person of few words. Following him down the passage I was suddenly interrupted by a small woman, who stepped out from what proved to be the dining-room door. She was a bright, vivacious, dark-eyed lady, more French than English in her type.

"One moment," she said. "You can wait, Austin. Step in here, sir. May I ask if you have met my husband before?"

"No, madam, I have not had the honor."

"Then I apologise to you in advance. I must tell you that he is a perfectly impossible person—absolutely impossible. If you are forewarned you will be the more ready to make allowances."

"It is most considerate of you, madam."

"Get quickly out of the room if he seems inclined to be violent. Don't wait to argue with him. Several people have been injured through doing that. Afterwards there is a public scandal and it reflects upon me and all of us. I suppose it wasn't about South America you wanted to see him?"

I could not lie to a lady. "Dear me! That is his most dangerous subject. You won't believe a word he says—I'm sure I don't wonder. But don't tell him so, for it makes him very violent. Pretend to believe him, and you may get through all right. Remember he believes it himself. Of that you may be assured. A more honest man never lived. Don't wait any longer or he may suspect. If you find him dangerous—really dangerous—ring the bell and hold him off until I come. Even at his worst I can usually control him."

With these encouraging words the lady handed me over to the taciturn Austin, who had waited like a bronze statue of discretion during our short interview, and I was conducted to the end of the passage. There was a tap at a door, a bull's bellow from within, and I was face to face with the Professor.

He sat in a rotating chair behind a broad table, which was covered with books, maps, and diagrams. As I entered, his seat spun round to face me. His appearance made me gasp. I was prepared for something strange, but not for so overpowering a personality as this. It was his size

His appearance made me gasp, which took one's breath away—his size and his imposing presence. His head was enormous, the largest I have ever seen upon a human being. I am sure that his top-hat, had I ventured to don it, would have slipped over me entirely and rested on my shoulders. He had the face and beard which I associate with an Assyrian bull; the former florid, the latter so black as almost to have a suspicion of blue, spade-shaped and rippling down over his chest. The hair was peculiar, plastered down in front in a long, curving wisp over his massive forehead. The eyes were blue-gray under great black tufts, very clear, very critical, and very masterful. A huge spread of shoulders and a chest like a barrel were the other parts of him which appeared above the table, save for two enormous hands covered with long black hair. This and a bellowing, roaring, rumbling voice made up my first impression of the notorious Professor Challenger.

"Well?" said he, with a most insolent stare. "What now?"

I must keep up my deception for at least a little time longer, otherwise here was evidently an end of the interview.

"You were good enough to give me an appointment, sir," said I, humbly producing his envelope.

He took my letter from his desk and laid it out before him.

"Oh, you are the young person who cannot understand plain English, are you? My general conclusions you are good enough to approve, as I understand?"

"Entirely, sir—entirely!" I was very emphatic.

"Dear me! That strengthens my position very much, does it not? Your age and appearance make your support doubly valuable. Well, at least you are better than that herd of swine in Vienna, whose gregarious grunt is, however, not more offensive than the isolated effort of the British hog."

He glared at me as the present representative of the beast.

"They seem to have behaved abominably," said I.

"I assure you that I can fight my own battles, and that I have no possible need of your sympathy. Put me alone, sir, and with my back to the wall, G. E. C. is happiest then. Well, sir, let us do what we can to curtail this visit, which can hardly be agreeable to you, and is inexplicably irksome to me. You had, as I have been led to believe, some comments to make upon the proposition which I advanced in my thesis."

THE WORLD'S 'GREATEST BAKING POWDER

"My bakings used to be a matter of 'hit or miss'—sometimes they were successful; then again a total failure, no matter how hard I tried. But that was before a friend persuaded me to try Calumet. Now I know what the result will be—what to expect every time—perfectly raised, uniformly baked foods. Bake day is really a delight."

Baking Powder plays an important part in the success or failure of your baking. The great American housewives all realize this. They have found by experience that a better leavener is not, and cannot be made—that for nutritious and wholesome foods it has no equal.

Calumet is made in the World's largest baking powder factories; human hands never touch it.

Dr. W. E. Shattuc's $15,000 Racing Car Being Tried for Races

Charlotte, May 8. — Money and fame do not mean much to William E. (Doc) Shattuc, millionaire automobile race driver, and he has quite a lot of both. But this young physician, who entered the automobile racing because of the thrill in it, has five dearly prized possessions—a wife, three babies and a $15,000 racing car. The car is in Charlotte, where it is being tuned up for the 250-mile Memorial Day race at the Charlotte Speedway, in which more than fifteen of the world's most famous drivers will participate.

Mrs. Shattuc and the little fellows will not be in Charlotte when the race is run. The kids never see their daring daddy in action, though they want to do so very badly. Mrs. Shattuc occasionally sees her husband pilot his car, but usually stays at home with the children.

"You never know what might happen out there on the track," says Shattuc. "I'd rather my babies were not at the races. If anything should happen to me, perhaps their last memory of me might be of a horrible scene."

ARMY SEEKS TO FIND USEFUL WAR WORK WOMEN OF NATION

Washington. — In the army's forthcoming study of the use of women in time of national emergency, Miss Anita Irvins Phipps, who holds the unique post of director of women's relations, has been assigned a major role. Born in the service herself, a daughter of an army officer, and having served in the Red Cross ranks during the World War, she is regarded as peculiarly fitted for the task.

Miss Phipps is engaged at present in delving into historical records and books to ascertain just what women's part in past wars of the United States has been. Questionnaires have been addressed to army corps area commanders to sound out their opinions regarding the use of women in possible future wars and to glean information concerning their utilization in the World War.

Rather than take a man out of an important job in civilian life, and later place him as an army cook, Miss Phipps is of the opinion that a woman could more efficiently and economically do the cooking for a service unit, leaving the skilled man on his original job. This is only one instance in which she believes women can be drawn for active service.

Miss Phipps was born at Augusta Arsenal, Maine, and lived in the service until the retirement of her father, Brigadier General Frank Huntington Phipps, in 1907. At the outbreak of the World War she enlisted as a private in the motor corps of the Red Cross, having also been with the home service section and later was appointed director of the motor corps service of the Pennsylvania-Delaware division of the Red Cross. Next she became supervisor of women's relations at Governor's Island, New York, and when Mrs. John Casserly, of San Francisco, resigned in 1921 as director of women's relations in the War Department, Miss Phipps was appointed to succeed her.

Stop those Roof Leaks—

Here are two Barrett Specialties that will give many more years of life to old roofs.

Barrett Liquid Elastigum, a compound of heavy, waterproofing material and asbestos fibres, makes the old roof lastingly storm-proof.

Barrett Plastic-Elastigum, the "waterproof cement of a hundred uses," stops roof-leaks—repairs flashings, gutters, etc.—and sticks tenaciously to any surface.

From long experience, we unhesitatingly recommend these two Barrett Products. Both come ready for use. Low in cost, they save you expensive roof-repairs later on.

If it's a question of roofs or roof-repairs, see us.

OUR RIP VAN WINKLE

While the original Rip Van Winkle was the imaginary principle in a legend of by gone days, Greenville can still boast such a sleeper in the form of its Chamber of Commerce organized here many months ago. In the midst of a burst of enthusiasm the organization was perfected and promised great accomplishments but soon the uproar died down and the newly formed body followed the example of Rip Van Winkle and settled down to its long sleep. On one or two occasions since that time there has been talk of reorganizing the body or putting life into the present one and it was hoped that this talk meant that the sleeping period was at an end but each time it proved to be only a moment of restless slumber followed again by deep sleep.

Eastern North Carolina is steadily going forward and Greenville too is showing a slight degree of advancement but our city is not moving forward at a pace in keeping with the rest of the community because we have no organization or body to keep in touch with those seeking to locate in North Carolina and to point out to them the many advantages offered by our city.

Individually the citizens of Greenville believe in their town, are progressive and never lose an opportunity to let those with whom they come into contact know just how good a town we have but no city or community can depend upon the individual efforts of its citizens and without an organization to carry on the work of placing our advantages before the outside world we will soon be forced to step out of the way for those cities that are making an effort to attract outside interests and we will find our selves at the foot of the line of progress.

All indications point to greater development and prosperity in this state but the communities that put their shoulders to the wheel are the ones that will derive the benefit. If Greenville is to occupy its place at the head of the column it must be through the collected efforts of all its citizens and without organization such is an impossibility. If we are to move forward let us have a LIVE Chamber of Commerce or if we are content with our lot and do not aspire to greater things let us continue along the quiet lines we are now following and let not the slumbers of our Rip Van Winkle Chamber of Commerce be disturbed.

LONDON'S GREAT DUNGEONS THROWN OPEN TO PUBLIC

London.—Four additional towers of the famous Tower of London have been opened for the first time for the convenience of the thousands of sightseers from all parts of the world who visit this historic place weekly. The great oaken doors of these towers, known as the Byward, Salt, Martin and Broad Arrow were found to be in a wonderful state of preservation, and the great dungeons where enemy spies were lodged during the last war are now open to public inspection for the first time in history.

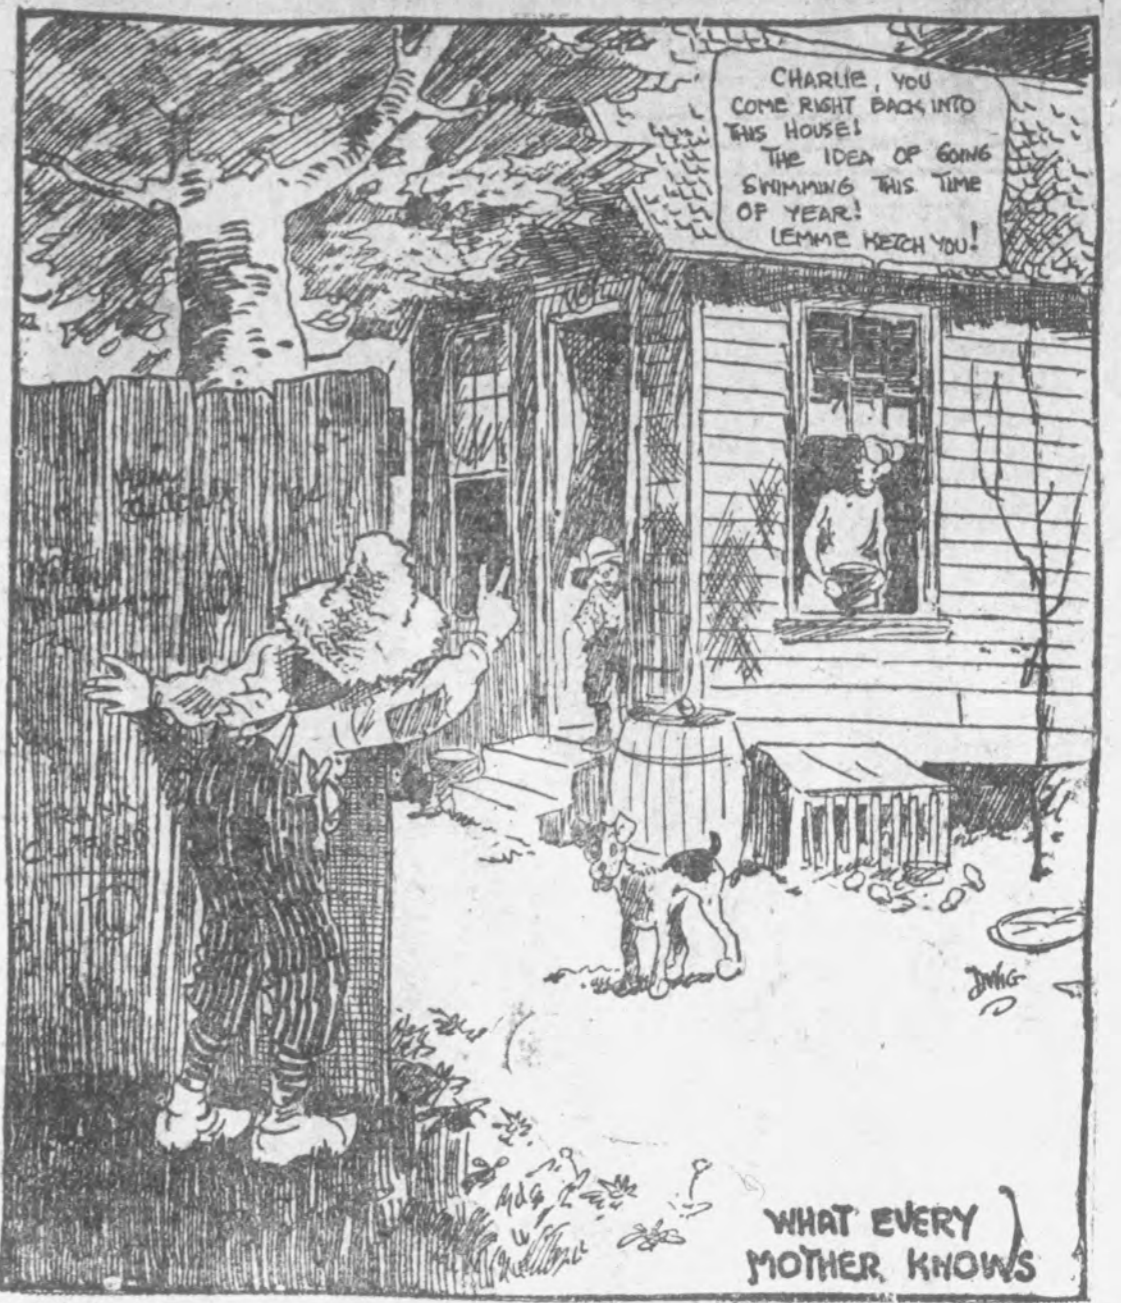

It was near the Martin Tower that some of the spies were shot, among them Carl Hans Lody, a German who, posing as an American, was captured in the summer of 1914, and who was the first person to be executed in these precincts for nearly 100 years.

In past centuries hundreds of traitors and prisoners of state were confined in the towers, and many of them whiled away the weary days by carving pictures and inscriptions on the walls and these are still visible today.

Byward Tower, being the main entrance to the inner ward, must have its gates carefully locked every night, and the chief warden, in his scarlet coat and flat hat, with an escort from the military guard, himself performs that duty.

As far as is known positively the Tower of London, which today covers 12 acres, dates from the time of William the Conqueror, who began the White tower somewhere about 1078, and completed it about 20 years afterward. At first it was a palace, but later was used as a prison.

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

RESEARCH WORKERS PREDICT MAN WILL LIVE FOR 150 YEARS

London.—That the span of life can be extended to 150 years at the cost of a sixpence a head, is the argument of Sir Ronald Ross, the English scientist whose researches have led to cures for malaria and sleeping sickness. Sir Ronald claims that a sixpence from the pocket of every Englishman spent in scientific research, would result in new medical knowledge that would keep normals and old age away for at least 150 years.

The scientist thinks that the allotted span of three score years and ten should find man in the prime of life, instead of edging his pedal extremity toward the grave. We live curtailed lives, he says, because we are the prey of countless germs. Squander the germs and man can easily reach the age of 150 and maybe longer.

"Eighty years ago," said Sir Ronald in a lecture, "the average life of a London man was about 31 years 7 months and of a woman 38 years 4 months. Today it is 53 years 9 months and 59 years. Thus medical science in 80 years has given us 29 years more of life."

This stunts on cheating eternity has just begun, the speaker continued. Nowadays the equivalent of one penny a head is being spent in Britain for research, and he asserted that the spending of a sixpence a head would make the monkey gland useless.

A scientist of the Pasteur Institute in Paris has predicted that in 100 years from now the average man will live to be 150 years old. Mechanikoff, the Russian scientist, has made the same prophecy. These visions of a future race of Methuselahs are to be materialized through the agency of the research laboratory, in Sir Ronald's opinion.

The laboratory worker in the next generation, if allowed full scope, will trace all destructive disease to their source and exterminate them, instead of combating them after they have appeared, Sir Ronald said. Already research laboratories are at work on important medical problems. The

British King's Return

KING GEORGE, Disembarks King from Channel boat at Dover.

Huge admiring throngs greeted King George of England, when, with Queen Mary and others of the royal family, he returned, completely recuperated after the health trip he took for a general run-down condition. Photo shows him just as he landed at Dover.

Pasteur Institute is seeking to destroy cancer and tuberculosis and the Ross Institute in London is working for the eradication of leprosy.

Advanced English scientists hope to see research laboratories in every large city in the world, financed by the state or municipality. In them the search will be carried on for unseen enemies of the human family until the last germ has disappeared. If the medical world could spend $10,000,000 annually instead of $900,000 as now, Sir Ronald avers, our children's grandchildren would be centenarians, and at that be only pikers of their posterity.

EIGHT ANNUAL MEET HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION BE HELD MAY 13-14

The Eighth Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Hospital Association will be held at the O'Henry Hotel, Greensboro, N. C., May 13 and 14.

A most excellent program has been arranged. A very large and enthusiastic number of Doctors, Nurses, and others interested in hospitals will be in attendance, not only in North Carolina, but quite a number from Virginia and South Carolina are expected.

A large number of instrument and Hospital Supply Houses, as well as a number of North Carolina Manufacturers have secured space in which to display their wares. All interested in Hospitals are most cordially invited to attend, and participate in the discussion of the valuable papers to be presented to the Association. The officers are as follows:

Dr. C. M. Strong, president, Charlotte, N. C.; Dr. D. V. Jones, first vice-president, New Bern, N. C.; Miss Mary P. Laxton, second vice-president, Baltimore, N. C.; Dr. James R. Alexander, secretary and treasurer, Charlotte; Dr. George W. Long, Greensboro, chairman of Committee of Arrangements.

Cop Accused in Death Mystery

POLICEMAN FRANK MULHERN & MISS MARGARET COLLINS
Policeman Frank Mulhern and Miss Margaret Collins, central figures in Chicago's latest death enigma, are pictured above. An order was issued for Mulhern's arrest after Miss Mary Hill testified she had seen the officer standing over the body of Miss Collins, who was shot to death following a party. The death of Miss Collins was at first believed a case of suicide.

BANKS OF GREENVILLE TO BE CLOSED MONDAY TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

The three banks in Greenville will not be open for business on Monday, May 11th on account of Memorial Day.

WOMEN'S CLUBS COME OUT AGAINST WOMAN GOVERNOR

Baltimore.—A proposal to nominate a woman for governor of Maryland is meeting with strong opposition from women.

An effort at a recent convention of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of the state at Salisbury to obtain the endorsement of Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, of (Chattertown), for the gubernatorial honor, failed and subsequently the Baltimore Federation of Democratic Women put its official stamp of disapproval on the nomination of women candidates for the office.

The federation resolved "that there be recorded as the unanimous sense of the Federation of Democratic Women, Incorporated, of Baltimore, in view of the recent public reports with respect to the nomination of a woman for governor of Maryland, the federation's emphatic opposition to the ill-timed and hasty thought giving rise to this ambitious proposal."

There will be no election for governor every day.

NEWSPAPERS FLOURISH IN SWISS REPUBLIC

Berlin.—The United States leads the world in the number of newspapers published within its borders, 30,000, according to the newspaper Germania. France is second with 10,000.

The figures, however, tell a different story when the newspapers are compared to the number of inhabitants. On this basis Switzerland stands first with 270 newspapers for every million inhabitants, and the United States is second with 250. In England the proportion is 98 papers to each million of people.

Boothacks Oust Cruisers.

Havana.—The Association of Shoe Cleaners is the latest organization to be formed in Havana. The purpose is to present a solid front on the part of boothacks who have regular stands on the street corners, and to prevent perambulating shoe cleaners from soliciting on the streets.

NOT EVERY METEOR FEELS IT'S OBLIGED TO FALL IN KANSAS

McPherson, Kan.—Kansas has attained a reputation beyond its planet as a landing field for stray meteorites, but that reputation would not stand the test of science, declared Prof. H. H. Nininger of McPherson College, past president of the Kansas Academy of Science, in an address on the subject of meteorites.

The belief that Kansas, center of the United States, exerts some unexplained influence on the heavenly wanderers, is without foundation in fact, the professor asserted. A chart of recorded meteoritic falls discloses that one-fifth of the significant finds to the world have been in Kansas, and this has led, according to Professor Nininger, to the popular and fallacious impression that this state is peculiarly attractive to meteorites.

Two explanations he offered for the apparent monopoly Kansas has maintained: the character of the soil, and the interest aroused in the science.

"The finding of stony meteorites," Professor Nininger pointed out, "which have not been seen to fall, may be considered among the rarest events in the annals of meteoritics. In only two localities on this continent have such finds occurred in numbers—western Kansas and the coastal plains of Texas. In both of these regions the soil is comparatively free from terrestrial rocks." This, he said, facilitated distinguishing meteoritic stones from the earth.

A series of witnessed falls of now famous iron and stone meteorites also had kept scientific circles, the public and the press interested in Kansas for long periods, he said, with the result that farmers began to believe that the heavy stones with which they were weighing down fences and roofs were in fact meteorites. Thus were the discoveries multiplied.

Scientists have never satisfactorily accounted for the concentration of iron meteorites in large showers. Professor Nininger told his audience. One theory is that such showers are remnants of disintegrating comets which have "side-swiped" the earth. This, he said, may explain the huge crater in northern Arizona, devoid of volcanic rock and surrounded by traces of iron meteoritic falls, which geologists believe marks the entrance into the earth of a monster meteorite.

SLAYER OF GRAND DUKE MICHAEL LOSES LIFE IN AIRPLANE ACCIDENT

Riga.—Miasnikoff, the Bolshevik commissary who in 1918 was commissioned to do away with Grand Duke Michael, recently was killed in an airplane accident. It is reported from Leningrad.

Carrying out the assignment of royal assassination, Miasnikoff went to Perm and managed to be admitted to the grand duke on the pretext that he was sent by a secret society of aristocrats to conduct the grand duke to Siberia and thence to safety in England.

The grand duke's English secretary, Harry Johnston, becoming suspicious, warned his employer, but Miasnikoff succeeded in abducting both in two automobiles and as they were passing a forest he and his agents are said to have murdered the grand duke and his secretary.

COTTON

Weevil emergence is still progressing, indicating that weevil have been able to survive the winter in fair numbers at most stations. It says emergence at College Station in Texas is approaching normal, and that it is very high at Auburn Alabama and Florence, S. C., at the latter place number of weevil emerging from cages is 4.66 per cent vs. .15 last year.

Liverpool sales 8,000, receipts 20,000, American 19,800. Good mid. 1282. May 1227-22-27, July 1234-42-54-42, Oct. 1214-22-13-21, Dec. 1206-13, Jan. 1206-13, Due July 30, Oct. 11, Dec. 01, Jan. 97.

New Orleans cotton was reactionary at the start yesterday but rallied in the afternoon and closed steady. Liquidation was heavy in Liverpool yesterday and the impression is that the market is still long. Chicago reported heavy selling there yesterday which was well taken. May went to premium over July here yesterday and the indications are that shorts in May are more or less uncomfortable owing to probability that they will be called upon to deliver more cotton than expected. Hester's weekly figures today will compare with 295,000 last year and 170,000 year before. Into sight will compare with 102,800 last week and 91,476 last year and 83,942 year before. Spot sales yesterday 3,762; quotations 10 to 25 lower.

The market acts like it is in an oversold condition and should have a further substantial rally. Texas weather cloudy, raining, Ft. Worth.

Bed Room FURNITURE

The famous Berkey and Gay bed room furniture is the best on the market.

It is famous for its beauty and durability. We say it is unsurpassed in beauty.

Words cannot exactly describe this pretty furniture. It is odd, yet very handsome.

We have it on display in our windows. Be sure to see for yourself.

It is a nationally advertised product.
