HON. CLYDE HOEY DELIVERS ANNUAL MEMORIAL SPEECH

Appropriate Exercises Feature the Program for the Day; Dinner Was Served at the Rotary Home

Memorial Day an annual event which is always looked forward to with great expectation by the Confederate soldiers throughout the county was appropriately observed in Greenville today.

Although the day was featured by many interesting events it was saddened by the missing faces who since last Memorial Day has answered the "last call" and passed on to their reward.

The Veterans after the meeting, were placed in automobiles and escorted by the Girl and Boy Scouts and preceded by the High School band, went to the cemetery where appropriate exercises were observed.

From the cemetery the parade formed again and passed to the High School, where Hon. Clyde Hoey, of Shelby, delivered the annual address.

The exercises at the High School were presided over by Supt. J. H. Rose and music for the occasion was furnished by the school band and glee club.

Rev. W. S. Harden delivered the invocation and Mr. F. C. Harding introduced Hon. Clyde Hoey, of Shelby, by the principal speaker of the day. Picturing in brief the strike of sixty years ago the speaker pointed out that the valor, heroism and sacrifices of those who took part in that conflict were acknowledged throughout the world as the greatest ever recorded.

My colleagues approved my suggestions fully," M. Caillaux said as he left the meeting, "and they gave me the fullest powers for the defense of these measures before Parliament. I will make every point a matter of confidence in the government."

M. Caillaux's presentation of his Finance plans consumed so much time at the Cabinet meeting that Foreign Minister Briand's draft of his proposed note to Germany regarding questions of a Security Pact, has only a scant hearing, but it will be examined thoroughly at the next cabinet meeting on Tuesday.

As the South in the early sixties gave its best to insure the rights of its peoples, it was fitting, the speaker pointed out, that in the recent great conflict to insure the rights of the people of the world that it should be Southern blood in the veins of Woodrow Wilson to direct the nations in an effort to bring about freedom and peace on earth and good will toward all men.

THE NORMAN SINKS WITH AN EXCURSION PARTY ON BOARD

United States Government Steamer With 20 of Its Passengers, Lies in 35 Feet of Water Today

Memphis, Tenn., May 9.—Caught in the swirling muddy current of the Mississippi river as she attempted to stagger ashore, the United States Government steamer, Norman today lies in 35 feet of water just below Coahoma Landing, Tenn. Within the steamer in the watery grave lies 20 of the gay excursion party that went for an outing yesterday afternoon on the broad expanse of a big muddy river.

Women Smoke in Street Cars

A special order permitting women to smoke in Brooklyn street cars was put into effect by the Public Service Commission, and above are pictured two of the first to take advantage of the ruling. Miss Dorothy Dickerson, of the "Louis the 14th" company, lit up the latest innovation, a compact, folding pipe that fits into a vanity case. The male passengers bore the intrusion with the same patience that characterized their acceptance of women as usurpers of the barber's chair.

CABINET APPROVES OUTLINE CAILLAUX'S PROPOSAL TODAY

Empowered to Make Finance Plans a Question of Confidence Before Parliament

Paris, May 9.—Finance Minister Caillaux today was empowered by the Cabinet to make his finance plans a question of confidence before Parliament. The Cabinet approved the outline of his proposal in the morning's session, which was almost entirely devoted to this subject.

My colleagues approved my suggestions fully," M. Caillaux said as he left the meeting, "and they gave me the fullest powers for the defense of these measures before Parliament. I will make every point a matter of confidence in the government."

Burgess Elected to Lead Travelers' Protective Ass'n.

Fayetteville, May 9.—The state convention of the Travelers Protective Association closed here today with the election of William W. Burgess, of High Point, as President for the ensuing year.

William O. Donahue, of Winston-Salem, was appointed chairman of the committee on the indultment fund.

Oscar W. Patterson, of Greensboro, retiring president, was named to the board of directors, and received a gold watch for his previous services. The convention adjourned shortly afterward.

Virginia Corporation Comm. Abandons Complaint Today

Richmond, Va., May 9.—The Virginia Corporation Commission at the last moment today abandoned its complaint before the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here, that the Interstate rate prevailing in North Carolina and Virginia commissions left no issue, only the question of undue or unjust discrimination, and undue prejudice against Virginia cities, localities, and shippers, and undue prestige for North Carolina points and shippers.

"Los Angeles" Sailing Homeward From Porto Rico Expected Today

Lake Hurst, May 9.—The navy dirigible, Los Angeles, sailing homeward from Porto Rico by way of Miami and the Atlantic Coast is due here late this afternoon or this evening. The dirigible left Porto Rico yesterday afternoon to complete the first round trip of an airship between the American continent and Porto Rico.

A radio message received at Charleston, S. C., from Los Angeles shortly after noon today stated that the ship is expected to reach her mooring mast at Lake Hurst sometime after midnight tonight, probably about 3:00 o'clock.

DUTCH SHIPPERS LOOK FORWARD TO BETTER BUSINESS IN EUROPE

Rotterdam, Holland.—A slow clearing of the international European horizon, coupled with a gradual stabilization of exchange rates and prospects of the execution of the Dawes plan enhancing the buying power of central European nations, are mentioned as favorable factors for this year in the annual report of the Netherlands Shippers Federation, which controls 656 vessels, or 97 1-2 percent of the entire Dutch mercantile marine.

For the present, however, the condition of the freight market imposes extreme economy, says the report, which points out that foreign competition remains exceedingly keen. Dutch American and English rates of pay for seamen, according to the report, are the highest in the world. They are double the German or Italian rates, and this explains why ships sold to the latter countries because they cannot be made to pay at home, can be run at a good profit by their new owners.

EXPERTS IN HOUSING AIM TO HELP MIDDLE CLASSES

New York.—The need of proper housing for people of the middle class, for intellectual workers, will come up for serious study this summer in Paris. The subject will be given primary consideration at the International Congress of Building and Public Works, to be held in the French capital June 15-19, according to Willard Reed Messenger, of New York, who recently inaugurated a movement for better housing for intellectual workers in the United States following his investigations abroad.

The conference will be under the patronage of the French premier and other high officials, and participants will be entertained by the president of the Republic," says Mr. Messenger.

"Detailed comparisons will be made of the different methods of different nations to combat the housing shortage. All new means and methods to reduce costs of building will be considered, and a practical constructive program fostered."

Maneuver Was to Test Pearl Harbor Not Oahu Island

Washington, May 9.—War and Navy departments officially are satisfied that the gigantic war game just concluded at Hawaii served as a dramatic illustration of the defenses at the Island of Oahu, which have been repeatedly called to the attention of Congress in the last few years.

In advance of receipt of the final report on the maneuvers, these officials do not believe that any striking new defects will prove to have been disclosed, but are confident that the sham battle will enable presentation of Hawaiian defense problems, on a basis of established facts instead of theory.

Combined army and navy military forces can not insure the security of the Pearl Harbor Naval base against a strong surprise attack, it is expected to be shown in the report of Major Countz and Major General Haynes, chief umpires.

The actual purposes of the maneuver was to test the efficiency, and personnel, and equipment on Pearl Harbor rather than the Garrison of Oahu Island. Defects, it is believed the report will point out in the garrisons are as follows.

- 1. 13,000 men in the regular army garrison forming the defense of the Island is too small a force, and should be from 5,000 to 7,000 more.
2. That the failure to have adequate means for internal communication on Oahu, which includes all elements of modern military communication, would have rendered doubtful the success of even larger garrisons in defending the Island against land operations.
3. The present strength of the army air service detachment assigned to the Island is not efficient.
4. The present equipment of the garrison's air service is entirely inadequate to afford the defending forces necessary information of an approaching enemy in time to repel the landing.

WILL HONOR AMERICAN DEAD IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

London.—The recently organized London branch of the American Overseas Memorial Association, composed of all the American organizations in the British metropolis, will have charge this year of the memorial services to be held in Westminster Abbey and at the cemeteries of England and Ireland where lie buried some 700 Americans. After the Abbey ceremonies on the morning of May 30 members of the association will journey to Brookwood cemetery 25 miles from London, where rest 454 Americans who died in the late war. Here special exercises will be held.

Brookwood is a British national cemetery, with a section devoted to soldiers from the United States who died here from wounds sustained in France. In Ireland there are buried 91 American soldiers and sailors who died during the World War. In various other parts of the country there are a score or so of graves of Americans who fought in the wars of 1812 and 1861. These also will all be decorated with wreaths on May 30.

GREENVILLE HIGH SCHOOL FINALS TO BEGIN ON MAY 31

Address to Graduating Class to Be Delivered on Tuesday Evening, June 2; Will Not Conflict With E. C. T. C. Finals

The commencement exercises of the Greenville High School and the closing exercises of the lower grades will take place from May 31 to June 2. While running at the same time of the college closing exercises, the exercises of the two institutions will in no way conflict with one another. The sermon to the graduating class will be preached in the High School auditorium on Sunday night, May 31, at 8:15 by the Rev. Dan Iverson, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Tarboro. The address to the graduating class will be delivered on Tuesday evening, June 2, in the High School auditorium at eight o'clock by Mr. Gilbert T. Stephenson of Raleigh. Recognizing the loyal support accorded the schools by the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of the city, the school administration decided last year to honor these organizations by inviting one of their prominent members to make addresses at successive commencements. Last year, Mr. Lewis Perrin of Spartanburg, South Carolina, and a former District Governor of Rotary delivered the address. This year the Kiwanians will be represented by Mr. Stephenson of Raleigh. Mr. Stephenson is a banker of repute in the state, and has always found time also to be vitally interested in the religious and educational life of the state. He is prominent churchman and member of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College. He is a speaker of ability.

Next week this paper will publish the dates of the piano recitals, the seventh grade graduation exercises and the band and orchestra concert.

Smaller Countries International Confab Win Signal Victory

STATE BEGINS ITS REBUTTAL EVIDENCE NEEDLEMAN CASE

Witness Says He Passed Where Attack Was Being Made and Recognized Five Alleged Members of Mob

Williamston, May 9.—Rebuttal testimony was begun here today in the trial in Martin County Superior Court of four men charged with the mutilation of Joseph Needleman.

The defense rested its case yesterday afternoon after the four defendants, Clayo Heath, Henry D. Griffin, Julian Bullock and F. W. Sparrow, Sr., had presented witnesses in support of their alibis that they were not present when the crime was committed, and had no part in its planning.

Needleman previously had identified Griffin as the man who performed the operation, and others had been implicated as principals in the affair by three witnesses who turned state's evidence.

Following the rebuttal testimony the argument by attorneys for both sides were to be made. The opinion was expressed that the case would not go to the jury before Monday.

The state introduced as its first witness today Allan Griffin, a brother of John Griffin, one of those who pleaded guilty on charges of being accessory before the fact. Griffin testified that he was at the scene of the mutilation on the night of March 28, and that he recognized Clayo Heath, Henry Griffin, John Bullock, and F. W. Sparrow, Sr., and Jr. He said he also heard someone address Heath by name.

Griffin added that he had been among those who tried to persuade members of the mob to abandon their plans. According to his testimony he was on his way to Williamston in an automobile when he saw the crowd near the church at Shewarick and stopped out of curiosity. When he saw what they were about to do, he testified, he said, "You all had better get up and go home," and someone replied, "Well, it ain't our business, but a little nerve."

The court then introduced Dr. John Frank Thigpen, who testified that the defendants who confessed to the crime did so without any "threats of promises of any kind." This testimony was introduced by the state to refute an intimation that alleged members of the mob confessed under threats or promises. Dr. W. E. Warren, county physician, entered the court today and stated that F. W. Sparrow, Jr., had recovered sufficiently to come into court, and it was announced that he had been sent for.

The state then introduced one or two witnesses to impeach the characters of some of those testifying for some of the defense.

AUSTRALIA PAYS HIGH TO SECURE IMMIGRANTS

Sydney.—In connection with a recent agreement in London between England and Australia to assist 450,000 emigrants from the United Kingdom to get settled on land here, it has been estimated that the cost of this undertaking will be from $5,000 to $10,000 for each individual making the 16,000 mile voyage.

Prime Minister Bruce, in announcing the estimate of cost, said that many reproductive and development works were awaiting the emigrants. The two governments will bear the cost of the travelers.

It is planned that the 450,000 men women and children who are to be sent to Australia within the next ten years under this scheme, designed to relieve the unemployment problem of England, will comprise a great many persons whose aim is to settle on crown land and become cat the raisers and farmers.

TOY EXPOSITION IN WINSTON-SALEM

Starts May 12 at Robert E. Lee. Winston-Salem, N. C., May 9.—The second annual toy exposition will start in this city May 12 and continue to May 23. It will be held at the Robert E. Lee hotel and will be under the direction of Gray and Creech, Inc., well-known wholesale concern of this city. It is expected to attract hundreds of buyers of toys and kindred articles from all over the Carolinas.

The first toy exposition was held last year and was a notable success. Plans for this year's event have been expanded considerably and in every way it will be on a larger scale than the occasion of last year.

MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day will be observed tomorrow. It was Mother who smiled when we first smiled as babes, rejoiced with us in our childhood pleasures, smothered our hurts with kisses, suffered heart aches at our griefs, watched with joy and pleasure our successes as men and women and grieved at our misfortunes. Such is the indescribable love of a Mother despite the worthiness or unworthiness of the offspring upon whom her thoughts are centered.

While in some cases the true conception of Mother comes only after she has gone to her great reward, there is no one upon the earth to whom higher reverence is due from a son and daughter.

Mother's Day is not for the living mothers alone but for those who have passed on as well. If you mother has already passed the great divide tomorrow is the day on which your thoughts should be upon her and the God who has taken her home and upon the Love for God in your own soul which she taught you in early childhood when you knelt at her knee for your first prayer. If you are among the more fortunate and still have a mother upon whom to lavish your affections tomorrow is the day that you should be near to her and show by your devotion that you love her and appreciate her love and tender care with which you have been blessed. If miles separate you from your mother think of her and let her know that your thoughts are with her and that she is very near and dear to you.

It requires no great display of emotion to let her know that she is uppermost in your thoughts. If you cannot be with her a letter or card will do much to add to her happiness or if you are near to her your little kindnesses will do much to lift the burden of years from her heart. There is no substitute for Mother and tomorrow is the day to make her happy or to hallow her loving memory.

WEARERS OF THE GREY

Today as on each Tenth of May the few remaining wearers of the Grey gathered here to live over again those days of sixty years ago when this great nation was divided and brothers shed the blood of brothers each having faith in the justice of the cause for which he was willing to give his life. It is fitting that each year we pay homage to those who gave their lives for the cause and to those few who remain behind as a living memorial of the strife that seemed for a time to divide forever our great nation but which on the other hand decided for all time that the United States should be one and bound together in everlasting union the people of our great nation.

The South loves its "Old Soldiers" and although they gave their best seemingly for a lost cause they are no less heroes and as the progress of our great nation has gradually overshadowed the once existing enmity between the two sections of our country the American people as a whole have begun to realize the splendid display of valor and heroism by the Confederate Soldier in the early sixties and each year there are increased numbers who on this day bow their head in tribute and homage to those who have passed on and to those few who remain a living memorial of the once existing enmity now buried in the archives of the past.

GRIMESLAND NEWS

Stop! Look! Listen! Grimesland is coming. School closed May 1st, with the best year's work in the history of the school.

We have a wide-awake professor, who has worked untiringly to please the children by placing a slide, ocean wave and giant stride on the school grounds.

Our closing exercises reflected great credit on the teachers.

We have a red comedian in Leslie Fleming, as those who attended Junbo Jim, will attest.

The junior choir organized by Miss Hilda Smith our primary teacher can't be beat. With only a high school girl as pianist she has worked wonders, with a bunch of boys and girls in their teens.

Miss Smith is a natural born teacher and leader of young people, which is shown by the love she has gained of her pupils, her choir and the community.

The choir not only entertains the civic league, but sings for a shut in each Sunday afternoon. Grimesland has been promised two more rooms for the building, another teacher and truck. Good, let's aid in every way we can, to make this little Burg the cleanest and best on the map.

SYNOPSIS

Malone, a young London newspaper reporter, rejected by the girl he loves on the ground that he has no heroic accomplishments to his credit, goes in search of adventure. An appeal to his editor, McArdle, for a particularly dangerous assignment, results in his being sent to interview Professor Challenger, a scientist, who had recently returned from a solitary expedition to South America, with an amazing story of adventure which no one believed. Angered, Challenger had since refused to talk, and assaulted anyone who dared question him. Malone, professing to be a student of science, succeeds in obtaining an audience. Challenger, a huge man with an enormous head, a heavy black beard and bellowing voice, gives him a none too cordial reception.

...nificant, you infernal scribbler, don't you? That your pen can make a man and your blame can break him? We must all bow to you, and try to get a favorable word, must we? This man has a leg up, and this man has a hand in a dressing gown! Creeping vermin, I know you! You've got out of your station. Time was when your ears were clipped. You've lost your sense of proportion. Swollen gas-bags! I'll keep you in your proper place. Yes, sir, you haven't got over G. E. C. There's one man who is still your master. He warned you off, but if you will come by the Lord you'll do it at your own risk. Forfeit, my good Mr. Malone, I claim forfeit! You have played a rather dangerous game, and it strikes me that you have lost it!"

"Look here, sir," said I, backing to the door and opening it; "you can be as abusive as you like. But there is a limit. You shall not assault me."

CHAPTER III—Continued

There was a brutal directness about his methods which made evasion difficult. I must still make play and wait for a better opening. It had seemed simple enough at a distance. Oh, my Irish wits, could they not help me now, when I needed help so sorely? He transfixed me with two sharp, steely eyes. "Come, come!" he rumbled. "I am, of course, a mere student," said I, with a fatuous smile, "hardly more, I might say, than an earnest inquirer. At the same time, it seemed to me that you were a little severe upon Weissmann in this matter. Has not the general evidence since that date tended to well, to strengthen his position?"

"What evidence?" He spoke with a menacing calm.

"Well, of course, I am aware that there is not any what you might call definite evidence. I aluded merely to the trend of modern thought and the general scientific point of view, if I might so express it."

He leaned forward with great earnestness.

"I suppose you are aware," said he, checking off points upon his fingers, "that the cranial index is a constant factor?"

"Naturally," said I.

"And that telephony is still a justice?"

"Shall I not?" He was slowly advancing in a peculiarly menacing way, but he stopped now and put his big hands into the side pockets of a rather boyish short jacket which he wore. "I have thrown several of you out of the house. You will be the fourth or fifth. Three pound fifteen each—that is how it averaged. Expensive, but very necessary. Now, sir, why should you not follow your brethren? I rather think you must." He resumed his unpleasant and stealthy advance, pointing his toes as he walked, like a dancing master.

I could have bolted for the hall door, but it would have been too ignominious. Besides, a little glow of righteous anger was springing up with me. I had been hopelessly in the wrong before, but this man's menaces were putting me in the right.

"I'll trouble you to keep your hands off, sir. I'll not stand it."

"Dear me!" His black moustache lifted and a white fang twinkled in a sneer. "You won't stand it, eh?"

"Don't be such a fool, Professor!" I cried. "What can you hope for? I'm fifteen stone, as hard as nails, and play center three-quarter every Saturday for the London Irish. I'm not the man—"

PAINS ALL OVER

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Wentworth, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength."

"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness."

Somehow we gathered up a chair upon our way and bounded on with it towards the street.

"Undoubtedly."

"And that the germ plasma is different from the parthenogenetic egg?"

"Why, surely!" I cried, and gloried in my own audacity.

"But what does that prove?" he asked, in a gentle, persuasive voice.

"Ah, what indeed?" I murmured. "What does it prove?"

"Shall I tell you?" he cooed.

"Pray do."

"It proves," he roared, with a sudden blast of fury, "that you are the damndest impostor in London—a vile, crawling journalist, who has no more science than he has decency in his composition!"

He had sprung to his feet with a mad rage in his eyes. Even at that moment of tension I found time for amazement at the discovery that he was quite a short man, his head not higher than my shoulder—a stunted Hercules whose tremendous vitality had all run to teeth, breadth, and brain.

"Gibberish!" he cried, leaning forward, with his fingers on the table and his face projecting. "That's what I have been talking to you, sir—scientific gibberish! Did you think you could match cunning with me—you with your walnut of a brain? You think you're an im-

It was at that moment that he rushed me. It was lucky that I had opened the door, or we should have gone through it. We did a Catharine-wheel together down the passage. Somehow we gathered up a chair upon our way, and bounded on with it towards the street. My mouth was full of the board, our arms were locked, our bodies intertwined, and that infernal chair radiated its legs all round. The watchful Avaric had thrown open the hall door. We went with a back somersault down the front steps. I have seen the two Macs attempt something of the kind at the balls, but it appears to take some practice to do it without hurting oneself. The chair went to matchwood at the bottom, and we rolled apart into the gutter. He sprang to his feet, waving his fists and wheezing like an asthmatic.

"Had enough?" he panted.

"You infernal bully!" I cried, as I gathered myself together.

Then and there we should have tried the thing out, for he was as fervent with fight, but I was naturally I was rescued, from an odious situation. A policeman was beside us, his notebook in his hand.

MOTHER'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY Y. P. S. L.

At 6:45 on Sunday evening the Y. P. S. L. of St. Paul's Parish will observe "Mother's Day." All mothers are invited. The mothers of the children which are members of the League are urged to be present so that they will know what the young people of the church are doing.

On last Sunday evening at the regular time the Y. P. S. L. held a very interesting meeting. The program consisted of poems and stories taken from the Southern Churchman. The following took part: Wm. S. Flangland, Mary Wall Boat, Charlotte Butner, P. T. Anthony, Ed. Anthony, Alex. Dail, May Hearne, Imogene Blets, Pearl Lautares. These poems and stories were enjoyed very much. Ed. Anthony was a new member. This makes eight new members since April 5th.

Twenty-two of the leaguers enjoyed a delightful hay ride on Thursday night from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. Mrs. Hull was chaperone. We went out the Falkland road to Joyner's School House and then after riding over town we went over to Denton's Drug Store where refreshments were served on the truck. After completing our joy ride the driver turned toward some of our homes and the hay ride was soon over, but will not be forgotten for a long, long time.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASS'N. MODEL SCHOOL HOLDS LAST MEET OF YEAR

On Wednesday, May 6, the parent-teacher association of the Model School met for the last time this year.

The four grades who had not previously entertained the association each contributed something to the program. Miss Smith's first grade gave a very delightful burlesque of a school day with one of the pupils as teacher. This was followed by a May day song from Miss Spitsen's fourth grade. This song was so beautifully rendered that we are sure the teacher and children did some hard work on it. Next came Miss Wahl's fifth grade presenting a very interesting consumed short play of spring. Miss McClelland's grade ended the grades' contributions by songs and speeches telling of the crops raised in the United States. A map was on the wall and each child had the name of the crop he represented written on his head. In order to show in which portion of the country each crop grew each head was thrust through the map at the correct spot.

Mr. Rose made a short speech telling of the changes to be made in school organization next year as a result of the new high school building.

When a count was made of grade mothers it was found that Miss McClelland's grade had won first prize and Miss Lytle's grade second prize.

TOURIST TRAVEL HEADED TOWARD AMERICAN SHORES

Gothenburg. — More Swedish tourists for the United States and an increasing number of emigrants for Canada is the effect of the American immigration law on Swedish westward travel, as it pours through this gateway to the Atlantic.

While the normal Swedish over-flow population is about 20,000 a year, the number admitted as immigrants in the United States is limited for 1925 to 9,561. In Canada the young farmers of the north continue to be welcome, and the Canadian governmental authorities have promised co-operation, in their distribution.

At the same time there are many Swedes who wish to visit the United States as tourists, and to meet this demand Swedish travel interests now plan to organize regular conducted tours through the eastern and middle western states, with all expenses covered in one lump sum.

'IOWA AND NORTH CAROLINA'

The following poem, an original by Judge F. F. Faville, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa, was offered as a toast at the dinner at Everett Estate, at which he was a guest:

"Iowa and North Carolina." Like a gem upon the Nation's breast There lies the land I love the best Her guardians are two rivers great That form the borders of my State She has great fields of golden corn And laughing hills that help adorn Her gorgeous beauty, as she lies, The fairest land beneath the skies. She's first of all in many things That make for wealth. She pleasure brings,

To those who enter through her gates Who love her best of all the States. But she has found in the forty-eight A sister who is just her mate, A little older I declare But none the less a maiden fair. Long years ago, the story goes, These sisters thought that they were foes Each did her part with all her might

To aid the cause she thought was right. But now the years have wiped away All hatred of that far off day, And sons of each have side by side For common country fought and died

Oh, North Carolina—State so grand, From lapping sand to mountain land, With boundless wealth from mine and field. And all the beauties earth can yield, With whirling spindles in your mills And well paved roads from sea to hills, With schools and churches by the score,

And yet with wisdom to build more, The first and foremost of her kind She's left her sister states behind, But best of all the things she yields Are folks who live with high ideals.

Your State and mine must lead the land, And show the nation that we can, Alike in numbers and in size, Alike in vision, broad and wise. So much alike in all that wins, These two must surely have been twins. The Hawkeye and the Tar Heel State, Stand side by side for all things great Long may they prosper, yours and mine, And grow more great and be more fine.

Average rainfall in Texas for April was 2.09 inches according to Weather Bureau at Houston. This compares with 2.38 last year and ten year average 3.56 rainfall since October first in Texas is 7.90 inches vs. 22.29 last season and a ten year average of 16.88 a deficiency of 8.98 inches.

N. Y. Cotton Exchange will close June 2nd 11:55 or such date as might be designated by Dept. of Agriculture for issuance of first condition report and reopen at 12:15.

Julian Cotton Letter
 New York, May 9.—It has been an uninteresting short session. The news feature of the day was the publication of a private report estimating the acreage at 44,977,000, giving Texas an average of 18,058,000, or an average increase of about 8 per cent for the belt. Map readers were hopeful of showers over Sunday with the exception of Georgia and the Carolinas while the forecast was for part cloudy over the entire belt. No improvement is noted in the textile trade while mills both here and abroad appear well supplied.

The short interest has been reduced in the last three days of trading so that this feature will not prove so sustained should the dry area get needed rain over Sunday. Withal, however, we do not think well of stressing the favorable stocks too strongly in view of the approaching government report. Ideas on the market have been scalded down from enthusiastic ideas of about 80 to around 73 to 75 and while prices seem destined for lower levels, we would continue to adopt a traders position.—Julian to Hedgpeth and Co.

COTTON LETTER
 New York, May 9.—Cotton prices moved but little today owing to unwillingness of most traders to make new commitments over Sunday owing to the fear of weather developments. Most of the trading was largely of an evening up character with many shorts inclined to cash their profits.

Texas had more general rains overnight and Oklahoma and Western Arkansas also had showers. The rainfall in Texas this time went as far in the southeast as Corpus Christi, but was mostly light in that section. South and Southwest Texas are still in need of moisture. North and West Texas points are sending in wires saying rains are delaying planting while the east, which is badly in need of rains, did not get any and does not appear likely to get the relief needed over Sunday. The official forecast however is for unsettled showery weather all sections. The weight sentiment is still on the selling side but the trade as a whole is apprehensive that the west may get too much rain, now while the east may not get enough.—F. & B. to Hedgpeth and Co.

Cotton Summary
 Fall River cloth sales estimated by Journal Commerce and Daily News Record at 30,000 pieces for week; prices partially one eighth lower. Curtailment increasing.
 Local cloth markets quiet, prices shaded without effecting buying interests.
 The Chronicle places cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at 90, 826 bales vs. 83,943 year ago.

Stanley, Memphis wires temperatures much warmer over entire belt. More rain reported Dallas and Northeast Texas tonight. Light showers Fort Smith, Shreveport and Montgomery districts. Forecast Saturday entire belt cloudy and unsettled probably showers. Of 15 cotton opinions nine bullish; five bearish; one non-committal.

Liverpool cable says: Dull market; some light efforts from New Orleans offset by scattered trade calling. Egyptian market advanced 15 to 45 points.

GRAIN
Government Report
 Winter wheat condition 77 indicated yield 444,833,000. Rye condition 86.8 indicated yield 57,968,000.

Sugar Letter
 New York, May 9.—Refined 569 to 570 less two good demand. Raws steady refiners buyers 427 sellers reluctant at this price. Futures opened two points up to one down, closed unchanged to 3 up sales 14,800 tons. Market closed steady 164 centals grinding in Cuba rain continues.

Liverpool
 Grain opened wheat down 3-4 to 11-2, corn unquoted, close wheat down 3-4 to 1; corn unchanged.
 Buenos Aires close, wheat up 4 cents; corn up 1-2; oats up 3-4.

R. W. McKinnon says: First influence of the report will be bearish largely because it does not conform to private or radical estimates. If the present average is maintained until May 31 the June indications will suggest a crop about 29,900,000 larger owing to fact that per acre will automatically advance nine tenths. As a final analysis let us assume present conditions will be maintained up to June 30 in which event the promise would fall short of 475,000,000 bushels. With supplies of old wheat so thoroughly cleared out and all the trials through which spring wheat must pass still ahead there is nothing in sight on which to base hope of permanent decline. On the other hand should any accidents overtake either the growing winter crop or the spring on either side of the line fancy prices could and doubtless would prevail. There was some influential profit taking and as a consequence on any fair break today look for good buying to make its appearance.

STOCKS
Stock Letter
 New York, May 9.—The market today continued active but with few outstanding features. The principal trading was centered in the motors where Mack Truck continued a strong leader. Interest in rubber was revived, led by U. S. Rubber which sold up to a new record price for 1925. Oil stocks were early well bought, reflecting an advance of 20 cents in Smack-over heavy crude oil overnight. Demand for utilities abated somewhat and principal stocks were inclined to ease off awaiting the steel tonnage report which was to be issued after the close. Another spurt of activity took place in Freeport Texas which on heavy trading made a new high for the year. Baldwin was subjected to considerable pressure selling down about three points from the recovery point reached during the week. Railroads were comparatively quiet and steady except Southern which suffered a setback of about two points. The stock market has given a good account of itself for the week and we should not be surprised if higher prices were recorded during the next week.—F. & B. to Hedgpeth and Co.

Stock Summary
 U. S. Steel tonnage of April 30 at noon.
 Brad Street says: Wholesale trade is rather quieter, retail better and industrial reports varying sharply.
 Agriculture department estimates winter wheat abandonment at 22.5 per cent against 10 year average of 11.1 per cent 77 vs. 68.7 April 1 and 10 year average 84.8.
 Standard Oil of New York earned $2.42 a share in 1924 vs. $1.666 in 1923.
 American power and light earned $3.30 a share in 1924 against $2.41 in 1922.
 Federal Reserve Board says industrial condition indicates continued prosperity.
 Average 20 industrials 124.74 off 42; 20 rails 97.36 off 32.
 Professionals are playing for a reaction but they will not get very far. Steel tonnage decrease is discounted.

and the stock ought to go up. Mack Truck looks higher. If you are carrying anything that is dragging and want to switch, try Spicer Mfg. Sterling 484 15-16, Franks 520 1-2, Lire 410 3-4.

No change is expected in the character of transactions in the short session despite the effect of realizing sales, a firm week-end closing is anticipated.

WEEKLY STOCK LETTER
 We have consistently recommended the purchase of selected stocks throughout reactions, and we still believe that an active summer market at advancing prices is ahead of us. The average price of 50 stocks is only slightly below the high of March 3, and we anticipate new highs before any reaction of consequence is brought about.
