AUTHOR OF BOOKS BUSINESS ETHICS AWAITS EXECUTION

Russel Scott to Pay Penalty for Murder of Drug Clerk; Protests Innocence Today

Chicago, July 16. — Denied his final appeal for a reprieve or commutation, Russel Scott, rated a few years ago as a Canadian Millionaire, today waited his execution, set for tomorrow. The 30 year old author of books on business ethics, who was sentenced to hang for the murder of a drug clerk, protested his innocence today. He said his brother Robert, who has never been apprehended, did the killing. "Some day they will discover the mistake they have made," he said.

"Tomorrow is the seventh birthday of Scott's oldest son," he said. His wife and father yesterday appealed to the state board of pardon and parole in hope of saving him from the gallows, but the board declined to recommend that the governor interfere. Scott, once the head of a promotion concern of Ontario, first pleaded guilty of a murder charge. When the judge indicated he would impose a death penalty Scott's attorney drew himself on the floor in supplication for his client's life. Through a technicality Scott was permitted to withdraw his plea and stand trial, but the jury imposed the death penalty. Canadian forces staged dances in his home town to raise money to aid him in appealing the case, but it was in vain.

PSYCHOLOGIST AVERS LYING IS NEEDFUL TO CULTIVATION

Nonolun.—Falsehoods are necessary to the maintenance of civilization, in the opinion of Dr. Herbert Goddard, psychologist of the University of Ohio, as expressed in a talk recently before a large gathering at the Nuuanu Y. M. C. A.

"People could not live together if the world adhered to the principles of 'the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth,' he added.

"We could not have a group of people, consequently no cities, towns or communities, if we told the truth all the time. We must tell lies. We have to be honest, but at times it is necessary for us to lie for the welfare of the community."

He illustrated his conviction by recalling a wager between two men, one of whom declared he could refrain from falsehood for a period of 24 hours. The men visited the home of a friend where one of the daughters was playing the piano.

OXFORD UNION URGES OLD MEMBERS TO SAVE LIBRARY

Oxford, Eng.—An appeal is being made to old members of the Oxford Union for $30,000 which is necessary for the saving of the society's buildings. Such appeals are most unusual in Oxford, but this one is justified by an architect's statement that the roof of the Union library though comparatively new, cannot stand the storms of another winter.

This library has been from the first an ill-owned structure. It was upon its upper walls that Rossetti, Burne-Jones, Morris and the young pre-Raphaelites painted the famous fresco scenes from the Morte d'Arthur—a series of wall paintings probably never surpassed in England. Only to see them peel off with the damp and the rotting plaster within 12 years.

The inside of the high roof, which is now giving way, was decorated and designed by William Morris, and is worthy of note no less for its beauty than for the fact that here he first became aware of his abilities in this form of art.

Dog Team Hauls Lumber. Cordova, Alaska.—A team of five Malamute dogs was used successfully last winter to haul lumber from a mill on Grant Lake, West of here, to the Alaska railroad, two miles distant, for transportation to Seward and Anchorage markets. The shipment of 15,000 feet was made from the mill in loads averaging three-quarters of a ton.

"Love Theft" Suit

MRS. ROEHSLER and DR. INGRAHAM. Charging that his home was broken up when his wife fell a victim to the wiles of Dr. George Ingraham (above), former Iowa University football star, George Roehsler, a Milwaukee carpenter, filed suit against the doctor, asking $50,000 damages. The couple denied the charges.

DESIRE SCIENTIFIC TESTIMONY BARRED FROM SCOPES TRIAL

Bryan Declares Guilt of Scopes is Question to Be Decided

Court Room, Dayton, Tenn., July 15.—The state of Tennessee today made a formal motion at the trial of John T. Scopes, charged with violating the anti-evolution law, to exclude the testimony of scientists.

The defense was prepared to put up a determined fight to get testimony into the records from qualified experts on the subject of evolution and its relation to the Bible.

William J. Bryan, Jr., opened the argument for the state. He was followed by Arthur G. Hays, for the defense, with Attorney General Stewart closing for the state.

The argument by William J. Bryan, Jr., marked his first appearance before the court. He characterized the expert testimony suggested by the defense as the "weakest, the most capable of abuse, and the most dangerous." He said that Clarence Darrow, defense attorney in the Loeb-Leopold trial, had characterized experts as "purveyors of perjury."

"The only issue that the jury must decide is whether or not John T. Scopes violated the law," he continued. "To permit testimony by experts would be to substitute testimony by experts for trial by jury."

Court Room, Dayton, Tenn., July 16.—Argument on the question of whether scientific testimony shall be admitted in the trial of John Thomas Scopes, occupied all of the morning session of the case of the young school teacher charged with teaching evolution theories, and was to continue into the afternoon when court adjourned at 11:45 o'clock until 1:30 o'clock.

Arthur G. Hays for the defense had advanced the contention that testimony from experts on evolution was competent. William J. Bryan, Jr., Herbert E. Hicks, and Ben T. McKenzie, spoke in opposition to allowing the testimony on behalf of the state.

Dudley Field Malone was expected to speak for the defense in the afternoon with William J. Bryan, Jr., and Attorney General Stewart in opposition.

The morning session was enlivened by an exchange between Ben T. McKenzie, of the state, and Arthur G. Hays, cauted by a question of Mr. McKenzie as to Mr. Hays belief in the story of evolution.

The incident closed with apologies to the court as "none of your business" and "impertinent question" were among the expressions used.

The question of when Judge Raulston will rule on the question came up just before Mr. McKenzie started to speak.

"I may not be able to decide this today," said the Judge.

"We trust you will decide today," said Mr. Darrow.

Mr. Malone broke in with "Your Honor, we have brought witnesses,

THIRD TRUE BILL RETURNED AGAINST POLICE OFFICER

Wyatt to Be Arraigned During Day and Date Set for Trial

Raleigh, July 16.—The Wake County Grand Jury today returned a true bill charging Jesse Wyatt, suspended police officer with the murder of Samuel S. Holt, attorney of Smithfield, on June 1. The bill, which was the third to be returned, the two previous having been thrown out of court for technical irregularities, was brought in shortly after noon after three witnesses had been examined. It was expected Wyatt would be arraigned later in the day, and a date set for the trial.

Miss Harrison Fails in Attempt Swim the English Channel

Paris, July 16.—Although Miss Lillian Harrison failed today to swim the English Channel, she is credited here with having covered a longer distance in that body of water than any woman swimmer has ever covered.

Cape Grist, Nez, France, July 16.—Miss Lillian Harrison, youthful Argentine mermaid today began her third attempt to swim the English Channel. Should she succeed in her battle against the treacherous channel currents, she will be the first woman to accomplish the feat in which only a few men have been successful.

S. Highway Engineers To Make Report for Mexican National Gov.

Raleigh, July 16.—Charles M. Upham, State Highway Engineer, will leave July 23 for Mexico City, where he will make a report for the Mexican National government on the "most economical" construction for a system of Federal Highways now under contemplation by the Southern Republic. Mr. Upham declined the position of engineer for Mexico at a salary much greater than that he receives here, but consented however to make a survey and report some of them from a great distance. They are business men, and we would like to have this settled today."

"We will see," replied the Judge, and then called on McKenzie to proceed with his argument.

The court room was thrown into a gale of laughter, by the speaker's emphatic denial that the language of the Bible was ambiguous. Quoting from the story of divine creation, the speaker said "This is a much more reasonable story to me than that God threw a substance into the sea and said 'In 6,000 years I will make something out of you.'"

CHURCHES TO HOLD UNION SERVICES DURING SUMMER

Series of Services to Begin Next Sunday Evening at 8 O'clock On Court House Square

The Ministers' Association of Greenville, met in a called session Wednesday morning at ten o'clock and completed the arrangements for the union services.

The series of these union services will begin next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, on the court house square.

The arrangements have been made for them to continue through the remaining Sundays of July and all five Sundays of August, and all these services will be evening services only. The hour is such that all the city churches may have their usual young peoples' meetings, after which the young people will come to the union services.

The court house square has been selected for all the union services so as to avoid confusion of the place of meeting and also to have a room near to repair to in case of rain.

The following is the schedule of Union Services:

Sunday evening, July 19, Rev. L. R. O'Brian.

Sunday evening, July 26, Rev. H. H. Leach.

Sunday evening, August 2, Rev. W. S. Harden.

Sunday evening, August 9, Rev. R. A. Phillips.

Sunday evening, August 16, Rev. Wm. P. Watkins, Jr.

Sunday evening, August 23, Rev. L. E. Ballard.

Sunday evening, August 30, Rev. James E. W. Cook.

Keep this schedule. Paste it in your Bible where you will ever see it.

Special arrangements for seating and lighting the court house grounds have been effected and you can be comfortable.

Particular attention will be given to the music which will be conducted by an experienced and trained leader. So if you cannot sing you can be aided to make a "joyful noise."

There is in Greenville a spirit of friendliness and Christian fellowship between the denominations which is rarely found and want to demonstrate the spirit of the Psalmist when he said:

"Behold, how good and how pleasant for brethren to dwell together in unity."

We hold these union services to stimulate acquaintance and friendliness between the churches of the city. Come to all of them. Look over the denominational walls and you may be surprised to learn what beautiful and sweet flowers your denominational neighbor has in his back yard.

Can any good come out of union services? Come and see.

H. H. LEACH, Secretary.

STATE MONOPOLY OF SUGAR AND TEA PROPOSED BY PERSIA

Bagdad.—Decision of the Persia government to put through a bill to empower it to take over the import and sale of tea and sugar in Persia as a state monopoly has aroused considerable feeling in commercial circles here.

The seriousness of the matter from the local point of view may be gauged from the fact that, except for cotton piece goods, a very large proportion of the considerable re-export trade from this country to Persia consists of tea and sugar.

The buying arrangements in Europe and India have until now remained in the hands of Bagdad middlemen, Persian merchants not as a rule buying further afield than this city. Presumably, the Persian government intends to make its own arrangements in Europe, and to cut out the Bagdad middleman altogether.

FURTHER EXTENSION GRANTED IN WHICH TO BUY AUTO LICENSE

Raleigh, July 16.—Automobile license bureau of the Department of Revenue today announced a further extension of time until July 25, during which automobiles without 1925 license tags would be allowed to operate. DEMPSEY SIGNED TO FIGHT WILLS

Dempsey Willing to Meet Wills At Any Time; Meeting Will Probably Take Place September 1926

New York, July 16.—George L. (Tex) Rickard announced today that Jack Dempsey, heavy weight champion had been signed to fight Harry Wills, negro challenger for the heavy weight crown. Rickard said he signed a formal contract with the champion today, the date of the meeting being left open.

"It will be impossible to stage it this year," the promoter said, "but I expect it to come off by September of next year. Dempsey expressed his willingness to meet Wills at any time."

The absence of Wills from this country and the long lay off by Dempsey influenced the postponement, Rickard said.

Under the contract the champion will be permitted to take on one contender as "work out," but Rickard said he had no idea who would be selected.

Points Out Need for Social Service in Rural Districts

Lake Junaluska, July 15.—Urging that his denomination meet and grapple with rural problems and seek to aid in their solution, the Rev. W. A. Newell, of Winston-Salem, presiding elder, addressed the social service conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, held here. He pointed out the need for social service in rural districts.

"The Methodist church can abate poverty and own the South, if it makes up its mind to throw its strength to correct some of the conditions that exist in country sections and lead the people to initiate plans for working out their own salvation," declared Dr. Newell. He declared that "there is more poverty, heartache, cruelty, illegitimacy, ignorance and other desirable elements in the country than anywhere else, but the movement to remedy these things must come in a Christian way."

Three Suffer Minor Injuries When Car Goes Into Ditch

Misses Julia and Lucille Wollard, of this city and Miss Mildred Crandell, of Stokes, are suffering minor injuries which they received yesterday when the radius rod of their car became unfastened and the car turned over in a ditch.

The three young ladies had motored to Stokes and were on their way back to Mr. Wollard's when the accident occurred. As they neared the home of Mr. Abe Grey they saw a man waving to them, but thinking he only wanted to speak to them they proceeded on their way. A short while later they realized that something was wrong with the car and the man who was waving was trying to tell them. In a few seconds the car went over with great force into a near by ditch. The sudden jerk opened the door, and the occupants were thrown out. Fortunately they escaped without serious injuries. The coupe was badly wrecked.

The man was picked up at Winston-Salem, N. C., and accompanied Mr. Stimson to Gassney in this state. He was dressed in army clothing, but wore a straw hat and carried a civilian coat on his arm. He told Mr. Stimson he came from Philadelphia where he had been recovering from an air plane accident, and displayed a scar on his head as proof of the fact he had been in a crash.

Reports Campaign To Overthrow the Regimes in Italy

London, July 16.—The Daily Telegraph reports the existence of an energetic international campaign to overthrow Mussolini and the Saxe-Sicist Regime in Italy.

"Occult International forces from Wall Street to Vienna and from Milan to Moscow," it said, "are working to this end and they have adopted methods akin to those practiced by the Bolsheviks in introducing their own sect against the foreign trade union. That is to say emissaries of the forces in question have been enrolled in the ranks of the Saxe-Sicistes for the purpose of bringing about discented and demoralization.

The paper adds that vast sums of money are being spent for the purposes by the anti-Saxe-Sicistes and their financial backers, domestic and foreign.

The Imperial Navy will purchase the entire oil output. Only Japanese subjects will be allowed to subscribe for shares.

SAYS ADJUSTMENT OF STATE GENERAL ACCOUNT UNJUST

Former Gov. Morrison Declares He Will Issue Statement Showing Figures Unjust to His Administration

Charlotte, July 16.—On the heels of his preliminary statement last night, in which he charged that the "adjustment of the state's general account up to and including June 30 was grossly unjust" to his administration, former Governor Cameron Morrison today continued preparation of a statement which he promised to issue for publication in the Sunday morning newspapers of the state.

In the meantime he asked the citizens of the state to wait until his coming statement could be published in order that his side of the case could be placed before them.

The former Governor late yesterday expressed his views in a preliminary statement given out in connection with the publication of the report of the finance of the state.

He said in part as follows:

"The adjustment of the state's general account up to and including June 30 as announced by Governor McLean is so grossly unjust to the administration in which I was Governor that I must ask the fair minded people of the state to hear and consider my contentions about it."

"I hope conclusively to establish that the real deficit created by failure during the time I was Governor to levy adequate revenue to meet appropriations and expenses will not exceed $1,250,000 and this is subject to a credit of all taxes in arrears, which will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars, and that the remainder of the so called nine million and some four hundred thousand deficit as announced by Governor McLean is due to putting up the general accounts some where nearly $1,900,000, which had no place upon it, and with which my administration had nothing to do; and in adopting a fiscal policy which will credit the accrued taxes from January to July ahead and upon his budget system rather than to the period in which they accrued, and for which they will levy amounting to $6,200,000.

"I ask the people to withhold their judgment until they read my side of the matter, which I expect to have in the papers that will do me the fairness to print it on next Sunday morning.

TOMFOOLERY AT DAYTON

Characterizing the Scopes trial now under way at Dayton, Tenn., as "absurd" and "tomfoolery" and Mr. Bryan's position as one of "Spiritual Treason" the New York World says:

"Of the twelve jurymen in the Dayton case, eleven are supposed to be able to read. Why did Mr. Darrow accept the one who could not read? Possibly because he felt that to find a jury with eleven men who can read at all is a rather remarkable showing for the country districts of Tennessee. The people who can read never do read anything which might conceivably enlighten them about the issues in the case. At any rate, Mr. Darrow accepted the jurymen who cannot read.

It was a shrewd decision. For nothing he can say in his argument could illustrate more sharply than that illiterate jurymen the humiliation which the whole proceeding has brought upon the State of Tennessee. There are some educated people in Tennessee. But they are hiding in the cellar, and they have entrusted their reputation in the civilized world to a court where it is not thought ridiculous to argue about science and religion to a jury which is absolutely incapable of examining any of the vast literature which has grown up around this ancient debate.

Nobody can have any quarrel with the jurymen who cannot read. He may be the salt of the earth. The quarrel of civilized men is with Mr. Bryan and with men like him. For just consider what Mr. Bryan is doing. For nearly thirty years he has been one of the leaders of a great party. He has represented the American Nation in its dealings with foreign powers. And today he is employing all the influence he has acquired in those thirty years to organizing a crusade in a population in which that illiterate jurymen is not exceptional. He is using his eloquence to rouse these simple, God-fearing folk to strike down science, liberal Christianity and any kind of free thought.

A national political has started a religious crusade among the ignorant and illiterate which aims to arm fundamentalism with the police power of the state. That is the issue in Tennessee, and it will remain the issue whether this particular statute and this particular indictment are defective or not.

In organizing his crusade, in lending his leadership to it, Mr. Bryan has committed spiritual treason against the people of the United States. He has brought into politics the one issue above all others which should never be raised under a republican form of government. It is possible to forgive Mr. Bryan many things—the harm he has done to the Democratic Party and the cheap money-making indignities which he heaped upon the office of Secretary of State. But the raising of a religious issue in American politics is more mischievous and wicked than anything any politician has stooped to in our time. The present activities of William Jennings Bryan are not absurd. They are malignant. He is seeking to unchain a sectarian fury which, once it gets started, reason and good humor cannot control.

The experience of mankind is conclusive on the fatal consequences of letting sectarian hatred loose in a nation. Nothing else can compete with the passions it arouses. Nothing strikes so deeply at the peace of a community. Nothing is so poisonous. Nothing leaves such rancor behind it. Let us not fool ourselves by imagining that we are immune, that we are too modern, that we are too civilized to suffer the consequences which all through human history have resulted from an agitation like this.

Absurd? Of course the Dayton trial is absurd. But so was the trial of Galileo, and so was the Inquisition in Spain. So is the Ku Klux Klan today. They are all absurd; but their absurdity is close to madness. They are a grotesque business tinged with fury, a tomfoolery with loaded weapons."

Take Phosphate And Grow Strong

Your Nerves Demand It — Your Blood Needs It — Say Scientists

There's not enough phosphorus in modern foods to benefit one-half of the men and women of America, scientists declare.

To overcome this lack of an element of your body that is necessary to your health, your happiness and even your success in life, weak, anaemic, nervous, run-down people are advised to take Evans' Triple Phosphates as dispensed in leading drug stores in the original package.

People who are easily fatigued, who lack ambition, nerve force and are oftentimes thin, weak and sadly lacking in firm, healthy flesh, need Evans' Triple Phosphates.
Druggists report a wonderful increase in the demand from men and women who are anxious to renew old-time ambition and who are making an honest effort to become vigorous, and keen-minded with a power of endurance that denotes almost perfect health.
They ask for Evans Triple Phosphates because they know they need an inexpensive organic phosphate. You are certain to get it at Pitt Drug Co., and all the leading druggists.

GRADE A MILK

A few days ago we had an article in the paper regarding the milk supply of Greenville and advising that the grades of the various dairymen would be announced the first of August. We also called attention to the fact that the grades would be based upon the methods of handling, cleanliness, bacteria count, etc., and also that Grade "A" milk would be the best milk possible to produce.

Since that time there have been a number of inquiries in regard to the man who owns one or two cows and wishes to sell milk. This in no way interferes with him except that if he delivers his milk it must be produced under the supervision of the Health Department, and it must be graded. Naturally to make Grade "A" milk he must comply with the conditions prescribed in the Standard Milk Ordinance.

The Health Department again wishes to advise the public that Grade "A" milk is milk produced under the best supervision and under sanitary conditions which meet the requirements of the State Board of Health. So when you buy milk, be sure you get the best.

ALIGATOR ATTRACTS CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION IN GREENVILLE TODAY

Messrs. G. L. Hardison and Z. C. Brinson of Arapahoe were here this afternoon with a live alligator which they caught while fishing Tuesday in Baird's Creek.

The alligator was between four and five feet in length and was caught while the fishermen were casting. It attracted considerable attention.

CHICAGO BOASTS LARGEST MEADOW PARK AREA IN U.S.

Chicago.—The largest clear, level grass meadows in any park in the United States is the one in Washington Park here. It has an area of 101.7 square acres, which is nearly one-third of the total area of the park.

The meadow is as level as en-meafow is surrounded by shaded

Now-a One-Profit Car in the Quality Field

STUDEBAKER has achieved one-profit manufacture in the quality field. This marks a new era in the automobile industry. Studebaker's achievement eliminates unnecessary profits running up to $500 on a single car. It banishes double overhead. It results in quantity production of quality cars. It vitally affects pricing by establishing a new criterion of value in the fine car field.

TWENTY-FIVE years ago practically all "manufacturers" of automobiles were nothing more than assemblers. They purchased motors, bodies, tops, axles, etc., from parts makers who were the manufacturers in reality.

On this basis it was easy to become an automobile "manufacturer," and more than five hundred makes of automobiles have had their day in the American market and disappeared. They are represented only by "orphan cars" with practically no resale value.

Notwithstanding this writing on the wall many manufacturers still assemble their product, piling profit upon profit for the ultimate purchaser to pay. Each profit which a maker pays to a body builder or parts supplier enters into his costs just as though he had spent the money for steel or plate glass or upholstery. Although it represents no value he not only passes it on to the purchaser but figures his own profit on top of it.

The Ford is a one-profit car and reigns supreme in its field. In the fine car field Studebaker—and Studebaker alone—now offers the American public one-profit values.

During the past seven years, when demand exceeded supply, Studebaker has been plowing earnings back into plants and machinery until we are now able to make this announcement.

Foundries, stamping mills, machine shops, are now complete. As final links in the chain of one-profit production, the enormous Studebaker body plants have been operating for months at peak capacity. Resources totaling one hundred million dollars are concentrated on the production of this one-profit car.

No other individual manufacturer in the world (except Ford) possesses such facilities for the complete manufacture of automobiles.

That is why Studebaker is able to put finer steel, finer wood, finer upholstery, better workmanship, hundreds of thousands of miles of re-

Why Studebaker is the "one-profit" car

There are more than 60 makes of passenger cars built in the United States, but very few are manufactured complete in the plants of the producers who sell them.

Only 42 build all their own motors—and one of the 42 is Studebaker. Of the 42 which claim to make their own motors only 14 make the iron castings, stampings and forgings which go into their motors—and one of the 14 is Studebaker.

Only 5 make all their own bodies and one of the 5 is Studebaker. Only 3 make all their own motors, bodies, clutches, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials and steering gear. One of these 3 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

serve transportation, into every car—yet keep down the price to you.

This sound manufacturing principle not only holds down price, but it insures a better car regardless of price. The car is not a patchwork, but a unit.

Last year at the New York and Chicago automobile shows four well-known automobile manufacturers exhibited coaches mounted with the same body—a body made from the identical dies, fign and fixtures. Certainly these manufacturers must have sacrificed engineering advantages in chassis construction to accommodate this "standardized" coach body built by an outside supplier.

Contrast this with Studebaker, where the entire car is designed and built as a unit—and engineered complete. This construction means (1) longer life—(2) greater comfort in riding—(3) greater freedom from repair expense—(4) greater resale value.

With the advent of this one-profit-one-overhead plan of motor car manufacture, it is folly today to buy a car by the same comparisons you used yesterday. Today you must measure all cars with this "one-profit" Studebaker.

One-fourth of all American passenger cars built today belong in the fine car field—a total of 57 different makes selling above one thousand dollars.

There are 21 Studebaker body styles available on three different chassis. The Standard Six Models, 113-inch wheelbase, 50 h.p. engine, $1125 to $1600 f.o.b. factory. The Special Six Models, 120-inch wheelbase, 65 h.p. engine, $1450 to $2120 f.o.b. factory. And the Big Six Models, 127-inch wheelbase, 75 h.p. engine, $1875 to $2650 f.o.b. factory.

And you may buy your Studebaker today with the assurance that it will not be arbitrarily stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Instead of spectacular annual announcements of "new yearly models," Studebaker has adopted the policy of keeping its cars up-to-date in body styles and chassis design every day in the year. Therefore, buy your Studebaker now!

CHEMISTS AND PRESERVED FOODS SLAYING MANKIND SAYS BRITISHER

Manchester, Eng. — The British nation is the worst fed nation in the world, and chemists have become the greatest slayers of mankind, Sir William Milligan, M. D., declared in opening a food exhibition here. The British diet, on the average was insufficient, ill-balanced and monotonous he said, cooking left much to be desired and the quality of food supplies was open to grave suspicion. He attributed much of the dyspepsia, gastro-intestinal disease and intestinal lethargy to the tendency of people to live on preserved foods.

"Our chemists," he added, "have become, because of this tendency, in a sense almost the greatest slayers of mankind. Responding doubtless to a popular demand, they have worked at the discovery of food preservatives and these have been so largely used that along with the results of cold storage food became literally mummified."

PRUSSIAN DECREE DIRECTS LICENSING MUSIC TEACHER

Berlin. — All music teachers in Prussia are henceforth to be licensed, according to the latest decree issued by the government.

"A degree of order and uniformity of qualification in a world hitherto beset by many charlatans and opportunistis may be expected from such a decree," says the Vorwaerts, which describes how private musical instruction had become a very negligible quantity during the war and subsequently in the inflation period and that on the whole the government unfortunately had never considered music as significant for educational purposes.

The decree mentions that "a decisive change may now be expected in musical education." All private music teachers under a certain age, providing they have not graduated from some accredited musical institution, will be obliged to pass an examination. They will then be supplied with an official license to teach music. Without such a license no teacher is to be allowed to give instructions.

STERLING'S RISE AFFECTS DIAMOND SALES TO THE AMERICANS IN LONDON

London. — Diamonds as large as hazelnuts in settings for men have attracted much attention here lately where jewelry of this kind is sold chiefly to Americans. Englishmen, exception in rare instances, never wear diamonds, especially as rings, and on this account they never are seen in the jewelry shops until spring when the tourist season opens. Dealers here say the Americans are buying fewer diamonds than formerly. This is attributed to the fact that the stones are approximately as dear here as in the United States now that the pound sterling is virtually at par, and in addition purchasers are expected to pay the 60 percent duty when arriving on the other side.

Adolphe Menjou and Frances Howard in the Buchowetzki Production "The Swan" A Paramount Picture

In "The Swan" Paramount has brought to the screen what is expected to be one of the outstanding successes of the year. Dimitri Buchowetzki, the famous Russian producer, adapted as well as produced the picture from Ferenc Molnar's stage hit of the same name which ran for nearly a year on Broadway.

Adolphe Menjou, Ricardo Cortez and Frances Howard are featured in the principal roles of the production which comes to White's on today to remain for one day only.

"The Swan" is a satirical comedy laid in the royal courts of Europe. It is the story of Princess Alexandra, called the Swan because she is so majestic, earnest, holds her head high and conducts herself irreproachably, who puts aside rank and tradition to marry the man she loves, the tutor of the young princes, in spite of everything her mother does to marry her off to a no-account prince of a neighboring kingdom.

Some of the highlands of this Paramount picture are a Central European court ball, a royal reception and betrothal dinner to a visiting prince, a sword duel fought at midnight in a dark corridor, a mountain rain and wind storm, and a great deal of charming court formality as well as intrigue. The director has interpolated in the story a picturesque allegory laid in Spain of the 16th century, using a separate unit of players for these scenes. This fantasy is done all in pantomime, without spoken titles, and the players include Elizabeth Schemer and Fritz Feld of "The Miracle," Ivan Linow and others.

DIRECT ACTION GAS RANGES

THE unusual oven capacity is due to the "Elastic Oven" which can be enlarged fifty percent by simply raising the broiler bottom. The marvelous baking qualities of this oven make the Direct Action Gas Range the ideal cook stove for any household.

The Direct Action Oven is economical of fuel. The oven burners are directly in the oven and the heat acts directly on the baking. The oven is always ready—place your baking in the oven and light the fire—no pre-heating is necessary.

The lower oven rack is flush with the opened oven door, forming a continuous shelf, so that a heavy roaster or juicy pies can be pulled out without lifting.

Direct Action Gas Ranges are equipped with the famous LORAIN OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

The Lorain Self-Regulating Oven automatically maintains any desired oven temperature for any length of time. This means perfect results for all oven cooking—without watching.
