SUPT. STATE PRISON HITS REPORTER FOR NEWS, OBSERVER

Jonathan Daniels Struck to the Ground by George R. Pou, When He Goes to Prison Seeking News

Raleigh, July 22.—In answer to a reporters request for "news," George R. Pou, Superintendent of the State Prison, yesterday afternoon struck Jonathan Daniels, member of the local staff of the Raleigh News and Observer. Mr. Daniels resisted, throwing Mr. Pou to the ground, he said, and holding him until a guard arrived, whereupon the reporter released his hold, when Mr. Pou is said to have struck him again. Mr. Pou stated he told Mr. Daniels "If the News and Observer wants any news from me, tell them to send a gentleman after it."

The incident occurred on the prison lawn. It started when Mr. Daniels, who had driven to the prison, approached the superintendent, who was seated with Warden Norman, Mrs. Pou, and another lady. Mr. Daniels asked him for a statement on yesterday's meeting of the prison board, whereupon Mr. Pou stated he told the reporter "I don't care to give you any news, for you published damn lies about me in The News and Observer," and following that remark struck the reporter. Following the incident Mr. Pou assumed the responsibility for being the aggressor. Warden Norman stated that the matter was the outgrowth of "attacks by the News and Observer on Mr. Pou, and the state prison. It got on Mr. Pou's nerves, and he just couldn't hold it in any longer. They won't publish the truth about anything connected with the State Prison, even when they know what is the truth, and Mr. Pou had no recourse in dealing with them."

Mr. Daniels stated that he approached Mr. Pou in a respectful manner, bowing to the group, and removing his hat; that he asked Mr. Pou if he could speak to him a moment, and was struck in return.

Efforts Being Made Locate Holdup Men

Fayetteville, July 22.—Efforts to locate three men who held up Leslie Smith, civil engineer of Fayetteville, who were worsted in a hand to hand confined with him, were continued early today by the police of Fayetteville, and military authorities of Fort Bragg.

The holdup men secured Smith's watch and $11 after they stopped his car and drew a gun on him, he told the police. One of them took the wheel of the automobile, and drove out of town about five miles, while the other two followed in a second car. When the two vehicles came to a stop, Smith seized the opportunity offered him when the man with him turned his back, and with a tire pump knocked the gunman unconscious. He then fought off the other two men and escaped in his automobile.

Cabinet Session Adjourns Without Reaching Decision

London, July 22.—Premier Stanley Baldwin apparently failed at today's cabinet meeting to settle the dead lock caused by conflicting opinions of cabinet ministers regarding the building of several new British cruisers. The cabinet session this morning adjourned without, it is understood, reaching any definite decision. Later it was reported in the lobbies of the House of Commons that Mr. Baldwin would not be in a position to make any statement regarding the question to the House today as had been expected.

Summary Crop and Weather Conditions

Washington, July 22.—Crop and weather conditions for southern states were summarized today by the Department of Agriculture. RUSSELL SCOTT'S LIFE DEPENDS ON BROTHER'S ACTION

Unless Robert Scott Surrenders and Confesses to Murder, Russell Scott Will Be Hanged Friday

Chicago, July 22.—Only the surrender and confession of Robert Scott can save his brother from the noose, dangling ready for his execution Friday morning. Unless Robert returns Governor Small has indicated there will be no further reprieve to snatch Russell from the gallows, from which he was saved last Friday. Russell bases his only hope on his brother. The return of the brother also is the objective of frenzied efforts of Scott's relatives and friends, who have left no stone unturned to save him. His whereabouts are unknown. He was indicted with Russell for the murder of Joseph Mauer, a drug store clerk, in a hold up, but never was apprehended. A message signed with his name which reached Governor Small last Thursday and caused the week's delay in the execution was thought to be a hoax.

Radio appeals to Robert will be made by Scott's wife, Catherine, and by his aged father. They will augment wire pleas sent by the family to President Coolidge urging that the Executive ask the Governor for leniency in the case. Detroit club women have raised $3,500 to make a last effort to prevent the hanging. Clarence S. Darrow, defender of Loeb and Leopold, telegraphed from Dayton, Tenn., that he would not serve, but would telegraph Governor Small and request clemency.

CREATE BUREAU OF IDENTIFICATION AT STATE PRISON

Was Suggested by Chief of Police, Lester Jones, and Drawn Up By Senator S. J. Everett; Made Law

The Supt. of the State Prison gives notice of the establishment of what is commonly known as the fingerprint or the bureau of identification. The one thing that does not change about people is their finger print which is easily detected and made certain and is the chief means of identifying criminals. The notice of the bureau being established in the state prison is very gratifying to local authorities as the idea of this was suggested by our Chief of Police Lester Jones, and a bill for this was drawn by our Senator S. J. Everett, although it had a hard time in the last legislature, was worked through and made a law by reason of the insistence and management of these two local men.

The law requires that in every felony or those charged with felony must have themselves identified by the finger print and this is recorded at the state prison as a permanent record of any such person to be compared with any other records, all of which are classified and filed and available not only to the authorities of this state but to the United States as our government any many of our states have the same system. When a record of this kind is once made on a criminal it becomes available for all this country keeps such criminals under the eye of the law. In addition it is the most direct and quickest means of apprehending a violator of the law and in this day of rapid transportation it is a protection on the basis of our progress in every other respect. The law is intended to protect the innocent as well as detect the criminals.

Judge Dunn Designated To Hold Special Term Trial of Ice Companies

Raleigh, July 22.—Trial of the case resulting from an indictment in the Wake County Superior Court against four Raleigh Ice Companies, are featuring a special term of court called to meet here August 10th, at the request of Solicitor Evans.

In issuing the call, Governor McLean directed Attorney General Brummitt to place himself at the disposal of the Solicitor in prosecuting the case. After a careful scrutiny of the judges available for duty during the week, Governor McLean designated Judge Albion Dunn, of Greenville, to hold the term. The Chief Executive has before reposed special confidence in Judge Dunn by sending him to Burke county to hold a special term for the trial of Arthur Montague, negro charged with a criminal assault upon an inmate of the State Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Morganton. Although he has been on the bench only a few months, Judge Dunn has attracted widespread attention by his manner of dispatching business of the courts and particularly by his practice of keeping his court in session for a full eight hours a day. He was appointed to the bench to succeed Judge J. Lloyd Horton, who resigned last March to enter the practice of law in Raleigh.

FRENCH GOV. BEGINS CONSIDERATION OF GER. SECURITY NOTE

Will Get in Touch With Other Countries to Determine Policy Concerning Negotiations With German Gov.

Paris, July 22.—The French Government has begun consideration of the German Security note presented to the allies on Monday, and will get in touch with other countries interested to determine a policy to be followed concerning negotiations with the German Government for the security pact guaranteeing the western frontier of Germany.

Should it appear necessary to call a conference for negotiations, it could only be useful from the French view point after an agreement had been reached on practically all points. A favorable impression made here by Foreign Minister Briand, in summary of the German note, was not maintained after perusal of the text when it was made public.

The Journal declares that instead of discussion of the security pact, the German note opened a debate on revision of the peace treaty. Their views are based on Germany's contention that she should be free to negotiate by peaceful agreement such changes in the treaties as she considers are justified by circumstances. Germany believes she is entitled to work for modification of the Versailles Treaty provision, relating to the occupying of Germany's territories by military forces. There are no instances upon the changes before the conclusion of the proposed security pact.

The German Foreign Minister Gustave Stresemann, in explanation of Germany's views of the security pact negotiations, told newspaper correspondents in Berlin that Germany did not believe the peace treaties could be regarded as sacrosanct for all time, but that changes could be expected by peaceful agreement.

NEGRO BOY STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE AND KILLED INSTANTLY

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict That James Forbes Was Killed by Auto Driven by Kempton, Unavoidably

James Forbes, negro boy, residing near Ayden was on Tuesday at noon knocked down and killed by an automobile driven by Mr. Geo. B. Kempton, on the state highway between Grifton and Ayden. The coroner's jury returned the verdict, "That said deceased came to his death by being struck by an automobile driven by Geo. B. Kempton, on the state highway, unavoidably."

According to witnesses the boy was hanging on the back of a truck which was going towards Grifton, and had turned loose to cross the road when the automobile driven by Mr. Kempton, which was coming from Grifton struck him, death being instantaneous. On account of the child being behind the truck the driver of the automobile did not see him, while the truck prevented the child from seeing the approaching car. Before Mr. Kempton could apply his brakes the boy stepped in front of the car with the above results. Mr. Kempton stopped his car about fifty yards from where he struck the boy.

FILES SUIT AGAINST OFFICIALS TOBACCO COOPERATIVE ASSN

John T. Wade Charges That Officials Made "Clear Profit of $500,000" Out of Secret Agreement to Redry Tob.

Danville, Va., July 22.—Charges that Robert R. Patterson, General Manager of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, and Tucker C. Watkins, and Frank R. Edmundson, other officials, entered into a secret agreement to redry tobacco during the years 1922, 1923 and 1924, out of which they made "a clear profit of $500,000" are contained in a suit filed in Federal District Court here today by John T. Wade, of Halifax county.

The association is also made a party to the suit. Wade, who said he represented a group of members of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Marketing Association, asked that the half million dollars be restored to the association and that a receiver be appointed for the "pool."

The complaint set forward 52 grounds of complaint and 42 interrogations, which the defendants were asked to answer. It alleged that the Edmundson Tobacco Company was favored with redrying contract and that "pool" tobacco was shipped from a distance to keep that plant running. The complaint declared that the conditions complained of were brought before the executive committee of the association and its board of directors, and that an appeal to Aaron Sapiro, Counsel for the association, failed to bring about remedial action. Wade's counsel charged that on his last visit to the association head quarters in Richmond to seek the intervention of high officials to have the trio pay into the association's treasury all moneys over 8 percent, he was ordered from the office by Watkins. The eight per cent bill declares, was the legitimate profit for redrying.

"The bill alleged that Watkins approached Wade on the streets of South Boston, and told him if he would "keep quiet" the association would find use for him. He also alleged that after his activities became recognized, the Edmundson concern reduced its redrying rate from $1.75 per 100 pounds to $1.50, and that Watkins severed his connection with the concern and publicly disclaimed his interest before a number of association members of Halifax of drying any more tobacco.

Would Withhold Salary for Teaching Disrespect of the Holy Bible

Washington, July 22.—Treasury officers were ordered by a local court today to show cause why the salaries of school officers here should not be withheld because of teaching of scientific doctrines alleged to reflect on the Bible.

The defendants are Frank White, treasurer of the United States; James R. Lusby, officer of the District of Columbia, and Daniel J. Donovan, auditor of the District of Columbia. They were ordered by the District of Columbia Supreme court on the petition of Lorehn Wittney, tax payer, to appear and show cause on July 28.

The suit, brought by Wittney, was based on a provision in the last district of Columbia Appropriation bill. In that bill, said witness petition, Congress provided that no part of the money should be used to pay the salary of any "superintendent who permits the teaching of, or any teacher who teaches disrespect for the Holy Bible."

THE RUHR ERA ENDS

Almost unheralded, the withdrawal of the French and Belgian troops from the Ruhr is now in progress. Essen and Bochum are to be evacuated during the coming week. Already numerous smaller places have been vacated. The withdrawal of the troops is to be completed during the remainder of the month, and thereafter until August 16 only a small body of French police will remain. On that day the last man leaves.

Thus ends the episode of the Ruhr. About the efficacy of the venture there will long be differences of opinion. The matter of most immediate importance, however, is the effect that this withdrawal will have upon Franco-German relations. There could be no better guarantee of France's wish to cooperate than this. The old days of harshness and force are over. At the same time, those Germans who have continued to preach that France could never be trusted because she still sought secretly to place Germany under her iron heel now find themselves deprived of their principal argument. To this extent, therefore, the evacuation of the Ruhr cannot but have a salutary effect in Germany.

The latest dispatches confirm the report that not only the Ruhr region, so-called, but also the towns of Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort, on the right bank of the Rhine, which had been occupied in 1921 by the way of "sanctions" against Germany, are to be evacuated. This means that the entire eastern side of that river, barring the bridge-heads, will again be in German hands. It also presages the prompt exaction of the Cologne area and of that territory north and west of Cologne which was to be evacuated five years after the coming in force of the Versailles Treaty. In other words, by Autumn (barring some unexpected act) Germany will see a good part of the occupied territory again under her own flag. This is certain to relieve tension.

For the present all is well. France is giving proof of her good-will. Germany is complying with the terms of the Dawes Commission. The extremists and croakers on both sides, of course, say that this state of affairs cannot long last. Voices are raised in Germany crying that, although the Dawes plan can be carried out for the first year or so, it is destined to fail because it is too hard on the Germans. In France the old bogey is raised of a Germany so prosperous and recovering so quickly that she will again crush France in a few years. But in spite of these people to whom General Dawes gave the unsavory title of "carrion," there is a marked relaxation of the Franco-German tension, which promises well for the coming negotiations about security. Certainly the contrast between the international situation today and three years ago is encouraging. In place of suspicion and bitterness on the part of the French and an apparent determination to pay no more reparations on the part of Germans, Germany loyally paying. In place of chaos we see the French anxious to cooperate and in international trade, we see economic sanity reappearing. They have been three hard years, but the crisis seems at last to be passed.—N. Y. Times.

trials, so it was easy for us to work toward prohibition at a quicker rate," said Mr. Mehta, "and in two and a half years we were able to reduce consumption from 2,800,000 gallons to 1,800,000 and there has been a relative improvement in the condition of the masses as a result."

PET SNAKE GETS AUSTRIAN INTO COURT AND OUT AGAIN

Vienna.—The love of Franz Gise, the actor, for snakes was responsible for getting him into court recently. One of his pets, a boa constrictor, caused much worry and fright to neighbors as it lay basking in the sunshine in front of the actor's home. Summoned to court, he packed his pet in a suitcase.

When he arrived in court he unbound the coils and deposited his writing burden on the board before the judge. The snake began to manifest an unusual interest in the prosecuting attorney, at whom it stared persistently though not unkindly. The owner took it up and wound it around his neck to demonstrate the perfect gentleness of the reptile. The court approved and released the actor with his pet, especially as the director of the zoo testified to the unvenomous nature of the snake.

WORKERS IN INDIA BENEFIT BY DRIVE AGAINST LIQUOR

London.—Prohibition measures in India have greatly improved the condition of the working classes, in the opinion of C. V. Mehta, a member of the executive council of Bombay, who arrived in England recently ly on a visit. Mr. Mehta, who was formerly minister in charge of excise, estimated that in Bombay the drinking was about a third less than before the dry campaign began.

During strikes, or any serious trouble, Mr. Mehta said, all liquor shops in Bombay are closed. Three years ago during the non-co-operation movement, when volunteers picketed liquor shops in Bombay and Poona, there was practically no consumption of alcoholics for five months, and the authorities found that the condition of the workers had distinctly improved.

"The majority of Indians have virtually been abstainers for cen-
