FUNERAL SERVICES FOR WILLIAM J. BRYAN TO BE HELD FRIDAY 3 O'CLOCK

Services to Be Conducted From New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, With Interment Following in Arlington National Cemetery

Washington, July 30.—William Jennings Bryan came back to Washington today to receive the last rites of the church before he begins his long rest in the Potomac hills amidst the great company of the nation's illustrious dead.

The funeral train, which had born him from Dayton, Tenn., reached the Union Station early in the day, but its arrival found a reverent throng in waiting. The bronze casket was taken from the station to an undertaker's parlor, but later it will be removed to the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church where the funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Washington, July 30.—A military escort will accompany the body of William Jennings Bryan to the grave and he will be buried with military ceremony but without the firing of the customary farewell salute. Three batteries of field artillery, dismounted, will meet the funeral cortege at the gates of the Arlington National Cemetery, and escort it to the place of burial.

The honorary pall bearers will be Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska; Senator Henry F. Ashurst, of Arizona; Senator Shepherd, of Texas; Representative C. C. Fields, of Arkansas; Joseph Daniels, of North Carolina; Charles A. Doughlar, of Washington; Clem L. Shaver, of West Virginia; and Colonel Peter H. Callahan, of Louisville.

Washington, July 30.—At the Chancel where many times he sought guidance in his public service, William Jennings Bryan received a parting benediction today from the people of the National Capital.

Brought here from Tennessee, where he died Sunday, his body was taken just before noon to the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church to lie in state until noon tomorrow. Then after a short religious service it will be entombed at Arlington with military honors.

Long before the bronze casket reached the little red brick house of worship in the heart of the downtown district, reverent crowds had gathered to pay tribute to the Commander. While they waited, another group had filed before his bier and looked upon his serene features as he lay for a little time in an undisturbed parlor in another part of the city.

Special details of police were placed about the church to divert traffic and to guide the continuous slow procession that tramped in at the door and passed the silent figure at the altar. Half of the casket had been removed and an American flag draped the remainder.

Until after the church services tomorrow this flag was to be the only emblem of his service to his country. Plans approved by his widow during the morning, however, insured that a military touch would be given to the actual burial, in remembrance of the days when Bryan wore the uniform as a Colonel in the Spanish-American war.

Dismounted artillery men and a military band will meet the funeral procession as it enters Arlington cemetery and soldiers will lower his body into the grave, while a bugler sounds the soldier's farewell. But there will be no farewell rifle volley and he will make his last journey from church to cemetery not upon the caisson prescribed for those who claim full military honor.

HOUSE OF COMMONS APPROVES CRUISER BUILDING PROGRAM

Will Involve an Expenditure of 58,000,000 Pounds; Ramsey McDonald Makes Effort Secure Amendment

London, July 30.—After much mention in the debate over the United States and Japan, the House of Commons has approved the cruiser building program involving an expenditure of 58,000,000 pounds on the former Labor Premier, Ramsey McDonald, made strenuous efforts last night to secure passage of an amendment condemning the program, but the government plan was approved when his plan was rejected.

He made the plea that it was unnecessary to inflict an additional expenditure of 58,000,000 pounds on an already overburdened country and that there was absolutely nothing to indicate a war for many years. He deprecated any suggestion that the United States and Japan were possible enemies. Other speakers also referred to this phase of the question, Rear Admiral Suster, declaring that there might be friction between Japan and the United States and "we might be dragged in the same way that America was dragged into the great war."

Hints given in the debate of danger from American Naval Powers in the Pacific have not attracted special attention. It was pointed out that they were ordered by naval enthusiasts having no political influence outside their own districts. It is generally conceded that "economists" dealt some telling blows in the debate and the opposition newspapers are making much capital of it.

The economy group, of which Winston Churchill was supposed to be head, had strenuously opposed to committing the country to a building program in future years, but the Chancellor yielded because of threats of resignation of the first Lord of Admiralty and the Sea Lord.

Crocker Elected President of State Farm Convention

Raleigh, July 30.—Dr. Samuel H. Crocker, of Stantonsburg, Wilson county, was elected President of the State Farm Convention, and Mrs. Thomas H. Dickens, of Louisville, Franklin county, was named President of the Federation of the Home Demonstration Club in the closing session of the combined session here today. The Forsyth county delegation was awarded the loving cup for the best attendance at the convention, there being 134 present from that county.

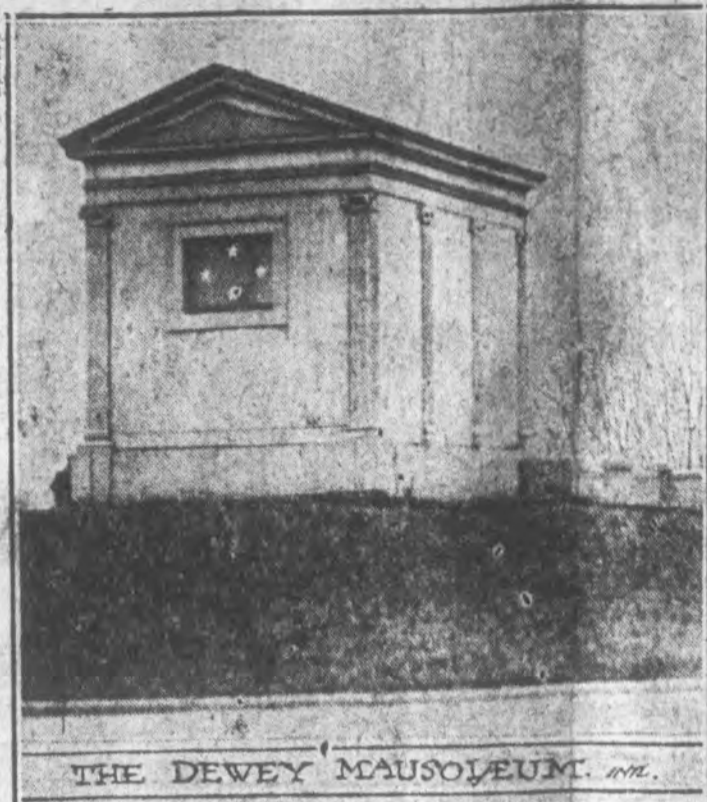

The convention closed today with a discussion on the boll weevil, a demonstration of a boll weevil doctoring by air plane, and the adoption of a number of resolutions.

Endorse Parker for Appointment to the U. S. Court Appeals

Asheville, July 30.—A petition signed by more than 50 members of the Buncombe County Bar Association endorsing John J. Parker, prominent Republican Attorney of Charlotte for appointment to the United States Court of Appeals, has just been sent to Washington for the information of the Department of Justice, and President Coolidge when the appointment is taken up.

The vacancy on the court of appeals was caused by the death of Justice Charles A. Woods, of Marion, who died last month and will be filled during the next session of Congress which convenes in December.

MORRISON WILL BE GIVEN STATE AUDIT DURING THIS WEEK

Figures Will Show the Actual Financial Condition of State Gov., on Day He Relinquishes Gov't. on Day He Relinquishes

Charlotte, July 30.—Figures shown by former Governor Cameron Morrison of this city from the state auditors' office in Raleigh in regard to the actual financial condition of the State Government on the day he relinquished the office of Chief Executive, will be forwarded here to him sometime this week.

Returning to Charlotte from Blowing Rock where he has been spending some time with his family, Mr. Morrison sought yesterday to secure the figures over long distance telephone.

Before he receives the audit the former Governor plans to make an investigation to learn what has been purchased at the various institutions since the first of the year, he said. "I thought for a time there was a possibility of a deficit, an actual deficit for a small amount, but I am beginning to believe there is no actual deficit when the value of all supplies and the equipment purchased since the first of the year is set off against any apparent deficit," the former governor stated.

Mr. Morrison states that he plans to look into the purchases of teams, agricultural equipment, fertilizer and other items for the state farms, penitentiary, hospital farms and other state institutions.

Starts Crusade Against Criminals Throughout Country

New York, July 30.—Prominent citizens throughout the country are starting a crusade against criminals who in the view of the organization have made life and property in the United States more unsafe than in any other civilized country. Formation of a National Commission was decided upon yesterday at a meeting of jurists, attorneys, police officers, and others called by Albert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation. Presiding at the meeting in his office, Mr. Gary urged that President Coolidge be acquainted with the crusade and perhaps be asked to participate.

This commission, as set forward at the meeting, will seek by education to arouse an anti-crime sentiment throughout the country. Successful methods in combating crime in other communities are to be brought to attention in other communities. A critical eye will be kept on public officers.

Governor Smith was applauded when he proposed a plan for revolutionizing a crime law in New York but he withheld making public the details.

M'LEAN ISSUES FIRST FULL PARDON TO VES WINGLER

Prisoner Was Serving a Thirty Year Sentence in State Prison for Second Degree Murder

Raleigh, July 30.—The first full pardon to be granted by Governor McLean was that issued last night to Ves Wingler, of Wilkes county, who was serving a thirty year sentence in the state prison for second degree murder. The crime for which the prisoner was convicted was committed 29 years before the prisoner was indicted, tried, and sentenced.

In granting the pardon Governor McLean issued a statement in which he said that he believed that the prisoner was the "victim of testimony born of malice and revenge" and that the circumstances surrounded to much doubt to allow him to remain in servitude.

In reviewing the case Governor McLean pointed out that the crime for which the prisoner was convicted in 1922 was alleged to have been committed in 1893 and that for a period of 29 years the principal witness against him was a man who kept sealed within his own knowledge facts so tragic as to cause any honest man to hazard any danger that the wrong might be exploded.

The statement said that the prisoner's first wife was killed under circumstances that led some to doubt the veracity of Wingler's statement that she fell from the loft of his log cabin home and was killed. Coroner's jury exonerated Wingler at the time. Twenty nine years later after Wingler had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of a young man charging him with an attack on his nine year old daughter, the father of the young man then made oath that Wingler had confessed to him twenty nine years before that he had killed his wife, and had sworn to kill him if he made known the confession. It was on the testimony of this man that Wingler was convicted.

In 1919 one in about every 70 of the population was affected by some form of the disease while in 1923 the proportion had diminished to about one in every 90. The decrease in deaths from all forms of tuberculosis in five years was 1,371. In 1923 the tuberculosis death rate was 1.41 per 1,000.

HUBERT E. CLARK KILLED WEDNESDAY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Automobile Driven by Mr. W. C. Clark Struck By Truck: Youngest Child Killed and Others Receive Injuries

Little Hubert Earl Clark aged 21 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clark, was fatally injured while Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Billy, Jr., and Frances Clark and Mrs. Johnston, their grand mother, received minor injuries, yesterday when their automobile was struck by a truck driven by Mr. W. S. Williams, about nine miles from Greenville on the Greenville-Washington highway. The automobile was overturned and Hubert Earl was caught under it. He was rushed to the Pitt Community Hospital where he died within a few minutes. Funeral services were conducted from the home this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. Leland O'Brian and Rev. H. H. Leach. Interment followed in the Cherry Hill Cemetery.

The coroner's jury under the direction of Coroner S. G. Wilkerson today investigated the accident and returned a verdict that the child came to his death as the result of an automobile collision caused by the fact that W. S. Williams, the driver of the truck which collided with Clark's car, was driving on the left hand side of the road. The jury recommended that Williams be held for action of the grand jury at the August term of criminal court under bond of $1,000.

The evidence before the Coroner's jury was that Clark was heading toward Greenville driving on the right side of the road while the truck was heading in the opposite direction but before reaching the Clark car, swerved across the road in front of it. The driver of the truck testified that he thought Clark was preparing to turn off to the left to enter the nearby filling station hence he swerved across to the opposite side of the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark with the children were returning from a picnic at Public Landing at the time of the accident. Mrs. Clark and the three children were on the back seat, and the contact was so great that the baby who was sitting on the seat beside its mother was hurled through the window, and caught under the car. The other occupants crawled out of the wreckage and succeeded in raising the car and getting the little boy out. Although badly crushed, broken and bruised, every effort possible was made to relieve its suffering. He died about 30 minutes after reaching the hospital.

Billy Jr., the oldest child received a badly lacerated knee, while Mrs. Johnson appeared last night to be suffering much pain. Mr. and Mrs. Clark and Frances, suffered a few cuts and bruises.

Hubert Earl was born on October 29, 1923. He was a dear, attractive little boy and was beloved by every member of the family and by a host of friends. He enjoyed the picnic yesterday and took perfect delight in playing in the water.

Just before the accident he was playing with the children and was just as well and happy as he could be.

The bereaved parents have the sympathy of people throughout the community.

Abd El Krim Planning to Play His Last Card

Fez, French Morocco, July 30.—Abd El Krim directing the plans of the rebellious Rifian tribesmen is getting ready to play his last card in the shape of the drive on the Holy City of Ouezzan, about sixty miles north west of here. The French command, however, is doing everything necessary to deal with the expected drive re-enforcements keep on speeding to vital points. Heavy artillery has been stationed around the Holy City and defenses have been constructed and squadrons of tanks and armored cars, have been sent to points from which they can be dispatched rapidly whenever they are needed.

All is in readiness to break Abd El Krim's efforts and to cause him great losses.

The fierce burning Sirroco has the region in its grip and will reign for two or three weeks, making existence for the troops camping in the open almost unbearable. More men are being sent to the rear exhausted by heat than by the bullets of the enemy.

Stage an Hour's Gun Fight in Drake Hotel Which Results in Three Dead, Twelve Injured and the Theft of $10,000

Chicago, July 30.—In movie thriller style, a robber crew masked and bristling with pistols and shot guns, invaded the exclusive Drake Hotel in Chicago's gold coast at tea time yesterday and inaugurated an hour's gun fight, which was continued on the north side boulevard. When the spectacular affray was over, of the five robbers, two were dead and one captured, a hotel clerk had been killed, two women had been injured, and two robbers had escaped with $10,000. Early today one of the escaped hold-up men was found and one previously arrested confessed fully.

The robbery was staged within a stone's throw of the residential mansion of Chicago's four hundred, while hundreds of guests thronged the lobby and heavy traffic crowded adjacent Michigan avenue. A dozen policemen were within call. Fifteen minutes the robbers terrorized employees in the hotel-offices and had crammed the loot into a black satchel when their retreat was cut off by James McCurdie, the house detective.

Summoned by an excited guest, the detective confronted the robbers and began firing with two pistols while guests ran for covering amid whizzing bullets. The robbers returned shot for shot with the detective reverting through an entrance. Policemen attracted by shots and fleeing employees, fired on the robbers as they left the hotel and one of them was killed.

In the outburst of shooting one of the robbers guarded Frank Rodde, assistant cashier, who stood helpless with hand upraised, shot and killed him. This robber was later captured.

The third robber, Eric Nelson, a former employe of the hotel, rushed into a taxi cab and dashed through the congested traffic, exchanging shots with pursuing policemen and threatening Mrs. Masie Larson, occupant of the cab.

The driver deliberately wrecked the cab, injuring Mrs. Larson and Nelson fled on foot but was killed by policemen when he took refuge in a basement.

Of the two robbers who escaped in an automobile, one Jim Woods, was seized when he applied at a hospital early today for treatment of a wounded hand. The police believe the fifth man was the stranger who brought Woods to the hospital and who left unnoticed while the injured hand was being treated.

HONOR TO A FALLEN LEADER

"Honor to those to whom honor is due," will be exemplified throughout the country tomorrow when flags will be placed at half staff, bells tolled and other tributes paid in honor of a great man who has laid aside his work and passed to a great reward. While William Jennings Bryan is being laid to rest, a nation will pay homage to him who loved his God, his country and his fellowmen. North Carolina with love and respect for the Commoner will have its part in paying tribute. The Governor has ordered all flags on state and public buildings to be lowered to half staff, while other marks of respect will be paid.

MEMBERSHIP OF BRITISH TRADE UNIONS SHOWS A LARGE DECREASE

London.—The annual report of the General Federation of Trade Unions shows a total membership of 880,316, the smallest recorded since 1912. The decrease last year was 89,784. The receipts, $288,650, show a decrease of $16,105 from the previous year. W. A. Appleton, secretary of the federation, discussing the situation, said: "The greatest of the losses arise from amalgamations and loss of membership in the unions themselves and some arise from the poverty of unions who through unemployment find their contributions smaller. In some cases they find themselves handicapped through war-time commitments to expenditures which after war-time incomes cannot meet."

DOES EDUCATION PAY?

In an address at the summer school of East Carolina Teachers' College, State Superintendent Allen discussed the subject, "Does Education Pay?" and asked the question: "Would we have been a richer State than we are if we had put the $215,000,000 that have been spent on education in North Carolina over the last 25 years in such things as factories, farms, stocks and bonds?"

Mr. Allen, of course, gave a strong argument showing that by any standard education does pay. But he could well have taken the ground that but for education much of the $215,000,000 we have spent on education would not have existed. North Carolina in 1890 was worth $216,817,374, according to the Auditor's report for that year. In that year we spent $65,000 on education.

Today the value of the property in North Carolina is $2,636,646,016, plus the values in several counties not heard from.

Education, which means training and knowledge, has been the chief factor in the development of the State in every way.

We are now spending annually $7,000,000 for education not taking into account outlay for permanent improvements. Twenty years hence we shall see an increased prosperity far greater than in any past twenty years.

Aycock was right when he declared in 1900, in reply to a suggestion that we wait to get more wealth before spending so much on education—education must precede a wealthy State, "Educate the people," said he, "and there will be a great outburst of industry."

We have educated part of the people. There has been "a great outburst of industry," but we have just begun. The big task must be achieved as a duty and to it is attached the reward of a larger day.—News and Observer.

SAMAR TWINS SPURN VAUDEVILLE PROPOSAL FROM NEW YORK FIRM

Manila, P. I.—A letter addressed to "Manila, Cuba" recently was received by Toedoro Yango, former resident commissioner at Washington, and guardian of Simplicio and Lucio Godino, the Samar Twins, regarding a contract which a New York City firm of vaudeville managers and producers desires to sign with the twins. Although the vaudeville managers offered a large weekly salary for the services of the twins, Mr. Yango declined to entertain the proposal. Some years ago he found the twins in a side show of a circus in the United States and brought them back to their native land.

Japan Plans Railway Radios

Tokyo.—Eight special coaches are under construction by the Japanese Railway department to be used in experimenting with radio services for passengers. The train will be equipped with the vacuum-typed, dual system radio apparatus with an antenna over the entire length of the carriages. It is expected that operators on the train will be able to broadcast messages and also receive telegrams from the various stations. In addition radio loud-speakers will be installed so the passengers may be entertained by news dispatches and musical programs.

STUDEBAKER Special Six Coach

Why the One-Profit* Coach Excels

—it is engineered and built complete by one organization—Studebaker. It is a perfectly co-ordinated, harmonious unit. This means better performance, greater comfort and increased mileage at an accepted coach price

AN AUTOMOBILE, like any other highly specialized machine, runs more smoothly—lasts longer—gives greater satisfaction—when its thousands of elements are carefully co-ordinated into one harmonious unit.

*By a "one-profit" car we mean a motor car that, in its vital parts, is manufactured by one organization—thus cutting out the extra profits and overheads which are when vital parts are bought from others. There are only two cars that can be thus classified, because—of all the makes of passenger cars built in the United States, only 2 make all their own motors, bodies, clutches, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials, steering gear, gray iron castings and drop forgings. One of these 2 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

clock, automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, door pockets, rear window curtains, ash receiver, trunk rack, ornamental pull-cord, cowl ventilator, stop light, dome light, tire carrier locked by the same key that locks door, and the splendid coincidental lock to ignition and steering wheel. Lights are operated from a switch on the steering wheel which is left free for this convenience by the elimination of the spark lever. In all Studebakers the spark is automatically controlled by the speed of the motor.

The Studebaker car is built on this "one-profit" principle. Not only all the engines, but also all the bodies, and all the axles, gear sets, differentials, springs, clutches, steering gears, gray iron castings and drop forgings are manufactured in Studebaker plants. This is not true of any other automobile in the fine car field.

The Studebaker, therefore, being built as a unit—functions as a unit—with all of the advantages of unit over assembled construction.

"Coach" in name—Coupe in quality

The Studebaker Special Six Coach is an outstanding example of the finer quality made possible by this "one-profit" principle of motor car manufacture.

This automobile is really a fine 5-passenger coupe, but is called a "coach" because it carries the lowest price at which an enclosed car has ever been sold on the famous Studebaker Special Six chassis.

In this Coach fine grades of upholstery are used. You'll find the same quality of workmanship and materials in all hidden places that you see out in the open.

Many of the superiorities of this Coach are invisible—and therefore all the more important. But here are some you can easily see and check against competing cars: gasoline gauge on the dash, 8-day

In its insistence upon comfort, this car is typically Studebaker. There is comfort in the extra heavy cushions—in the big springs—in the full balloon tires for which steering gear, fenders, etc., have been specially designed—in the case with which passengers may enter or leave the rear of the car—in the extra large windows and windshield.

You can buy all this style, comfort and performance at the price because this is the only "one-profit" coach on the market today.

Buy now—no "yearly models"

You may buy this Coach today—or on any day of the year—with the assurance that there will be no "annual announcement" to make it artificially a "last year's model."

For Studebaker has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of cars every year. Instead, Studebakers will be kept up to date all of the time. Therefore you can buy this Coach in safety NOW.

Lord Roxton went on with his story.

"I think you have had the escape of your life, young fellow my lad. It was catchin' those Indians that put you clean out of their heads, else they would have been back to the camp for you as sure as fate and gathered you in. Of course, as you said, they have been watchin' us from the beginnin' out of that tree, and they knew perfectly well that we were one short. However, they could think only of this new haul; so it was I, and not a bunch of apes, that dropped in on you in the morning. Well, we had a horrid business afterwards. My God! what a nightmare the whole thing is! You remember the great bristle of sharp canes down below where we found the skeleton of the American? Well, that is just under ape-town, and that's the jumpin'-off place of their prisoners. I expect there's heaps of skeletons there, if we looked for 'em. They have a sort of clear parade-ground on the top, and they make a proper ceremony about it. One by one the poor devils have to jump, and the game is to see whether they are merely dashed to pieces or whether they get skewered on the canes. They took us up to see it, and the whole tribe lined up on the edge. Four of the Indians jumped, and the canes went through 'em like butter. No wonder we found that poor Yankee's skeleton with the canes growin' between his ribs. It was horrible—but it was doccely interestin', too. We were all fascinated to see them take the dive, even when we thought it would be our turn next on the spring-board.

"By George!" he whispored

"here they come!" From where we lay we could look down a brown aisle, arched with green, formed by the trunks and branches. Along this a party of the ape-men were passing. They went in single file, with bent legs and rounded backs, their hands occasionally touching the ground, their heads turning to left and right as they trotted along. Their crouching gait took away from their height, but I should put them at five feet or so, with long arms and enormous chests. Many of them carried sticks, and at the distance they looked like a line of very hairy and deformed human beings. For a moment I caught this clear glimpse of them. Then they were lost among the bushes. "Not this time," said Lord John, who had caught up his rifle. "Our best chance is to lie quiet until they have given up the search. Then we shall see whether we can't get back to their town and hit 'em where it hurts most. Give 'em an hour and we'll march." We filled in the time by opening one of our food tins and making sure of our breakfast. Lord Roxton had had nothing but some fruit since the morning before and ate like a starving man. Then, at last, our pockets bulging with cartridges and a rifle in each hand, we started off upon our mission of rescue. Before leaving it was carefully marked our little hiding-place among the brushwood and its bearing to Fort Challenger, that we might find it again if we needed it. We slunk through the bushes in silence until we came to the very edge of the cliff, close to the old camp. There we halted, and Lord John gave me some idea of his plans. "So long as we are among the thick trees these swine are our masters," said he. "They can see us and we cannot see them. But in the open it is different. There we can move faster than they. So we must stick to the open all we can. The edge of the plateau has fewer large trees than further inland. So that's our line of advance. Go slowly, keep your eyes open and your rifle ready. Above all, never let them get you prisoner while there is a cartridge left—that's my last word to you, young fellow."

When we reached the edge of the cliff I looked over and saw our good old black Zambo sitting smoking on a rock below us. I would have given a great deal to have hailed him and told him how we were placed, but it was too dangerous, lest we should be heard. The woods seemed to be full of the ape-men; again and again we heard their curious clicking chatter. At such times we plunged into the nearest clump of bushes and lay still until the sound had passed away. Our advance, therefore, was very slow, and two hours at least must have passed before I saw by Lord John's cautious movements that we must be close to our destination. He motioned to me to lie still, and he crawled forward himself. In a minute he was back again, his face quivering with eagerness. "Come!" said he. "Come quick! I hope to the Lord we are not too late already!"

I saw our good old black Zambo sitting smoking on a rock below us.

I found myself shaking with nervous excitement as I scrambled forward and lay down beside him, looking out through the bushes at a clearing which stretched before us.

It was a sight which I shall never forget until my dying day—so weird, so impossible, that I do not know how I am to make you realize it, or how in a few years I shall bring myself to believe in it if I live to sit once more on a lounge in the Savage Club and look out on the drab solidity of the Embankment. I know that it will seem then to be some wild nightmare, some delirium of fever. Yet I will set it down now, while it is still fresh in my memory, and one at least, the man who lay in the damp grasses by my side, will know if I have lied.

IMMANUEL BAPTIST ENJOY ANNUAL PICNIC AT PUBLIC LANDING

The Immanuel Baptist Sunday school enjoyed its annual picnic yesterday at Public Landing.

The cars and trucks left the church at 10:30 o'clock and arrived at the landing about 12 o'clock. After a few games, bathing and boating, dinner was served.

Following dinner the afternoon was spent in an enjoyable manner, and the members of the Sunday school and their friends returned at a late hour declaring they never spent a more delightful day.

Blount-Harvey Co. Host at Picnic to Employees, Friends

The Blount-Harvey Company was host yesterday at a picnic and outing at Public Landing to their employees and a few invited friends. There were nearly a half a hundred in the party, all of whom reached the grounds about 1:30 o'clock where a most tempting dinner was ready to be served.

Mr. J. H. Blount, manager of the organization was toastmaster for the occasion and after dining, each of the visitors and several of the employees were called upon for talks. The principal speaker was Mr. J. Raymond Turnage, of Ayden, who covered practically every phase of work connected with an establishment the size of the Blount-Harvey Company.

Being a Pitt county man of more than twenty years experience in the general mercantile business his expressions proved helpful to employees as well as employees. Messrs. C. Felix Harvey, of Kinston, F. J. Forbes, D. J. Whichard and C. B. Rowlett, made a few brief remarks of appreciation of having a part in the happy event.

The spirit of co-operation such as exists between employer and employees of the Blount-Harvey Company, is seldom realized in any establishment the size of this firm. And it is because of such co-operation that this company has continued to grow until today it is recognized as the one of the largest department stores in the eastern part of the State.

CANADA'S OUTPUT OF NEWSPRINT IN MAY EXCEEDED THAT U. S.

Ottawa.—The monthly Canadian production of newsprint in May exceeded that of the United States, the bureau of statistics announced, when Canada produced 180,013 tons against 126,126 tons produced in the United States.

For the first five months of the year, Canadian production was 622,255 tons, compared with 682,034 tons in the United States.

Further expansion of the pulp and paper industry in Canada is expected as the result of permission by the International Joint Commission for the development of power by the New Brunswick government at Grand Falls. Two mills will be erected in that province when the power is available.

LADYBUG INDUSTRY IS LATEST IN NORTHWEST ORCHARD COUNTRY

Wenatchee, Wash.—A shortage of 6,000,000 ladybugs was reported this spring by Clark Turner, "ladybug king," who is conducting a new industry in North Central Washington—that of furnishing ladybugs to orchardists.

Despite a hard winter on ladybugs, Turner sold nearly 3,000,000 this spring. They are gathered in the higher regions of the Cascade mountains, and in certain crevices are very thick.

Are You Interested in Sugar?

On the docks in New York last week were 4,200 bags of Cuban raw sugar piled alongside 11,500 bags of Porto Rican raw sugar.

All the sugar was of exactly the same quality, but the buyers paid 4.27 cents for Porto Rico's sugar and only 2.50 cents for Cuba's sugar.

Why the difference in price? The tariff. Porto Rico's sugar comes in free while Cuba's must pay a tariff of 1.775 cents a pound.

The big sugar interests which control the Porto Rico plantations add the tariff to the price of their sugar, and increase their profits by just that much. The best sugar combine in this country does the same thing.

The consumers of sugar pay the bill and it amounts to about $200,000,000 a year.

If the tariff were removed granulated sugar would now be selling for four cents a pound and housewives would be getting twenty-five pounds for a dollar.

Sugar

The advance of 15 points to 5.40 by Atkins, one of the largest producers and refiners interests, late yesterday that they have turned bullish. Believe this will stimulate refined demand and tend to eliminate the irregularity in refined distribution. Futures stronger on firmer September position, liquidation temporarily at least not being in evidence.

Texas weather part cloudy warm raining Wichita Falls and Paducah, Texas since midnight. Memphis, Tenn., hard rain last night.

Cotton Letter

The market was reactionary most of yesterday with a good rally in the last half hour and a good close. A study of Hester's figures for a number of years past show that mill takings and consumption run hand in hand year in and year out.

If takings total 14,200,000 consumption ought to be around 14,000,000. If it is the carry-over will be around 3,000,000.

"THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH" IS EPIC FILM OF FAMILY LIFE

Florenz Ziegfeld, now, has nothing on James Cruze, for the noted Paramount director does a little glorying himself in his latest photoplay, "The Goose Hangs High."

The Follies producer, however, did not lose any sleep over his new competitor as the maker of "The Covered Wagon" and other notable film productions has chosen to glorify, not the American girl, but the American father!

"The Goose Hangs High," which Walter Woods and Anthony Coldey adapted from the famous stage play by Lewis Beach, reveals Dad as the great unappreciated family hero. Cruze, with infinite skill and understanding, realistically pictures all the disappointments and sacrifices of an average small-town father who struggles and scrapes so that his children may have the benefit of a college education.

The plot hinges on the children's ingratitude, their failure to appreciate what their parents is doing for them, and their unexpected about-face when they realize their selfishness.

Only Cruze, with his amazing insight into human hearts, could take such a simple story and make of it a heart-gripping epic picture of pathos and drama, richly woven with typically American humor and a wistfully sweet romance.

Not only that, but he has managed to imbue the players with his own enthusiasm so that they portray their roles with a sincerity and spontaneity seldom seen on the screen. The uniformly meritorious acting of the leading members of the cast—Constance Bennett, Myrtle Stedman, Esther Halston, George Irving and Edward Peil, Jr.—is one of the outstanding features of the picture.

In the final analysis, "The Goose Hangs High" deserves a blue ribbon award not alone for its excellent entertainment, but for its sympathetic treatment of a phase of American life that is, at the present moment, looming large in the public consciousness.
