ORGANIZED LABOR BACK PROGRAM OF VETERANS BUREAU

State Convention Now in Session Approves Rehabilitation Program and Will Operate

Winston-Salem, Aug. 11.—The North Carolina Federation of Labor, assembled here in its 19th annual convention, devoted its morning session today to discussions and passage of resolutions on various subjects.

The Commission on organization recommended that the president be empowered to authorize the vice president to organize labor in the respective home localities with the state federation reimbursing them for time and expenses.

In regard to submitting a questionnaire to all candidates to state offices in both primary and general election, it was the consensus of opinion that this condition be carried out jointly with the Farmers Union and the execution boards of each organization will cooperate in preparing such questionnaires.

Power Tests At Muscle Shoals Are Delayed

Washington, Aug. 11.—Orders have been given army engineers in charge of the Wilson Dam power tests at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, not to begin actual tests of the Hydro Electric generating plant until pools above the dam have been filled with water and reach the stage where the use of water in testing out the power machinery will not interfere with navigation in the Tennessee river.

HUFFMAN DENIES HE ORDERED MAJ. BOWMAN'S ARREST

Solicitor Wires Hickory Paper That He Had No Knowledge of Affair Until After Rearrest

Hickory, Aug. 11.—Two statements, one from Solicitor Robert L. Huffman, and the other from City Attorney John L. Murphy, which contradicted each other in every paragraph, were made public this afternoon in regard to the rearrest of Major William V. Bowman, in Aurora, Ill., last Saturday afternoon.

When the difference of opinion developed between the solicitor and city attorney, a telegram was sent by Mr. Murphy to the Aurora authorities to release Bowman.

Hickory, Aug. 11.—With Solicitor Robert L. Huffman, of this district, disclaiming all knowledge of the arrest of Major Wade V. Bowman, in Aurora, Ill., last Saturday afternoon, and City Attorney Johnson L. Murphy declaring that he had Bowman arrested after a telephone conversation with the Solicitor, there is one huge question going the rounds in this section: who had Bowman arrested and why?

In a telegram to the Hickory Daily Record here this morning, Solicitor Huffman denied any knowledge of Bowman's arrest until informed of it by Murphy. The telegram says further, "I send you this message because I understand I have been charged with Bowman's rearrest when I knew nothing about it until he was arrested and had been in custody in Chicago. Then when I was asked for an order to deliver him to officials, I advised that the state could not at this time ask for his arrest."

Memorial Will Embrace Heroic Status of Bryan With the Bible in Hand and Surrounded by Children

New York, Aug. 11.—Clewster Fla., has been definitely selected as the site for the National Monument to the late William Jennings Bryan. Announcement to this effect was made today by Miss Diopessa Bryan Evans, his God Daughter.

The site of the monument has been donated by one of Mr. Bryan's firmest friends, and contributions of several thousand dollars have already been received toward paying the cost of erection. Miss Evans' idea of the monument embraces a heroic statue of Bryan with a Bible in hand, surrounded by children. The Commission launching the plan expects to add interest by offering a prize for suitable epitaph. Mrs. Bryan has approved the selection, she said.

Greensboro Lad Dies From Rabies

Greensboro, Aug. 11.—Rabies appears on the death certificate of James W. Stafford, two year old Gafford county boy as the cause of death, the first from this cause in this county in many years. A month ago the boy was attacked by a bull dog and severely bitten about the face and head. He died in severe convulsions Sunday morning. Vaccine was administered after the boy was bitten, but the bites on his face rendered the injection futile.

DECLARES MILITANT PROGRAM FOR LABOR

President Green Declares "Senatorial Courtesy" is Responsible for Low Quality of Judges

Stuebenville, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Senatorial courtesy, which thrives on the policy of "you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," was attributed by William Greene, President of the American Federation of Labor, in a speech here last night before the Ohio Federation of Labor, as being responsible for lowering the quality and the capability of judges appointed recently to the Federal bench.

President Green declared that in so far as he could make his influence felt, "the 5,000,000 workers of the nation will never sit still until they curb the judiciary of the state and nation and bring freedom to American citizens."

Plans for an intensive campaign among workers this fall to enroll 10,000,000 members in the Federation was announced.

Federal and State Judiciary were declared to be a constant "encroachment of our rights," and the tendency toward appointment of men of "less quality and ability to Federal Judgeships" was deplored.

He declared he was ready to lead the forces of organized labor in its fight for liberty "even though my criticism may reach to the courts and our land." He asserted that the President in making judicial appointments "is merely the instrument through which Senators have their favorites appointed," and they tell him "whom to appoint and whom not to appoint and are the result of so called Senatorial courtesy." Such appointments, he declared, tend to lower the respect of America in the judiciary and put men on the bench who are responsible to politicians and not to the people.

ONE DEAD, SEVERAL HURT IN AUTO SMASH

Salisbury Barber Instantly Killed in Head on Crash With Florida Car; Several Hurt

Salisbury, Aug. 11.—Johnson M. Tutterow, local barber, is dead and a little son of Luther D. Hendricks, of Lakeland, Fla., is in a hospital here with a broken arm, while other members of the Hendricks family are more or less bruised as the result of an automobile accident this morning at nine o'clock, which occurred just inside the West city limits where the Statesville road intersects with West Indies street.

Tutterow was leaving the city in a small touring car and the Florida family occupying a large sedan was coming into the city from Western North Carolina, when the two cars met. The small car was completely demolished, and Tutterow was dead when eyewitnesses reached him. The large car was badly wrecked and halted in the edge of a field, turning over several times. A coroner's inquest will be held.

Southampton Attracts Old Line Southampton. — Having abandoned this port nearly 50 years ago because of lack of accommodation, the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company intends using it again for almost all of its services. The authorities take this as a compliment to their efforts of late years to make Southampton the chief passenger port of the United Kingdom.

Japan Honors Movie Stars Tokyo. — That the Japanese are as enthusiastic about moving pictures and movie stars as are the film fans in America was recently evidenced by a prize contest for the most popular Japanese cinema player. The contest was conducted by the Miyako Shimbun of Tokyo, one of the leading amusement newspapers of the capital, and the winner, Miss Nobuko Satsuki, received 1,313,563 votes. Both male and female stars were eligible. Miss Satsuki is noted for her "vamp" roles.

PARLEY CONTINUES ON SETTLEMENT OF BELGIAN WAR DEBTS

Little Kingdom Will Honor Just Obligations; Bright Prospects for Settlement of French, Italian, Debts

Washington, Aug. 11.—Further preliminary discussions to pave the way for an agreement on the funding of Belgium's $480,000,000 war debt to the United States, occupied the attention today of the debt commission of the two countries, yesterday gave an impetus to the matter, although several days of continuous sitting may be required before actual terms can be discussed.

The assurance of Ambassador De Carteret that the little kingdom will honor her just obligations and the promise by Secretary Mellon that she will be asked to pay only within her capacity, produced a feeling of cordiality at the opening session.

Prior to a discussion of terms, however, the Belgian representatives proposed to present a detailed account of financial conditions in their country so that American Commissioners may have a picture of the problems that must be considered.

While the debt conference gathered in opening session events in Paris and Rome also brought a step nearer the funding of two other war debts. Finance Minister Caillaux let it be known he would like to come to Washington with a "gentleman's offer for settlement" of the French debt, and Count Volpi, Italian Minister of Finance conferred with financiers of that nation as to their shape of documentary material to be presented to the United States for funding of the Italian debt.

FIVE INJURED IN MASS. KLAN RIOT LATE LAST NIGHT

Klansmen Attacked After the Meeting; 60 of 75 Arrested Persons Released This Morning

Framingham, Mass., Aug. 11.—60 of the 75 men taken into custody last night after a Ku Klux Klan meeting, had been broken up in a shooting fray, in which five men were injured, were released today. The other 15 were held in $200 bail for appearance August 19 on charges of assault with dangerous weapons.

24 of the men were arraigned after the others had been dismissed without hearing. Nine others were dismissed for lack of evidence.

One of those held was Perley W. Libby, upon whose farm the Klan meeting was held. It was in Libby's house that the Klansmen took shelter when they declared stones were thrown at them by watchers along the road. State troopers rounded up 45 in the Libby house, 22 more in the barn, and eight others in the bushes surrounding the building.

Hearst shall rule the democratic party in the state and city.

CHANNEL SWIMMER HAS CLOSE CALL DURING YESTERDAY

Miss Lillian Harrison, Argentine Swimmer, Taken From English Channel Unconscious

BOULOGNE, France August 11.—Miss Lillian Harrison, the Argentine swimmer, has admitted defeat by the English Channel and says she will make no further attempt to swim the treacherous waters.

Her fourth attempt to swim from France to the English coast yesterday almost brought her death through drowning when she was within eight miles of the goal Dover. She had been in the water seven hours and five minutes and had reached a position better than any ever reached by channel swimmers in the same time elapsed. Fortunately the strong Egyptian swimmer Ibrahim Helmy, was at her side in the water when she collapsed.

With the words, "catch me, Helmy, I am going down," she clutched the swimmer. She was semi-conscious when hauled aboard the accompanying tug.

DISCUSS SECURITY PACT WITH GERMANY

England and France Open Parley; Atmosphere of Optimism Prevalent at Opening Session

London, Aug. 11.—The foreign ministers of England and France, Austin Chamberlain and Adolphe Briand, began their conversation today regarding the proposals for a security pact with Germany. An atmosphere of optimism surrounded the opening meeting. The belief was expressed in official quarters here that the meeting would result in a reply to the latest German communication on this subject directed to the allies on July 20, which would appreciably shorten the period of written interchanges between the governments concerned and would lead shortly to a round table conference nations might participate directly.

ROTARIANS HOLD ENJOYABLE MEET HERE LAST NIGHT

Committees Report Several Community Projects Now Being Put Across. Many Guests Present

The members of the Greenville Rotary Club together with several guests at its regular meeting last night enjoyed an evening of fun and entertainment intermingled with talks on the serious side of Rotary and life and reports of committees setting forth accomplishments for the community's good.

The meeting was presided over by President D. L. Turnage and following the evening meal regular business matters were taken up. W. H. Dail, chairman of the bridge lighting committee, reported that the city had agreed to furnish such lights as were necessary and announced that there would be a special meeting of the committee with the Water and Light Commission tonight to make final arrangements to have the work carried out immediately. J. B. Kittrell, chairman of the census committee, reported that the Board of Aldermen had agreed to defray the expenses of the government expert to supervise the taking of the census by the Rotarians and announced that the census would be taken at an early date.

The entertainment feature of the evening's program was a sketch by Prof. W. E. Vaughan, of Memphis, Tenn., the subject of which was "The Virginia Judge." This was full of humor and left those present in a roar of laughter.

Rev. W. P. Watkins, new member of the club and delivered an address on Rotary and its obligations. His address was an inspiration to everyone present as well as the new member to whom the remarks were directed.

Dr. C. O. H. Laughinghouse, one of the guests of the evening, informed the club that the Kiwanis Club, of which he is a member, has secured the United States Naval Band for two concerts here on October 19 and urged the hearty co-operation of every Rotarian in helping to make the event a success. This is the first time that such an attraction has ever been brought to our city and should prove a great treat for all lovers of music. The concerts will be held in the auditorium of the Teachers College.

Rotarian Carl Turnage, of the Farmville club, made a brief talk bringing greetings from his club and expressing delight at being present at last night's meeting.

Rotarian Colin Stokes, of Ayden, then delivered a short talk which he concluded with the poem "My and Pap and Mother."

The next of the guests to speak was Rev. James E. W. Cook, of this city, who urged upon the members of the club the need of a Pitt County Historical Society with one of its aims to preserve the "Old Courthouse" which is located a short distance east of this city. He urged every Rotarian and every guest present to give their support to such a movement.

Mr. C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Greenville Merchants' Association, delivered a few remarks on the Merchants' Association and what it was trying to accomplish for the town and community.

The guests of the evening were: Rotarians G. G. Dixon and Colie Stokes, of Ayden; Carl Turnage and James Wheelless, of Farmville; Prof. W. E. Vaughan, of Memphis, Tenn.; Messrs. C. B. Rowlett and R. E. Turner; D. R. C. O'H. Laughinghouse and Rev. James E. W. Cook, this city.

PITT COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

A Pitt County Historical Society, as urged by Rev. James E. W. Cook, through the columns of this paper several days ago, for the preservation of the "Old Courthouse" and converting it into a county museum that the relics and records of past achievements might there be perpetuated for the future generations, is a suggestion that some of the civic organization of all the organizations of the community would do well to take over and carry to completion.

The proposition is not merely a local one but one that should be of interest to every person in the county and in years to come this form of record would be even more and more valuable to the community. Should the citizens of this county take over the proposition it would only cost a small donation annually to carry on the work of the historical society and such money would be an investment in a permanent history for the future generations of the county and state.

FIRE PREVENTION

Insurance companies, state insurance departments, city governments and large private industries all cooperate to prevent destruction of property by fire.

As the largest corporations employ legal talent to prevent litigation, so the insurance companies employ experts in fire prevention campaigns.

Active fire prevention work was not taken up systematically in our country until about 1915. At first, many property owners resisted having inspectors visit their homes, basements and office buildings to point out fire hazards and suggest changes.

The first idea was that, since insurance companies collected premiums on risks to pay the losses, let the buildings burn and put new money into circulation to employ more labor.

They overlooked the great fact that every dollar of fire loss had to be collected first from the public, and the more fires, the higher insurance rates.

Cities that put on fire prevention campaigns cut fire losses that averaged from $2 to $11 per capita annually to about 90 cents per capita.

The fire loss in the United States last year was about $548,000,000, and about 16,000 lives. There is still room for fire prevention. Where it is not undertaken voluntarily, it should be made compulsory.

WEATHER FORECASTING TAUGHT IN SERVICE SERVICE SCHOOLS OF ARMY

San Francisco. — Army service schools at the Presidio of San Francisco and elsewhere have begun to turn weather prophets.

The military importance of the subject has led army men to a deep study of atmospheric conditions. Graduates of the meteorological section of the signal school are placed on duty along the numerous war department airways, where weather forecasts must be supplied to aviators before they start on extended flights. Not only temperatures and storms must be predicted, but upper air currents, the direction and duration of winds, are of great importance to pilots.

In planning the erection of new airdromes and flying fields the weather charts are given careful hearings.

OLD HANDS

The men who drill the deep oil wells, 5,000 feet or more down into the earth, are old hands. They have been drilling wells all their lives, always deeper, always in more inaccessible places. They are experienced in overcoming delays, in avoiding accidents, in getting the job done on time or ahead of it. It is largely due to the efficiency of these men that the motorists of this country can depend on a plentiful supply of power whenever and wherever they want it.

So it is in every department of this company. In the executive offices, in the refineries, in the shipping and marketing departments many of our employees have followed in the footsteps of their fathers, carrying on their work with the accumulated experience of two generations. The result shows in the uniform high quality of "Standard" products. Hundreds of thousands of motorists will testify to it.

CICAGO HUB OF WET MOVES SAYS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

Chicago. — The Anti-Saloon League of America will open its convention here the first day after the November election, which F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, said would have an important bearing on the future program of the league. The league has not met here since 1909, when national interest was directed towards Illinois because of the development of the local option movement. "Now Illinois, and particularly Chicago, has become the center of national interest because this state has been made the center of wet movements to break down prohibition enforcement," the league said. The convention will come to Chicago at the invitation of the Chicago Church Federation.

Membership Merchants Association

CREDIT IS CAPITAL

PROTECT YOUR CREDIT

Good credit can only be maintained by prompt payment of bills. A man may be a millionaire, but if he does not meet his financial obligations promptly his credit cannot be considered good.

Merchants Associations throughout the country operate credit information bureaus for the benefit of their members. Through the operation of these bureaus the associations are enabled to furnish to their members information as to just how people pay their bills. The bureaus give those who meet their obligations promptly credit for so doing, and discredit those who are slow in paying, or who do not pay at all.

Greenville merchants have just organized a local Merchants Association as a branch of the North Carolina Merchants Association, and Greenville merchants who are members of the local Association will now have opportunity to secure credit information from all sections of the country.

The Greenville Association is now establishing a local credit bureau. Credit information on the people of this community will be compiled at once for this bureau. Ratings will be based on the actual ledger experience of the members of the Association with their customers and not on the wealth or prominence of customers. Customers who meet their obligations promptly will be so reported, and customers who are slow, or who do not pay at all, and customers who are accustomed to giving worthless checks, will be rated accordingly. The credit bureau will undergo continuous revision, and the information will be kept up to date at all times.

Persons who desire the benefit of good credit ratings should immediately pay all past due accounts, make good all worthless checks, or come to some understanding with those to whom they are indebted by arranging for payment in the near future.

VARICOSE VEINS

If you or any relative or friend is worried or suffers because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give is to get a prescription that literally hundreds of people all over the country are using with complete satisfaction.

Simply ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins, rubbing gently upward; and towards the heart as blood in the veins flows that way. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. Emerald Oil is powerful, yet harmless germicide and results are guaranteed by Pitt Drug Co., and all good druggists.

TAKE PHOSPHATE AND GROW STRONG

Your Nerves Demand It—Your Blood Needs It—Say Scientists

There's not enough phosphorus in modern foods to benefit one-half of the men and women of America, scientists declare.

To overcome this lack of an element of your body that is necessary to your health, your happiness and even your success in life, weak, anemic, nervous, run-down people are advised to take Evans' Triple Phosphates as dispensed in leading drug stores in the original package.

People who are easily fatigued, who lack ambition, weak and sadly lacking in firm, healthy flesh, need Evans' Triple Phosphates.

Druggists report a wonderful increase in the demand from men and women who are anxious to renew old-time ambition and who are making an honest effort to become vigorous and keen-minded with a power of endurance that denotes almost perfect health.

They ask for Evans' Triple Phosphates because they know they need an inexpensive organic phosphate. You are certain to get it at Pitt Drug Co.

"THIEF IN PARADISE" AT WHITE'S TODAY

If you like romance, vivid color, tense drama and pictorial beauty in your screen entertainment, don't miss George Fitzmaurice's "A Thief in Paradise," being offered at the White's Theatre by First National again today.

The story, an adaptation by Francis Marion Iof Leonard Merrick's novel "The Worldings," opens with a vivid episode in the pearl fisheries of the China Coast and progresses swiftly to San Francisco, Burlingame and Del Monte, Calif. It is the story of a man whom Fate has made a failure, and who seizes the opportunity to masquerade as another man in one last effort to regain his self-respect. His accomplice in the impersonation is an Eurasian girl, who falls in love with him and stops at nothing to win him. In the role of the other man, he meets and eventually marries another girl. The dramatic possibilities of this situation are worked out to the ultimate limit.

The story told against almost any background would be intensely gripping, but Fitzmaurice, with his usual love of lavish pictorial effects, has provided a wide variety of backgrounds and novelties.

Robert M. Koenig Found Remedy For Pimply Skin

For years my skin would break out every once in a while—and ointments did very little to help me.

I read a doctor's article stating that pimply skin usually comes from the stomach—and bowels not getting rid of the poisons.

I tried Carter's Little Liver Pills for a few days—and since that time my skin is smooth and clear. Now I tell my friends the right way of getting rid of a broken out skin—and also of steering clear of upset stomach and sick headache. Carter's are all you claim for them.

CAVE GIRL METHODS DRIVE TIMID SUITOR AWAY FROM ALTAR

Mexico City. — Ines Vargas, a sixteen-year-old senorita as determined as she is romantic, recently served an ultimatum on her parents to the effect that, unless they gave their consent to her marriage with Isidro Covarubias within ten minutes, she would throw herself from the roof of the four-story apartment building in which the Vargas family lived. Whereupon she fled upstairs, locked the door leading to the roof and poised herself on a cornice overlooking Nuevo Mexico street.

Chicago Vargas, the father, tore his hair in desperation for a few seconds as he reflected that his daughter had inherited the firm character of her mother, and the latter, he felt sure from past experience, would never recede from her stand that Isidro, as a son-in-law, was impossible. Then he dashed to the nearest police station, only a block away, to seek disinterested counsel.

A few hurried sentences explained the situation to the constable. That official had an inspiration. Next to the police station were the firemen. He called out a hook and ladder company and the fire ladders, all dressed in huge helmets and light-blue uniforms, changed to the scene of the impending tragedy, unfurling a life net as they went. They arrived about 10 minutes and 55 seconds after Ines had issued her ultimatum and was about to launch herself into space. There ensued a lively game of tag between Ines on the roof and the firemen, with their net, down in the street, while a gathering crowd cheered and Ciriaco attacked the locked door with an axe. Just as the door gave way, Ines thought she had outwitted the net holders and jumped. By a supreme effort and overturning a couple of urchins, the firemen managed to interpose enough of the net between Ines and the pavement to break her fall. But she achieved her purpose, for the sight of her daughter whirling through the air destroyed the last of Mamma Vargas' opposition. She did not, however, win Isidro. That youth faded from the scene after witnessing his sweetheart's leap. The papers quoted him the next day as stating that he did not think he possessed enough of the cave man stuff to live happily with such a woman as Ines promised to become.

Cinderella Is Hostess

While many in New York storm over the adoption by Edward Browning, millionaire, of Mary Spas, little Cinderella is playing hostess to four little friends she has made in the new home, where everything she wants is hers for the asking. But she is said to be pining for her old home.

Check up on your balloon tire pressures—you may find that you have been riding on "high-pressure balloons" and losing the advantages of true low air pressure.

THE whole purpose of low pressure cushioning is defeated if your balloon tires are pumped up too hard.

Of course, it may be that the kind of balloons you are using must be run hard in order to protect the tires themselves.

If you find this is true, you will be glad to know the facts about U. S. Royal Balloons.

These tires provide all the comfort that balloon tires are intended to give, and yet you need have no fear about the life of the tires when run at proper cushioning pressure.

CHAPTER XIV (Continued)

Summerlee had lain down and slept upon the sand, but we others remained round the edge of the water, seeking to learn something more of this strange country. Twice we found pits of blue clay, such as we had already seen in the swamp of the pterodactyls. These were old volcanic vents, and for some reason excited the greatest interest in Lord John. What attracted Challenger, on the other hand, was a bubbling, gurgling mud warmer, where some strange gas formed great bursting bubbles upon the surface. He tried a hollow reed into it and cried out with delight like a schoolboy when he was able to touch it with a lighted match, to cause a sharp explosion and a blue flame at the far end of the tube. Still more pleased was he when, inverting a leathers pouch over the end of the reed, and so filling it with the gas, he was able to send it soaring up into the air.

"An inflammable gas, and one markedly lighter than the atmosphere. I should say beyond doubt that it contained a considerable proportion of free hydrogen. The resources of G. E. C. are not yet exhausted, my young friend. I may yet show you how a great mind molds all Nature to its use." He smiled with some secret purpose, but would say no more.

There was nothing which we could see upon the shore which seemed to me so wonderful as the great sheet of water before us. Our numbers and our noise had frightened all living creatures away, and save for a few pterodactyls, which soared round high above our heads while they waited for the carrion, all was still around the camp. But it was different out upon the rose-tinted waters of the central lake. It boiled and heaved with strange life. Great slate-colored backs and high serrated dorsal fins shot up with a fringe of silver, and then rolled down into the depths again. They bobbed far out were spotted with uncouth crawling forms, like turtles, strange saurians, and one great flat creature like a writhing, palpitating mat of black greasy leather, which flopped its way slowly to the lake. Here and there high heron heads projected out of the water, cutting swiftly through it with a little collar of foam in front, and a long swirling wake behind, rising and falling in graceful, swan-like undulations as they went. It was not until one of these creatures wriggled on to a sand-bank within a few hundred yards of us, and exposed a barrel-shaped body and huge flippers behind the long scarp neck, that Challenger, and Summerlee, who had joined us, turned into their dust of wonder and admiration.

"Pterosaur! A fresh-water pterosaur!" cried Summerlee. "That I should have lived to see such a sight! We are blessed, my dear Challenger, above all zoologists since the world began!" "It was not until the night had fallen, and the fires of our savage of the stone age that we were accompanying to battle—we with the last word of the gunsmith's art from St. James' Street and the Strand.

We had not long to wait for our enemy. A wild shrill clamor rose from the edge of the wood and suddenly a body of ape-men rushed out with clubs and stones, and made for the center of the Indian line. It was a valiant move but a foolish one, for the great bandy-legged creatures were slow of foot, while their opponents were as active as cats. It was horrible to see the fierce brutes with foaming mouths and glaring eyes, rushing and grasping, but forever missing their elusive enemies, while arrow after arrow buried itself in their hides. One great fellow ran past me roaring with pain, with a dozen darts sticking from his chest and ribs. In mercy I put a bullet through his skull, and he fell sprawling among the aloes. But this was the only shot fired, for the attack had been on the center of the file, and the Indians there had needed no help of ours in repulsing it. Of all the ape-men who had rushed out into the open, I do not think that one got back to cover.

But the matter was more deadly when we came among the trees. For an hour or more after we entered the wood, there was a desperate struggle in which for a time we hardly held our own. Springing out from among the scrub the ape-men with huge clubs broke in upon the Indians and often felled three or four before they could be speared. Their frightful blows shattered everything upon which they fell. One of them knocked Summerlee's rifle to matchwood and the next would have crushed his skull had an Indian not stabbed the beast to the heart. Other ape-men in the trees above us hurled down stones and logs of wood, occasionally dropping bodily on to our ranks and fighting furiously until they were felled. Once our allies broke under the pressure, and had it not been for the execution done by our rifles they would certainly have taken to their heels. But they were gallantly rallied by their old chief and came on with such a rush that the ape-men began in turn to give way. Summerlee was weaponless, but I was emptying my magazine as quick as I could fire, and on the further flank we heard the continuous cracking of our companions' rifles.

Then in a moment came the panic and the collapse. Screaming and howling, the great creatures rushed away in all directions through the brushwood, while our allies yelled in their savage delight, following swiftly after their flying enemies. All the legends of countless generations, all the hatreds and cruelties of their narrow history, all the memories of ill-usage and persecution were to be purged that day. At last man was to be supreme and the man-beast to find forever his allotted place. Fly as they would the fugitives were too slow to escape from the allies glowed red in the shadows, that our two men of science could be dragged away from the fascinations of that primeval lake. Even in the darkness as we lay upon the strand, we heard from time to time the snort and plunge of the huge creatures who lived therein.

At earliest dawn our camp was silent and an hour later we had started upon our memorable expedition. Often in my dreams have I thought that I might live to be a war correspondent. In what respect one could I have conceived the nature of the campaign which it should be my lot to report! Here then is my first despatch from a field of battle:

Our numbers had been reinforced during the night by a fresh batch of natives from the caves, and we may have been four or five hundred strong when we made our advance. A fringe of scouts was thrown out in front, and behind them the whole force in a solid column made their way up the long slope of the bush country until we were near the edge of the forest. Here they spread out into a long straggling line of spearmen and bowmen. Borton and Summerlee took their position upon the right flank, while Challenger and I were on the left. It was a host active savages, and from every side in the tangled woods we heard the exultant yells, the twanging of bows, and the crash and thud as ape-men were brought down from their hiding-places in the trees.

I was following the others, when I found that Lord John and Challenger had come across to join us.

"It's over," said Lord John. "I think we can leave the tidying up to them. Perhaps the less we see of it the better we shall sleep."

Challenger's eyes were shining with the lust of slaughter.

"We have been privileged," he cried, strutting about like a gamecock. "to be present at one of the typical decisive battles of history—the battles which determined the fate of the world. What, my friends, is the conquest of one nation by another? It is meaningless. Each produces the same result. But those fierce fights, when in the dawn of the ages the cave-dwellers held their own against the tiger folk, or the elephants first found that they had a master, those were the real conquests—the victories that count. By this strange turn of fate we have seen and helped to decide even such a contest. Now upon this plateau the future must ever be for man." (To be continued)
